ROYAL COMMISSION ENDED, WILL MAKE REPORT IN JUNE
MR. JOHNSTON URGES THAT GAMEY AND SULLIVAN PLOTTED

The Finding will Appear in the Form of a Report, Says Chief Justice Falconbridge, and will be Laid Before the Chief Executive of This Province

MR. BLAKE SPOKE FOR OVER AN HOUR CRUX OF WHOLE MATTER PASSED OVER

By Counsel for Defence—The Letter to Lawyer Aylesworth Showed Their Was Money n the Air, Mr. Johnston Concludes is Argument Early Saturday Afternoon, Attacks Hammonds Evidence, Other Men Who Have Switched

After twenty-seven days of taking of evidence and three days devoted to argument by counsel, the sitting of the Royal Commission was brought to a close on Saturday afternoon shortly after two o'clock. Mr. Johnston resumed his address, continued for two hours and a half, and was followed by Mr. Blake, who for more than an hour directed the attention of their Lordships to various portions of the voluminous evidence taken during the Commission to emphasize the arguments of the prosecution or minimize the theories and assertions of the defence.

Then Chief Justice Falconbridge said that in bringing the sitting of the Commission to a close, he would announce that the finding would appear in the form of a report. "This report," he said, "we hope to lay before the chief executive of this province during the present session of the House, hardly during the present month, but early next month.

"My brother and myself have had but little opportunity to confer on this controversy during the sittings of the Commission, and some days will be needed for the purpose, but our earnest desire and efforts have been from the outset to ensure a full, fair and unhampered enquiry, such a one as will be satisfactory to every thoughtful and honest man. A fair inquest has been kept in view as to the object to be attained, although we may not have gone far into the inviting fields of the ethics open to us.

"The final words used by a great judge at the close of a great inquiry may be fittingly applied to us: 'Conscious that throughout this great inquest we have sought only the truth, we trust we shall be guided to find it, and set it forth plainly in the sight of all men.' More apt, more terse, more striking words could not be used to express this thought and aspiration, and, thus inspired, we hope to make complete discharge of our duty."

Mr. Johnston, in commencing, took up the question of motive in Gamey's concocting of his story. It would [illegible] of faith, his life had been made burdensome. He found he was not getting the sympathy from Mr. Stratton and his colleagues that he had expected. The keynote of his situation was in the words of Kinsey, who, concealed behind the pianos at the Crossin factory, had heard Gamey and Sullivan discussing their mining deals, say that if they could not fix things with one side they would be able to fix them with the other. Mr. Johnston had no desire to dissociate Sullivan and Gamey in this attempt to "hold up" the government, or, failing, then the opposition. Gamey's reference to becoming Minister of Mines under a new dispensation showed his hand. His denials of having done so, in the face of the evidence of other witnesses, strengthened this supposition. As Minister of Mines, he and Frank Sullivan would be able to carry through any number of profitable deals. Boyd's letter to Hon. Mr. Latchford, describing Gamey as zealous and ambitious for power and patronage corroborated this. Notoriety was the only sweet morsel under his tongue. Sullivan and Gamey had been working at cross purposes, each for his individual gain, but Gamey had been more astute. Gamey had been afraid to go back into the box to contradict the witnesses as to his becoming Minister of Mines. "Yet this is the man your Lordships are asked to place credence in, that a government may be driven from power," said Mr. Johnston. Gamey thought that he had Sullivan so tied up that their stories would agree when placed in the box, but from beginning to end Sullivan had given Gamey the lie, because their stories were founded on falsehood.

Mr. Blake had argued that the commission had no power to find. Surely he had not been reading the reports of other commissions which had sat under the same Act. Mr. Johnston quoted Mr. Carscallen's amendment in the Legislature—"my friend's argument of yesterday," added Mr. Johnston again. That amendment asking that it be stipulated that the commission do not report a finding had been voted down, and it was thus shown that the evident intention of the commission was that the commissioners should make a finding.

"We may, but we are not obliged to," said the Chancellor.

Chief Justice Falconbridge remarked that he had noticed in a newspaper report that the Attorney-General had said that a finding would be gratuitous.

"That is not right," said Mr. Johnston. "The Attorney-General has repeatedly urged me to so conduct my case that it would be possible for a finding to be brought in."

The Chancellor said that the Ontario Act did not mention a finding; the British Act did. He remarked, too, that the Legislature would be the ultimate tribunal.

Mr. Johnston pointed out that the Legislature had not heard a single witness, and so would not be in a position to arrive at a finding.

"A report," said Mr. Johnston, "is surely more than the report of the evidence prepared by a stenographer."

And there the matter dropped.

Eliminating the question of money for the time being, Mr. Johnston claimed that the correspondence presented was the same as other departmental correspondence. It was perfectly innocent, and only incurred color in view of a corrupt act of bribery. There was not a line or suggestion in the whole of it that not have taken place in correspondence between the Government and the leader of the Opposition. Had Mr. Gamey been a straight party man the correspondence would have been innocent, but Mr. Gamey did not occupy such a position. Manitoulin occupied a peculiar position, geographically and politically. As a constituency it stood alone and unique. As to its representation, it stood alone and unique also. There was a reason why the representative of Manitoulin should support the Government which would not hold in the case of York or Peel. Perhaps it would be jarring to Mr. Gamey's conscience to support the Ross Government, but Mr. Johnston had nothing to do with that. According to his own witnesses he was elected to support the Government—a Whitney Government.

There was nothing in the letter of September 10 or in The Globe item which required Mr. Gamey to change his politics. He spoke of matters in which he was satisfied alone.

"This talk of the man being bought like a hog is utter nonsense" he said. Gamey only promised to do what many of his supporters could say was his duty to do. Then, too, Gamey got many Liberal votes. The Independent in the field was something of an ironclad, not a real independent. One witness, Scott, a supporter of McMillan, said he had heard Gamey in his campaign use phrases which appeared afterwards in the Globe item. At a meeting he had said, "Manitoulin is my politics," and the witnesses called in rebuttal [illegible] didn't hear. To the three Macdougalls, uncontradicted witnesses, Gamey had said that he was more of an independent than a party man. To Dr. Arthur, something similar. To Mr. Conmee he said if the Ross Government carried out its policy he would support it. And this was long before anyone supposed to represent the Government had seen Gamey. This was long before August 7.

Gamey had advanced the story that he had made statements to certain individuals in order to carry out his plot, but he had told people whom he was under no obligation to keep quiet, the Macdougalls and others. His reason was obviously utterly false. He wouldn't go as far as his learned friend and say he was swearing falsely on fact, but but the reason he advanced was false.

Then he had told S. J. Martin and Mr. Bower at the Walker House, men 400 miles from him. He had said things to them that induced them to say to each other when The Globe interview came out, "Why, that's just what he said to us."

"This is a point my learned friend treats without any strenuous abuse," said Mr. Johnston, "as meaning nothing or anything. It means the whole case as far as his client is concerned."

These then were Mr. Gamey's relations to politics during three periods; 1st, before the election, 2nd, up to August 7, and 3rd, up to September 10. But there was stronger evidence. We had a report of the meeting of the Conservative Executive of February 16, written for The Globe by Mr. Gamey, in which he says that T. Robinson a delegate from the country, had stated that Mr. Gamey had taken in independent attitude during the election and had obtained Liberal votes."

"Is Robinson a real person?" asked the Chancellor.

"Yes, we had him here and it was open to the other side to call him,' said Mr. Johnston.

The letter of September 10 was not opposed to his position. It displayed its own motive to stand by New Ontario. And this motive stood out right through from before election. The position taken by Mr. Gamey previous to September 10 in support of the Government was stronger than that afterwards, and yet he was supposed to have got the money then. Having got the bribe, one would have expected strong, active support until the explosion was due to occur.

THE FAMOUS QUESTION.

"Where did the money come from?" asked the Chancellor.

"That I propose to deal with,' said Mr. Johnston, "and I will submit that it doesn't devolve on us to show where it came from if we show that it doesn't come from us. It may have come from the 10th of September. May have been surplus funds. It is as sensible to say that the money came from a Conservative campaign fund as from a Liberal fund.'

The Chancellor—Only this, that the evidence showed that at this time the one was exhausted.'

Mr. Johnston dealt with The Globe interview, pointing out the material changes that had been made in it by Mr. Gamey after it left Mr. Stratton's hands. This was the interview that Gamey charged he got $1000 for, yet he emasculated it.

"He was getting money, he said,' said Mr. Johnston, "and yet every dollar he got seemed to be driving him further away. That interview might have been signed by the leader of the Opposition.'

Mr. Gamey had been stronger in his allegiance to the Government before than after he had stretched out his hand for the corrupting money. And yet these events had been smeared over with a sinister, corrupt meaning in order that J. R. Stratton might be proved a criminal. "No wonder,' said Mr. Johnston, "my learned friend resorted to invocation as well as implication.'

The letter written by Gamey to Bellwoods, the editor of the Gore Bay Reformer, early in February, served to show the true metal of the man more than any other letters. It criticized both parties. And he claimed it was part of his scheme. Mr. Johnston referred to the interview with Mr. Gamey in the Manitoulin Conservator of October 24, which, in stating his belief that the Conservatives would soon be in power, criticized his present story.

The Chancellor remarked that Gamey's contention was that all these statements were merely to pacify his friends.

"Then how can we explain his interview at the Walker House?" asked Mr. Johnston, who followed this up by the contention that if we once assumed that Gamey really intended to take an independent stand, and give the Ross Government an independent support of his own free will, there were no incidents left unexplained.

The Chancellor—You say that's the clue to the whole thing.

Mr. Johnston—Yes, that explains everything. Everything fits in with the phrase "Manitoulin is my politics.' [illegible] patronage and the withdrawal of the [illegible] fell to the ground.

Mr. Johnston next took up the "probabilities" of the case. Humanity, he said, will insist upon stories being reasonable and probable. Gamey's omission to note the time he received the $3000 was scathingly commented upon. It was the most important event of his life, because in accepting a bribe he was committing the political sin that knows no forgiveness. "No man who handles a bribe or receives a bribe can ever after hold up his head among his fellowmen and ask for their support," he said.

Then the letter "binding Frank Sullivan hand and foot with iron chains,' in which the $3000 was proffered to him, he had destroyed on a most flimsy pretext. He didn't know whether he got the money before he had attended the Conservative caucus or on the following day. If he got it before, then he attended the caucus with $1500 bribe money in his pocket; if on the following day he was asking the Commission to believe that a Minister of the Crown, knowing him but slightly, and knowing him to have been present at the caucus, had handed over $3000 without questioning his sincerity. Mr. Gamey had refrained from confiding to Mr. Whitney, his leader, his intentions and actions. Was that likely to strengthen the credibility of his tale? Then in his statement, pages 8 and 14 had palpably been inserted after his interview in the Crossin piano factory evidently having been changed in their subject matter to suit the circumstances.

Coming to the payment of the $3,000, Mr. Johnston declared that had there been no mutilation of the Crossin books the public would not be wondering today where the money came from. Gamey had said the money was all in large bills, which should be easily traced, yet the banks and loan companies had been ransacked by the counsel for the prosecution in vain. "Give me the name of the man who paid that money," said Mr. Johnston, "and I would find no difficulty in tracing the bills." As to having received the $1000, the story of dividing it with Sullivan in the glare of an electric light at the western door of the Parliament Buildings, with "hundreds, yes thousands," of people passing on the way home, was absurd. Gamey had carried the 600 around in his pockets for six weeks as evidence, yet he had not kept the $3000 for the same purpose. The prosecution had made no attempt to trace the source of the large bills constituting the $500. Gamey had brought McGregor from Gore Bay to advise him, and McGregor had to some extent been his confederate in the whole matter, yet Gamey had not confided the matter of the $500 to him, although he was with him that same night and had the money in his pocket.

Mr. Johnston also desired to refute the theory of the newspapers that in pinning witnesses down to exact time they were trying to establish an alibi for Mr. Stratton. On the contrary, they were proving Mr. Stratton present at the buildings under circumstances dissimilar with Mr. Gamey's story. The evidence of the hackman, Green, he thought unworthy of any reliability. Green was known to be a drinking man, and his memory had been proven unreliable. The letters of Jones and Frank Sullivan to Gamey he did not think necessary to dwell on, as neither Jones nor Sullivan had been shown to be in any way representing or acting for the government. Jones and Sullivan were after Gamey to make all they could out of him through "deals."

Coming to the tinkering by Gamey with the bank deposit slips, Mr. Johnston said that in going back late in the day with a crumpled-up substitute and affirming it to be the original, Gamey had done so "with a lie upon his lips and falsehood in his heart." Then, the important pages of the Crossin books had gone, "together with his (Gamey's) credibility." "Find me the deposit slip of the $800 and of the $1500 and those missing pages, and it would be only a short step to ascertain where the money came from.'

The evidence of M. O. Hammond, The Globe reporter, was next taken up, and, according to Mr. Johnston, he was as morally delinquent as Mr. Stratton, if the question put to him to forget things had meant anything wrong, for Hammond had consented to forget, if he wasn't asked. But a whole lot of irrelevant matter had been discussed by Mr. Stratton and the reporter, some of it having to do with the Niagara Falls power, as to which there was some friction between The Globe and the government, and this conversation being confidential, and it being undesirable to have it come out in court, might it not have, very reasonably, been these things that Mr. Stratton had referred to? Then, too, the reporter's memory might have played him false and Mr. Stratton might have said, "Won't you forget?" fearing that he might.

In concluding, Mr. Johnston referred to the changing of politics indulged in in the past by certain men, among them the reversal of allegiance by Hon. E. B. Wood, in the cabinet of Hon. Sandfield Macdonald; Dalton McCarthy, who had changed from Conservative to Independent; Beatty of Parry Sound, Hon. R. W. Scott, Sir William P. Howland, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. Jos. Howe and Hon. D'Arcy McGee. In most instances there had been talk of corruption and wrongdoing having influenced the decision. Mr. Johnston closed by reminding the commissioners of the power that was theirs, and the serious result that a decision, when once made, and could not be recalled, would have. He hoped they would clear away what tarnish had been cast upon the fair name of the Province by "a man of the character and conduct of Mr. Gamey,' and that such a finding would declare that no Minister of the Crown had violated his trust.

PROTEST CAUSED GAMEY'S CHANGE.

Mr. Blake spoke for over an hour in a masterly reply, during which time he ran over the various points touched on by counsel for the defence, and reconstructed their portent. The crux of the whole matter, he held, had been entirely passed over by the defence. The interview in The Globe [illegible] pendent into a straight government supporter, by binding him to support the government in case of a vote of want of confidence. Elected as a Conservative, new to politics, without the funds to fight a protest, he had weakened in the face of the threatened protest, and had entered into an arrangement with the government. But, being prepared to become an independent, what took him further, and made of him a government supporter? The letter to Lawyer Aylesworth showed there was money in the air, and there was nothing to show that Mr. Stratton was not responsible for that letter. It did not matter what day the money had been handed over, there were numerous times, places and opportunities, but there was no doubt the consideration had passed, and the bill of sale been completed between Mr. Gamey and the government. The interview had not been demanded earlier, because there had been no reason for it, until Mr. Gamey, by appearing on Conservative platforms, showed that he considered he owed the Liberals no allegiance outside of the House. If it came to appealing to "probabilities' in the case, the case of the prosecution was strengthened throughout. If the statement had been concocted, pages 8 and 14 would not be left in a shape to arouse suspicion; the document would have been copper-plate. The very inconsistencies alleged showed the truth of the tale. If Hammond's forgetfulness was to cover irrelevant matters alone, why had his statement for the guidance of counsel been destroyed?

Weather Notes

Probs.: Monday—Easterly winds, fair, with a few local thunderstorms.

Hon. S. H. Blake for Leader

Mr. Whitney is, we believe, a respectable and respected man. He has, however, comitted the folly of "sawing off,' and is therefore not up to the standard required in a "saviour of the country." It requires courage, and a record for uncompromising courage in a man who would lead us out of the darkness of these latter days. One party is not noticeably better than the other. We ought to have learned by this time that measures without the proper men behind them are snares and delusions. Then, too, the hypocrite flourishes unduly in our political atmosphere, the man who is always ready to take a loaf or a fish, no matter where it comes from, protesting after the manner [illegible] that he stands for the Good, the True and the Beautiful. We are a young people, perhaps too young in some respects, but that is hardly an excuse for the large number of self-seeking ringsters who disgrace the country by their crafty way of taking advantage of the evil that men do in the name of Virtue. Mr. Blake knows what is wanted, and is able to carry his point. He has shaken Romism to its foundation, and yet is not a Conservative. An independent party we must have, and without delay. As we have said before, we do not blame Mr. Stratton: It is the conditions of our political life we deplore. Out of the Conservative party, with Mr. Blake at its head, something might be made which would command the respect and votes of dissatisfied Liberals. Shall this be done or are we to continue on the old and well known lines?

AUSTRALIA MAY NOT SUPPORT MR. CHAMBERLAIN

It is Doubtful if The Commonwealth Will Take Kindly to the New Doctrine

Montreal, May 25—Mr. Henry H. Calcott, of Sydney, N.S.W., is in the city. To a reporter Mr. Calcott said that undoubtedly the speech of Mr. Chamberlain would arouse as much interest in Australia as it had done in Canada. Mr. Calcott was not so sure, however, that Australia would receive the "Empire trade" proposal with open arms. Although the Australian people were intensely loyal to the Mother Country, they would have to be shown that the new preferential trade would not merely consist of sentiment, but result in increased prosperty to the country. "Australia exports much cheese to England, and her exports are continually growing. If Mr. Chamberlain can show us that we are going to benefit in the long run then he can undoubtedly count upon Australia, at least that is my opinion," said Mr. Calcott.

Mr. Calcott has been on a tour through Canada and expresses himself as being much impressed with the resources of the country. "I had no idea I was going to see anything like this," were his farewell words.

HOW FINLAND'S HISTORY WAS NEARLY ALTERED

A Glimpse into a Page of Secret History

The Doctrine of the Divine Right of Russia's Rulers Too Strong for Nicholas

Copenhagen, May 25—Efforts on the part of the Danish Royal family to arrest Russian tyranny in Finland have come to naught, owing to the opposition of certain of the Czar's advisers. A correspondent is able on the best authority, to give the following dramatic story of the negotiations:

When the Dowager Empress of Russia, who is the sister of Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark, was visiting the Danish Court recently, the Crown Prince, who is married to Princess Louise of Sweden and Norway, and follows the events in Finland with great grief, requested the Dowager Empress to use her influence with her son, the Czar, in favor of the Finlanders when she should return to Russia. Her Majesty undertook to fulfill Prince Frederick's wishes. But her unpopularity with the influential member of the Czar's entourage resulted in the defeat of her purpose and a marked coolness between herself and her august son. Advised of the result, Prince Frederick, who is the favorite uncle of the Czar, wrote an affectionate and touching letter to His Majesty, pleading the cause of the Finns.

To appreciate the force of such a communication it should be recalled that Nicholas and Prince Frederick were bosom friends, and that when the Czar was heir apparent he kept up a long correspondence with the Danish Crown Prince concerning western culture and progress.

Appealing to the intimacies and mutual affections of old times Frederick succeeded in making a great impression on the mind of his Imperial nephew, and for some days it seemed as though his Majesty's attitude on the Finnish question would undergo a change. At this critical juncture the uncompromising adherents of absolutism, headed by Pobiedonostseff, Procurator General of the Holy Synod, again took the field against Finland. Pobiedonostseff warned His Majesty that he was about to commit a sin against Providence. He reminded the Czar that according to the Russian national confession of faith, the greatest blessing in any country was that it should by governed by Russia, and its absolute ruler by divine right. Nicholas was advised by Pobiedonostseff that to deprive any part of the empire of this blessing would be wrong and would be certain to entail disastrous consequences to the dynasty.

The Procurator prevailed and the Czar wrote Prince Ferdinand a letter full of meditations of the divine rights of King's. Prince Frederick, having read the Czar's epistle, exclaimed: "It's all over. Finland as a nation will disappear."

THE BRITISH LIBERALS OPPOSE ZOLLVEREIN

British Political Parties Falling Into Line Over Chamberlain's Colonial Policy

THE EARL OF ROSBERY ON THE SITUATION

Positions Taken by Earl Spencer, H. H. Asquith and Other Political Leaders

London, May 25—The Zollverein discussion proceeds vigorously. Howard Vincent says: "Talk of political economy! Why there is no polotical economy but the prosperity of the British Empire, and the welfare of the British people. A general election on preferential trade within the Empire and I die happy!"

There is general suprise at the Earl of Rosebery's declaration that he had no intention in his Tuesday's speech to support Chamberlain. The generally expressed idea is that party pressure has induced Rosebery to land definitely on the anti-Chamberlain side of the fence.

Rt. Hon. H. H. Asquith, who is Rosebery's chief spokesman in the House of Commons also attacks Mr. Chamberlain's proposals on free trade gronuds.

Earl Spencer, Liberal Leader in the House of Lords spoke last night against the Imperial Zollverein.

On the other hand, the Times, Telegraph, Mail and other influential journals continue to warmly support Mr. Chamberlain. Some Liberal Imperialist journals still hesitate to denounce the proposal.

Nevertheless a strong widespread feeling is growing that Chamberlain's administrative record, and the colonies acceptance of the principle of partnership in South Africa, forbid preferential idea being peremptorily turned down as foolish or impossible.

The suggestion is made that the British Chambers of Commerce invite the Canadian exponents of a preferential policy to visit England as their guests, to fully, frankly and publicly expound their ideas. The British Chambers of Commerce also is sending delegates to Canada to expound the British standpoint.

A general acceptance of Mr. Chamberlain as one of the most efficient administrators of modern times compels serious consideration to his proposal, even among confirmed free traders.

As a result of Mr. Chamberlain's speech a Birmingham group of members of the House and manufacturers met in the House of Commons last night and decided to form a tariff league to organize public opinion and bring about preferential tariff within the Empire, party politics being ignored. A conference takes place at Westminster on June 25.

THE RAIN SHORTAGE

Alarming Crop Reports from Various Parts of the Province

Lack of rain is proving a serious drawback in Eastern Canada in two ways. It has seriously injured the hay crops, and it has largely increased the danger from fires. The absence of the usual moisture made the recent Ottawa conflagration possible, and, largely from the same cause, St. Hyacinthe has fallen a prey to the flames. This is a serious blow to the busy manufacturing town in Quebec, with its thousands made homeless and rendered unemployed. That St. Hyacinthe will rise Phoenix-like from its ashes is the hope of all Canadians. In the meantime we must all remember that a dry season such as we are at present experiencing calls for special precautions against fires. In view of this, the customary use of explosives on Victoria Day might very properly be considerably restricted. At any time they are dangerous, but when everything is as inflammable as tinder they are positively a menace to the public safety. Fireworks are very good in their place, and that is a place where they will do no harm to life and property. By all means let us be as enthusiastic as we can, but let us keep the enthusiasm within reasonable bounds for the public safety.

THE LATE MRS. C. W. EVERETT

[illegible] Manhattan, Kansas

The death of Mrs. C. W. Everett, which occurred at the residence of her sister, Manhattan, Kansas, on Friday, will be regretted by many in Peterborough. The deceased was born in New York State, and has been twice married, on the first occasion to Mr. B. A. Jackson, and on the second to Mr. C. W. Everett, of New York. The former of these predeceased her by six years and the latter by two years. The late Mrs. Everett has resided at the Nicholls homestead, and was a legatee of that good and noble woman, the late Mrs. Jane Nicholls. The cause of death was throat trouble. She had no children. Her property, it is said, will pass to her sister and mother.

PNEUMONIA CONTAGIOUS

The belief that pneumonia is a contagious disease appears to be given strong confirmation in the report of the representative of the marine hospital service in Chicago. He finds that of the total of 5,341 deaths in that city within two months, 1,186, or 22 per cent. were caused by pneumonia.

That in itself might not be convincing, but the surgeon reports that as many as four deaths from the malady have occurred in one family, and in one case six persons who attended the funeral of a victim of pneumonia were attacked by the disease and died.

Physicians have for some time recognized the germ organ of pneumonia, and it has been counted as a contagious disease. The same is true of the grip, some forms of colds, and general affections of the respiratory organs.

The sooner, therefore, that the people can be made to understand what physicians believe in this respect the better it will be. Pneumonia, for instance, is one of the most deadly diseases in many parts during the fall, winter and spring, when it causes more deaths than any other malady.

CONDEMN THE "SAW-OFF"

Mr. Blake asks that the Gamey Commissioners give the country an expression of opinion on the "saw-off" practice. If it is not interfering with a case sub judice, we would like to second this request.

It is only by arousing public opinion against this essentially corrupt system of bargaining seat against seat that it will ever be put a stop to; and a strong utterance from this political commission will have great effect in attracting the attention of the public to the subject.

The evidence before the Commission gives a sufficiently cold-blooded account of how the thing is done. The voters are entirely disregarded. The question of corrupt election practices is not mentioned. A few party men, representing both sides, get together in a room, and decided to let a certain number of members of both parties retain their seats without trial, although petitions have already been entered against them. Nothing is thought of but the relative strength of the parties. They may be foisting a man corruptly elected on the country; they may be stifling most shocking exposures; they may be strengthening the force of corruption on both sides of the Chamber.

But these things matter nothing so long as the sacred balance of parties is maintained, and the campaign funds spared. The "saw-off" might easily be used by the corrupt forces on both sides to keep villanies secret and no one would be the wiser. It is a danger to the honest electorate and a disgrace to the nation. Every decent voice should be raised against it.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Kishinef, the city in which the recent horrible outrages upon the Jews were perpetrated, is a large town, having more than 140,000 inhabitants, and it is situated in a fertile and fairly prosperous part of Russia, but the region is not fairly representative of the Russian people. It is very near the frontier, and the population is much mixed. There are many nationalities in Bessarabia, the province of which Kishinef is the chief city. Tartars, gypsies, Roumanians, Poles, Russians, Germans and other elements are mingled with the large number of Jews living there.

OUR LETTER-BOX

NOTE—The Times does not hold itself in any way responsible for the opinions expressed by its correspondents.—Ed. Times.

THE COUNCIL'S EXTRAVAGENCE

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—The action of the Council in appointing a Street Commissioner, who practically takes the place of the Town Engineer, is incomprehensible. We pay our engineer about $4 per day for each working day. Twelve hundred dollars a year would pay interest at 3 per cent., on $40,000. This, then, represents the capital locked up.

I have not one word to say against our engineer in a personal way. He is a good citizen, and no one blames him for taking a soft thing when he can get it. That he is not a success as a street manager, has been apparent ever since he took charge. We have, I believe, a goood road commissioner; now let us do away with the office of engineer. If a bridge is to be built or any plans are needed, we will pay for them as a job, but I apprehend there will be little to do in this line. Our bridges are nearly all now built. As for taking levels for cement walks any man can do this. Indeed it would be a poor schoolboy who could not do better than what has already been done.

I would warn the Mayor and Council that the eyes of the taxpayers are upon them, and the high rate of taxation makes it imperative that all waste should be stopped.

THE BARR PARTY

Warning to Those Intending to Come to Canada

London, May 25—Several members of the Barr colony who have returned to Liverpool, complain of the lack of provision made for them and allege that the arrangements in the West are disorganized.

Simultaneously the press is publishing the warnings of the trades councils in Winnipeg and elsewhere. An official of the immigrant's information office here warns emigrants to Canada that the demand for labor has already been to a great extent met by immigration.

Hobbled Six Years

Cured in Six Weeks of Chronic Rheumatism By Ferrozone

Hundreds, aye, thousands of cures have been put on the market for Rheumatism during the past few years, but a remedy with power to cure Chronic Rheumatism, Ferrozone excepted, in the estimation of Mr. Cullen, of Sturgeon Bay, does not exist.

Mr. Cullen says: "As everyone knows I have been simply tortured for years with Muscular Rheumatism, not the ordinary kind that bothers most people, but the kind that ties one up so that they can't move.

"For six years I hobbled about like a cripple, unable to move without crutches and canes. I used quantities of medicines, special baths and so forth, but they didn't help me very much.

"On the advice of a Presbyterian minister I used Ferrozone, gave it a good trial at first and when I saw it was helping, I bought six boxes and took one tablet at the close of each meal. I am perfectly cured and am today as spry as a youngster of ten. I am convinced that my recovery is entirely due to the marvellous action of Ferrozone."

Mr. Cullen's case is a fair example of the kind of cures that Ferrozone is affecting every day. In severe cases of Neuralgia, Sciatica, Rheumatism, and Lumbago it acts with surprising alacrity, and no case is recorded where it failed.

Ferrozone cures these diseases because it is a solvent for uric acid in the blood. It removes all traces of it and other poisons from the blood in from two to ten days. Then it builds up and invigorates the system, and makes weak, sickly people strong and well enough to resist and ward off disease.

The best Rheumatism remedy that one can buy is Ferrozone. It relieves quickly and cures so perfectly that the disease never again returns. After all other remedies fail, it cures, and that is the sort of medicine you want. Ferrozone price 50c. per box, or three boxes for $1.25. Sent to you address by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

COST OF BRITISH NAVY

Every White Man in Empire Would Pay 12 Shillings per Year

London, May 25—The Admiralty has issued an important white paper correcting inaccuracies in the memorandum submitted at the Colonial Conference. It shows that the protection of Canada's overseas trade costs Canada nothing, though Anglo-Canadian trade is valued at $150,000,000, and other Canadian trade is valued at $60,000,000.

The memorandum suggests that the opening of new routes in Canadian trades makes Canada interested not only in the North-American squadron, but in the strength of the British fleet as a whole. The memorandum also shows that if the latest British naval estimates were divided equally among the white population of the Empire the charge per head would be 12 shillings, 1 farthing.

MASSACRE IN CONGO

Eighty Natives Killed by Order of a Belgian Officer

Brussels, May 25—The District Commission of the Congo Free State reports that Lieutenant Gregoire, a Belgian, became enraged with an interpreter for misinterpreting to a native chief in the Mongolia district, and shot him. He then ordered his troops to fire on the natives, eighty of whom were killed.

A SPLENDID INVESTMENT

One of the Best to be Found in the Financial Market — Mr. R. J. Kidd has Been Appointed Local Fiscal Agent

It has been the province of the National Banker to direct public attention heretofore to the exceedingly rich mineral deposits of Eastern Oregon, and especially of the Sumpter gold fields. We have shown how in the early days of gold mining in California the placer gold, immensely rich in its deposit, first attracted the attention of the gold seeker, and many millions of dollars was panned out of Mother Earth with the primitive pan before more modern methods were utilized in the extraction of the precious metal. Eastern Oregon has to a large extent the same mineral formation existing in California and its rich placer field gives assuring evidence of the same relatively rich quartz deposits. The ocular demonstration of the richness of the Sumpter gold fields now going on day by day has startled the mining world and those mining properties situated in this now famous district are regarded as the most desirable and valuable in all Oregon.

Situated in the heart of this richly mineralized region is the property of the Minersville Gold Mining and Milling Company, consisting of the Fleur De Lis, Mayflower and Mistletoe Quartz mining claims, covering sixty acres. They are advantageously situated for mining purposes, being within a short distance from the Sumpter Valley railway and from Sumpter, the point of supply. Two well defined veins indicating big values have been opened and a third exhibits the same extensive mineral formation. These fissure veins are from 16 feet to 20 feet in width and are indicative of the great values which will be obtained when these claims are fully developed. Two companies adjacent to the property of the Minersville Gold Mining and Milling Company operating on these same veins, have blocked out sufficient ore bodies to warrant the installation of a reduction plant at an early day. Recent assays from the Mistletoe [illegible] $6.48. Assays from the Fleur De Lis show an average of $9.24 per ton. This showing comes from practically near the surface of these claims. When full development is proceeded with these values will double and treble, and when it is understood that these ore bodies are free milling, susceptible of easy amalgamation and subject to the cyanide process of treatment it will be readily seen that the cost of producing the precious metal will be reduced to a minimum and that the profits derived will be a source of great revenue to the fortunate shareholders. For the purpose of immediately making the necessary development on this valuable property, the company is offering a limited number of shares of its treasury stock at 15 cents per share, and there is not the slightest doubt these shares will go to par and beyond when the work already mapped out is well under way, and the inexhaustible rich ore bodies obtained. It is seldom that such a splendid opportunity presents itself for large dividends that are sure to accrue to investors, and the National Banker, speaking with a personal knowledge of the inexhaustible richness of this foremost mining district, recommends the investing public to make quick purchase of this desirable stock.

Oregon mines have made many fortunes for its mining capitalists and investors and the history of the past will be again realized to those who seize this opportunity to become the owners of permanent, big paying dividends. The company is managed by gentlemen who occupy a distinctively high position in commercial, financial and mining circles, and whose word has always been recognized as good as their bond. Mr. J. B. Hall, the fiscal agent, with office 710-167 Dearborn street is one of our well known citizens to whom has been entrusted the placing of this stock. Mr. Hall is recognized as a gentleman of unquestioned business standing, honest, reliable, and truthful, and his connection with the Minersville Gold Mining and Milling Company assures the prompt disposal of the stock now on sale. The National Banker takes pleasure in recommending this stock as a most desireable and profitable investment.

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL

Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the

ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y

in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that. It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

If shares are exhausted when your application is received we will return your money. Make checks payably to the order of the Actonoma Oil and Development Company, P. H. Enright, Secretary and Treasurer, 218 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

TRANSFER OFFICE, BRISTOL, CONN.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in, in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

asked their opinion. They were disappointed and angry, and made a few fanciful suggestions, such as capturing old Foster and twisting his neck until he divulged the hiding-place of the gold chests, but there was no practical outcome of the council.

"I don't see there's anything special we can do to-day, then," said Brenton. "We must work away at our defences. Let's be safe, anyway; that's the first thing. We don't seem to be going to get the stuff quietly, but I doubt we can fight as well as the 'Hecuba' chaps. Maybe we'll capture someone before long and wring the secret out of him."

So all hands turned to digging again, but this time with the sole view to complete their defences.

In the middle of the afternoon Keith suddenly laid down his spade. "There's those two chaps in irons on board," he said. "They must know all about it. What about forcing the truth out of them?"

"How's it going to be done?" asked Brenton, but though Keith was not prepared with a ready-made reply to this conundrum he felt that there might be something in his suggestion. As for instance, one of the rascals might be hanged from the yardarm for the murder of Dick Robinson, while the other was offered his life on condition that he revealed the needed information.

The difficulty in this plan was, however, that there was no proof against them. One could not well hang a man without trial upon mere suspicion.

"Why not starve them into it?" was Keith's next idea.

Brenton thought this plan worth considering.

"They'd have to be got ashore first," he said, "and that wouldn't be easy. We'd have to do it at night. What's more likely is, our three men that's gone over to them, they'll tell the others all about Eddis and his pal, ah! and about the girl being aboard, too. I'd forgotten that."

"Jessie Foster!" exclaimed Keith. "Why, blow me if I hadn't forgotten that, too! Lord, skipper, it's awkward enough her being there. Why, they'll ——. Stop!" he added, after a moment. "By thunder! no, it isn't! It may be a good thing. It may help us to find the gold, her being there. How is it we didn't think of it?"

"Think of what?" asked the astounded skipper.

"Why, her—her and young Drake. When he knows she's here, we can work him!"

"That's true," said the captain, "if we can get at him. How are we going to do that when we're at war?"

"I think I'll go and tell him now," said Keith.

But before a move had been made towards that end a man hailed the diggers from the other side of the earthworks.

"Ahoy, in there!" he cried. "Is young Keith Adams about the place?"

"Well, I'm blamed!" exclaimed Keith, jumping up and climbing the earth wall that separated the two men. "If it isn't Denys Drake come of his self."

CHAPTER XVII.

Keith Has An Adventure.

Denys Drake had not arrived, it seemed, in the best of humors. He took no notice of the hand offered him by Keith.

"What's this foolery about Jess?" he said angrily.

"What foolery's that?" replied Keith.

"Why, who in thunder brought her along here, and what for?"

"Well, if you must know, she came of herself; no one asked her and no one knew she was coming."

"That's a lie, Adams, and you know it. Come, who was it?"

Keith laughed good-naturedly.

"Well, a lie it is, as it happens, for the cabin boy knew. She and he fixed it up between them. Now are you satisfied?"

Denys Drake frowned angrily.

"I shall get the truth out of her, if I can't out of you. It's a scandal, I call it."

"There's no scandal, man. Don't be a fool. Don't you know her brother Tom's aboard, to look after her? She's come to see if you and her dad are alive and well. Since you haven't the wit to understand it for yourself, I must tell you the plain truth."

"Well, I'll hear what she has to say," said Drake, slightly mollified.

"How are you going to do that? Young Tom won't allow no visitors aboard, don't you fret. He'll blow any boat out of the water that tries to board the 'Penelope.'"

"Don't you fret, neither, partner. Me and Jess is going to meet, you may bet your boots."

"Well, I hope you will, for that'll mean you've come round to our side, and no fool either if you did, for you'd lose nothing by it and maybe you'd gain."

"Oh, that's it, is it?" said Drake, laughing derisively. "Well, we'll see!" He turned to go, but faced about when he had walked a few paces.

"See here, Adams," he said. "Me and you was at school together, and has been good friends since. You take my advice and get on board that darned ship of yours and sail back to Seadown, or you'll get hurt maybe. We don't want to go and you can't make us, and we ain't going to let you have the gold, not for twenty bank clerks. You can't get it unless you know where it is. How can you?"

"We think we shall come out on top, sonny. That's where you and I differ. No good never came of tryin' to sneak what don't belong to you, and that's what you chaps are doin' here. As you've given me a bit of advice, which I've no doubt was meant friendly, I'll give you a bit back. If you come on our side you'll get a share of this 'ere treasure, which you won't do if you continue to claim what isn't yours. It was the captain's duty to save all the cargo he could for the benefit of owners and underwriters. Saving it don't make it his or the crew's. Now the owners know it's saved they want it back, and they've a right to it. They'll pay all them as has helped to save it, and pay them handsome. You wouldn't dare come home rich with gold that wasn't yours. You'd be called thieves, and you couldn't keep the stuff. Then there's just one more thing, and that's Jess. The maid's yours as much as she ever was, and longin' to see you; but if I know Jess, which I do a bit, she won't have nothing to do with a chap what don't take no more account of her than you'll be doing if you take part in tryin' to murder those that have come to fetch you home. If you'd been the man she thought you, you'd have come home when Dick Robinson did."

"Yes, and 've got murdered like he did for my pains! I wasn't such a fool," said Drake, flushing.

"Well, you'd better explain all that to her when you see her—if ever you do

AN ABSOLUTELY SAFE INVESTMENT

—One that will Increase 200 Per Cent. within a Year.—

The Adams Copper Mining and Refining Co.

Owns Seven Copper Mines, all of which Show Wide Veins of Pay Ore.

One of its mines, The Copper Coin, has just been equipped with buildings and up-to-date machinery.

The company has no debts and owns its own properties.

At a recent meeting of the directors, the officers of the company were instructed to sell a small block of the treasury stock for the purpose of fully equipping more of the mines with proper buildings and up-to-date machinery, and in pursuance with the above instructions the officers do now offer TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK AT 12 CENTS PER SHARE, on easy payments, as follows: On all orders for 100 shares to 1,000 shares, $5 cash with order and $5 per month thereafter until fully paid. The management fully expects to make this stock worth par in from 12 to 15 months.

The secretary and treasurer of this company bought Gold Coin stock at 12 cents per share and sold it at $6.50 per share within 21 months.

Another officer of this company bought Calumet & Hecla Copper stock at $1.00 per share and sold it for $325.00 per share. This company paid $70,000,000 in dividends.

Adams Copper Mining and Refining Company's stock will do the same, as they have enormous bodies of ore already in sight.

WHEN TO INVEST

HERE ARE A FEW COPPER FACTS well worth the attention of all would-be investors: $100 invested in 1890 in the Tamarack Copper Company is now worth $782; $100 invested in 1893 in Boston & Montana Copper Company is now worth $1,896; $100 invested in 1896 in the Arnold Copper Company is now worth $1,870; $100 invested in 1893 in the Wolverine Copper Company is now worth $5,600. $100 invested in the Butte & Boston Copper Company is now worth $5,600. $100 invested in 1896 in the Calumet & Hecla Copper Company is now worth $8,050.

More money has, in recent years, been made in copper mining than in any other staple enterprise as free from the element of risk. There is nothing misleading in the statement that copper mining as a proposition is better than gold, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The most valuable minin properties in the world are copper properties.

To every purchaser of stock a specimen of ore from the Company's mines will be sent FREE.

Send your order at once before the advance, which will certainly be made in the near future. Ten per cent. discount for cash.

The Minersville Gold Mining —and Milling Company—

Will be sold at 15 CENTS PER SHARE, PAR VALUE, $1.00.

Full Paid, Non-Assessable and No Personal Liability.

READ THIS! This Company offers one of the safest and best investments, as its property is located in the famous Sumpter District, Baker Co., Oregon, and has for its neighbors such mines as the Bonanza, Red Boy, Eureka, North Pole, Columbia, Golconda and Cracker Oregon, which are producing from $20,000 to $200,000 each per month. This great property for which the undersigned is Fiscal Agent is more promising than many of the big producing mines at the same stage of development.

The Company has three full claims, with two large veins, one sixteen feet and the other twenty-two feet at the surface, showing good gold values and strictly free milling.

The Company owns the property outright, being free from all debt and incumbrance and in order to equip the mine with modern machinery and to continue development work, a limited number of shares will be sold for a short time only at 15 cents per share, as announced above.

STOCK MARKETS

VERY LOW PRICES AT PRESENT

New York, May 23.—Prices for stocks have now reached a very low figure. They are excessively cheap at present. When standard four per cent. railway shares which are earning two or three times that upon their capitalization can be purchased in the eighties they are woundrously cheap and should be bought. Stocks like U.P., B.O., Atch. etc. appeal to investors and speculators at current prices, their possibilities for the future are so great. The serious decline in certain over inflated Canadian securities which are dealt in at Montreal has caused more or less liquidation in various American issues. The Canadians were compelled to sell them in order to care for their own home stocks, in which this week a market strongly resembling a panic has existed. This fact caused prices for our own issues to go lower than they probably otherwise would have done. London has been a heavy buyer the last few days. Her purchases were particularly heavy yesterday and the day before. American stocks at the moment, considering their absolute merit, earning capacity and dividend returns, are the cheapest in the world. Foreign attention is rapidly noting this fact, consequently foreign capitalists are new buyers. In the past ten days it is estimated by the houses with European connection that London has absorbed fully 300,000 shares of American stocks. Two large life insurance companies are alleged, in the past two days, to have taken over one million dollars worth of dividend securities. The appearance, of culmination of the present unhealthy cotton speculation is also aiding matters a bit. To our mind at current level, stocks are far more desirable to have on hand than idle money. Common house selling the past week has exceeded commission house buying fully 50 per cent., This is one of the very best indications that the market is nearing bottom, if it has not already recorded the lowest prices.

Summary—The stock market opened tamely and aside from a fair demand for A.C.P. & P.O was inclined to sag, the list gradually took on a weak tone which was maintained until the close, though a slight rally occurred after the bank statement. The declines were common for all issues, save, perhaps P.O., which lost only half per cent. for the day. There was no news influencing prices and the reactions appear to have been brought about by the lack of interest shown by the usual trading element. We look for irregularity for a few days but feel certain that the market will repeat itself and rally substantially from its low level. It would seem extremely dangerous to sell stocks now, and it would seem very safe to buy the majority of the list for a quick rally of two or three points, while such standard issues as N.Y.C., Tex. and St. Paul should attract investors by the opening on Monday. Sales 386,000.

THE CUP FLEET TO SAIL

THEY PROCLAIM THE MERITS

To the World of Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills.

To the Editor of The Times—

Sir,—That the world may know of the merits of Dr. Clarke's wonderful Little Red Pills, I ask the newspapers to publish the following: I was, for years, a martyr to stomach trouble, and had no hope whatever of being cured; but on seeing a testimonial from a friend in Ontario, in one of the Toronto papers, I resolved to write to her and found that she had actually been cured of the same trouble by Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I at once bought three boxes and took them according to directions, and they almost cured me. I purchased three more boxes, and am thankful to say that I am entirely cured. I have no splitting headaches now, no burning pain in my stomach; in fact, have a new lease of life.

MRS. JAMES HUNTER,
Miami, Man.

A Remarkable Offer.

Sir,—We make the following proposal to readers of The Times. To any one who is a subject of rheumatism, (no matter how long standing), or any blood disease, enumerated below, and will give Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills a fair trial, and are not fully and completely cured, we will refund the money paid for the pills. If no good results follow, we will forfeit $10 each.

We have yet to know of a single case where this wonderful medicine has not been almost entirely successful in its work of relieving suffering humanity.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even where the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough. Price 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.00.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Catarrh and Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Eczema, same price. $500 will be paid for any case that is not permanently cured.

THE TRANS-CONTINENTAL TRANSPORTATION AND MINING CO.

Owns [illegible] acres of the richest mineral land in the known world. It is situated above Georgetown in Upper Clear Creek, Colorado.

The Company are now driving a railway and mining tunnel under Argentine Pass, opening up their own vast ore deposits of gold and silver, and bringing the enormous mineral resources of Montezuma and Keystone into the market. There are several sources of revenue:

This G.F.J.'s Preference

This great family journal is in receipt of a bottle of pure maple syrup from a friend in Apsley. The syrup is the pure stuff, having been made from the sap of the maple, without adulteration. Some contemporaries we know prefer other liquids that are to be occasionally found in black bottles, but this g.f.j. is not among the number. Our weakness is for maple syrup, pure and unadulterated.

A Normal Pulse

AN ATTEMPTED MURDER

A Barnardo Boy Shoots a Young Lady in Otonabee

A DESPERATE STRUGGLE

The Villain Arrested And Brought to Town—Will Probably Get Trial To Day

Yesterday morning Joseph Framm, a lad of about 17 years of age, who lived with Mr. James Matchett, Otonabee, was arrested by County Constable Cochrane, charged with attempted criminal assault and murder. He was brought to town and lodged in gaol, and will probably have a preliminary trial before County Police Magistrate Edmison to-day.

It appears that Mr. and Mrs. Matchett drove to town on Saturday afternoon, after dinner, leaving Miss Stewart, their neice, who is about 20 years of age and who is a member of the family, at home. During the afternoon Miss Stewart had washed her hair, which is very long and heavy, and was on her knees in front of the open grate drying it, when Framm entered from behind and attempted to assault the young lady. There was a fierce struggle, which ended in Miss Stewart escaping from the clutches of the cowardly villain. She ran shrieking from the house, and as she was fleeing, and when only a few yards distant, Framm shot her from behind. The gun, fortunately, was loaded with fine shot, and the aim was bad, only a dozen of the shot taking effect below the knee, in the calf of the leg. In her excitement Miss Stewart did not feel the wound, and it was only after she had reached the home of the nearest neighbor, where she sank fainting to the floor, that the wounds made by the shot were discovered. Medical aid was at once secured, and the unfortunate young lady made as comfortable as possible in the meantime. When Dr. Greer arrived he found Miss Stewart in a hysterical condition. He succeeded in removing six grains of shot from the leg; others he thinks may be imbedded in the bone.

On Sunday morning Mr. Matchett, on rising about 4.30 o'clock, found Framm engaged in milking cows. Soon after he was arrested and brought to town.

Joseph Framm is an English lad, and came from the Barnardo Home for Boys, Toronto. He had been with Mr. Matchett for three years, and was looked upon as a rather exemplary young man. A Times representative, who visited the Matchett homestead yesterday, was informed that "Joe," as he is called, was highly thought of by Mr. Matchett. He is a good worker, truthful, and with few evil habits. On Saturday he had taken the double-barrelled gun to shoot crows, which are very numerous there and which are very destructive to young chickens.

Mr. Davis, the manager of the Boys Home, Toronto, was due to arrive from Toronto on the midnight train last night, so as to be present at the preliminary trial.

THE LATE DR. C. S. HAULTAIN

A Former Resident of Peterborough Dies at Battleford

It is our sad duty to record the death of Dr. Charles S. Haultain, son of the late Major-General Haultain, which occurred at his home in Battleford, Alberta, on Wednesday last.

Dr. Haultain was educated at the Collegiate Institute here, and afterwards graduated in medicine from Trinity University. He practiced for a short time in Winnipeg, when he received a position as surgeon in the Northwest Mounted Police, being stationed successively at Maple Creek, Regina, MacLeod, and finally at Battleford, where he died on Wednesday last. In 1900 the deceased was married to Henrietta, eldest daughter of Mrs. James F. Dennistoun, who, with four children, survives him. The late Dr. Haultain had been an invalid for some months, having sustained injuries by being thrown from his buggy by a runaway horse. These culminated during the past week in nervous collapse from which he did not rally. The funeral will take place on Wednesday next at MacLeod.

MEAL TIME CONSCIENCE

What Do the Children Drink?

There are times when mother or father feeds the youngsters something that they know children should not have. Perhaps it is some rich dessert, but more often it is tea or coffee. Some compromise by putting in so much hot water that there is not much tea or coffee left but even that little is pretty certain to do harm. It leads to bigger doses. Then come the coffee ills.

It is better to have some delicious, hot, food drink that you can take yourself, and feed to your children conscious that it will help and strengthen and never hurt them. A lady of Oneida, N.Y., says: "I used coffee many years in spite of the conviction that it injured my nervous system and produced my nervous headaches. While visiting a friend I was served with Postum, but it was not well made, still I determined to get a package and try it myself and after following directions carefully, the result was all that could be desired; a delicious, finely flavored richly colored beverage. Since I quit coffee, Postum has worked wonders for me.

"My husband who always suffered from kidney trouble when drinking coffee quit the coffee and took up Postum with me, and since drinking Postum he has felt stronger and better with no indication of kidney trouble.

"You may be sure I find it a great comfort to have a warm drink at meals that I can give my children with a clear conscience that it will help them and not hurt them as coffee or tea would." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

ARRESTED FOR THEFT

Miss Hester Boyd Disappears with A Sum of Articles and Wearing Apparel

On Sunday morning, about 10.30 o'clock, Hester Boyd, a Barnardo Home girl about 18 years of age, employed as servant at Dr. Pigeon's disappeared with a number of articles, and some clothing apparel viz.: hat, skirt, waist, belt, chatelaine bag containing a small sum of money, and a pair of gloves; belonging to Miss Annie Brown, who is visiting Mrs. Dr. Pigeon.

The chief of police was notified, and a search was made for the girl with the missing articles. She was located at the home of some friends about six miles out in Smith. Constable Adams was at once despatched, and arrested the girl about 5 o'clock.

Miss Boyd has been employed at Dr. Pigeon's for the past three months.

There have been times when the wild beasts have been more merciful than human beings, and spared the woman cast to them in the arena. It is astonishing how little sympathy women have for women. In the home the mistress sees the maid with the signs of suffering she recognizes so well, but she does not lighten the sick girl's load by a touch of her finger. In the store the forewoman sees the pallor and exhaustion which mark womanly weakness, but allows nothing for them. It is work or quit.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, by curing the womanly diseases which undermine the health and sap the strength. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

"When I first commenced using Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. George A. Strong, of Gansevoort, Saratoga Co., N. Y. "I was suffering from female weakness, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains, weak and tired feeling all the time. I dragged around in that way for two years, then I began taking your medicine. After taking the first bottle I began to feel better. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of the 'Pleasant Pellets,' also used one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Now I feel like a new person. I can't thank you enough for your kind advice and the good your medicine has done me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate women.

JAPAN IS IN A RAGE WILL FIGHT RUSSIA

The Little Kingdom Hot for War with Her Powerful Rival

IMMENSE WAR PREPARATIONS UNDER WAY

How the Japanese Newspapers Regard the Situation — Believe That War will Soon Come

London, May 26—Late advices from Tokio confirm the reports that feverish preparations are being made for war with Russia. In both army and navy activity prevails. Relays of men are hastening the completion of a number of war vessels, while the army is everywhere drilling.

Tokio, May 27.—The Jiji declares that Japan will certainly resent, with arms, if necessary, Russia's alleged intention to convert her present forces of occupation into so-called rail way guards. The paper continues:—"The only right Russia has secured from China by the Cassini convention and the Chinese Eastern Railway agreement is the right of posting police guards along the route of the line. For the sake of convenience Russia may use troops as guards, but even in that case only a small number of troops must be sufficient for the purpose."

The Osaka Mainichi is more unreserved in expressing its opinions, but insists that Russia must be driven out of Manchuria at all costs, and Japan will have to do it.

The Nichi Nichi regards this question of evacuation with more equanimity, being of the opinion that there is no reason why Russia should not in good faith fulfil, as she did on the first occasion, her promise as to the second evacuation. Even if Russia should use her soldiers as guards of the railway, it will evidently be in accordance with some secret agreement between her and China. Indeed, the stationing by Russia of 3,000 troops in Manchuria prior to the Boxer trouble also points to the same conclusion. But a similar stationing of troops there in future will probably become a bugbear to a section of the public who would leave to the mercy of highwaymen the interests of the railway which is now one of the most important of the world's lines of communication. "Such people evidently ignore the fact that, since Siberia is now connected by the Chinese Eastern Railway with Port Arthur and Dalny, Russia can, at a moment's notice move an army of a hundred thousand men from East Siberia to any of the important places.

PLANS NEGRO REPUBLIC

Kentuckian Proposes to Establish One in Carribean Sea

A Plan to Force the Negroes Out of the United States—Time Has Come for a Race Separation

Sturgis, Ky., May 27—A strong movement is now on foot, organized by H. L. Mosgrove, a Kentuckian and a well-known writer, to induce the Afro-American race to found an empire in the Caribbean. Already the national board here has received piles of papers, letters and telegrams, containing flattering offers of contributions to the cause, propositions from publishers to issue a book dealing with the question, and requests to deliver lectures and institute the local societies, Sons of Freedom, in various places.

Propose to Seize an Island.

The plan is to purchase or seize the sovereignty of some large island or state outside the boundaries of the United States, set up an Afro-American republic, which shall be administered both as a limited political [illegible] commonwealth, all citizens holding certificates in the society to be stockholders, participating in the wealth of the nation, all franchises, land titles and privileges to vest in the state and be a part of the public capital.

All criminals are to be utilized on the public highways or buildings, the incorrigibles set adrift on the sea to seek other shores, thus avoiding maintaining prisons. Education, industry, manufacturing, and especially agriculture, are to be encouraged.

The secretary says that the time has come when the Saxon and the African can no longer dwell together in peace and harmony, and that the Afro-American is entitled to a country, a government and a flag of his own.

SEARCHING FOR A HUSBAND

The Times Receives a Pathetic Letter from England

In far off England there is a mother and sick daughter wondering what has become of their husband and father since he left England some twenty-two years ago, and The Times has been asked to find the man who for ten years has never been heard from by his child and wife. The letter which was received at The Times office is:

"Bingham Roads, Radcliffe on Trent,
May 15, 1903.

To the Editor of The Times, Peterborough, Canada:

"Sir—I am taking the liberty of writing to you to ask you if you could kindly give me information respecting my husband, who went to Canada about twenty-two years ago. His name is Francis William Bramley. His age would be about 51; height, 6 feet, 2 inches; inclined to be fair and was broad when he left England. The last I heard of him was about ten years ago. At that time he was at a place called Peterborough, and was taking a farm with another man. He left me with my brothers who are now gone, and my daughter is very delicate. I think if he knew he would either send for us, [illegible] a little assistance. He said in his last letter that he was going to get a divorce if I did not come to him. I said I would come if he would send the money and he never answered the letter. Could you kindly tell me, if you are allowed to do so, in what way I can get to know if he is alive and if he is married. Withhold nothing causing any unpleasantness in any way. His daughter is very anxious to come to him, and I think if he knew he would be pleased to have her. I have been advised to write to you, as I am told you might be able to give me some information. He was a farmer in England, and lived at a village called Kempstone, in Nottinghamshire.

"I remain yours respectfully.

"F. BRAMLEY."

THE THREE GREAT GROUPS OF EUROPEAN COLONIES

Great Britain Away in the Lead of Other Nations

Washington, May 27—The Bureau of Statistics has issued a very interesting document, discussing the various phases of colonial government.

The 435,000,000 people of stock different from that of the governing country and located in the tropics are divided into three great groups—East Indian, West Indian and African. The East Indian, or Oriental, group includes the British colonies of India, Ceylon, the Malayan Peninsula, Fiji and Borneo, the Dutch colonies of Java and Sumatra and the French colony of Indo-China, all located comparatively near to the Philippines and having a population, climate and other conditions somewhat similar to those of the Philippines. The second group, the West Indian, includes colonies governed by the British, French Dutch and Danish governments; the third group, Africa and adjacent lands, includes territory governed by Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium, Italy and Portugal.

The population of the British colonies is, in round numbers, 350,000,000; that of the French colonies, 56,000,000; Netherlands colonies, 35,000,000; Belgian colonies, 30,000,000; German colonies 15,000,000; Portuguese colonies, 9,000,000; and Spanish colonies 135,000; while the non-contiguous territory governed by the United States, has a population of about 10,000,000. Of the population of 350,000,000 thus governed by Great Britain nearly 300,000,000 are in the East Indian group, 35,000,000 are in Africa and less than 2,000,000 in the West Indies. Of the Dutch colonies 35,000,000 are in the East Indian group and 50,000 in the West Indies. Of the French colonies about 25,000,000 are in the East Indian group, 25,000,000 in Africa and 300,000 in the West Indies.

EXHUMES DEAD CHILD

Father Crazed by Loss and Story of Ghouls Digs Up Baby's Body

Bedford, Ind., May 27 —William Rock, crazed over the death of a child and the accounts of the recent ghoul cases, went to the cemetery yesterday and compelled the sexton to get his tools and dig up the body, that he might know it was there.

The sexton became alarmed and had to obey to save his life. He tried to delay the job until he could get help, but Rock grasped the tools and finished the job himself.

Lifting the coffin from the grave he grasped the body of his child and applied endearing names to it.

The police arrived later, overpowered him and he was placed in jail.

Only Direct Descendant of Robt. Burns

Chicago, May 27—The only direct descendant of Robert Burns is a clerk in a Chicago shipping house. He is Robert Burns Hutchinson, and his descent from the poet is unquestioned. His mother Sarah Burns was a daughter of Lieut.-Col. James Glencairn Burns, the third son of Robert Burns and Jean Armour. Mr. Hutchinson will be 48 this year. He was born at Cheltenham, but crossed the water in 1891, when he married Miss Mabel Burnand. Their little daughter, Dorthea Burns Hutchinson, is the next in the straight line from the poet.

ENORMOUS TRADE OF THE GREAT EMPIRE

Figures That Represent the Wealth of the British Dominion

RAPIDLY GROWING TRADE

The Absolute Necessity of Keeping Up the British Navy

London, May 26—The Admiralty has issued an important white paper correcting an erroneous abstract of British trade, which was presented at the conference of Colonial Premiers last June. The memorandum which is on the sea power contains a brief review of naval tactics from the earliest times, with a veiw of emphasizing the absolute necessity of maintaining command of the sea. It also places in a clear light the importance of the trade of the colonies.

The annual value of British trade including bullion and specie, which it it is the ultimate object of the navy to protect amounted in the year 1900 to: Trade of United Kingdom with foreign countries £711,838,000; with British Dominions beyond the seas £257,098,000; trade of British Dominions beyond the seas, with foreign countries, and among themselves £264,342,000; total trade of the Empire £1,203,276,000.

The figures £264,342,000 is arrived at by deducting the sum of £72,824,000 from the sum of the total amounts of the trade of all the dominions in order to allow for the duplication of reciprocal trade of these colonies among themselves. It will thus be seen that about one-fifth of the total trade of the Empire is not directly connected with the United Kingdom.

PRESTON DEFENDS BARR

Stories Reach England of Colony Greatly Exaggerated

London, May 25—Mr. W. T. R. Preston publishes elaborate replies to the criticisms of the management of Barr's all-British colony. He admits Rev. Mr. Barr probably received $15,000 commission from the Government and steamship companies, but he earned it. The stories of lack of provisions and the lapse of the transport are absolutely untrue. The Government, Mr. Preston says, is perfectly satisfied with Rev. Mr. Barr's conduct.

A Library Car

The first G.T.R. car fitted up with a library for the benefit of cafe-parlor and Pullman passengers—No 2008—left Montreal Saturday morning attached to the International Limited. A special bookcase constructed in mahogany to harmonize with the interior woodwork, was constructed at the company's shops. It contained two shelves with glass doors which opened outward. The ornamentation on the top of this receptacle was made to conform with the surrounding ornamentation. The effect produced upon the car was one of added comfort.

SHE PULLED HIS WHISKERS

How a Married Man was Treated by the Wife of His Bosom

Two women quarrelled in the vicinity of the Grand Trunk station the other night, and for a while the air was full of whiskers and hairpins and naughty words. The man, who is said to be well known, during the height of the melee, sneaked away home. One of the women was his wife, who had come to see him off on the nine o'clock Port Hope train, and she had her suspicions that the other woman was to make the trip with him. It seems that a well trained husband might have arranged things better than that. He had probably never heard of that old familiar toast on open nights:—"Our wives and our sweethearts—may they never meet."

LAYING THE CORNER STONE

Of the New Presbyterian Church at Centreville on Wednesday Next

The Rev. J. W. McIntosh, M.A., the pastor of the Presbyterian Church of South Monaghan, was in town on Wednesday last making final arrangements for the programme in connection with laying the corner stone of the new Sunday School Hall on Monday, June 1st, 1903.

The stone is to be laid by Mrs. H. Waddell, of town, who was the unanimous choice of the building committee at their meeting held in the Presbyterian church at Centreville on the second of May, 1903.

The congregation is one of the most successful in the Peterborough Presbytery, and is drawn from the united counties of Northumberland, Durham and Peterborough. The Church is situated in East Durham, but the new hall will be in Northumberland County, in that part of it included in the West Riding of Peterborough.

The congregation, while loyal to Church, do not forget their representatives in state, and are anticipating the presence of the Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., and J. J Preston, M.P P., members for these constituencies.

Among others going from town to take part in the ceremony are Mayor Roger, Rev. Mr. Bennett, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. J. G. Potter. Miss C. Belleghem, Miss Winnie Dobbin, and Mr. Archie Froude. The ceremony will take place at 2.30 p.m., and tea at 5 p.m. The buss will leave town at 12 o'clock sharp.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Institution of a Local Council on Monday Last

Prominent Roman Catholic laymen, to the number of about 200, with a number of clergymen, visited Peterborough on Sunday and Monday last.

The object of the gathering was the forming of a Council of the Knights of Columbus, an organization connected with the Roman Catholic church, and which is growing rapidly in membership. A very successful Council has been installed in Ottawa for some time, and has amongst its members the most influential Catholics of the capital and district. It was only last week that the Ottawa Council was addressed by the Papal Delegate, who commended the organization for the good work it was doing. The Knights of Columbus Society is recognized by the hierarchy of the church as a power for good in furthering the interests of the church.

On Monday morning the visiting Knights and candidates assembled in the Oddfellows' Hall, and afterwards marched in a body to St. Peter's Cathedral, where solemn Pontificial High Mass was celebrated by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, at nine o'clock. The local Court, (St. Peter's) C.O.F., C.M.B.A. Branch, and St. Peter's T.A.S. also attended in a body. The cathedral was crowded to the doors by a large congregation. Rev. Father Whalen, of St. Patrick's church Ottawa, preached the sermon, which was an eloquent one. The music furnished by the choir is worthy of special mention, the choir on this occasion being strengthened by the assistance of several of the visitors, who are vocalists of merit. At the conclusion of the mass His Lordship Bishop O'Connor extended a welcome to the Knights, and addressed a few words to them, after which the Knights and candidates marched back to their hall, where they went into session until the noon hour.

In the evening at 7.30 the Knights met again in session, when the local Council was instituted and a large number of members initiated, including several of the local as well as district clergy. At the conclusion of the initiation ceremonies refreshments were served by Caterer Harry Long, which was followed by speech-making by many of the visiting Knights. The officers of the local Council will be elected at a subsequent meeting.

Amongst the visiting Knights present might be mentioned Rev. Father Sloan, Montreal; Rev. Father Foley, Ottawa; Rev. Father Davis, Kingston Diocese; Rev. Father Whalen and Rev. Father French, Ottawa; Hon. F. R. Latchford, Chancellor, Ottawa Council; Mr. J. P. Dunne, Ottawa, State Deputy; Mr. J. J. Heney, Ottawa, District Deputy.

The visitors one and all expressed themselves as delighted with the hospitality of the citizens of the town, and of the manner in which they were received by the local gentlemen identified with the organization of a Council in Peterborough.

A SUCCESSFUL REGATTA

Held on Victoria Day by the Otonabee Canoe Club

The regatta held under the auspices of the Trent Valley Canoe Club on the Little Lake on Victoria Day, was a great success. The following were the officials, to whom Mr. R. M. Roy kindly lent his steam yacht, 'The Rob Roy'. Starter, Mr. Geo. Cochrane; Judges, Messrs. E. B. Clegg, F. Clark and R. M. Roy; Time Keeper, Mr. H. F. McWilliams.

The first race was a sailing canoe race and was won by Mr. F. Roy's "Adele." Mr. Wm. Ackerman and Mr. Taylor also entered their canoes.

This race was followed by a ladies' double, in which the following young ladies took part: The Misses Mamie Hamilton, Mary Fitzgerald, Helen Hall, Florence and Alison Hamilton and Miss Gwen Hall. It was won by Miss Alison Hamilton and Miss Gwen Hall.

The next race was a gentleman's double and was won by Stock and Ball and Roy and Weeks.

This was followed by a men's three which was won by Stock, Ball and Watt, and Weeks, Collins and Roy.

Then came the tub race, during which Commodore Stock won the [illegible], greatly distinguishing himself.

Ball [illegible] first and [illegible] second in the men's single, which concluded the afternoon's programme. In the evening an illuminated parade of canoes was held on the Lake. The canoes were towed by the Rob Roy and presented a beautiful sight. At a given signal from Mr. Roy's launch the canoes commenced sending up fireworks of all colors. This beautiful spectacle was brought to a close at 9.30 o'clock by the singing of "God Save the King."

It is the intention of the Trent Valley Canoe Club to hold similar regattas throughout the season.

STABBED WITH A KNIFE

A Rather Serious Affray in Ashburnham on Monday Night

On the evening of May 25th two intoxicated men named Sid Crouter and "Gid" Brough quarrelled in a house on Driscoll terrace, Ashburnham, and both were seriously injured. Brough attacked Crouter with a butcher's knife, and Crouter used a heavy stick. Both had received numerous serious injuries before the neighbors succeeded in parting them.

DEMISE OF MELVILLE GREEN

At the Nicholls Hospital Yesterday Morning

It is our sad duty to record the death of Melville E. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Green, Hunter street, at the early age of 25 years. Deceased young man had been at Preston Springs for his health for some time, where he was taken with typhoid fever and removed to Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, where he passed away on Monday morning. Deceased was an exemplary young man in every respect, and was a member of George street Methodist church.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 this afternoon.

TWO DISASTROUS FIRES

Mr. George Hatton's Handsome Suburban Villa in Ashes

On Monday at about 12.40 the fire-bell rang out and the brigade were summoned to 583 Park street, where the stable and bakeshop of Mr. John Goodfellow were in flames. Nothing could be done but to save the house which they succeeded in doing, but the stable and bakeshop were a total loss, which Mr. Goodfellow estimates at over $300. Before the brigade had finished work here they were summoned to the lovely suburban villa of Mr. George Hatton, which is situated in the western part of the town. Part of the brigade at once left for the scene of the fire, only to find that sufficient pressure could not be obtained to throw a stream of any account. Over 200 people were on the scene in about a quarter of an hour and the contents of the house, including Mr. Hatton's valuable library, were saved. The fire is supposed to have been caused by fire-works, and broke out in a shed at the rear of the house.

Mr. Hatton's loss is estimated at $10,000 and it is feared that the insurance will not cover.

A DESPERATE STRUGGLE IN WHICH 150 INSURGENTS MEET THEIR DEATH

Battle Lasted for Thirty Hours the Turks Killing 150 Macedonians

Insurgents Sought Refuge in a Village and the Whole Village was Burned

Vienna, May 25.—One hundred and fifty Macedonian insurgents were killed at the village of Smerdesh, south of the Lake of Presba (which is southwest of Monastir), May 21, according to a despatch to The New Freie Presse from Salonica. The insurgents, who had possession of quantities of dynamite, sought refuge in the village, and were attacked by Turkish troops. The fighting lasted for thirty hours, and, ultimately, all the houses were burned or blown up by dynamite by the Turks.

Berlin, May 24.—The Lkal Anzeiger, in a Salonica despatch relating to the foregoing, says: "The insurgents seized the village of Smerdesh, on the Lake of Presba, and Turkish soldiers surrounded the place. They fought for thirty hours. The rebels threw dynamite and dynamite bombs at the houses, which caught fire. The wind spread the flames, and burned up the whole town. One hundred and fifty bodies of insurgents were found.

Vienna, May 25. — It is reported that the Bulgarian Government has presented a note to Austria, Russia and France announcing its intention of asking for their support towards the conclusion of an agreement with Turkey regarding Macedonia.

What is Russia Going to do About it?

If Bessarabia goes unpunished for the fiendish massacre of Jews it will be because Russia consents. At present her hands are bloody. She stands before the nations of the earth the symbol of lust, premeditated murder, despotism, and the darkness of utter barbarism. Pretending to be a Christian nation, Russia permits, perhaps encourages, the most villainous crimes that one human being can perpetrate upon the person of another, and is guilty, in addition, of the treacherous lie which brands the coward.

For we must not forget that when the Russian authorities had called to their attention the despatches sent in secret from a neighboring village which told of the massacre of Kishineff, they denied that any such atrocity had ever taken place. That was the assurance of the Russian officials. But the head physician of the Kishineff hospital, has given a list, showing that forty-seven Jews were killed on the spot, seventy died of their wounds, 300 are under treatment now and 4,000 are homeless, neither able to subsist where they are nor to go elsewhere. What is Russia to do about it?

Organizers will be sent to work in every part of the country.

Toronto, May 26—The National Employers' Association of Canada, has been in operation but a few few months, and is now preparing to take up the organization of branches throughout Canada. Secretary Day stated to a reporter that the organization was practically completed. An advance all along the line would soon be made.

The Motives That Influenced the British Ministry

London, May 21—The extension of the term of the Earl of Minto is regarded, not alone as evidence of the acceptability of his administration, but also as an indication that the British ministers expect to be better able to fill the post to the satisfaction of Canada a year hence, when the expiry of the terms of Lord Curzon in India and Lord Milner in South Africa, and also a possible change in the British Ministry makes several able men of high rank available for such an important position.

EFFECT OF OVERSTUDY

From year to year, at this season when the different educational institutions turn out their graduates, ostensibly full-fledged as far as theoretical knowledge is concerned, for a fight to success in the ordinary walks of business and professional life, it occurs to our memories that most of those who have in previous years signally distinguished themselves as the stars of the graduating classes never afterward justified the faith put in their promise. So numerous have these post-graduate failures become that investigation has been directed to them, with the result that their existence is found to be due to overstudy. The cramming process at present in existence in most educational institutions defeats itself inasmuch as though it may equip a pupil to pass a rigid examination, it injures him mentally and physically and pushes him out into the world of strenuous business competition sadly overtrained, and bearing a fictitious certificate of capacity.

No intelligent person in this age would think lightly of the importance of a good school education, but in this age of specialism it is far better to know a few things well—so well that the knowledge of them can be applied in everyday business with the maximum of results—than to overload the brain with a mass of facts and figures, the major portion of which will never be utilized in real life. The school period is short and nothing should be taught in it that was not meant to bear fruit in the career of the pupil. The fact should be borne in mind that the pupil goes to school primarily to equip himself to make a living, or perhaps a fortune, as his talents may decide, in commerce, industry or professional education, and those branches of education which are of no commercial utility, such as dead languages, higher mathematics, astronomy, etc., should be only so taught as to give relish to their pursuit if circumstances favored, after the pupil's business career had been auspiciously entered upon.

LOSSES IN STOCKS

One who had been regarded as a bright business man in Toronto invested $30,000 in stocks. Last fall he could have sold out at a profit of $15,000. But he thought he would hold on yet awhile. The market turned. The profit in time disappeared, then the principal, and when the account was closed a few days ago, the $35,000 were gone less just $10.19.

The man, however, had his experience, and it was a confirmation of that of nearly everyone who takes a shy at stocks. The one who is at the business end of the deal, who is in the secrets of the manipulators of stocks, may make money, and usually does, but his victims, on the outside, have generally a very sorry time of it. The marvel is that these alleged bright business men keep on at an occupation which is so hap-hazard and unsatisfactory.

A young Peterborough man remarked recently that he had been counting over the persons who had been speculating in stocks, and he could only think of one who had come out even. He had in his mind a number of persons who had dropped all the money they could lay their hands on. They had the fever bad, and it left its mark.

Some men grow wiser with experience, and some men do not.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A despatch from Halifax states that the Bank of Montreal has concluded an agreement for the purchase of the Exchange Bank of Yarmouth, paying eighty dollars a share for the stock, the par value of which is seventy dollars. This will give the Bank of Montreal a foothold in western Nova Scotia, and enable it to keep pace in the Maritime Provinces with the Canadian Bank of Commerce which recently acquired the Halifax Banking Company.

$8,000 PER TON

Indications of Extremely Rich Ore Bodies Found in Northern Cape Breton

(Halifax Herald, May 14, 1903)

W. C. Scranton, who has just arrived in Halifax from Cape Breton in connection with the purchase of some mining machinery, reports a very rich find of drift mineral at a point in the high ground between Baddeck and Cheticamp. A sample of galena gave an assay value in gold, silver and copper at the rate of $8000 per ton. Other rich drifts were also found at other points. Mr. Scranton is a former Nova Scotian who spent a number of years in Australia and in the western mining country, and has been prospecting in Inverness and Victoria counties, in the northern part of Cape Breton Island, for a couple of years. He is convinced that there are valuable deposits of ore in the northern part of Cape Breton Island, and he has just completed the installation of a portable three-stamp prospecting mill and with other gear means to continue prospecting during the summer. He thinks that Cape Breton is one of the richest mining countries, particularly the northern part of the island, that he has ever seen, and he expects any day to come across leads of metalliferous ore of phenomenal value. At Cheticamp Mr. Scranton says there are very large deposits of lead and copper ore carrying gold and silver, and there are evidences of nickel in the same district.

The property of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, an organization of Halifax business men, is in the heart of the Cheticamp district. R. J. Kidd is local representative.

Mr. Richard McCallum

A well known citizen of Stirling Ont., cured of Chronic Catarrh and Irritable Sore Throat by Catarrhozone.

A Remarkable Case Exciting Great Interest in Stirling, which, if Possible adds to the Popularity of Catarrhozone as a cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis and Throat Trouble

Catarrh is one of the most disagreeable and at the same time hardest to cure disease. This has been Mr. McCallum's experience.

"For many years," he writes, "I have suffered from Catarrh, and continually hawked and coughed, so that my throat was always in an inflamed irritable condition.

"Doctors' medicines did not help me in the least, and all other remedies I used were quite useless. In one case it was time wasted in snuffing powder up the nose; in another using a greasy ointment, and so on. Not one of them was the least bit of good.

"I heard Catarrhozone favorably spoken of, and tried a sample, and it really benefitted me more in a few hours than years of treatment with doctors' and other so called remedies.

"Receiving such immense benefit from the sample size I got the complete outfit, large Hard Rubber Inhaler, etc., and but a few weeks of its use completely cured me of Catarrh and throat trouble.

"I recommend Catarrhozone as the most satisfactory Catarrh remedy on the market. Every word said about it is true.

(Signed) "Richard McCallum."

Now perhaps you need a remedy like Catarrhozone. It is the only treatment that is applied locally as well as constitutionally. The Inhaler clears the air passages, stops hawking and spitting, and purifies the breath.

The Ferrozone Tablets which are used in conjunction with Catarrhozone Inhaler, drive all the poisons from the blood and build up the system to a healthy, vigorous condition.

The complete outfit costs $1, at all druggists; trial size 25c., by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Buy Catarrhozone to-day.

A PORT HOPE VIEW

The Guide's Reasons for Canal Outlet by Port Hope

The Port Hope Guide says:—Travellers by Lake Ontario steamers and Grand Trunk main line would be attracted by a sail of a few hours through a most picturesque country. Private yachts and launches would enter the canal at Port Hope, where they could make Rice Lake in two or three hours, but would shun a tedious all-day's run through the canal as would be the case via Trenton—with little to see save drowned land and dead timber. Steamers would establish regular tourist trips through the Kawartha Lakes via the canal connecting at Port Hope with Lake steamers or rail. The travel through the lakes would be doubled the first year. Farmers who have produce to dispose of, and merchants with goods to sell would all be benefitted by this traffic, and the good thus secured would be shared by all.

With a shorter route, lower cost of management and operation, better opportunities for securing coal and other west-bound freight, quicker delivery of grain at tidewater, the certainty that the canal can be built deep enough to carry large vessels, and that the work can be completed in probably one-half the time, and the many attractions of this route for passenger traffic—are matters of fact that should have an influence in securing this canal-outlet at Port Hope.

WANTS TO FIGHT

Major McBride Challenges the Irish Leaders

London, May 25.—Major McBride, organizer of the Irish Transvaal Brigade, in an open letter from Paris, has challenged John Redmond, Timothy C. Harrington, and their friends to fight one or more duels in consequence of their attitude towards Mrs. McBride (formerly Maud Gonne) at the meeting of citizens held in the Dublin Rotunda on Monday night last, in support of the Irish Parliamentary fund, and which resulted in scenes of extreme disorder owing to the presence of members of the Gaelic League, who are opposed to giving King Edward a friendly welcome on his coming visit to Ireland.

Major McBride says: "It seems that only the fact that my wife is a lady prevented Redmond and Harrington and their friends from dealing summarily with her. They evidently regret that it was not her husband who was present. Unfortunately, I cannot go to Ireland at present, but in the meantime, if any of them feel aggrieved at my wife's action, I shall be most happy to afford them satisfaction in this accommodating country, France."

PENNY BANKS

Finance Minister will Adopt English System of Deposits

Finance Minister Fielding gives notice of a bill "respecting penny banks. It will provide for the establishment and inspection of such banks in Canada. A request was recently made to the postmaster-general to establish government savings banks in connection with the post office, on a similar plan to that in vogue in England. The plan suggested is to issue cards with twenty spaces on each. A five-cent stamp is to be affixed in each square, and when all are the card is to be taken as a deposit of one dollar.

WHY MINTO STAYS

The Motives That Influenced the British Ministry

London, May 21.—The extension of the term of the Earl of Minto is regarded, not alone as evidence of the acceptibility of his administration, but also as an indication that the British ministers expect to be better able to fill the post to the satisfaction of Canada a year hence, when the expiry of the terms of Lord Curzon in India and Lord Milner in South Africa, and also a possible change in the British Ministry makes several able men of high rank available for such an important position.

An Imaginative Accompaniment.

Massenet, the French composer, has the intuition of genius. He can interpret to others what he does not himself fully understand. One evening Mrs. Fanny Reed, the singer, was reading aloud to a friend Mrs. Greenough's beautiful poem, "Mary Magdalene."

Both the women were so absorbed that they did not notice the presence of a third person until suddenly the sound of soft music stole through the room. Someone was at the piano, accompanying the reader's voice in a manner harmonizing with the rhythm and spirit of the poetry.

It was the music of Massenet's oratorio. The player was Massenet himself, who had entered unannounced, and caught the idea of the words where the Magdalene, seeking her Lord by night, finds herself beneath the windows of the room where the disciples are gathered for the Last Supper.

When the reading was over, Massenet rose from the piano and came forward. He had no knowledge of English; yet had he understood every word he could not have accompanied the poem more exquisitely.

"How did you know what I was reading?" asked Mrs. Reed.

"How could I fail to know?" he answered.

Doubtless he had caught the one word "Magdalene," and intuition had supplied the rest.

How Shaving Impressed Him.

George C. Thomas, the head of the banking house of Drexel & Co., is fond of children. He conducts a Sunday school in Philadelphia that has eighteen hundred pupils, and he gets his teachers to collect and repeat to him all the odd child sayings that they come upon.

A recent addition to Mr. Thomas's collection was the remark of a little boy who saw for the first time in his life a man shaving.

"Why," said the boy to the man, "why do you wash your face with a little broom, and then wipe it dry with a knife?"

OVER $1,000,000 ALREADY INVESTED.

Over one million dollars have been invested within a short radius surrounding on all sides the property of this company by Boston, New Haven and New York capitalists. All this has been invested quietly within the last two years, without any appeal to the public. Only one of these companies interested has put his stock on the market recently, and that at 60 cents on the dollar.

NOT A PROSPECT, BUT A WELL-DEVELOPED MINING PROPERTY. We have shown by actual mining that we have the

A rich fissure vein. This company having paid a large sum of money for these properties, and also in the development of the same, now offer to the public 60,000 shares only of their stock, in order to make further reserves, so that when they start to deliver ore at the reduction works they can keep up the supply daily and by that means pay a dividend that does not fluctuate but that can be depended on by the stockholders.

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL

Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the

ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y

in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory

lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects.

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share. This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that. It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

If shares are exhausted when your application is received we will return your money. Make checks payably to the order of the Actonoma Oil and Development Company, P. H. Enright, Secretary and Treasurer, 218 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

TRANSFER OFFICE, BRISTOL, CONN.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in, in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

Buried Gold

By FRED WHISHAW.

Author of "A Boyar of the Terrible," etc.

If I were Jess it'd want some explainin' before I took you back, even if you was to come over our side now."

"Ah, you ought to be up in a pulpit preachin' sermons, you ought!" said Drake, looking, nevertheless, somewhat sheepish. "Don't it strike you that you're a blamed idiot to try and interfere between a man and his girl? Suppose you was to mind your own business would it hurt you much?"

"It's because you're makin' a foolish mess of yours that I'm tryin' to help you. What does it matter to me whether Jess takes you back or won't have no more to say to you? I'm tryin' to act friendly, that's all."

"Well, when next I want your help I'll ask you for it. Meanwhile, I'll manage my own affairs without it. Me and old Jake Foster 'll have somethin' to say to Jess, too. A nice sort of maiden she is to be takin' part against him and me!"

Drake went away, apparently quite unconvinced, though it was easy to see that Keith's remarks had made him somewhat uneasy in spite of his bluffing manner.

There was nothing more to be done with him now, however; and if war was really to be declared at early morning hostilities would have to commence with Drake in the enemy's camp. So Keith continued his spade work and labored with the rest throughout the afternoon. By evening the camp looked impregnable from the land side, while a smaller entrenched position between camp and sea protected the water supply and gave at the same time comparative protection to the passage to and from the landing-place, in case it should be necessary to communicate with those on board ship.

When all had been done that could be done the men lay down to take a few hours' rest before the expected attack should be delivered.

Keith and the captain sat up a while in their tent to discuss matters. Brenton was somewhat depressed. The position was most unsatisfactory, he said, with much truth. In the worst case, they might be successfully attacked and annihilated. In the best they would beat off their enemies and perhaps even carry the war into their camp.

"But even if we do that, what have we gained by it?" he said. "Why, nothing.

"We'll have killed half the chaps we were sent to bring home, and we can't compel the rest to come if they refuse, nor yet to tell us where the gold is. It's a fix. Then there's the 'Penelope.' What's to prevent them sending boats out in the dusk and capturing her?"

"Why, Tom Foster, if he's worth his salt," replied Keith. "He and his little four-inch barker. What's he there for?"

"The gun's no use in the dark, and you know it. Nor's he and his three men if they bring half a score against him! They haven't been warned, either."

Keith did know this well enough. He also knew that there was nothing particular to prevent Drake from accompanying such a party as Brenton described and carrying off Jessie Foster.

"I tell you what I think, skipper!" he said, after a considerable pause for reflection. "Someone's got to go, now right away, before it's too late, and warn them on board of what's going on here and the attack we're expecting, and so on. It ain't safe to leave 'em so. And what's more, if Jessie isn't to be carried away by Drake and her dad she must be brought in here. With her here we'll have a hold on those two anyway. Whereas, if they'd got her she'd be no use to us as somethin' to put the screw on Drake with. It's through him we're going to get that gold, mind you, if we get it at all."

"It didn't look much like it, what you and he was sayin'!" said Brenton. "Then, there's the gettin' safely aboard and the gettin' safely back. It'd have to be done careful. Who'd you trust of these chaps?"

"I'd soonest do it myself if you approved!" said Keith.

The captain reflected.

"If I thought you'd be perfectly sure to get back by dawn!" he said, presently. "They'd have clear shootin' at you, remember, if you wasn't!"

"By dawn! Why, I've six hours, at least, before then. War ain't declared yet, mind you. There's nothing to stop me going and coming now."

"Well, go if you've a mind. I don't know what I'd do without you if anything was to happen."

"Don't you fret. I shall come out on top!" laughed Keith. "Only I mustn't waste time. You be riggin' up some sort of a tent for Jess Foster meanwhile. She'll be safe as a church down in the little hollow where we dug for gold, and more private."

Keith prepared carefully for departure. He took no weapon but his jack-knife, for he anticipated no fighting, the period of old Foster's ultimatum being still unexpired.

There was really no need for any particular caution, one would suppose, for the same reason. Nevertheless Keith set about his enterprise as cautiously as though the road between camp and sea were infested with lurking enemies. He looked in upon the little blockhouse at the well and found the bosun on the watch. He was in command there with three men under him, and, being well protected by earthworks, the little stronghold would, Keith knew, give a good account of any who should attack them.

Then he crept noiselessly on towards the landing-place, where at this tide both boats should, he knew, be floating at their moorings. By daylight this little creek would be well covered by the bosun's rifles, but there would be nothing, he reflected, to prevent an enemy from creeping down during the night and either removing or destroying the boats. There would have to be some kind of night sentry-go arranged between blockhouse and sea.

Then, suddenly, upon reaching the creek, Keith became aware of an unpleasant circumstance. The boats had already been tampered with. He pulled at the line that connected them with the shore, but no boat came floating up in response. Instead he encountered the resistance of dead weight. The boats had been stove in and sunk!

For a moment Keith stood, angry and irresolute. This was an act of war committed before the expiration of the ultimatum.

"The work of some individual," thought Keith, "and done for some special purpose—it might be—yes, that is it." Keith stood another minute to think, then he darted away into the darkness.

So well had Dick Robinson described the island in his chart and instructions which Keith had learned by heart, that the latter seemed to feel quite familiar with the main features of the place, even with those portions of the island which he had never seen. He now headed along the seashore towards the little village in which the "Hecuba" men lived.

This was not, however, Keith's destination. He went in search of the place where Foster and his crew kept their boats, the large cutter, and the smaller craft in which Robinson had made his escape.

"If he hasn't been before me and got away already," was Keith's thought, "I'll turn the tables on him yet."

Keith had not run far when he heard a sound as of the placing of oars in a boat and the gentle knocking of the craft against the landing-place, as though someone moved in it, adjusting rowlocks, and so forth. In another minute he had dashed across the intervening space and found himself within a yard or two of the "Hecuba's" landing-stage. A shadowy figure stood up in a boat manipulating an oar or boat-hook. Keith sprang towards him through the gloom.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The War Begins.

"Hold on a minute there!" cried Keith boldly, "and I'll come with you." He seized the side of the boat and held it to the landing-place. The man in possession was in the act of shoving off with an oar. He uttered a curse.

"Who is it?" he said angrily. "Don't hold on, I'm in a hurry."

The voice was Denys Drake's, and Keith's heart jumped for joy.

"Oh, it's you, Denys, my lad, is it?" he said. "Come out a minute and answer a question." Drake came scrambling from bow to stern over the seats.

"Let go, you fool," he said furiously, "or I'll smash your infernal fingers." He took a savage swipe at Keith's arm with the oar as he spoke. Keith jumped nimbly out of the way, but seized the blade of the oar before the other could withdraw it. Then the two men struggled for possession.

Keith, being the stronger, pulled his man over with a sudden mighty tug. As Drake fell forward he dragged him by the shoulders upon the rocky stage and threw the oar into the boat.

"Now, my son, you'll have to answer questions," he said. "Was it you stove in our boats this evening?"

"Yes, it was," said Drake, surlily, "and if you didn't have the luck of the devil I'd have got off before you reached me."

"It was an act of war before war's declared—a pretty blackguardly thing to do, I will say. What kind of a right did you think you had to do that?"

For answer Drake suddenly hit out violently with his left, so quickly that Keith only half guarded his face, and Drake's fist caught his cheek-bone, raising a big lump.

Keith sprang upon him furiously.

"If it's to be a fight," he said, "come on, sonny. It won't be the first, and it'll end the same way as our fights used in schooldays."

The two men sparred and dodged and struck. There was no sound except for the panting of their breath and an occasional exclamation. Keith was the better man and punished his adversary severely. Drake grew furious and closed; the fight degenerated into a wrestling match.

The foothold was slippery and Keith's superior strength and skill were somewhat discounted by the fact. Twice he slipped and nearly fell, but he never let go of his man. Suddenly Drake's legs flew from under him, and at the same moment Keith, raising him slightly in the air, threw his opponent heavily. Drake lay and groaned.

"Where are you hurt, lad?" asked Keith, bending over him. Drake muttered a curse, but made no other reply.

"Well, don't blame me then if I give you beans when I move you," said Keith. "I've no time to waste. You're coming with me for a trip, sonny." He lifted Drake, who groaned and cursed freely, and placed him bodily in the boat.

"Oh, my arm!" exclaimed the latter. "I think you've broke it, curse you!"

"That's a pity, but it was you began the fight," said Keith. "Arms mend, but we must be off on more important business. You lie still there, now, and I'll row you out for a little sea air."

Keith seized the oars and shoved off. The sea was as smooth as glass, though

NEGRO SERVANT'S NERVE

Books Himself for Antwerp as a United States Official

Antwerp, May 25.—A negro valet named A. L. Allen, in the service of an Antwerp family, was allowed a vacation some time ago in order to go to Washington to see his family.

He returned from New York on the Red Star steamship Kroonland, but allowed himself to be looked as "United States Vice-Consul at Antwerp," and was thus placed at the head of the first-class passenger list. Much attention was paid him by the personnel of the steamship, and much speculation went the rounds as to how the consular officials in Antwerp would relish the newcomer.

Several New York papers announced the departure of "A. L. Allen, United States Consul General at Antwerp on the Kroonland."

The United States Consul General at Mannheim was on the steamer, and words cannot express the feelings of this official on seeing who had been taken by the other passengers as one of his colleagues.

On arriving at Antwerp the valet resumed his duties as bootblack, door tender and general utility man at his former master's, to the consternation of the personnel of the Kroonland. It is needless to add that "A. L. Allen of Washington," is not in the consular service.

DAMAGES FOR WOUNDED HEART

Ethel Gage of Forest Has Been Awarded $2500

Big Rapids, Mich., May 25. — The Circuit Court has just given Miss Ethel Gage, of Forest, Ont., twenty-five hundred dollars damages in her breach of promise suit against Dr. James B. Campbell, of Stanwood. The plaintiff and defendant were schoolmates in Forest, and after long courtship became engaged. Several times the wedding day was set, only to be postponed.

Miss Gage, who was a school teacher, gave up her position and prepared for marriage on the last date named, when Campbell again backed out. Then he moved to Michigan, located at Stanwood and subsequently declined to marry her, alleging he felt he could not get along with her.

Humiliated and unable to stand the loss of friends, Miss Gage came over to Michigan and brought suit, declaring she wanted to vindicate herself. She is 27 years old and prepossessing, and when informed that the judgment was not collectable, said she cared not, and would return with a light heart after her victory.

THE WESTERN UNION POLES CUT DOWN

Pennsylvania Railway Destroys $750,000 Worth of Property

EIGHT THOUSAND MEN BUSY

An Explanation of the Trouble In which Mr. George J. Gould is Interested

Philadelphia, Pa., May 25—Fifteen hundred miles of telegraph line put out of business, fifteen thousand miles of wire grounded, sixty thousand poles chopped down, and $750,000 worth of telegraph property destroyed, is the record of yesterday's developments in the Pennsylvania Railway and Western Union Telegraph Company fight. History shows no record of one corporation striking another a blow so tremendous as that dealt to the Western Union by the Pennsylvania Railway. The blow fell almost simultaneously in six states, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia and New York. Eight thousand men distributed along nearly twenty-five hundred miles of railway were hurled against the Western Union in the work of destruction. The Western Union will claim heavy damages in courts.

The trouble between the Pennsylvania Railway and the Western Union Telegraph Company dates back several months. George J. Gould, who is the leading spirit in the Western Union, is also interested in a considerable group of railways and the Pennsylvania people are said to have taken offence at a proposition on the part of the Gould interests to invade the Pennsylvania territory as competitors in the railway business.

In order to strike back at Gould, and if possible make it so hot for him that he would not dare to invade the Pennsylvania Railway territory, that company cancelled its contract with the Western Union regarding the use of its right of way for stringing its telegraph lines and gave the contract to the Western Union's competitor, the Postal Telegraph Company.

The Western Union people carried the matter into the courts are secured an injunction to prevent the Pennsylvania people from removing the Western Union poles from its right of way. This injunction has recently been removed. As a result the railway company has started in to cut down the Western Union poles.

A SERIOUS CHARGE

Man Who Smuggled Nineteen Russians Into Canada

Winnipeg, May 25—Chief Inspector Duddleston, in charge of the U.S. Immigration Inspection Agency here, and who has been in Grand Forks, N.D., for several days, holding a party of nineteen Russians who entered that country at Neche, in defiance of the regulations to the contary, was instructed by wire last night, by the Commissioner at Montreal, to the whole party deported.

He will leave with his charges in the morning and will take them there where they will be disposed of by the Canadian authorities as they see fit. The people were brought across the boundary by Louis Feigler, of Neche, who is now under $10,000 bonds and instructions have been sent by Secretary Shaw to have the man vigorously prosecuted. The maximum penalty in this case is forty years' imprisonment if a separate case is made of each person smuggled in.

YELLOW 'UNS RESPONSIBLE

Police Think Dynamite Incident was a Harmless Sensation

Chicago, May 25.—The New York and Chicago police, after much study and hard thinking, are beginning to see a vast light in the Umbria dynamite affair. It is now the opinion of the sleuths that the infernal machine which was discovered a few days ago, with an accompanying plot plot having thick roots in Chicago, was the work of somebody connected with yellow papers that were spoiling for a sensation. It is now the idea of the police—and all the recent developments back them up in the theory—that the infernal machine was built solely and simply to create an uproar, and that the New York Police Commissioner, Gen. Greene, was given warning of the alleged dynamite plot to make the sensation larger.

"I don't believe," said Detective Sergeant Carey, of the New York police force, "that the machine was built to destroy proprety or to kill anyone. If anything really murderous had been intended, the man who made the machine would not have omitted the necessary cap to cause the explosion, not would he have written any warning letter to Greene telling him where the machine could be found."

Detective Howe, of the Chicago force, thinks that no damage to life or property was intended by the bomb. "The whole plan of the "dynamite outrage—the placing of an infernal machine (absolutely harmless so long as no detonating cap was attached) upon the docks, the warning letters and the manner in which the yellow papers have hystericised over the whole affair—all go to show a pitifully weak attempt at a big sensation has been made, and, like most of the other would-be sensations from the same source, was sadly lacking in the finish of detail needed to make it a success.

DRESSED IN BRIDAL GOWN

Groom-to-be Declined to Marry—Girl Then Jumped to River

West Point, Ga., May 25— Dressed in her bridal gown, Zella Lawrence, of Lanetta, Ala., across the river, leaped into the Chattahoochee river last night and was drowned. The man who was to have married her at 9 o'clock failed to appear. The guests and the minister were ready when a note came saying that the groom-to-be declined to carry out the programme. Shortly after this the girl was missed and a search was begun for her.

A LIMITED NUMBER OF SHARES IN THE

The Minersville Gold Mining and Milling Company

Will be sold at 15 CENTS PER SHARE. PAR VALUE, $1.00.

Full Paid, Non-Assessable and No Personal Liability.

READ THIS! This Company offers one of the safest and best investments, as its property is located in the famous Sumpter District, Baker Co., Oregon, and has for its neighbors such mines as the Bonanza, Red Boy, Eureka, North Pole, Columbia, Golconda and Cracker Oregon, which are producing from $40,000 to $100,000 each per month. This great property for which the undersigned is Fiscal Agent is more promising than many of the big producing mines at the same stage of development.

The Company has three full claims, with two large veins, one sixteen feet and the other twenty-two feet at the surface, showing good gold values and strictly free milling.

The Company owns the property outright being free from all debt and incumbrance and in order to equip the mine with modern machinery and to continue development work, a limited number of shares will be sold for a short time only at 15 cents per share, as announced above.

"The sugestion that you give preferential treatment to the colonies is your own affair. Canada may one day be able to give you all the wheat you want; but not for some time. In the United States, too, we are a growing nation and we are consuming more of our own products. A GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, desiring, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

AN ABSOLUTFLY SAFE INVESTMENT

—One that will Increase 200 Per Cent. within a Year.—

The Adams Copper Mining and Refining Co.

Owns Seven Copper Mines, all of which Show Wide Veins of Pay Ore.

One of its mines, the Copper Coin, has just been equipped with buildings and up-to-date machinery.

The company has no debts and owns its own properties.

At a recent meeting of the directors, the officers of the company were instructed to sell a small block of the treasury stock for the purpose of fully equipping more of the mines with proper buildings and up-to-date machinery, and in pursuance with the above instructions the officers do now offer TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK AT 12 CENTS PER SHARE, on easy payments, as follows: On all orders for 100 shares to 1,000 shares, $5 cash with order and $5 per month thereafter until fully paid. The management fully expects to make this stock worth par in from 12 to 16 months.

The secretary and treasurer of this company bought Gold Coin stock at 12 cents per share and sold it at $6.50 per share within 24 months.

Another officer of this company bought Calumet & Hecla Copper stock at $1.00 per share and sold it for $826.00 per share. This company paid $70,000,000 in dividends.

Adams Copper Mining and Refining Company's stock will do the same, as they have enormous bodies of ore already in sight.

WHEN TO INVEST

HERE ARE A FEW COPPER FACTS well worth the attention of all would-be investors: $100 invested in 1890 in the Tamarack Copper Company is now worth $782; $100 invested in 1893 in Boston & Montana Copper Company is now worth $1,896; $100 invested in 1896 in the Arnold Copper Company is now worth $1,870; $100 invested in 1893 in the Wolverine Copper Company is now worth $6,600. $100 invested in the Butte & Boston Copper Company is now worth $5,600. $100 invested in 1896 in the Calumet & Hecla Copper Company is now worth $8,650.

More money has in recent years, been made in copper mining than in any other staple enterprise as free from the element of risk. There is nothing misleading in the statement that copper mining as a proposition is better than gold, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The most valuable minin properties in the world are copper properties.

To every purchaser of stock a specimen of ore from the Company's mines will be sent FREE.

Send your order at once before the advance, which will certainly be made in the near future. Ten per cent. discount for cash.

STOCK MARKETS

CLIQUES GETTING HEAVILY LONG

New York, May 26—The week past has witnessed in more hastened manner, the process of "unloading the public and loading the cliques." More stocks were disposed of by outsiders, and taken over by insiders during the period than has been for any week since the commencement of the decline in prices. Such conditions usually exist to the greatest degree at the culmination of a declining market. The Gould people have supported their specialties admirably during the fusilade. Gould stocks are down but comparatively little in comparison with other market interests. It should be borne in mind that the Gould party are closely allied with the Rockfeller interests, which are beyond peradventure the very strongest financial interests in America; this interest is at present consequently committed to the bull side of the market. At present writing the stocks paying, and certain to continue paying, four per cent, stocks which are earning from eight to twelve per cent and which can now be purchased at prices between 70 and 90 are more than cheap, both speculative and for investment. They should be bought and held. We allude to such issues as Atch, U.P., B.O., etc Stocks like Man., Met., Ill. S., N.Y.C Penna and Mo. P. also appear most alluring at present. They represent what is of the very best in the field of American investments which are admittedly today the very best and cheapest in the world. No one has recently appreciated the cheapness of American securities more than Europeans. They have for the past month been large and persistent buyers. When the cliques have the stocks it is the time to buy them liberally. When the public are heavily interested it is time to discriminate. At the present writing the public have fewer stocks than at any time since the second inauguration of the revered McKinley. The cliques consequently are unusually heavy holders.

The National Oil Company's Proposition Is One That Should Go

We call the attention of readers of The Times to the advertisment of the National Oil Company, of Lima, Ohio, to be found on our financial page. Investors need have no fears of this proposition; it is as safe as the Bank of England. Here is the letter: J. E. Lowry, President The National Oil Company, Lima, Ohio:

Dear Sir,—We, the following residents of Ontario, Canada, hereby certify that we have personally visited all the oil properties of your company in Shelby and Auglaize counties, and that we have found the several plants of your Company described, namely, the Midway, with twenty-three wells, the Knoxville with four wells and one drilling, the Moulton with three wells and one drilling, the Crow with five wells, the Rice with five, and the several Buckland properties of over twenty wells, all in as good condition, or better, than represented, and, after a very complete and careful investigation, we are fully satisfied that the statements heretofore made, and the description as given by Mr. J. R. McDowell, of Guelph, Ontario; Mr. F. A. Green, of Hamilton, Ontario, Mr. H. J Miller, of Orion, Mich., and Mr. A. Wexelbaum, of Erie, Pennsylvania, were correct in all respects, and we hereby take pleasure in all that they have said in reference to these properties.

We are satisfied that an investment in the stock of your Company is a safe and reliable one and if the careful and economical management of the Company is continued in the future as in the past, we have full confidence that the stock can be made worth par within this year, and we take pleasure in commending the officers and managers of your Company for the faithful performance of their duties in the respective offices occupied.

We have spent several days in visiting the properties under your efficient Field Superintendent W. R. Jack, and Mr. H. C. Settlage, your Secretary, and are under obligations to them for the courtesies extended.

We also find by examination of your books that you have no floating debts and that you have a large production of oil from the sixty-nine wells that we have seen and examined, and that your entire office and field operations are conducted economically.

We have had a very pleasant visit in all respects, and are well repaid for our time and trouble, and hope to see the "National" made one of the largest oil Companies in the Trenton rock field.

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU OAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., Mey 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding val"uable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an of"ficial of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if prop"erly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

THE ILLS OF WOMEN

RELIABLE AND SAFE CURE FOR WOMANLY ILLS IS FOUND IN FERROZONE. A REMEDY THAT ALWAYS GIVES SATISFACTION AND NEVER DISAPPOINTS

If troubled with painful irregularities, dizziness, lameness, excitability, nervousness, remember there is a remedy that if regularly and persistently used, will cure all these ills. Its name is Ferrozone.

It is used by thousands of women who have experienced its great strengthening powers, and they would not be without it for ten times its price.

Ferrozone is primarily a blood maker. It drives all impurities from the crimson fluid, makes it strong and capable of supplying nourishment to the body. It quiets the nerves, banishes excitability and headache.

By taking Ferrozone regularly you can keep free from those dreadful backaches, and monthly sickness will pass off regularly and without pain or distress. Being prepared in tablet form, Ferrozone is both convenient and simple to use, and no uncertainty as to the proper quantity or dose can ever arise.

A Montreal hospital nurse who has used Ferrozone herself, and has seen also the benefit that other suffering women have derived from it, writes: "I have nursed and treated all form of female disorders, and from my personal experience, must say that Ferrozone is a remedy about which all womankind should know. It is reliable and sure, and will give prompt and satisfactory results. As a builder of muscle and tissue, I know nothing to equal Ferrozone. I have found it good to build up a weak appetite, and consider it a splendid medicine for the blood and nerves. I have no hesitancy in endorsing Ferrozone."

Don't continue to exist in a state of misery and weakness any longer. Ferrozone will make you strong and well just as it has done for thousands before you. All druggists recommend and sell Ferrozone, at 50c. a box, or 3 boxes for $1.25. Get a box to day from your druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont,

LONG TIME

To Get Over Hurt of Coffee

It sometimes takes a long period to get over the effects of coffee drinking. A little woman in Wadesboro, N.C., says. "I was a coffee drinker and sufferer from dyspepsia, stomach trouble, nervousness and the train of disorders that follow.

"On the advice of an eminent physician I cut off my coffee allowance to one cup a day at breakfast. That helped me a little, but I gradually got worse, and finally became ill, badly run down, and so depressed in mind that I did not care how the scales turned.

"At this time I was induced to leave off coffee altogether and take Postum Food Coffee. That was in September. I had also a dish of Grape-Nuts for breakfast. I practically lived on Postum Food Coffee and Grape-Nuts for some time. In November I had made considerable improvement and knew that at last I was on the road to health. At Christmas time I felt well enough to go through that glorious feast with comfort and happiness. In January I was much improved over the previous month, and had gained very considerable in flesh, how many pounds I don't know. My strength and color were improved. My appetite and digestion in every way good. I ate what I pleased and with much enjoyment.

"About that time a Clergyman friend visited us and on Sunday morning when he was going to preach I had a strong cup of Coffee made for him because he was in a run down, nervous condition and said that he needed the stimulant. Well that was a sad day for me. I thought I was well enough to drink a cup of coffee with him and did so. It was strong, but did not taste right. I was interested in his conversation and found that I was adding, from time to time, more cream and sugar for some way I realized the beverage did not taste as it should... then I remembered that it was coffee and not Postum. I like Postum better than I do coffee.

"That day the old symptoms of stomach trouble came on, and while it seems almost impossible, it is nevertheless true that I never got back to my state of health again for two months. The coffee acted as an active poison that went all through my system. However, I have recovered by leaving it off entirely and using Postum and now that I am well, happy and contented you could not get me to take a cup of coffee, no not for a king's ransom. I believe I am one of the kind that know when I have had enough." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

VERY SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson Meets Death at Stoney Lake

UPSET OUT OF CANOE.

Sad Ending of a Holiday Trip—The Body Not Yet Recovered

One of the saddest accidents that has ever taken place in this neighborhood occurred on Monday evening, when Mr. W. A. Sanderson, the well known jeweller, lost his life by drowning. It appears that he, accompanied by his family, went out to their Stony Lake cottage on Saturday, intending to return yesterday. They arrived on Saturday afternoon, and spent the balance of the day in putting their cottage, which is a very charming one, and grounds in order for the season. Mr. Sanderson had always taken pride in his Stony Lake home, which was one of the prettiest on the lake. Sunday was spent quietly by the family, and on Monday Mr. Sanderson was again at work repairing and improving his place. No presentiment of the terrible calamity which was soon to come, was felt; all was happy and joyous.

About four o'clock Mr. Sanderson took his sixteen foot canoe and went down the lake, to a point about a mile east of his cottage, promising to return within two hours to take out some of his daughters, to whom he promised a boat ride. As evening drew on, and he did not return, Mrs. Sanderson became somewhat anxious, for she knew he always kept his word with his children. Then after seven Mr. Breeze came along with his steamer and she persuaded him to take her as far as Christy Crowe's—but no canoe was seen, and she returned expecting to find him at home, but his continued absence added to her uneasiness. Then about 10 p.m. a boat was sent over to Mr. Dumble's to advise him. He at once, with his son Fred, started with a skiff to enquire of Mr. Lundy and Mr. Grubbe at Eel's Creek. These cottagers were awakened out of their beds, but could give no information, not having seen Mr. Sanderson. Returning from their long pull Mrs. Lundy was out and hailed Mr. Dumble and said she thought she had seen a light at Mr. LeBrun's island. They therefore went to Ballenlase, though they knew Mr. LeBrun was not there. From this point they thought they saw a light on the Dummer shore, and pulling for it they found a party there, whose lantern Mrs. Lundy had evidently seen. Mr. Brunson, one of the party, and Mr. Dumble, arranged to follow up the shore to the mouth of the Dead Channel. Mr. Brunson passed ahead and Mr. Dumble keeping very close in shore found the shining bottom of an upturned canoe. Calling back Brunson, they overturned the canoe, dreading the result, but they only found in it two paddles under the thwart, a cushion and [illegible]. The [illegible] was [illegible] clear. It was now two a.m.; the gunnel of the canoe had chaffed on the rough granite shore, telling clearly that the boat had been there a considerable time. It had not drifted from an island, for it was upset. It had not filled—nor had any attempt been made to right it—for everything was in it. No, it had been suddenly turned, but how? Mr. Sanderson, in his youth was an athlete—a fine canoeman, who could right and empty a canoe and get into it again—a strong swimmer, and the water was not very cold—then the route he would take would not take him far from shore—how did it happen? There was but one probability. Death struck him in the canoe; he plunged over, turning the canoe so suddenly that nothing was lost but the third paddle, which he was known to have with him. This has not been found; it will probably be found clutched in his hand. To break the sad news of the upturned canoe was a melancholy duty. Alas the pity of it! Four dear daughters and a faithful wife are plunged into mourning in which all who knew Billy Sanderson sympathize with, for he was a devoted husband and father—a man without an enemy. The beautiful chalet, where he spent so many happy summers with his loved ones, will always bring up sad memories of one who loved Stony Lake and the quiet enjoyment of camp life and camping.

Mrs. Sanderson, on the advice of her friends, returned to Peterborough while true friends are waiting to render such offices at the lake as may be required.

12 Minutes for Lunch.

That is the average time spent in a large city restaurant by three thousand lunchers. It takes three hours to digest a fresh egg soft boiled; three hours to digest a boiled apple dumpling; three hours to digest fresh roast beef. In fact, three hours is about the time required to digest the average twelve minute lunch. The object of the hasty lunch is to let the busy man get back to his office work. But when the brain is active, the stomach is inactive for lack of necessary blood. The natural consequence is indigestion, and indigestion opens the door to many diseases.

Indigestion is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

"It is with heartfelt gratitude that I send this testimonial which I wish you to publish with my name and address," writes Mr. Willis Seaman, of Washingtonville, Orange Co., N. Y. "I had stomach trouble from childhood and suffered with it more or less as I grew up. At the age of 26 I was broken down with dyspepsia. My suffering was terrible. Could not eat without distress. Could only eat a few certain things and was not able to work half the time. Every thing I tried only gave me temporary relief. My wife finally persuaded me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I took six bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.' I then felt so well that I stopped taking medicine. Several months have passed and I can do the hardest kind of work, can eat anything that is set before me and enjoy it. I am 27 years old and this is the first time I have ever been well."

Free. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser in paper covers is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only; or 50 stamps for cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE BUBONIC PLAGUE NOW RAGING IN CALCUTTA

Horror of the Black Death to be Seen on Every Hand

SCORES OF HOUSEHOLDS MISERABLY PERISH

The Authorities are Making a Desperate to Get the Plague Under Control

Calcutta, May 28— The Bubonic plague is raging in Bombay. According to official reports for March, 2150 persons died from all causes. Of this number 1730 died from the plague.

The authorities have driven out many families, who are now camping on the outskirts, and if famine does not set in these people may be saved. A servant of the American consul, William Theo. Fee, of Bombay, lost five of his family, including his father and mother from the plague.

The authorities make a circle with the month, day and year, on each house, where death from the plague occurs, and on many houses the notice "closed" is in large letters. This means probably that the entire inhabitants have succumbed to the plague. A cool wave has been passing over India for some time, and this is really the main cause of the outbreak which seems so hard to check. Natives who have a little money saved are now leaving for other parts. If the authorities can check the rush of these unfortunates and keep them outside the city proper, many may be saved, but if they fail in this thousands will die.

THREE HUNDRED MILES AN HOUR

A Train That will Make This Speed Now Being Built

IN PERFECT SAFETY

Accidents will be Next to Impossible Says Inventor

London, May 28—From New York to San Francisco in ten hours, on a train of cars without wheels, drawn at the rate of 300 miles an hour by a one-horse power locomotive, and operated at one-sixth the cost of an ordinary railway—that is the achievement promised for a new system of railroading invented by Professor A. C. Albertson, an electrical engineer, late of Copenhagen University, Denmark. The American and European governments have granted letters patent on the invention, a working model of the system is now on exhibition, and the facilities of the Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western Railway have been placed at the disposal of Professor Albertson for the working out of his scheme.

If this invention proves to be practical, it upsets a law hitherto regarded as immutable, namely, that the heavier the load the more power is needed to move it; instead, Professor Albertson seems to have demonstrated the truth of the seeming paradox that the heavier the load the less power is needed to move it. The scheme is, in brief, as follows:

The train is equipped with a set of powerful electric magnets which slide along under the rails and lift the cars from the track. If, for instance, a car weighs ten tons, the engineer of the train would merely turn on a magnetic force of eleven tons, which would thus overcome the weight of the train and allow it to be propelled with a friction of only one ton. In other words, the entire weight of the train is held up by magnetic force, and experiments have actually shown that the more the train weighs the less force is needed to propel it. The speed claimed by the inventor for the magnetic train is made possible largely by the fact that friction is almost wholly done away with.

With the under surface of the rails kept fairly clean by properly attaching sweeping devices travelling ahead of the magnets, and lubricated at the same time, the moving of a car whether loaded or empty, will be accomplished by only a fraction of a horsepower; since nearly the entire weight of the car in both cases is suspended in the air. Instead of the cars pressing downwards on the rails, they would, on the contrary, pull upward. When it is necessary to turn of the magnetic force, the cars will drop down upon the tracks and rest on eight small wheels. The current necessary to supply 1400 electric lights of ordinary power would hold suspended a weight of 120 tons, or six railway cars weighing twenty tons each. Such a train, according to Prof. Albertson, could be moved at immense speed by a motor of less than ten horse power, as the friction would be inconsiderable.

On such a railway as this, smoke and vibration would be eliminated; there would be no possible chance of grade-crossing accidents, no derailing and no hot boxes. It would not be necessary to purchase land for the construction of the road, as the structure could be supported by single iron pillars.

Heavy and expensive locomotive engines of from two to three thousand horse-power in capacity would no longer be needed, as their place would be taken by small motors upon large driving wheels. This, in turn, would necessitate but comparatively light-weight rails. Sleeping cars would be superfluous, as the distance between the oceans could be covered in one day. No mechanical or pneumatic brakes would be needed, for the train is itself a brake; for, in order to stop, the engineer would simply turn on more pneumatic power, thus making the pressure upward greater.

At first glance it might seem that what is ever gained by the reduction of locomotive power must be applied to the establishment of magnets strong enough to lift a given weight. But this is not so. Five hundred amperes, for example, will lift at least 60 tons, the moving of which, ordinarily, requires a steam locomotive, but which, suspended, can be drawn by a few horse power. The current for the purpose could be picked up from a wire along the track, or from storage batteries placed in the cars.

To Put Down Strikes

Montreal, May 27— The authorities are evidently determined to stand no nonsense from the strikers of the street railway. Strikers were given sentences ranging from six months in gaol down. The Attorney-General of the province issued instructions that all men arrested for intimidation and damaging property should be refused bail, and kept in the cells until they came before the courts. The result was that over fifty men spent the holiday in the police cells. The authorities are determined to stand no nonsense from the strikers, and they have the universal approbation of the public. The men had a right to strike if they wanted to, but the company is prepared to operate the cars, and neither the strikers or their friends are going to be allowed to prevent a service being operated by violence.

AN INDEFNITE LOOKOUT

The Cheerful Way in Which One Firm Handles Labor

Springfield, Mass., May 28 —The firm of Smith and Wesson, makers of the celebrated revolver, closed its factory last night for an indefinite period. This step is taken, presumably on account of the labor troubles, the men having signified their intention of forming a union despite the opposition of the firm.

TO APPEAL FOR FUNDS

The Jews in London will Act Immediately Outline of Plan

London, May 28—At a meeting of the Jewish Board of Deputies, held in the synagogue of the Spanish and Portuguese Jews at Kilburn, David Alexander reported that Claude Montefiore and himself, after deliberating, had decided to issue an immediate appeal for funds for the succor of the sufferers by the Kishineff atrocities. They had also to watch public opinion, and, if necessary, for the purpose of keeping public indignation alive, would hold a public meeting. At present, however, there was no need for this step, for the public conscience could not be more effectively roused than it has been by the letters and accounts already published. Mr. B. L. Cohen, M. P., announced his readiness to ask further questions in the House of Commons, but suggested that at present no good purpose could be served in this was, as the stereotyped official answer re the dismissal of the Governor would not advance matters.

A NAVAL BASE

United States to Establish One in Alaskan Waters

Washington, May 28—Admiral Dewey as president of the general board, has made a report to Secretary Moody of the United States Navy, recommending the immediate establishment of a coaling station at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, and the erection there of a coal depot, with the initial capacity of 5000 tons. The estimated cost of the work is about $51,000. The President has approved the plan, and the preliminary steps in the work have been taken already.

Rear Admiral Bedford, in his report recommending this new coaling station, said: "Attention is also invited to one of the great political questions of the day, the settlement of the boundary between Alaska and the Dominion of Canada. There is abundant evidence going to show that the spirit of Canada on this matter may be considered as threatening. Between Alaska and the continental limits of the United States is located the domain of a foreign country. The [illegible] harbors and ample interior waters, and this fact alone constitutes a great strategic advantage to a possible opponent. It certainly constitutes a strong reason why the sinews of war, whatever they may be, should be stored in Alaska."

THOUSANDS OUT OF WORK

Nearly Two Hundred Thousand Men Idle Owing to Labor Troubles

New York, May 27—It is estimated that there are close on to two hundred thousand men idle today in Greater New York, as a result of strikes and the lock-out by material men and contractors. On Saturday the number of men out of work was upwards of 170,000, and to these were added today 10,000 men locked out by the material men of Brooklyn, and another 10,000 forced to lay down their tools for the want of material with which to work. Work on most of the big buildings and in the sawmills and brick yards is practically at a standstill.

HAS TICKED 262 YEARS

Watch Still Going which Belonged to Charles I.

New York, May 27—After his victory over Charles II Oliver Cromwell beaten from hedge to hedge till he was finally driven into Worcester, wrote exultantly to England's Parliament telling how the enemy was There were 7,000 prisoners among the spoils of that fight. The royal carriage in which the King had been carried was there too, and in that handsome carriage was a royal carriage watch, which also fell into the hands of the Victorious Cromwell.

After all these years, and through many and varying vicissitudes of fortune, this royal watch has finally found its way to Philadelphia, remaining still in the possession of a loyal subject of the King of England, Edward VII., who is living in the Quaker City. This timepiece of royalty, which still ticks after a career of 262 years, was made in 1610 for King Charles I by the royal watchmaker of that time.

King Charles I was beheaded two years before his son, Charles II was defeated on, and escaped from the fields of Worcester.

It was the oldest watchmaking pattern, being made entirely by hand, and costing in its day a good round sum of money. The case is of solid silver, ornamented in beautiful pierced filigree work, and there is an outer case of copper, with handsome leather cover, silver studded. The royal watch runs 36 hours with one winding. Only one hand is used in designating the time.

There is a silver bell enclosed within the silver case, on which the hours are struck. There is also an alarm attachment. The watch is four and one-half inches in diameter, and one and a half inches thick.

Cromwell kept it as a personal possession for years. But after the restoration it fell into the hands of Joseph Kipling, of Overstone House, North Hants, Eng., an ancestor of Rudyard Kipling. Joseph Kipling was also an ancestor of Wilfrid Powell, British consul at the port of Philadelphia, the present owner of the watch.

Winnipeg Employers Unite

Winnipeg, May 28—The contractors of the city in all lines of building and allied trades have decided to form an association, the object of which will be the squelching of strikes by the same means that are used to produce them, viz., the employers are to be united, and will assist each other financially in the event of trouble with employes.

Fourteen Thousand So Far

Quebec, May 28—Over fourteen thousand immigrants have already landed since the opening of navigation less than a month ago.

—The immense pile of sawdust which stood between the raceway and the river, below the new dam, is fast disappearing as the Cereal Company are using vast quantities in the furnace below their drying kiln.

THE VISIT OF THE BRITISH PARLIAMENTARY PARTY

Programme Mapped Out by Reception Committee

They will Pass Through Peterborough but Won't Stop

Montreal, May 28—The Earl of Aberdeen and Lord Strathcona have been asked to use their influence to bring about a re-arrangement of the proposed route of the Parliamentary visit to Canada. One reason given is the desire to secure the presence of the visitors at Toronto, before the closing of the exhibition on September 12th.

The official programme of the tour, just issued, shows that the ex-Governor-General and the High Commissioner have been able to effect the desired change, for Toronto is, after all, to be visited on the outward journey. The arrangement, according to the programme will be as follows:

The party will leave Liverpool on August 22 by the steamship Dominion, and will arrive at Quebec on August 30. A hearty welcome will await them, the Hon. S. N. Parent, Prime Minister, having written expressing his gratification that the party will visit that city. Wednesday, September 2, and the following day, will be spent at Montreal, where the City Council have empowered their Finance Committee to make the necessary arrangements for the reception of the visitors. Thence the party will proceed to Ottawa. The Sunday and Monday following will be spent at Toronto, where the exhibition will be inspected and the Government of Ontario will arrange a reception in the Parliamentary Buildings. On the Tuesday a visit will be made to Niagara. From Toronto the party will travel by Canadian Pacific Railway over the Rocky Mountains, reaching Glacier House on Wednesday, Sept. 16 and Vancouver two days later. Sir Henri de Lotbiniere, the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, has promised here, too, a hearty greeting, and expresses pleasure at the prospect of, in this way making the province better known "at home." Two days will be spent at Victoria. British Columbia, and Winnipeg is to be visited on the return journey.

STREET CAR STRIKE

Montreal Street Car Men Has Over 100 Cars Running

Montreal, May 27.—At one o'clock to-day the Street Railway Company had 102 cars on the various lines, as compared with forty-eight yesterday. A ten-minute service is being maintained through the city, with the exception of St. Catharine street, where the company is now running a five minute service. This afternoon President Forget announced that the company would inaugurate the regular service to-morrow. This morning cars were running out of all the different barns in different parts of the city, and no disturbance of any kind occurred.

The meeting of the members of the International Union was held at ten o'clock to-day in St. Mary's hall in the east end of the city, and was attended by over five hundred strikers. The announcement made by President Meloche was that very few members of the union had returned to work, and that over a thousand had signed the register book this morning. He stated that if the men held firm they would yet win a complete victory.

The officials of the company this afternoon again refused to have any conference with the officials of the union, and stated that they would favorably consider any application made by the old employes anxious to return to work.

Weather Notes

Thursday—Fresh to strong southeasterly to southwesterly winds, showers and thunderstorms.

Rain has fallen heavily over the lake region, attended by thunder, and light showers have occurred in the Ottawa Valley and Western Quebec. Local showers and thunderstorms are also reported in the Territories and Manitoba. The outlook is still decidedly showery, with every indication of general rains in the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Valleys.

NO PREFERENCE FOR THE COLONIES, GERMANY SAID TO BE NEARLY READY

Reprisals for Canada's Surtax will be Announced in Berlin This Week

Federal Union of the Empire

(Hon. Joseph Chamberlain at Birmingham.)

In my opinion the germs of a federal union that will make the British Empire powerful and influential for good beyond the dreams of anyone now living—the germs of that union are in the soil, but it is a tender and delicate plant, and requires careful handling. It depends upon what we do now, whether this great idea is to find fruition or whether we are for ever to dismiss it from our consideration, and accept our fate as one of the dying empires of the world. My idea of British policy—I mean the policy of the United Kingdom—is that here at the beginning of things, at the beginning of this new chapter we should show our cordial appreciation of the first step to be taken by our Colonies to show their solidarity with us."

Chancellor of Exchequer Cannot be Converted to Chamberlain View

London, May 27.—The political situation here in reference to the question of fiscal preferences between the Mother Country and the Colonies is becoming more and more interesting day by day. Although Mr. Chamberlain sticks to his position that the question of commercial unity of the Empire is the great issue before the electors, his colleagues in the Ministry do not show any disposition to force the question to the front.

A group of colonial sympathizers have been trying to get the Ministry to retain the corn duties upon foreign wheat and flour, but remitting them upon imports from the colonies, and thus formally recognize the principle of preferential treatment. But their efforts have been doomed to disappointment.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, replying to a question in the House of Commons this afternoon, declined to accept the proposal. The repeal of the corn duties must, he said, apply to all countries alike. The Government would not modify the Finance Bill so as to afford preferential treatment for the colonies.

This is but following Premier Balfour's line in his reply to the grain duties deputation, that any such change of fiscal policy must come as a deliberate expression of the opinion of the electors at the polls.

Sir Charles Dilke will to-morrow on the motion for the unusual adjournment over Whitsuntide, raise the question of Mr. Chamberlain's fiscal policy, and hopes to be able to get some details from the Colonial Secretary.

WILL HE COME TO CANADA?

Lord Lyveden has been trying to persuade Mr. Chamberlain to join the coming Parliamentary tour of Canada this summer, but the Colonial Secretary has regretted his inability to go. Lord Strathcona has also invited the Colonial Secretary to visit Montreal during the congress of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Empire in August. Nothing has been decided on this point yet. Mr. Chamberlain would naturally like to go to the Dominion, but the critical condition of affairs in the political world and the known split in the Cabinet demand his daily attention here.

If he should decide to go to Montreal, political England would breathe easier, because it would mean that there would be no general election this autumn, as is now rumored may be the case.

DEFENCE OF TRADE.

London, May 27.—Sir Gilbert Park- [illegible] fence before the Australasian Chamber of Commerce yesterday. He asserted that the colonies were under moral obligations to contribute to the support of the navy, and expressed the opinion that the majority of colonials were willing to do so. The Monroe Doctrine protected Canada, but some day the protection of the enemy might annex her. He suggested that the colonies should contribute towards the cost of Imperial defence in proportion to their wealth.

The Commonwealth Parliament, while renewing its contribution of £200,000 yearly to the fleet in Australian waters, will not grant a preference to English goods, because, to quote the words of a member of the Federal Cabinet: "Although sentimentally in favor of a policy of preference, Australia is opposed to the swamping of local manufacturers by English or foreign goods. The Australian trade with the Motherland is already the largest in the Empire, except that of India, and is twice that of Canada."

GERMANY NEARLY READY.

London, May 27.—Telegrams from Berlin state that the German press is delighted at Australia's refusal to grant a preference to England.

The German reprisals upon Canada will be published by the end of the week, and Berlin newspapers express the hope that they will be of such a character as to intimidate the other colonies from adopting a similar policy to that sanctioned by the Dominion Parliament.

It is, however, certain that any reprisals will have exactly the opposite effect here to that desired by Germany. An English M.P. of prominence stated today that if Germany hits Canada, which is part of the Empire, then the whole Empire must hit back.

CHAMBERLAIN'S SECRETARY.

London, May 27.—Lord Monkbretton, who has been private secretary to Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, has been appointed Under Secretary for the Colonies in succession to the Earl of Onslow, appointed President of the Board of Agriculture, vice R. W. Hanbury, deceased.

John William Dodson, the second Baron Monkbretton, D.L., J.P., a member of the County Council for Sussex, has been private secretary to Mr. Chamberlain for some years, and accompanied the Colonial Secretary on his recent tour to South Africa. He was born in 1869, the eldest son of the first Baron [illegible] in 1897, and who was in his lifetime Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, President of the Local Government Board and Chancellor to the Duchy of Lancaster. Lord Monkbretton was educated at Eton and New College, Oxford.

"Bystander," writing in The Weekly Sun, says:

The answer to Mr. Chamberlain's declamation on the subject of an Imperial tariff is that fiscal and commercial arrangements are matters not of airy imagination and campaign rhetoric, but of practical expediency and solid fact. Let him frame his preferential tariff for all the members of the Empire, including India, and we shall see whether it is practicable and whether it is likely to find acceptance. At present the Finance Minister of Canada is speaking dolefully of his unreciprocated overture, and the organs of Australian opinion greatly mislead us in that quarter there is any disposition to part with the revenue derived from duties on British goods. So far from being enthusiastically Imperialistic in her commercial policy Australia the other day refused British artisans who had come under contract permission to land, and she still excludes the colored subjects of Great Britain, who constitute about six-sevenths of the population of the Empire. Meantime, Mr. Chamberlain's vague threats of commercial war with other nations stir up the other nations against us, and incite them to anticipatory reprisals on our trade. When Mr. Chamberlain asks what is free trade, the answer is that practically it is tariff for revenue only, not excluding adaptation to national circumstances, commercial treaties such as Cobden made with France, or even retaliation, if it is not protectionism in disguise; but excluding taxation on special interests, such as was that of the landlords under the old English corn laws, or for the furtherance of fanciful schemes of militant ambition. The man who holds that the people ought to eat their bread untaxed may be all wrong, but he need hardly be very unpatriotic, since free trade reckons Pitt, Canning, and Palmerston, as well as Peel and Gladstone, among its adherents. With his usual Birmingham courtesy, Mr. Chamberlain calls those who do not accept his reveries friends of the enemies of their country.' The arch-enemies of the country, in the estimation of such persons, are those who [illegible] own unscrupulous ambition, lead it astray from the path of honor, tempt it to sully its glory by iniquitous oppression of the weak, and call down upon it the hatred, sure in the end to be followed by the hostility of mankind. It is not so very long ago since Mr. Chamberlain, a Socialist Radical, was taking the very opposite line to that which he takes now. The renegade always overacts his new part.

ANOTHER DREADFUL TORNADO IN MISOURI

The Town of Emo Almost Destroyed, Nine Killed and Many Injured

Blanchard, Iowa, May 27.—A most destructive tornado struck the town of Emo, Mo., eight miles south of Blanchard, and just across the Missouri State line, last night. Nine persons were killed outright and five were injured, some of whom may die.

The storm came from the northeast, and first struck the Wabash depot. The Masonic Temple next was demolished. On the lower floor of the Temple in a general merchandise store, were several citizens. The building was torn to pieces. Of the fourteen persons in the store, only five escaped death, and these received injuries, which in two or three cases may prove fatal.

The storm passed on through the town, leaving but a few buildings standing. It came on with great suddenness, and almost destroyed the town before the people realized what had happened. From Emo it continued into the country in a south-westerly direction, and it is feared other fatalities occurred.

Over forty dwellings are known to have been blown to pieces, but the fate of their occupants is unknown.

A deluge of rain added to the misfortune of the stricken people, and to-day homeless inhabitants are being cared for at the few homes which escaped the fury of the wind.

Emo is a small town on the Wabash Railroad branch, running from Omaha to Brunswick, Mo., and has about 200 inhabitants.

A MICHIGAN NOTION

A Michigan legislator has made a ripple by introducing a bill providing for the killing by electricity of all children who are regarded as hopeless cases. He supports his bill with the plea that humanitarian interests demand the removal of these children whose minds are such as to render them a burden to society and incapable of happiness for themselves. The bill is based upon the report from the superintendent of an asylum for the feeble-minded to the effect that many of the inmates do not possess, nor ever will have, mind enough to know that they are living.

Of course this bill wont pass. Michigan is either too humane or not humane enough to make it a law. But Representative Rodgers' move will cause some talk and more thinking. We kill some of those whose minds are too wicked to make it safe for them to be allowed to live, but we don't kill idiots, even if they are hopeless cases. And we are very good indeed to some who are only feeble-minded. They sit in high places and feel as big as if they were really competent.

COUNTY COUNCIL REFORM

Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the Legislature by municipalities that are not satisfied with the present County Councils Act and want it done away with. There is [illegible] dissatisfaction in the country with reference to the system. The opinions expressed in the House the other day go to show that there is a considerable element favorable to a return to the old system, or one containing the essentials of the old. The Taylor Amendment promises to end in an agreement by the House to allow such counties as desire to make a change, to do so, after the taking of a vote on the question.

The Times was one of the Provincial newspapers that gave the present Act a hearty welcome, chiefly because it reduced the number of representatives. We supposed it would have a tendency to lessen sectionalism and altogether give a new tone to the work done at different county towns. The result has not been satisfactory. It has almost been impossible to get the people of the towns to take the County Council seriously since 1897. One reason is that it is not bound by representation to the several municipal councils throughout the county. In the townships the indirect methods required to get electoral opinion on its way to the County seat are not to the liking of voters. Township councils have chafed under the negligence, real or imaginary, of the County Council; and all these things have had a tendency to create a demand for a return to the system in vogue before 1897.

At the time the new Act was passed The Times ventured the opinion that one-half of the County Council should be elected by the county-at-large; that is, a general vote should determine the representation of fifty per cent. of the members, in order to do away with the sectionalism and create a widespread interest in every department of the County's work.

We confess to a want of enthusiasm for the present system, and we shall not be displeased if the Legislature alters it completely.

THE CHAMBERLAIN EPISODE

Old things are passing away and strange things are becoming new—to alter slightly words with which we are all familiar. Mr. Chamberlain has "grasped" the idea, that being the favorite way of putting these things nowadays, of granting every part of the Empire preferential trade. To Canada this means, "we prefer you for food, and you will prefer us for manufactures." This, to our mind, is where the mistake creeps in. We must not discriminate against our own manufactures. Without manufactures we can never become more than a pasture-field for the centres of population in England. This, of course, won't do. Mr. Chamberlain's idea may carry England, but at the next Canadian election it will be the issue, and we shall be surprised if after the battle it is not found to be a dead one. We are loyal to the King, but that does not stand in the way of our prosperity. Loyalty and trade must not be mixed in one pot lest our people in time should fail to distinguish them. That would be a pity.

KENTUCKY'S LITTLE WAR

Witnesses will Not Attend Court—All Entering Searched for Concealed Arms

Jackson, Ky., May 28—Every one who entered the court house in the Jett trial here was searched for weapons. The witnesses were not to be found. Tom Cockrill sent word from Winchester that he did not propose to answer a summons that would cost his life, and said that his fear came from those in county offices.

Colonel Williams, in command of the militia, summoned the visiting correspondents and asked that no sensational stories be sent out. The correspondents were given a tent to themselves, but owing to it being within easy reach of the mountain from which any one might be singled out and shot, there is some misgiving and the Colonel was asked to change the location. Some of the correspondents are wearing soldier's uniforms in the hope that this will protect them.

THE ANAEMIC YOUNG GIRL

Easily Noticed by Her Blanched Cheeks, Bloodless Lips and Dull Eye

Perhaps she is sixteen. Suddenly she seems to lose strength. Her beauty fades because her vitality is steadily decreasing. Dark circles appear under the eyes which become lustreless and dull. Her spirits droop, for no girl can be contented and happy in such condition.

This may be quickly corrected by taking Ferrozone. It supplies what is lacking in the blood, purifies and strengthens it, and keeps it in perfect order. Ferrozone makes plenty of red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. It aids the stomach to do all its work, and creates a natural healthy relish for food.

Every organ of the body is benefited by Ferrozone. It rebuilds the entire system, makes new tissue, strengthens weak flabby muscles, makes thin people fat and sick people well.

No case of Anaemia is too chronic for Ferrozone. It may take time, but if persistently used will cure in the end. It will give you a well developed form, clear complexion, pure breath and will restore the bloom to faded cheeks and color to the lips more quickly than any other remedy.

Every woman who desires a vigorous constitution, and the good looks that come with good health, should take Ferrozone after each meal regularly. It is a wonderful tonic for the brain, the nerves and the blood, and acts also as an efficient but harmless regulator of the menstrual flow. In fact for all diseases peculiar to women and growing girls, Ferrozone has no equal as your druggist can tell you.

Three weeks treatment costs 50c., or three boxes for $1.25. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicine everywhere, or sent by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

PLUCKY MRS. KEPPEL

Assisted Footman to Baffle Burglars and Prevent Their Escape

London, May 27.—The Hon. Mrs. George Keppel had an exciting experience Saturday night. On returning to her home, near midnight, she found two burglars in her bedroom just ready to leave with $5,000 worth of jewellry. Mrs. Keppel summoned a footman, and the latter asked the burglars on the stairs. After a struggle the burglars felled the footman and reached the front door, but found it locked. Mrs. Keppel pluckily followed the burglars to the door and pointed out that it was impossible for them to escape, and the men then quietly awaited the arrival of the police. The burglars were remanded after the evidence of Mrs. Keppel and the footman had been taken.

A ROYAL WELCOME

Mr. Arthur Moore Irish Nationalist would Welcome King

Dublin, May 28—Arthur Moore, formerly Nationalist member for Derry, and a faithful supporter of Mr. Healy's party, sent £10 to the Nationalist party fund, saying that he relies on the prudence and moderation of the Redmond-O'Brien party to bring the land bill to a successful consummation. In denouncing the trivial factions, and the hostility of a certain small section to the approaching visit of King Edward, Mr. Moore says: "The King is our friend and well-wisher. He has the interests of this country at heart. Let Lord Mayor Harrington make up his mind to do his duty. If not he will be left high and dry, as the Citizens' Committee will be formed by the citizens themselves, who will give the King a royal welcome."

As Summer Advances Make MALT BREAKFAST FOOD

The First Dish at the Morning Meal.

As summer advances, avoid meats at the morning meal. They conduce to heaviness, drowsiness and defective digestion. Summer dieting that does not contribute to health, vigor and heartiness should be stopped at once. If the stomach is weak and irritable and digestion impaired, use Malt Breakfast Food instead of a meat diet, and carefully avoid oatmeal and other blood-heating foods. Malt Breakfast Food is delicious in taste, light and refreshing to the stomach, easy to digest, and keeps the user in good condition physically. All Grocers heartily recommend Malt Breakfast Food.

A Feminine Financier.

The people who rashly allege that women have "no head for business" will find it hard to maintain their argument in the face of a tale told by the Chicago "Post." The story began with the wife. "George," she said, "mother has sent me a cheque for forty dollars to get a new gown."

"Very thoughtful and kind of her," he commented.

"It's to be spent for nothing else, she says."

"Quite right."

"I wish you'd put it in with your bank account. I'll ask you for it when I want it. I can't do my shopping just now."

That was the first chapter of this financial tale. Now we come to the second.

"George," she said, about a week later, "I wish you'd bring me home that money to-night. I'm going down town to-morrow."

He brought the money home and gave it to her, and that ended the second chapter. The third contained a surprise.

"George," she said, toward the close of another week, "I wish you'd bring me home that forty dollars that mother sent."

"Why, I gave you that last week!" he protested.

"Oh, you gave me forty dollars, of course," she admitted, "but you remember mother said her money was to be used for a gown and nothing else."

"Yes."

"Well, I didn't use that for a gown, so the money wasn't hers. I got some things for the children and the house with it, and now I want her money for the gown."

"O-ho!" he exclaimed. "So you misappropriated funds."

"I did nothing of the kind!" she asserted.

"She gave you the money for a certain purpose and you expended it for something else," he argued. "That's a clear case of misappropriation."

"Not at all," she insisted. "If I had spent it for the gown it would have been her money; but so long as I didn't it was yours, and I spent it for your children and your house. Now I want the money that mother sent."

The poor man brought home another forty dollars, and considered the incident closed.

But in the course of another week the wife remarked, "You have fifteen dollars left of mother's money, and I believe I'll take it now."

"But I gave it all to you!" he protested.

"You gave me forty dollars," she replied, "and I spent twenty-five dollars of it for a skirt. That was mother's money, but the other fifteen dollars went for the children and the house, so that wasn't mother's. There's just enough left for a jacket."

"I'll meet you to-morrow," he said, "and we'll go together and get that jacket. I don't believe I care to take any more chances with that money."

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL

Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the

ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y

in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory

lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share. This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that. It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

If shares are exhausted when your application is received we will return your money. Make checks payably to the order of the Actonoma Oil and Development Company, P. H. Enright, Secretary and Treasurer, 218 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

of Boulder, Colorado.

Capital Stock, 1,500,000 shares. In Treasury, 500,000 shares

TRANSFER OFFICE, BRISTOL, CONN.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in, in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

Buried Gold

BY FRED WHISHAW.

Author of "A Boyar of the Terrible," etc.

beyond the reef a considerable swell lifted the boat in regular sweeps. He rowed in silence for five minutes, broken only by a groan or a curse from his companion.

"I wish to thunder I'd thought you might come on to our boats," said Drake suddenly. "You must have been d——d quick."

"I was," panted Keith. "I had to be. I knew what you were up to as soon as I found our boats sunk. You didn't deserve to succeed, for you didn't play the game."

"D——n the game and you too!" said Drake.

"Are you going to tell Jess about this?" he asked presently.

"Why, certainly. Don't you want her to know you've been beaten?"

Drake cursed again, but said nothing.

"What are you goin' to do with me?" he asked presently. "I think my arm's broken, or I'd fight you fair in the daylight."

"You'll do better fightin' me unfair and in the dark," replied Keith, "though you didn't make much of a job of it tonight. What'm I going to do with you? Why, carry you back to our camp soon as I've told 'em on the ship that you silly fools are going to attack us."

After this Drake was silent until the small boat lay under the "Penelope's" towering stern. Then he spoke in a chastened tone.

"Don't you give me away too badly to her, Mr. Adams," he said. "You've crippled me, curse you. That ought to be enough for you for the present."

"You sit where you are and hang on to the rope with your other arm. You'll be able to tell her yourself in a minute. Tell her what you like. I'll leave it to you if you prefer it," said Keith cheerily. Then he hailed the ship and Tom Foster appeared. In another minute Keith stood on deck.

"What's up, Adams?" Tom asked. "Is it all right with the skipper and our crew?"

"There's going to be ructions, and I've come to warn you. The 'Hecuba' chaps won't have us at any price, and they've moved the gold so that we don't know where to look for it. They've given us till the morning to clear out of the island, and if we aren't cleared by seven, they'll begin shootin'. We're prepared for 'em all right. What about you if you're attacked?"

"I'd better stand a mile and a half nearer in shore and bring the brass gun into nice range of their camp. We're all right unless they manage to surprise us."

"Well, you'll have to keep a good lookout. Your dad's bossing them, and he seems to have gone mazed over this treasure. I want Jess, to take ashore with me. She shall be all safe. Without her we shall never know where they've hidden the gold boxes." Tom Foster laughed.

"Why, what does she know about it?" he said. "No more'n we do."

"Young Denys Drake does, though. With her to help we'll work the secret out of him before we've done. We might knock 'em, mind you, but we can't force them to tell us what they want to keep to themselves."

"Well, you've got to catch your Drake first!" laughed Tom. "Maybe he's forgotten Jess by now."

"Well, I've got him in the boat there, so we shall soon have an opportunity of judging for ourselves."

"What! Come over our side?"

"Not he, not yet. Jess may get him over. I can't."

"You're going on the island, Jess," he said. "Mr. Adams has called for you."

The girl gave a cry of delight.

[illegible]" she exclaimed, seizing Keith's arm, "and father?"

"He's in the boat now, waiting for us. You can go down first, if you like, and talk to him while I finish with Tom."

"Mind his arm," said Keith over the side, as Jessie scrambled quickly down the ladder and into the boat. "Mind his arm, Jess! He slipped down and hurt it, coming off."

"If Jess don't manage young Drake," said Keith, continuing his conversation with Tom, "can you think of any other way of gettin' at the secret?"

"There's the two chaps in irons. Would they know it?" Tom asked, after reflection.

"They'd know all right, if you could persuade one of 'em to let it out. You might be threatenin' or bribin' one of the rascals while we're busy ashore. If you get anything out of either of 'em, keep it dead secret till I see you."

"I'll try!" said Tom.

When Keith lowered himself into the little boat, presently, he found Jess sobbing, with her arm about her lover's neck, vowing that he should never leave her again, scolding and pitying in the same breath. "You ought to have come with Dick Robinson," she said, and immediately following this speech, "But maybe you was right to stay by father and take care of the old man."

"Dick had no right to go!" said Drake. "He was shot at for escaping without leave, against our laws. A small community's just as much bound to keep the laws, if it has them, as a big one."

"I meant to scold you ever so, and I can't!" said Jessie. As for Keith, he pulled at his oars and reflected that the favors of the little god Cupid are very unequally distributed in this world.

Meanwhile Tom, watching the little boat till it vanished in the gloom, began to think how he had best set his house in order in case of night attacks. There were no searchlights in those days, and if there had been, a small sailing vessel of the "Penelope" size would scarcely have possessed one. How in the world should he protect himself and his ship from the sudden onslaught of a boatful of armed men, creeping up in the darkness?

The only way of baffling such an attack that Tom Foster could think of was to change his anchorage every evening as soon as darkness fell. This and the keeping of a constant and efficient watch would obviate to a certain extent the chances of a surprise.

Tom had a crew of three sick or convalescent sailors, two prisoners, and a cabin-boy. The three men and himself must keep regular watches, the boy being left out of the account as not to be trusted. Of course the prisoners were useless. More, they were a constant source of trouble and danger.

"I'll minimize that, anyway," said Tom, "by separating them at once!" This he did without further delay, to the intense disgust of Mr. Evans and Mr. Inglis, to return now to their proper names.

Then Tom and his men heaved up their anchor as quietly as possible and shifted their position, drifting a mile and a half nearer shore, and somewhat eastward of their late anchorage, in order to be within range of the camp of their own party.

TURKEY IS EAGER FOR HOSTILITIES

All the Bulgarian Men in Macedonia Either in the Prisons or Mountains

Salonica, via London, May 25.—The old time Turkish tax collectors, whom the reformers promised to abolish, are again making their rounds. This is startling intelligence. The officials had agreed that the reforms should be in operation before the next crop should be harvested, and it was assumed that the collectors had conducted their last campaign of extortion. There may be pretexts for the general arrest of Bulgarians of all sorts and conditions throughout Macedonia, but there is no justification for the exaction of a portion of the harvest before the tax gatherer or the peasant can tell what the value will be, and the resumption of the old practice is contrary to the scheme of reforms demanded by the powers and guaranteed by the Turkish Government. About nineteen cents per man in required, four or five cents for every three pounds or so of seed. If the farmer has no money an increased proportion of seed is taken from him and sold to the peasants at a lower price for cash.

REFORMS ABANDONED.

Long rows of women advancing like a skirmish line are sowing seed in the fields throughout Macedonia. The men are either in prison or hiding in the mountains, and few are to be seen among the workers in the fields. While the taxes are levied before the seed is scattered, the Turkish officials have no faith that a harvest will be gathered this year. In fact, their exactions are proof that the reforms have gone by the board, that neither the powers nor the Turkish Ministers are interested in the scheme of pacification, and that attention is centred upon the gathering war cloud. The swarming of troops into Macedonia continues, and the armaments are involving a heavy expenditure, which will break the Turk's back. Even if peace is maintained the disbandment of the mobilized forces cannot take place for a year, and this will reduce the Government to financial straits, and involve the necessity of attempt to introduce reforms which have already been proved impracticable.

The outbreak of war is regarded by the Turks as the only solution of a troublesome situation. They expect to march over the mountains into Sofia as easily as they sauntered through northern Greece. Unprejudiced judges who have a knowledge of both armies and the physical conditions of the country are confident that there must be three times as many Turks as Bulgarians, if the invaders can ever hope to cross the successive mountain ranges and enter the Bulgarian capital. The Turks profess to be ready to begin war at once. The entrance for Austria is blocked with troops. There are 125,000 soldiers in Macedonia ready to march into Bulgaria, and as many more Bashi Bazouks, eager to rise and slaughter the Christians.

The Turkish Government has been goading Bulgaria, as Greece was harassed not long ago, into a declaration of hostilities, and the officials affect to believe that the Servians and Greeks will unite with the Porte in a campaign against the principality.

Parenthetical Pick-Me-Ups.

The "Guileless Girl" discourses on the subject as follows:

"However much one may try one's very hardest to blink a most unpleasing feature of modern life, the fact remains that the habit of having recourse to little pick-me-ups between whiles is beginning to assume very definite and undesirable proportions among the society women of the twentieth century. [illegible] to seek, but the remedy seems as difficult of discovery as the philosopher's stone. The highly artificial conditions under which we live, with nerves always strung to the highest state of tension, and ever looking out for some new form of excitement, make it inevitable that artificial stimulants should be resorted to in order to enable the jaded human organization to meet the excessive demands that are made upon it. From morning till night, and often through the night as well, there is one long round of worry and excitement.

"The demands of modern civilization are so exacting that even the simplest things become either fatiguing or exciting. The mere act of dressing, for instance, which has to be repeated several times in the day, makes a severe call upon the strength of a delicate girl, even if she has a clever maid to assist her; and if she is one of those unfortunate individuals who have to try to be 'smart' without possessing the indispensable services of a lady's-maid, the mere strain, for instance, of arranging her own elaborate coiffure is quite enough to exhaust her for some time after the operation is completed.

"Plenty of girls find that the mere physical exertion of brushing their hair or lacing a pair of tight corsets leaves them so tired that before going out to face the world a nip of cognac or a glass of liqueur is required to brace them up, and give them courage to face the world with the society smile without which no self-respecting lady of fashion dare appear in public.

"Many ladies, too, find the fatigues of shopping and of 'trying on' extremely exhausting, owing, in many cases, to their preternaturally small waists and their abnormally high heels, which often have the effect of making them short of breath and short of temper at the same time. At that moment, unfortunately, the considerate dressmaker or milliner, who has herself experienced the same feeling, only in a worse degree, because she has to work while her customer is only amusing herself, obligingly comes forward with an offer of a glass of Benedictine or the 'tiniest drop' of Green Chartreuse, and her fair customer finds it so grateful and comforting that on her next visit she looks out for it as a matter of course, and in a short time starts a bottle in her own room to have recourse to whenever she feels 'a sinking.'

"The high-sounding names of the various expensive liqueurs have such a distinguished ring about them that it never occurs to the lady who is consuming them how perilously near she is going to the woman who, in a lower rank of life, has recourse to a quartern of gin under similar circumstances. Some women delude themselves still further by drinking eau de Cologne or some other perfume on the assumption that a pick-me-up of this kind is quite harmless, whereas, if anything, it is more deadly than the other.

"Of course, it is not suggested for a moment that ladies who have recourse to this kind of thing go the length of making themselves intoxicated. But they do often get as far as acquiring a color, and a sparkle in the eye, and a style of conversation, all of which are quite foreign to their real nature, and the effect in the long run is bound to be highly deleterious."

POOR WAY TO ECONOMIZE

Mistakes Often Made by Women Who Trim the Wrong Expenses.

"It is most difficult to economize, and the most difficult part of it is to know in what direction to practice economy," said the wise woman. "Often those who do it will carry their economy to too great an extreme. The right way to do it is to get along without extras, and use just what is necessary for everyday comfort. It does not mean that there should not be enough, nor any deprivation of necessary comforts.

"There are women who when they economize will do so at the wrong end. She comes to the conclusion that whenever she doesn't buy anything or cuts off an item of expense she is economizing. She will attend to the grocer's bills. That is well, but sometimes she will expend 20 cents' worth of time and strength to save 5 cents. Then the same woman may economize on her luncheon. She will convince herself that eating a midday meal is a mere habit, and will dispense with it. She finds it all the easier to do so because her husband is not home at that meal, and, of course, she does not want him to go without enough to eat. She thinks that he needs more food than she does.

"The woman who practices this sort of economy will find that the deprivation impoverishes herself and her children mentally and physically. Often, in the long run, it is more expensive in actual cash, for the doctor has to be called in.

Value of Old Newspapers.

"Dear me," sighed the perplexed housewife. "I don't know what to do with the stacks and stacks of old newspapers which accumulate at our house."

"Well, don't throw them away," counselled her friend, "for they are of more value than one would think at first glance. I have found so very many uses to which I can put them in my home that I make the men folks save every scrap.

"In the first place," she continued, "old newspapers dipped in cold water will clean windows almost as well as hot water, soap and cloths, and will not injure the hands one-half as much. Besides, for polishing mirrors there is nothing better than a newspaper which has been crumpled and rolled about in the hands until it is as soft as fine leather.

"After the cooking is over I make our girl crush some old newspapers in her hands and rub the top and sides of the range. This removes the grease quickly and keeps the range in excellent condition if done often.

"Every morning we rub our hair brushes with a pad of newspapers. This removes the dust and keeps the brushes clean and healthy. Also, it conduces to their long life and utility.

"Tearing old newspapers into shreds of a given length is an employment which I find amuses my children greatly, and keeps them out of mischief. What possible use can I find for the shreds? Why, a great many. They can be put into washing ticks, and, if frequently changed, make a good comfortable bed for a small child. They are also excellent for packing fragile summer things away, as good as excelsior and practically cost one nothing. Perishable fruit if laid away in boxes surrounded by sheet after sheet of old newspaper will last almost indefinitely.

"As a substitute for paper felt under carpets the old newspapers come in handy, and one may have as thick a covering of them on the floors as one wishes, by simply saving up for a few weeks.

"These are only a few of the uses to which I put our old newspapers. It would require a big book to tell of all the things I do with them, and of the many dollars I manage to save every year by simply pressing them into service wherever available."

Teach a Child to Think.

Frobel's "Mother Play" book is full of the richest suggestions as to how the every day life of the nursery can be made to yield up its treasures of oil and wine, goodness and truth, for both baby and mothers. He shows very clearly there that while it is easy to keep in sympathy with child-nature, and for many mothers to provide for the varying ceaseless activities, yet that to really understand the origin and end of this activity and earnest study of the human mind in its individual and social relations is also needed. The mother must learn that thought and feeling, as well as nerve and muscle have their pulsations, their rhythms, their periods of greater or less activity. She must learn that to try to work against these laws written in the whole being of the child is but "kicking against the bricks." She will learn that just as there is seed time and harvest, and the work of the one period cannot be done except in that peroid, so the child cannot be made to take on certain states of mind and heart. To take up certain studies when he has not yet reached the time in which such mental or heart nourishment is demanded is but to block the wheels to a true, logical, orderly developement of all the faculties. She will learn that a child's interests cannot be ignored and other interests foreign to his present stage of growth substituted for his own. She will study books like Donelson's "Growth of the Brain," or Warner's "The Study of the Child," to find a true physical basis for education, and then strive to gain a clearer, larger view of all these psychologic questions which bear on mental development. To this will be added a true knowledge of these principles which make for a better understanding of the child as a spiritual being. It is not hard to do all this if you will look at life from the child's standpoint, giving him your own loving instructive sympathy.—Woman's Home Companion.

Suicide in Church

London, Ont., May 27. — William Uglow, for years township collector of North Dorchester, well-known throughout the country and in the city, was found dead this morning in the Methodist church at Putnam. A revolver that lay by his side showed that he had committed suicide. Uglow is thought to have been temporarily deranged when he committed the rash deed.

A GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask; What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, desiring, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

AN ABSOLUTELY SAFE INVESTMENT

—One that will Increase 200 Per Cent. within a Year.—

The Adams Copper Mining and Refining Co.

Owns Seven Copper Mines, all of which Show Wide Veins of Pay Ore.

One of its mines, the Copper Coin, has just been equipped with buildings and up-to-date machinery.

The company has no debts and owns its own properties.

At a recent meeting of the directors, the officers of the company were instructed to sell a small block of the treasury stock for the purpose of fully equipping more of the mines with proper buildings and up-[illegible] figers do now offer TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK AT 12 CENTS PER SHARE, on easy payments, as follows: On all orders for 100 shares to 1,000 shares, $5 cash with order and $5 per month thereafter until fully paid. The management fully expects to make this stock worth par in from 12 to 15 months.

The secretary and treasurer of this company bought Gold Coin stock at 12 cents per share and sold it at $6.50 per share within 24 months.

Another officer of this company bought Calumet & Hecla Copper stock at $1.00 per share and sold it for $925.00 per share. This company paid $70,000,000 in dividends.

Adams Copper Mining and Refining Company's stock will do the same, as they have enormous bodies of ore already in sight.

WHEN TO INVEST

HERE ARE A FEW COPPER FACTS well worth the attention of all would-be investors: $100 invested in 1890 in the Tamarack Copper Company is now worth $782; $100 invested in 1896 in Boston & Montana Copper Company is now worth $1,896; $100 invested in 1896 in the Arnold Copper Company is now worth $1,870; $100 invested in 1896 in the Wolverine Copper Company is now worth $5,000. $100 invested in the Butte & Boston Copper Company is now worth $5,600. $100 invested in 1896 in the Calumet & Hecla Copper Company is now worth $8,650.

More money has, in recent years, been made in copper mining than in any other staple enterprise as free from the element of risk. There is nothing misleading in the statement that copper mining as a proposition is better than gold, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The most valuable minin properties in the world are copper properties.

To every purchaser of stock a specimen of ore from the Company's mines will be sent FREE.

Send your order at once before the advance, which will certainly be made in the near future. Ten per cent. discount for cash.

STOCK MARKETS

WHAT STILLMAN SAYS

New York, May 27—Students of the market might do well to consider the expressed views of the powers of the City National Bank of New York. They are to all ostensible purposes, the mouthpiece of the greatest financial powers in America. Some years ago President Stillman issued a warning. Later on, Mr. Vanderlip, of the same Bank, went into print to the extent of a column suggesting a halt in then advancing values. These views proved remarkably correct. On Monday Mr. Stillman spoke as follows—"A year ago I told you what to expect. Nothing I expressed then has failed of corroboration. "Today I am confident that the storm of depression has spent its force. Investment securities are cheap. Nothing detrimental can happen at these prices. As to dividend stocks these may be favorably considered especially such issues as St Paul, and others of this class. I realise that I am morally responsible for any statement I may make and I give this opinion for one that is fully justified by judgement of the conditions, past, present and prospective." It is self-evident from the words of the banker that the Standard Oil party are again submitted to the bull side of the market, and are well loaded up with stock, hence the above comments. As we said in our letter of yesterday, the Rockfeller interests are closely allied with the Gould party. It is practically a certainty that stocks will shortly command prices considerably in excess of current figures, hence they should be purchased now upon liberal margins. Courage is an essential tribute to the making of a money-maker. It takes courage to buy stocks at such times as they should be bought, such as the present time, and no courage at all to buy when prices are ruling high, at which time to buy and hold is really dangerous.

Summary—Further improvement was recorded today. The market was more quiet and dealings lighter owing to the entire absence of liquidation, save in the leather issues due to reports of an issue of bonds in payment of back dividends on the preferred stock. Liquidation has apparently run its course, and stocks have drifted again into strong hands. Some feverishness is to be expected for a few days, after so sharp a decline. The coming side of the market, however, should be the improving one. Money closed 2 per cent. Sales 560,000.

AUSTRALIAN PARLIAMENT

Second Session of Federal Legislature Was Opened Yesterday

Melbourne, Victoria, May 28—At the opening of the Federal Parliament today, Governor-General Lord Tennyson remarked that the urgency of questions of domestic importance would prevent the immediate consideration of preferential trade, though the ministers regarded favorably the idea of better trade relations within the British Empire.

A Splendid Train Appreciated.

"I would rather travel on the Grand Trunk's International Limited than any other train in America," said a prominent business man yesterday, as he stepped from the train that had just brought him from Montreal, a distance of 333 miles, in 7 hours and 40 minutes. Many such remarks are to be heard daily from passengers as the "Flyer" stands in the Union Station in readiness to continue the run to Detroit and Chicago, leaving Toronto at 4.50 p.m., and arriving Detroit 9.20 p.m. and Chicago 7.20 a.m. The service excels in every particular—comfortable, high-back coaches, handsome and splendidly appointed cafe parlor car, and luxurious Pullman sleeper, in reality a palace on wheels, where one can sleep, dine, smoke or read with as much comfort and ease as in the finest of hotels. For a long distance train the "International Limited" has a splendid record for regularity and promptness to schedule time; passengers almost invariably arrive at destination "ON TIME." THEY PROCLAIM THE MERITS

To the World of Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills.

To the Editor of The Times—

Sir,—That the world may know of the merits of Dr. Clarke's wonderful Little Red Pills, I ask the newspapers to publish the following: I was, for years, a martyr to stomach trouble, and had no hope whatever of being cured; but on seeing a testimonial from a friend in Ontario, in one of the Toronto papers, I resolved to write to her and found that she had actually been cured of the same trouble by Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I at once bought three boxes and took them according to directions, and they almost cured me. I purchased three more boxes, and am thankful to say that I am entirely cured. I have no splitting headaches now, no burning pain in my stomach; in fact, have a new lease of life.

MRS. JAMES HUNTER,
Miami, Man.

A Remarkable Offer.

Sir,—We make the following proposal to readers of The Times. To any one who is a subject of rheumatism, (no matter how long standing), or any blood disease, enumerated below, and will give Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills a fair trial, and are not fully and completely cured, we will refund the money paid for the pills. If no good results follow, we will forfeit $10 cash.

We have yet to know of a single case where this wonderful medicine has not been almost entirely successful in its work of relieving suffering humanity.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even where the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough. Price 50c. per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Catarrh and Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Eczema, same price. $500 will be paid for any case that is not permanently cure.

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

A GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, desiring, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

AN ABSOLUTELY SAFE INVESTMENT

—One that will Increase 200 Per Cent. within a Year.—

The Adams Copper Mining and Refining Co.

Owns Seven Copper Mines, all of which Show Wide Veins of Pay Ore.

One of its mines, the Copper Coin, has just been equipped with buildings and up-to-date machinery.

The company has no debts and owns its own properties.

At a recent meeting of the directors, the officers of the company were instructed to sell a small block of the treasury stock for the purpose of fully equipping more of the mines with proper buildings and up-to-date machinery, and in pursuance with the above instructions the of- [illegible] TREASURY STOCK AT 12 CENTS PER SHARE, on easy payments, as follows: On all orders for 100 shares to 1,000 shares, $5 cash with order and $5 per month thereafter until fully paid. The management fully expects to make this stock worth par in from 12 to 15 months.

The secretary and treasurer of this company bought Gold Coin stock at 12 cents per share and sold it at $6.50 per share within 24 months.

Another officer of this company bought Calumet & Hecla Copper stock at $1.00 per share and sold it for $825.00 per share. This company paid $70,000,000 in dividends.

Adams Copper Mining and Refining Company's stock will do the same, as they have enormous bodies of ore already in sight.

WHEN TO INVEST

HERE ARE A FEW COPPER FACTS well worth the attention of all would-be investors: $100 invested in 1880 in the Tamarack Copper Company is now worth $782; $100 invested in 1893 in Boston & Montana Copper Company is now worth $1,896; $100 invested in 1896 in the Arnold Copper Company is now worth $1,870; $100 invested in 1893 in the Wolverine Copper Company is now worth $5,690. $100 invested in the Butte & Boston Copper Company is now worth $5,600. $100 invested in 1896 in the Calumet & Hecla Copper Company is now worth $8,650.

More money has in recent years been made in copper mining than in any other staple enterprise as free from the element of risk. There is nothing misleading in the statement that copper mining as a proposition is better than gold, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The most valuable mining properties in the world are copper properties.

To every purchaser of stock a specimen of ore from the Company's mines will be sent FREE.

Send your order at once before the advance, which will certainly be made in the near future. Ten per cent. discount for cash.

STOCK MARKETS

WHAT STILLMAN SAYS

New York, May 27—Students of the market might do well to consider the expressed views of the powers of the city National Bank of New York. They are to all ostensible purposes the mouthpiece of the greatest financial powers in America. Some years ago President Stillman issued a warning. Later on, Mr. Vanderlip, of the same Bank, went into print to the extent of a column suggesting a halt in then advancing values. These views proved remarkably correct. On Monday Mr. Stillman spoke as follows—"A year ago I told you what to expect. Nothing I expressed then has failed of corroboration. Today I am confident that the storm of depression has spent its force. Investment securities are cheap. Nothing detrimental can happen at these prices. As to dividend stocks these may be favorably considered especially such issues as St Paul, and others of this class. I realize that I am morally responsible for any statement I may make and I give this opinion for one that is fully justified by judgement of the conditions, past, present and prospective." It is self-evident from the words of the banker that the Standard Oil party are again submitted to the bull side of the market, and are well loaded up with stock, hence the above comments. As we said in our letter of yesterday, the Rockfeller interests are closely allied with the Gould party. It is practically a certainty that stocks will shortly command prices considerably in excess of current figures, hence they should be purchased now upon liberal margins. Courage is an essential tribute to the making of a money-maker. It takes courage to buy stocks at such times as they should be bought, such as the present time, and no courage at all to buy when prices are ruling high, at which time to buy and hold is really dangerous.

Summary— Further improvement was recorded today. The market was more quiet and dealings lighter owing to the entire absence of liquidation, save in the leather issues due to reports of an issue of bonds in payment of back dividends on the preferred stock. Liquidation has apparently run its course, and stocks have drifted again into strong hands. Some feverishness is to be expected for a few days, after so sharp a decline. The coming side of the market, however, should be the improving one. Money closed 2 per cent. Sales 560,000.

AUSTRALIAN PARLIAMENT

Second Session of Federal Legislature Was Opened Yesterday

Melbourne, Victoria, May 28—At the opening of the Federal Parliament today, Governor-General Lord Tennyson remarked that the urgency of questions of domestic importance would prevent the immediate consideration of preferential trade, though the ministers regarded favorably the idea of better trade relations within the British Empire.

A Splendid Train Appreciated.

"I would rather travel on the Grand Trunk's International Limited than any other train in America," said a prominent business man yesterday, as he stepped from the train that had just brought him [illegible] in 7 hours and 40 minutes. Many such remarks are to be heard daily from passengers as the "Flyer" stands in the Union Station in readiness to continue the run to Detroit and Chicago, leaving Toronto at 4.50 p.m., and arriving Detroit 9.20 p.m. and Chicago 7.20 a.m. The service excels in every particular—comfortable, high back coaches, handsome and splendidly appointed cafe parlor car, and luxurious Pullman sleeper, in reality a palace on wheels, where one can sleep, dine, smoke or read with as much comfort and ease as in the finest of hotels. For a long distance train the "International Limited" has a splendid record for regularity and promptness to schedule time; passengers almost invariably arrive at destination "ON TIME." THEY PROCLAIM THE MERITS

To the World of Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills.

To the Editor of The Times—

Sir,—That the world may know of the merits of Dr. Clarke's wonderful Little Red Pills, I ask the newspapers to publish the following: I was, for years, a martyr to stomach trouble, and had no hope whatever of being cured; but on seeing a testimonial from a friend in Ontario, in one of the Toronto papers, I resolved to write to her and found that she had actually been cured of the same trouble by Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I at once bought three boxes and took them according to directions, and they almost cured me. I purchased three more boxes, and am thankful to say that I am entirely cured. I have no splitting headaches now, no burning pain in my stomach; in fact, have a new lease of life.

MRS. JAMES HUNTER,
Miami, Man.

A Remarkable Offer.

Sir,—We make the following proposal to readers of The Times. To any one who is a subject of rheumatism, (no matter how long standing), or any blood disease, enumerated below, and will give Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills a fair trial, and are not fully and completely cured, we will refund the money paid for the pills. If no good results follow, we will forfeit $10 cash.

We have yet to know of a single case where this wonderful medicine has not been almost entirely successful in its work of relieving suffering humanity.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even when the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough. Price 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.00.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Catarrh and Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Eczema, same price. $500 will be paid for any case that is will not permanently cure.

MONEY NO OBJECT

When People are seeking health or relief from any disease the price never counts.

It is a fact that not less than a million is spent every year by people seeking a satisfactory cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

Probably the best and most highly recommended preparation is Catarrhozone, which treats the local symptoms very effectually by means of medicated air supplied through a convenient hard rubber inhaler. The poisons in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone Tablets, which are taken after each meal. They promote appetite, aid digestion, and make the blood rich and pure, so that it will nourish all parts of the body.

This combined local and constitutional treatment in catarrhal diseases has met with wonderful success and can be relied upon to cure every time. The inhaler stops sneezing, coughing, droppings in the throat, and brings quick relief and cure to all the disagreeable symptoms of catarrh.

The following testimonials from well known Canadians furnish abundant proof what Catarrhozone accomplishes in stubborn cases.

Mrs. James Tweedie, of Jay Bridge, says: "For years my daughter doctored unsuccessfully for Catarrh. She had droppings in the throat, hawkings, nausea, and could not sleep at night. The first day's use of Catarrhozone benefitted and ultimately cured my daughter so that Catarrh has never returned. I can recommend Catarrhozone as a grand remedy for Catarrh."

Thousands of strong letters could be given like the above if necessary, but all that is required to prove the merit of Catarrhozone is a fair trial. It is sure as death to cure and if it fails your money will be refunded. Catarrhozone cured lots of cases worse than yours and can do it again.

Complete outfit costs $1.00. Small size 25c. Sold by druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Its 25th Dividend

A mistake crept into the advertisement of the New Century Zinc and Lead Mining Company, which appears elsewhere in this issue. In previous issues we stated that the Company paid its 24th dividend. It should have read 25th. The proposition is one well worthy of the attention of investors.

THE STREET RAILWAY

The Agreement Between Town and Company About Ready

The Times is informed that a draft of the agreement between the town and Messrs. Stuart and Cox has been made, and will be presented to the Council at an early date.

The agreement provides for a thirty-year franchise, the contract for lighting the town for ten years at $60 per lamp, and the right to extend the line over any of the streets of the town or Ashburnham, should Ashburnham become a part of the town.

The Times is informed that the right of the Council to make a contract of this nature will be challenged by the Otonabee Power Company, who are prepared to supply street lamps for $32 per lamp per year.

Mr. Stuart is in town, and it is presumed that the matter will be disposed of one way or the other before he returns.

SEARCHING FOR THE BODY

The Remains of the Late W. A. Sanderson Still in the Lake

There is little or nothing to report concerning the late melancholy drowning accident at Stony Lake. A number of willing workers are dragging the lake, but so far without success.

The theory given by The Times yesterday is generally accepted: That Mr. Sanderson must have met death in his canoe and not by drowning. Perhaps a stray bullet may have killed him, or he may have been stricken with apoplexy. A Times representative, who was at Stony Lake on Monday with Mr. Nugent, remarked about the shooting that was going on on the Dummer shore. Shot after shot was heard, and who knows but a stray bullet found its way to Mr. Sanderson? This will not be disclosed until the body is recovered, which may not be for six or eight days.

THREE MEN KILLED

Terrible Accident at Cordova Mines—Inquest to be Held

Blairton, May 28.—The following particulars of the accident at Cordova Mines are at hand: The accident, which occurred in a 400 foot shaft, resulted in one man, Eliser Yeomans, being killed and two others so seriously injured that they are not expected to live. There are two skips in this shaft, east and west. It transpires that the west skip got orders to ascend from the 400 foot level to the 200 foot level, and was at once boarded by four men. When it came up to the 200 foot level it stopped, and the east skip received orders to ascend to the 300 foot level. While this skip was raising the machinery of the west skip got out of order, and it fell a distance of 140 feet. Three of the men were thrown out and fell 60 feet, one was killed, and the remaining man hung on. Thomas Catney, one of the two injured, is married, while Yeomans was not.

Coroner Grey, of Peterborough, will hold an inquest at Cordova to-day, and High County Constable Cochrane has been sent there to summon a jury.

POLICE COURT NOTES

Three Dog Tag Cases Disposed of by Magistrate Dumble

The grist at the police court yesterday was unusually large. Three citizens were fined for not taking out dog tags; seven men were charged with nonpayment of their statute labor tax, and were ordered to pay $1.25 and 85 cents costs; three men were charged with riding their [illegible] dismissed; two claims for wages against a local hotel keeper were discharged; the case of Timothy Kearns, jr., for assaulting Samuel Ellery and Rudolph Noble, was dismissed.

Mr. Hatton's Fire

Mr. Hatton informed The Times that we were in error in stating that the fire which consumed his residence on Monday was started by the children playing with fireworks. The fire began in the gable of the kitchen, and just how will probably remain a mystery. Much sympathy is being felt for Mr. and Mrs. Hatton in their misfortune.

A Brutal Act

Savigny Bros., the Water street grocers, have a cat, in which they have heretofore had considerable pride, as it was a capital mouser and allowed no rats about the place; but a few nights ago, or rather in the morning about one o'clock, a certain individual was seen to set his dog on the cat, which immediately ran up a small tree near the Munro House. Mr. Man(?) was not satisfied with this turn of affairs, and proceeded to drive the helpless creature out of the tree, which he succeeded in doing after breaking off most of the limbs. No sooner had the poor cat landed on the ground than the dog seized it and worried the poor animal until it was left for dead, near its owner's door. It is a great pity that the perpetrator of such cruelty should be allowed to enroll his name with the human family. The Times hopes that the name of this uncouth villain may be given to the public.

DOCTOR ON FOOD

Experimented on Himself

A physician of Galion, O., says:—"For the last few years I have been a sufferer from indigestion, and although I have used various remedies and prepared foods with some benefit, it was not until I tried Grape-Nuts that I was completely cured.

"As a food it is pleasant and agreeable, very nutritious and is digested and assimilated with very little effort on the part of the digestive organs. As a nerve food and restorer it has no equal and as such is especially adapted to students and other brain workers. It contains the elements necessary for the building of nerve tissue and by doing so maintains an equilibrium of waste and repair.

"It also enriches the blood by giving an increased number of red corpuscles and in this way strengthens all the organs, providing a vital fluid made more nearly perfect. I take great pleasure in recommending its use to my patients, for I value it as a food and know it will benefit all who use it." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THE HAWK AND THE CHICKENS

A Paper on the Responsibility of Parents by Rev. J. G. Potter

One of the most interesting and instructive lessons one can learn during these early weeks of spring is that taught by the hen and her brood of chickens. The law that governs the life of the little feathered family is universal. All may be going along very well, yet on the approach of the hawk, even though there has been no previous experiences of such danger before, the mother gives the note of alarm, and instinctively every chicken seeks and quickly receives shelter. Christ cries today as He once cried, "How often would I have gathered thy children together, &c., &c." The greatest problem facing the community today is that of producing a manhood and womanhood to a true regard of what is true, what is honest, what is just, what is pure, what is lovely, what is of good report. Never was there a louder call to parents and teachers than there is today to devote themselves with strenuous attention to the improvement of the youth of our town and country. There are liberties strange and offensive being taken with the Lord's Day—there is a disposition to cater to the soul-destroying liquor traffic—there is the ever-increasing spirit of commercialism that would turn soul and body into money, and make its gains by crushing out of our boys and girls all their physical, moral and spiritual qualities, but above them all is the need of well-developed Christian powers that shall lead forth to greater utility and blessing the privileges that have been given us as a people.

National life never rises above the home life and never sinks below it. The downfall of every character is traceable to some defects in his home life. Every drunkard, every murderer, every thief was nursed on a mother's lap, learned the mother's tongue and partook of the mother's life. Uncontrolled children—unguided children at six or seven years, will be outlaws at twenty. A poor young man stood before the judge to be sentenced to death, when the judge asked him if he had anything to say, why the sentence of death should not be passed. He bowed his head and said, "Oh, if I had had a mother!"

God has made it possible for every father and mother to take all their children with them to heaven. The greatest acknowledged power for good in this country today is the Church of Christ with its very important Sabbath school work. Peterborough town and county has a staff of very competent and consecrated Christian teachers who seek to adapt themselves to the various ages and dispositions of our children, and they deserve our very best encouragement and help. The executive of the County S.S. Association has arranged a series of conventions in the different townships, to be held next month from June 21st to 28th, to be addressed by experienced and prominent Sabbath school workers.

The principal speakers will be General Secretary Jackson, of Toronto, and the Rev. W. E Hassard, B.A., B. D., whose address on "The Worth and Winning of a Child" will alone be worth travelling many miles to hear.

All township workers are very earnestly asked to pray for a rich blessing upon these meetings.

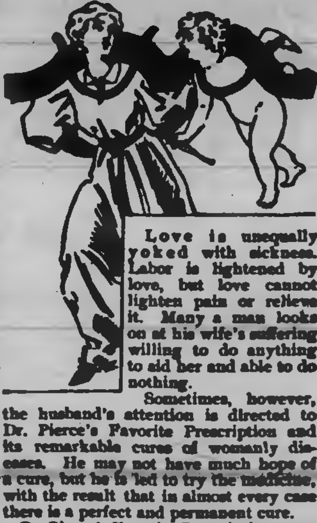
Hen Fruit by Weight

Mr. Rolly Hill, Mr. Ed. Brown's capable driver, thinks eggs should be sold by the pound instead of by the dozen. Mr. Hill shows good horse sense in this matter, for this great family journal was shown an egg, now on exhibition at Mr. Brown's store, laid by one of Mr. Hill's smallest hens, which weighs exactly six ounces, and measures seven inches in circumference. This egg was so large that he could not get it into his overcoat pocket. Mr. Bob Bradburn says he would give an even dollar for a peck of such eggs.

MARRIAGES

MEHARRY—BROOK—At the Methodist parsonage, by Rev. J. R. Wilson, on Wednesday, May 27, George Meharry, of North Monaghan, to Miss Kathleen Brook, of Norwood. The bride was assisted by Miss Annie Buck, and the groom was supported by W. J. Collins.

WYN—McELROY—At the Methodist parsonage, on Monday, May 25, by Rev. J. P. Wilson, Samuel W. Wyn to Mrs. Louisa McElroy.



Love is unequally yoked with sickness. Labor is lightened by love, but love cannot lighten pain or relieve it. Many a man looks on at his wife's suffering willing to do anything to aid her and able to do nothing.

Sometimes, however, the husband's attention is directed to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and its remarkable cures of womanly diseases. He may not have much hope of a cure, but he is led to try the medicine, with the result that in almost every case there is a perfect and permanent cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures irregularity. It dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

As a tonic for women who are nervous, sleepless, worn-out and run-down "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled.

"In answer to your letter I will say, my wife commenced to complain twenty years ago," writes Lewis A. Miller, ex-Chief-of-Police, of 33 Prospect St., Wellsport, Pa. "We have tried the skill of twelve different doctors. She took gallons of medicine during the time she was ill, until I wrote to you and you told us what to do. She has taken eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and six of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' She can do her own work now and can walk around again and is quite smart."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

WHOLE EMPIRE MUST AID CANADA, THE DAY OF BRITISH AWAKENING

Will be a Day of Misfortune for Germany

Striking Declaration by Sir Robert Giffen, All are Interested

Business Men in Birmingham Endorse Chamberlain

London, May 28.—There are four columns of letters in The Times today endorsing Mr. Chamberlain's preferential trade policy. The most important of them is from Sir Robert Giffen, England's first statistician, formerly assistant secretary to the Board of Trade. Though opposed to preferential tariffs in general, he maintains that the question is not economic, but political. Germany, by refusing to give Canada the most favored nation treatment accorded the Mother Country, is using the attachment of Great Britain to free trade as a means of disintegrating the Empire. For Imperial reasons, Great Britain and every other State in the Empire is bound to support any of the self-governing colonies which is involved in a tariff war, even at the risk of doing violence to our own principles.

The Birmingham Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution that the suggestions of Mr. Chamberlain deserve the immediate and serious consideration of the country generally, and of the commercial community particularly. Several supporters of the resolution declare themselves to be strong free traders. There was only one dissentient.

The Bradford Chamber of Commerce appealed to Mr. Chamberlain before the Birmingham speech to take action to induce the Government of Canada to refrain from making any changes in the preferential tariff detrimental to Great Britain. The Chamber showed that the preferential tariff had greatly increased the exports of woolens and worsteds to Canada, which had risen from £775,000 pounds in 1896 to £1,352,000 in 1902. Mr. Chamberlain now replies that he fears no useful purpose would be served by making a communication on the matter to the Canadian Government.

Right Hon. G. H. Reid, the free trade leader of the Opposition in the Australian Parliament, said he thought Mr. Chamberlain is trying to blind the people of Great Britain to the mistakes of the Government by promulgating a Customs union. If Great Britain is unable to master the problems of competition except by retaliation her day is past.

A GERMAN PREDICTION.

Germany is jubilant at Australia's anti-preference position, excepting The Tages Zeitung, an agrarian organ, which says: "We are convinced that Mr. Chamberlain's scheme of welding Great Britain and the colonies into a homogeneous economical whole will be realized. Our conviction is based on the ground that the scheme accords with British interests, and will insure the economical future of the British Empire. The day of British awakening will be a day of misfortune for Germany."

PRISON REFORM LEGISLATION REQUIRED

To the Editor of The Times:

Dear Sir,—The Prisoners' Association, at the present moment, is pressing for legislation whereby effect may be given to the probation system as a substitute for the imprisonment of comparatively innocent first offenders. The probation system, in its operation, is similar to the "First Offenders Act" of Great Britain and the Berenger law of France, and for a number of years, has been working most satisfactorily —where in operation—in the diminution of crime and in preventing the stigma and contamination of jail association. The Ontario Government is also urged to make some provision, during the present session of the Legislature, for the efficient treatment of indigent inebriates, either by the adoption of the proposed bill prepared at the request of, and submitted to, the Government over three years ago, or by means of a special grant to the Prisoners' Aid Association for the purpose of continuing a system of treatment commenced a few months ago with encouraging results. It is to be hoped not only that members of the Government but that each private member of the Legislature shall be given to understand that the best sentiment of the Province would favour the inauguration of these much needed reforms. Will not every one who is in a position to do so, kindly give this important matter a helping hand?

Yours truly,
A. N. ROSEBRUGH,
Secretary.

The Yellow Peril

Japan has become, and how respected the Japanese Empire is for its fighting power as well as for its sound policy and intelligence, the question inevitably comes up whether China may not rise, with its 400,000,000 of people, to at least as great a power as Japan has attained with 45,000,000. If that should happen and the two countries should act together in enforcing a sort of Monroe doctrine for Eastern Asia, what European power, hampered more or less by the jealousies of its neighbors and rivals, would care to risk a trial of strength against Japan and China together. It is a possibility which is well worth keeping in mind in studying the immensely important destinies of the richest most populous part of Asia.

For the greater part of the time since man rose above savagery the foremost countries of Asia were stronger than any powers of Europe. It is by no means certain that the present great advantage on the side of Europe will be permanent. Japan has made that point very doubtful. China may do more than Japan, in the long run, to shake European confidence in the prowess of the West, measured against the East. The fact that Chinese civilization is not now military or militant does not prove that it will never become more formidable, from the soldier's point of view.

THE RELATIONS STRAINED BRITAIN AND RUSSIA

The Russian Bear Likely to Stir Up the Wrath of the British Lion

THE PERSIAN GULF MONROE DOCTRINE

Great Britain will be Obliged to Take Action Against Russian Aggression

London, May 29—It looks as if Russia was determined to fight Britain at every turn. The action of Lord Lansdowne in proclaiming hands off the Persian Gulf, has evidently stirred Russia to action, and that country has decided to test the sincerity and validity of the Monroe Doctrine concerning the Gulf. It is stated that the Russian Society of Steam Navigation and Commerce has decided to organize a regular service between Odessa and the Persian Gulf. A note from Odessa, dated May 28, [illegible] that the abandonment of the German-Bagdad scheme by Great Britain and the subsequent exposition by the latter of a Monroe Doctrine over the Persian Gulf were likely to have a distinctively reviving effect upon Russia's project of extending her transcaucasian and Transcaspian railway systems through Persia, the former via Djulfa and Tabriz, to Teheran and the latter from Aschabad to Meshed, with a branch line down to Bunder Abbas, on the Persian Gulf.

It is evident that the decision of the Russian society in question is the first step taken by the Russian Institution to test the vulnerability of the British doctrine, for the steamers of the society belong to the Russian volunteer fleet, and hence any extensive base of commercial or shipping supply established for the society's steamers in the Persian Gulf would be ipso facto a base for the Russian Imperial Navy the moment Russia should become engaged in war. And such a base is absolutely necessary if the Transcaspian Railway is to be pushed forward to Bunder Abbas and bade at that point to form a profitable connection with the steamers of the Russian Society. It will then be for the British Government to decide whether or not the Russian establishment at Bender Abbas is a transgression of the Monroe Doctrine of the Persian Gulf.

GRAND TRUNK MAY GET C.N.R.

Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann May Go on Board of New Company

Montreal, May 28. — The general opinion in leading Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railway circles today was that a satisfactory arrangement will be made between the Grand Trunk Pacific and Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann, whereby the latter will sell out the Canadian Northern Railway properties to the Grand Trunk interests.

The announcement made at the Grand Trunk to-day was that Mr. Mackenzie had stated to Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson that Mr. Hays that they would be willing to sell the line under certain conditions. When an arrangement has been arrived at with regard to the price Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann will go on the board the Grand Trunk Pacific Company. Payment will be made to them partly in cash and partly in stock in the new company. One of the conditions of the sale will be that Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann shall also receive the contract for the building of of a large portion of the extensions of the road.

Leading Great Northern interests announced to-day that the sale of the Canadian Northern to the Grand Trunk would also mean the handing over of the Great Northern Railway to the Grand Trunk.

NEW LICENSE BILL WILL BE STRINGENT

Hotel Men of the Province are Becoming Anxious

TERMS OF THE BILL

License Holders Hear That They will Have to Provide More Accomodation

Toronto, May 29—The liquor men are very desirous that the terms of Premier Ross temperance bill should be made known at the present session of the Legislature. Mr. E. Dickie, secretary of the Licensed Victuallers Association, stated that, on the present unsettled condition of affairs, hotelkeepers were afraid to improve their properties, while others, who were desirous of selling out, had great difficulty in finding purchasers. People were loth to buy hotels, because they ran the risk of having to go to the further expenditure of adding several rooms in conformity with the new Act. He himself, had four or five properties in hand, for which he had so far been unable to secure purchasers.

The hotelmen will discuss the situation as affecting their interests at their annual convention on June 17th, when, it is expected, about one hundred delegates will be present. Mr. Dickie thinks the principal subject under discussion will be the compulsory enlargement of hotels carrying licenses, which, he says, will be a feature of the new Act, if details that the Government could not prevent leaking out are to be relied upon. "Of course," Mr. Dickie added, with assumed nonchalance, when speaking, "every man has ideas of his own as to what the provisions will be."

Evidently the liquor men have good reason for expecting that Premier Ross will attempt to satisfy the temperance sentiment of the Province by going a step further along the lines he followed in the 1897 amendment.

Most of the local hotelkeepers conformed to the provisions adopted then, and are utilising all the accommodation they were called upon to provide. Mr. Dickie fears, however, that if, in future, they are required to have, say twenty-five rooms, before they are entitled to a license, the additional rooms would be unoccupied and the only purpose served would be to cause an unnecessary expenditure of $4,000 or $5,000 to the hotelkeeper. Whatever the terms may be, he is certain that they will be of a restrictive nature.

Chicago Packers Shut

"big five" packers here

Chicago, May 29— The have decided to close down their plants, rather than grant the demands of their employes. This decision was reached at a secret meeting of the packers held yesterday afternoon. The companies represented at the meeting were Swift & Co, Armour & Co., Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, Nelson Morris & Co., and the National Packing Company.

Should the plants be closed down, 25,000 men and women would be thrown out of employment.

At present the laborers at the stock yard plants receive from 15 to 17 1-2 cents per hour. They have asked for an increase to a straight scale of 20 cents an hour for a day of eight hours. It is this demand that the packers refuse to grant.

DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

Hoist Man and Company are Exonerated from Responsibility

County Constable Cochrane had a jury empannelled when Coroner Grey and County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood arrived at Cordova yesterday afternoon, to inquire into the cause of death of Eleasor Youmens, who was accidentally killed in shaft number three on Tuesday last.

The following members of the coroner's jury were duly sworn by the coroner:

Mr. Robert Miller, foreman; Messrs. Joseph Chase, Adolphus A. Brown, William Thompson, Robert Cole, Stephen Sayla, William E. Brown, Absolem Brown, James Gilbert Covert, J. Milton Brown, and Daniel T. Young.

After viewing the body, the Crown Attorney examined the following witnesses: Laurie Holland, the acting manager during Mr. D. G. Kerr's absence in England; Samuel Milligan, who assisted the man who operated the hoists, when the accident happened. David Crippan, the next witness, was to be pitied as he acknowledged, with tears in his eyes, that he had tried to operate both skips at once, which, he said, he should not have done, and in a measure blamed himself for the death of his co-laborer, notwithstanding the fact that no person was allowed to ride either up or down on the skips on any pretext whatever; yet he seemed to know that the men were in the habit of stealing a ride when the hours of labor were completed. He could not account for the skip going the wrong way, but supposes that he pulled the wrong lever in the excitement of the moment, and sent the skip containing the men down until it came in contact with the chain which was placed at the 300 foot level for the purpose of stopping the skip; but the force with which it descended caused the skip to turn over, and precipitated three of the unfortunate men down No. 2 shaft, a distance of some eighty feet, where two of the falling men landed amongst a lot of steel drills and broken timbers, which were placed in the other skip for hoisting to the top, and it is nothing short of a miracle that they were not immediately killed. The third man fell about twelve feet further and landed in the very bottom of the shaft, sustaining such injuries as caused his death the same evening.

There were eight other witnesses examined, whose testimony went to show that the men who entered the skips to ride either up or down were violating not only the laws of the country, but also the rules of the company, who impose a fine of $5.00 for each infraction of this rule, and it seems that three men were cautioned the day before by the foreman and forbidden to ride in the skips.

At the conclusion of the evidence the jury immediately returned the following verdict:

We find that the said Eleasor Youmens came to his death by falling out of the skip at No. 3 shaft on the morning of Tuesday, May 26th, 1903, being purely accidental and that the hoist-man and the company are exonerated from all responsibility.

Mr. Laurie Holland, the acting manager of the Cordova Mine, is a young man of very refined habits, and pleasing and engaging manners, and spared no pains in assisting the county officials in the investigation of the unfortunate circumstances. It was a matter of some surprise to the visitors to find such culture and refinement in such a backward mining district, and they will not soon forget the kindness and courtesy shown by the officials of the company.

TERRIBLE EARTHQUAKE IN ASIATIC TURKEY--TWO THOUSAND KILLED.

400 Houses in Neighboring Village Collapsed

Entire Town and All Its Inhabitants Swallowed Up in a Convulsion of Nature

Constantinople, May 28. — Advices which reached here to-day from Asiatic Turkey, show that a terrible earthquake occurred April 29 at Melazgtard, in the Vilayet of Van, eighty miles south-east of Erzeroum, on the Euphrates.

The town was totally destroyed, with its entire population, numbering 2,000 souls, including 700 Armenians, as well as the troops forming the garrison of Melazghert.

In addition, over 400 houses in neighboring villages collapsed.

A somewhat severe earth-shock was felt here this morning, but no damage was done.

SCHOOLBOYS UNION FORMED

New Haven Conn. Youngsters Will Demand Shorter Study Hours

New Haven, Conn., May 29— School boys have caught the strike fever and have organised the "New Haven Schoolboys Union," the movement starting in the Webster school. They ask for a reduction in school hours. The truant officers say there is evidence that pupils of several schools have become imbued with the idea that they can strike for shorter school hours. Boys who sell newspapers are the organizers of the demand for a shorter school day.

PROVINCIAL MINING SCHOOL

Ontario Government will Take Over the Institution from Queen's

Kingston, May 28. — The Ontario Government will take over the Kingston School of Mining and conduct it as a part of the educational system of the Province. The buildings have been reared by the Government, and will be thoroughly equipped. To-day the Minister of Education was to introduce an Act to receive it as a Government institution. The school has been in existence for ten years. There will be an advisory board of twelve members, seven appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor, one by the graduates, and one by the Queen's.

The subscribers will decide next week whether to transfer the property, but this is a foregone conclusion. To equip the new buildings $10,000 per year for ten years will be granted. The ground will be deeded to the Province for 99 years. The school will be an associate in the fullest measure to that of Toronto, but for degree-conferring purposes will be affiliated with Queen's. Of the $35,000 originally subscribed only $2,000 remains, the balance having been used in equipment of buildings during the past eight years.

Plenty of Hired Help For Ontario Farmers

Toronto, May 28.—The present indications are that this year the Ontario farmer is going to have all the help he requires for harvest operations, which is the time of his greatest need in that regard.

Mr. Thomas Southworth, Director of Colonization, told a press representative to-day that the difficulty now impending was that the bureau was not sure of being able to send the immigrants to vacancies. He did not say the vacancies did not exist, but there had recently been a number of instances of laborers being sent to farmers who reported that the places had been filled.

Mr. Southworth says a number of applications are being received from employers who want skilled labor. The answer to these enquirers invariably is that the department does not conduct an employment bureau for that purpose. Skilled laborers who apply are given information only of a general sort, and are left to hustle for themselves in securing a position. It is only in the case of farmers that the bureau undertakes to put an employe in touch with employer.

LITTLE GIRL SLAIN BY SOME FIEND

Thirteen-year-Old Daughter of Henry Whalen of Collingwood was Attacked on Her Way to School

Collingwood, Ont., May 28.—What at present appears to have been a most foul murder was brought to light this morning by the finding of the body of Gloria, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whalen, in a bush at the southern limits of the town.

The victim of the awful affair lived with her aprents on the town line, between the town and the township of Nottawasaga, and attended the East Ward school in town, which is about a mile and a half from her home.

As was her custom, she started out from her home yesterday morning with a lunch and her books, taking the usual course across the fields to the tracks of the Grand Trunk Railway.

This was the last time she was seen alive by her parents. She did not reach the school, but it was not until the evening when, as she did not return her parents became anxious and made enquiries among her school mates and learned this fact.

As she had not been seen during the day, her parents instituted a search, which was continued until she was found about daylight this morning.

The body was lying in a clump of cedar trees, about one hundred yards from the railway track, and an equal distance from the edge of the bush. It was so placed among the cedars as to be entirely obscured from the view of the passers-by.

Her books and her lunch were lying by her side, the latter being intact, as when she left home.

The body bore some marks, but the most serious appeared to be a deep gash across the forehead and a fracture of the bone under the eyebrows, evidently caused by a heavy blow. The eye was black, showing that the injury must have been received some little time before death.

On hearing of the horrible discovery Chief Wylde of the town police and Coroner Stephens went to the place and had the body removed to Trott's undertaking warerooms in town, were an examination was made by the coroner.

An inquest will be opened at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It is generally believed that the girl was assaulted and afterwards deliberately murdered by a tramp, who, it is said, was seen loafing around the bush a few days previously.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC AND ITS GREAT FLEETS

The Services Named by the Board of Directors

TOTAL FIVE FLEETS

An Efficient Service in All Cases Assured

Montreal, May 29—The officials of the C.P.R. this morning decided upon the official designation of its steamship fleets.

There are five of these in all, and the general title will be: "The Canadian Pacific Railway Company's Steamship lines," with a sub-title to each service as follows: 1, Pacific service; 2, Atlantic service; 3, British Columbia coast service; 4, Upper Lake service; 5, British Columbia Lake and River service.

The only new applications in respect of these various services in that which applies to what was formerly the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company and which, having now, been taken over by the C.P.R. Company, will in future, be known as the British Columbia coast service.

Some critics in Vancouver have sought to show that the home port of this coast service should be that city rather than, as it is, in Victoria.

Upon this phase of the question Superintendent Piers this morning said; "I think the Vancouver people are asking too much. They should recognize that they have the Empress vessels, which are worth more to them than are the coasting vessels to Victoria. Again, it must be remembered that the C.P.N. Company was organised in Victoria, and its directors are all resident there."

"Is there any chance of a transfer being effected?" asked the reporter.

"I scarcely think so," replied Mr. Piers, "Under all the circumstances the C.P.R. would scarcely be justified in making any change."

THE IDEAL DANGER CORNER IS AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

Croatains Declare They will Die Rather Than Have Their Rights Trampled on

Vienna, May 29—Developments in the south-eastern corner of Austria-Hungary are assuming an aspect of real danger to the dual monarchy. Nearly a million people are affected by the violent movements to preserve the Croatian nationality from Hungary. Destruction of property, riots and noisy demonstrations against the Hungarian authorities occupy the inhabitants of the principal cities. At the same time a deputation has demanded in effect, the consolidation of statutes of all denominations in Croatia, Dalmatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, with a view to ultimate union with Servia. Such a combination is favored by geographical as well as by racial conditions, but no one in Austria-Hungary can contemplate it with equanimity. However, aside from the menace to the Imperial interests in a Croatian revolt, Austrians regard the situation with a certain satisfaction because it is [illegible] Hungary the Nationalist aspirations of Imperial authority to restrain the alleged wrongs Hungary is committing against the Croatians and Dalmatians. Ferri, the leader of the deputation to the Emperor-King, said to a correspondent today:— The revolt is spreading. The people will resist the loss of their nationality to the last man. The troubles lie in Hungary's administrative encroachment and financial injustice. The most disquieting phase of the crisis is the evident attempt of [illegible] Austria [illegible] anxiety. TO COMBAT UNIONISM

That the unions are already beginning to over-reach themselves in the manner their truest friends, as well as their enemies, have forecasted, is being manifested in more than one direction. The formation recently of such an organization in Toronto as the Employers' Association, which no doubt will prove the nucleus for many others similar, is one example. In a recent issue The Times gave the gist of the proceedings of the Convention of the National Association of Manufacturers at New Orleans, at which were freely discussed plans whereby employers should seize their right to employ whom they please, and to conduct their businesses in the way deemed by them most fit. Again, only a few days ago, a deputation of prominent Ontario and Quebec manufacturers waited upon the Dominion Government with a strong protest against certain important planks in the labor platform. They urged that strong obstacles should be placed in the way of that discontent-creating foreign invader, the "walking delegate"; that no alien labor law be passed that would prevent skilled workmen coming to Canada from foreign countries; that the union label bill now before the Senate be not passed, and that the Government do something to make labor organizations responsible for their acts. Among other charges made against labor organizations was the strong one that many strikes were precipitated, not to better the strikers [illegible] but to the manifest advantage of United States competitors. Another ominous sign is the growing inclination on the part of the more intelligent members of trades unions themselves to question the wisdom of their leaders, and yet that they apparently have no power to moderate the excesses of the latter. And still another was contained in an important pastoral letter issued a few days ago by Archbishop Bruchesi, of Montreal in which he protested against the extravagant claims of the unionist leaders, and frowned down their growing tendency to use violent measures for the embarrassment of capitalists and manufacturers in the exercise of their natural rights, or for the dismission of other employees who may be perfectly willing to work given the opportunity.

The above are omens of a gradual loss of sympathy on the part of the public with the methods of the latter-day labor leaders, and, with public sympathy lost, as we have tried to show in previous articles, unionism is bereft of its chief instrument to success.

A LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

The Boston and New Mexico Copper Company to the Reader:

If we can secure your attention long enough to read this we have interested you.

Never in the history of the United States has there been such prosperity, such an abundance of capital seeking investment, such an exceptional offer to investors.

This is a sweeping statement, but as you well know, while thousands have invested and lost in mining propositions, now and then there is an exception, which makes the investor not only wealthy, but, according to the extent of his holdings, very wealthy. The great difficulty in mining for copper is the large outlay of capital required before any tangible results can be obtained.

Now we invite you to an industrial enterprise where all the large investments have already been made and results definitely ascertained. We invite you to invest in a mine proved by mineral experts and surrounded on all sides, as you will see by reference to the accompanying chart, of properties of some of the most prominent mining capitalists in the country.

We are not asking you to invest a dollar for milling the product; that has been done by others who are now ready and anxious for our copper, since we own one of the richest claims in the valley. Less than three years ago the Oscura Mining District, located in Socorro County, New Mexico, was a wilderness; time and time again experts had called attention to the immense deposits of copper in this section. Geologically speaking, some great upheaval of nature caused a break between two ranges of mountains, and the mineral fissures were pressed to the surface.

To own one of these fissures with facilities for milling and marketing was a fortune to the possessor.

Less than two years ago the Rock Island Railroad built a branch of its great trunk line with a station 15 miles from the mine.

The writer called the attention of New York, Boston and New Haven capitalists to these immense deposits and reserved for himself four claims which he believed to be the richest in the entire section, and upon these is founded the Boston and New Mexico Copper Company, with the result that these same capitalists within the last two years have spent over one million dollars, making that wilderness of three years ago to blossom like the rose. Estey City is truly a marvel:—Streets are laid out, equipped with electric lights; buildings with modern improvements are going up, and all accessories of an up-to-date settlement are in evidence. One feature worthy of note is that all sale of intoxicants is prohibited, something remarkable for a mining camp; instead of the inevitable saloon, which usually follows a mining prospect, we have the school house, the church and other like kindred tokens of a prosperous community. This vast sum of a million dollars and upwards has been spent quietly, with no flourish of trumpets, no advertising for the sale of stock, no appeal to the public for money, and yet, there is a smelter completed, which at the time of the recent incorporation of the Boston and New Mexico Copper Company had cost over $140,000, since increased to $300,000.

In order that there may be no question as to abundance of water, an artesian well is in process of drilling, and five miles of iron piping to convey its product is now complete. The mountains several miles distant furnish an abundance of timber; coal is in close proximity, and every possible facility for mining is at hand.

A Chicago Company is building a smelter to cost over $250,000. The Dividend Mining and Milling Company [illegible] within a radius of 25 miles will also build a smelter costing several hundred thousand dollars.

The Boston and New Mexico Copper Company with its small capitalization viz—$500,000, has placed in the treasury 200,000 shares of which 50,000 will be sold and the proceeds at once used exclusively for purposes of development. (Already some mining has been done and the mineral is on the surface, so that when copper is delivered to the Reduction Works the daily supply can be kept up, which means immediate and regular dividends.

Whenever 50,000 shares are sold, which are now held at 20 cents per share, the stock will be at once raised to par and under no circumstances thereafter will a single share of the Company's stock be sold for less than its face value. We have the copper to mine; and within 60 days after mining is begun a dividend will be declared. And no dividend will be declared on any stock except TREASURY STOCK sold for CASH until every holder of such Treasury Stock shall receive back in dividends the actual cash paid in by him for his stock. This policy will be rigidly adhered to on the 50,000 shares now offered for sale. Hence investors in that portion of Treasury Stock are practically getting their stock free.

Slowly Dying

Thousands are Slowly dying from catarrh, but don't know their danger

A CASE IN POINT

Mr. Ulric Barault, a young gentleman who lived for years in Sweetsburg, Quebec, inherited Catarrh from his mother. The disease spread through his system till he was a physical wreck.

"As a child," said Mr. Barault, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages.

"I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food, and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said that Catarrh was fairly eating me up.

Every organ of my body seemed affected and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhozone, and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement.

Catarrhozone pleased me and the doctor so well that I used it continually, and took Ferrozone Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered, and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhozone could work such a miracle.

"Every one in town knows I was just about dead with Catarrh, and my cure is an evidence of what Catarrhozone can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhozone."

(Signed) Ulric Barault."

Catarrhozone beyond question is the proper remedy for catarrhal and bronchial troubles. The medicated air goes all through the air passages of the head, throat and lungs. It kills the germs, heals the sore spots, allays irritation and keeps the breath pure.

Headache, tired feelings across the eyes, nausea, all these well-known disagreeable symptoms are overcome by the medicated air of Catarrhozone.

Ferrozone Tablets which are used in conjunction with Catarrhozone Inhaler drive all the poisonous secretions of catarrh from the blood. One taken after each meal creates new appetite and digestion, strengthens the stomach, revitalizes and invigorates the entire system.

Catarrhozone is quite unsurpassed as a cure for Catarrh in any part of the system. It is highly recommended for Bronchitis and Asthma. Complete outfit, sufficient for two months' treatment, price $1.00; trial size 25 cts. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

God Save the King.

It was moved by Mr. Jas McNeil, seconded by Rev. D. D McDonald that a vote of thanks be tendered to those who so ably took part in the entertainment.

A conference of the ministers of the Presbytery of Peterborough was held in the Presbyterian church on Tuesday. Among those present were—Rev. Mr. Potter, Peterborough; Rev. Mr. Yule, Rev. Mr. McLelland, Norwood; Rev. Mr. Thompson, Hastings, and others.

Our village pedagogue is blossoming out into a public benefactor. In a recent issue of one of our local papers he holds forth in very flowery language (with occasional mistakes in spelling) about the beauties of our village. Not content with dispensing knowledge to the youthful element, he drew quite a crowd on the street last Sunday when he proceeded to give the correspondent of this g. f. j. a very moral lecture. It is a pity his linguistic talents are hidden in the school room, as he would certainly make his fortune advertising patent medicine on the market square.

WARSAW.

—An agreement having been signed by all the business men of the village to close their places of business on each Tuesday and Thursday evening at 7 o'clock p.m., beginning on June 2nd, the public will please take notice that no business will be done on those evenings.

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL
Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the
ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y
in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory

lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

TRANSFER OFFICE; BRISTOL, CONN.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in, in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

Buried Gold

By FRED WHISHAW.

Author of "A Boyar of the Terrible," etc.

When hostilities commenced at daylight, Tom was glad indeed that he had taken up his new position, and his delight was shared by Brenton and Adams and the rest of the "Penelope" faction, but not by the "Hecuba" people.

It was about seven in the morning when the silence of the quiet Pacific was startled by the sharp crack of rifles on Innocence Island.

CHAPTER XIX.

The War Continues.

These first shots were full of tragic significance. Captain Brenton had aroused Keith before daylight in order to hold a final consultation. "I want to try once more whether we can't do without fightin'," he had told him. "We didn't come to kill the chaps, and we oughtn't to do it." "And we're not particular anxious to get murdered ourselves," said Keith, yawning. "We aren't going to begin the fight anyway. How are you going to stop them if their minds are made up to it?"

"Warden and me are going up on the earthworks for one more try. He's going to improve his offer to them, on behalf of the owners. I shall feel more comfortable if we give them a last chance."

"All right," said Keith. "I suppose they wouldn't be such blackguards as to shoot while you're talking?"

"We'll have the white flag for safety," said the skipper. "We'll shout and invite 'em to a parley."

There was a clear space of two hundred yards around the camp; beyond this distance was cover, rocks, palm trees and smaller growths. Not a man was to be seen. The captain, with Warden at his side, stood upon the earth-mounds and shouted. He waved a stick, at the end of which he had tied a white handkerchief. Both men had rifles slung over their shoulders.

"They can't hear us, if they're there," said the skipper. "We'd better go and look for someone. If you ask me, I don't think they mean fightin', after all."

"See what Mr. Adams thinks," said Warden. But Keith had run down towards the blockhouse by the well, to see that all went safely there. Warden did not feel quite so sanguine as the skipper as to the disposition of the islanders but rather than have it thought he was afraid he declared himself ready to join Brenton in his pacific enterprise.

Before they had proceeded a hundred yards, however, several shots were fired at them from behind a clump of trees and Warden fell dead.

The skipper shouted aloud, mad with rage. "We're under the white flag, what the h—— are you about?" he cried. "This is murder."

Several men hidden behind rocks or trees laughed boisterously.

"We've had enough talkin'," someone yelled. "Time's up."

A second volley of shots followed the speech, and Brenton fell, the white flag actually in his hand.

At the same moment Keith Adams ran quickly across the blockhouse to camp. He was seen by men stationed on the slope of the hill known as Lookout Hill and fired at; but he reached camp untouched.

"What's up? What was the firing?" he asked hurriedly. "Surely the skipper and Mr. Warden haven't been shot at? Where are they?"

"There they lie," said someone; "murdered, if ever men were."

"Good Lord! what made them go out there?" exclaimed Keith in despair. "Line the earthworks, all hands, in case of an attack in force. They mean war, you see. Some of them'll have to hang for this."

The next move came from an unexpected direction. A quarter of a mile from shore lay the "Penelope," in full view of camp, and from her innocent-looking deck there came a sudden flash and report. An instant later a shell flew screaming over the defences, falling and bursting amid a small group of rocks two hundred yards beyond.

In a moment several men were to be seen scuttling backwards and forwards from rock to tree-trunk and back again. The shot had surprised and disconcerted the enemy.

"Good old Tom!" said Keith half aloud. "That was something like! Give them another."

A shell or two from the ship caused renewed commotion among the islanders.

Suddenly they left cover at a signal and advanced across the open, hesitating at first, as bullets began to whistle about their ears, but pulling themselves together, presently, and rushing forward at a good pace. "Shoot carefully, lads," said Keith, "and choose your men."

A volley from the earthworks followed the words, and one man fell dead. A few ran back at the sight. Some came on, and another fell.

Keith turned suddenly and saw Jessie behind him, watching.

"Go back into your tent," he said angrily, "and stay there. If I see you out again I'll have you tied up."

At the fall of their second man the attacking party lost heart. They turned one by one and bolted for cover, scuttling behind rocks and trees. The "Penelope" men raised a cheer.

From the "Penelope" came another shell; and once more the "Hecuba" fellows were set dancing from cover to cover.

"Why don't the fools go for the blockhouse?" said a voice at Keith's elbow. Keith turned; it was Denys Drake, his arm in a sling.

"Lord! I forgot you!" exclaimed Keith. "Into your tent with you at once."

"Why, what harm am I doing?" said Drake.

"None that I know of—but you might. Come, march!" Keith did not look like one to be trifled with, at this moment. Drake glanced at him and withdrew.

Meanwhile the water supply was threatened.

Shots had been fired at the little encampment by the well, chiefly from the slope of Lookout Hill, but quite without effect, though the bosun and his men—to their indignation—were unable to reply because there was not a man to be seen. Suddenly an attack came from an unexpected direction: from the seashore.

A party of a dozen men had stolen round unseen, under cover of the rocks, and now began, with blighting suddenness, to pour in a volley of shots at close range. Two of the bosun's gallant fellows fell at once. The rest faced round to meet their new opponents.

Keith discerned in a moment the danger of this development.

"I want four of you chaps to run the gauntlet with me down to the well, he said. "Who volunteers?"

Half a dozen men were ready in a moment, and away ran the seven bold fellows across the open.

"Spread and dodge," cried Keith. A score of bullets whistled about their

CIRCULAR CAUSES FEAR

And Unusual Activity in Placing Orders for Anthracite

Coal Trade Journal Disagrees with Statement of a Local Dealer

Toronto, May 29.—Coal dealers report that during the past few days there has been unusual activity on the part of citizens desirous of placing orders for their supply for next winter. This abnormal movement is attributed to what has been called an "alarmist circular" sent out by one of the dealers, which is in part as follows:

"As you are no doubt aware, the long strike has been settled by the award of the United States Government Commission, and there is every reason to believe that the miners will work satisfactorily, yet many other branches of labor are in a very unsettled condition, and one of these, which would have a serious effect upon the coal question, is that of railway employes.

"Every ton of coal mined has to be conveyed by the railway companies from the mines either to its destination point or to some lake port, and the slightest interference with transportation would cause trouble almost as serious as when the men at the mines were on strike.

"We have no wish to be alarmists, but we do feel that the present condition of affairs is very unsatisfactory and that those who buy their domestic coal now will have no reason to regret their action. We would, therefore, suggest that you place your order at an early date."

A prominent coal merchant said there was no justification for the above statements, and produced the issue of The Coal Trade Journal of May 20th, which, in reviewing the hard coal situation, says:

"Fortunately, there are no labor troubles of any moment in this industry, present or prospective, and this is an encouragement to those who use anthracite for any purpose."

With reference to the question of price, coal dealers generally do not expect that the rate will be any lower than at present, namely, $6.50 a ton, some predicting that the price will be $6.75 after July 1st.

IMPERIAL COMMERCIAL LEAGUE

London, May 23—In a letter to a constituent, Mr. Chamberlain further emphasizes his belief in the necessity for an Imperial Commercial League. He says:

"I am firmly convinced that the prosperity of this country depends largely on our trade with the colonies, which, under a wise system of mutual concessions, will increase by leaps and bounds. We have been apt, in the past to consider too much the advantages of buying cheaply, and not to pay sufficient attention to methods whereby we may have the means that enable us to pay at all. Increased wages are even more important to the working classes than reduced cost of living.

Mr. Chamberlain adds that he has the fullest confidence in the working classes and in their power to realize the great issues which depend on our present action.

Affectations

While a few persons are affected through and through, and can do nothing naturally, most of us are caught here and there by affectation. The affectation of possessing knowledge which is really wanting is one of the commonest forms of the failing. Do you suppose that half the people who talk enthusiastically about music understand or love it? It is the same with art and its fashions. A run on a particular set of books is, to a large extent, a similar pretence. Many readers will say honestly what they have thought as they read, but a very large number wait on public opinion—or rather what they conceive to be polite opinion—and follow that into paths that they would never tread of their own free will.

As to affectations of manner, is there not a tendency in some quarters to regard gruffness as a sort of virtue, to think that plainness and bluntness are the signs of sincerity and to cultivate a direct, blurting for of speech, which is supposed to imply truthfulness and thoroughness? Yet men who speak in this way are not necessarily more straightforward than those who gave more play to the graces of conversation. There is an affectation of honesty, which may be a cloak for as much double dealing as if speech were oily and looks humble. And then there is the opposite, and even more inexcusable, affectation of humility by those who wish to curry favor. They fall into mild speech and adopt downcast looks when the style will serve their purpose, though they do not really entertain any of the sentiments which their bearing and demeanor represent. What of the women who cultivate a fascinating delicacy and fineness, a timidity and appealing innocence? It is usually as much a pose as is the braggadocio of the men who boast of their courage and daring and feats, and very plainly hint to the world that they are mighty fellows. All such poses are affectations and they admit of no defense. Be what you are. That is the antidote to every form of affectation

Little Health Hints.

Try hot flannel over the seat of neuralgic pain and renew frequently.

Try taking cod liver oil in tomato catsup if you want to make it palatable

Try hard cider—a wineglassful three times a day—for ague and rheumatism.

Try taking a nap in the afternoon if you are going to be out late in the evening.

Try breathing the fumes of turpentine or carbolic acid to relieve whooping cough.

CANADIAN ORE TO STATES

Heavy Shipments from Helen Mine Made at a Good Price.

Montreal, May 28.—"In the manufacture of steel rails at the Soo, which will be started as I foretold in the beginning of July, we have decided that this year we will use 80 per cent of iron ore from the Mesaba range and 20 per cent. of the ore from the Helen mine," was the announcement made to a press representative to-day by Mr. Cornelius Shields, president of the Consolidated Lake Superior.

"With such a mixture of ore we will be able to turn out a rail that we expect will be equal to any manufactured in any part of the world. Two of the [illegible] furnaces are now completed, while the material for two more is already on hand, so we will be able to start work at the time I mentioned to the directors of the company.

"Next year we will be able to secure a large amount of ore from the properties which the company owns in Minnesota and which are practically a duplicate of the mines in the Vermillion range."

"Have you contracted for large sale of the ore from the Helen mine?"

"By the contracts that have already been closed we will this year send close to five hundred thousand tons into the States, supplying different companies as far down as Virginia. The ore, which is of a particular nature, mixes splendidly with other ores for the manufacture of the highest grade steel. This year the demand for ore was so great that we were unable to supply anything like the demand, but we will be in a much better position to dispose of large quantities next year. A good price is being secured, and this should now be a source of large revenue to the company."

In concluding, Mr. Shields stated that he was entirely satisfied with the progress that had been made since he took charge.

Mr. Shields left for Sydney at noon to-day, where he will confer with Mr. James M. Ross, president of the Dominion Iron and Steel and Dominion Coal Companies. Mr. Shields has not had an opportunity of seeing Mr. Ross since his retirement from the works, and has been anxious to give the directors of both Steel and Coal Companies the benefit of any knowledge he may have with regard to the operations of both companies.

Good Intentions.

"Our minister did not take any vacation this summer," said Brown, with a smile. "Why not?" asked the other man. "Circumstances over which he had no control forced him to stay at home," replied Brown.

"He intended to go away and had made his arrangements, when several enthusiastic members of his congregation—my wife was among them, and the others were all women, too—took the matter out of his hands, and told his wife 'confidentially not to pinch and save for his outing, because the members of the church had hit upon the happy idea of raising a sum especially for his vacation.'

"As the minister has a large family and his wife finds it hard to make both ends meet, she was only too glad to spend the vacation money in other ways.

"Well, the women held several 'affairs,' and managed to get something over fifty dollars together. Then they decided to make the presentation a gala event, and give all the members of the church a chance to speed the parson on his way with good wishes.

"It occurred to them that a little music would add to the occasion, and so they engaged some musicians. One member of the committee thought that if there was music, light refreshments would be in order, and she took it upon herself to see that they were provided. A third hit on the [illegible] church decorated for the occasion, and hired a man to do the work.

"Early in the evening when they met to compare notes they discovered that their expenses had not only eaten up the amount that they had raised for the minister, but left them a matter of two or three dollars in debt.

"Oh, yes, the evening was a pleasant one to some, but there wasn't any presentation. On the way home I asked my wife who was going to square the debt.

"'Why, Joseph,' she said, 'what a question! The minister, of course. It was all done in his interest.'"

Infatuation.

Berlin.—The Crown Prince's infatuation continues. His Highness insists that he will marry an "American" or die in the attempt. Yesterday an adventuress eluded the vigilance of the guards and chewed gum noisily under the Prince's window. His Highness at once called down to her: "I perceive you are an 'American.' Will you be my wife?" "Why, cert," replied the woman. It was pointed out to the Prince that a genuine "American" girl would have said: "Aw, chase y'self!" But his Highness is quite blind to the imposture. The Kaiser is much prostrated, his total output during the past twenty-four hours being only six tragedies, fourteen comedies, two symphonic poems, twenty-three trilogies and eighty-five historical novels.—"Life."

A LIMITED NUMBER OF SHARES IN THE
The Minersville Gold Mining and Milling Company
Will be sold at 15 CENTS PER SHARE. PAR VALUE, $1.00.
Full Paid, Non-Assessable and No Personal Liability.

READ THIS! This Company offers one of the safest and best investments, as its property is located in the famous Sumpter District, Baker Co., Oregon, and has for its neighbors such mines as the Bonanza, Red Boy, Eureka North Pole, Columbia, Golconda and Cracker Oregon, which are producing from $40,000 to $100,000 each per month. This great property for which the undersigned is Fiscal Agent is more promising than many of the big producing mines at the same stage of development.

This Company has three full claims, with two large veins, one sixteen feet and the other twenty-two feet at the surface, showing good gold values and strictly free milling.

The Company owns the property outright, being free from all debt and incumbrance and in order to equip the mine with modern machinery and to continue development work, a limited number of shares will be sold for a short time only at 15 cents per share, as announced above.

Investors who wish to place money in large or small amounts can do no better than investigate this proposition. All information cheerfully furnished, and all cheques payable to

Stocks—THE MARKETS OF THE WORLD—Grain

A GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, desiring, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

The secretary and treasurer of this company bought Gold Coin stock at 12 cents per share and sold it at $6.50 per share within 24 months.

Another officer of this company bought Calumet & Hecla Copper stock at $1.00 per share and sold it for $825.00 per share. This company paid $70,000,000 in dividends.

Adams Copper Mining and Refining Company's stock will do the same, as they have enormous bodies of ore already in sight.

WHEN TO INVEST

HERE ARE A FEW COPPER FACTS well worth the attention of all would-be investors: $100 invested in 1890 in the Tamarack Copper Company is now worth $782; $100 invested in 1893 in Boston & Montana Copper Company is now worth $1,896; $100 invested in 1896 in the Arnold Copper Company is now worth $1,870; $100 invested in 1893 in the Wolverine Copper Company is now worth $5,600. $100 invested in the Butte & Boston Copper Company is now worth $5,600. $100 invested in 1896 in the Calumet & Hecla Copper Company is now worth $6,650.

More money has in recent years been made in copper mining than in any other staple enterprise as free from the element of risk. There is nothing misleading in the statement that copper mining as a proposition is better than gold, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The most valuable mining properties in the world are copper properties.

To every purchaser of stock a specimen of ore from the Company's mines will be sent FREE.

STOCK MARKETS

Why the Market Declined as Much as It Did.

New York, March 28—There is very little doubt but what stock prices were driven down upon an average of fully five dollars per share lower than they would have gone principally for two reasons. The drastic action of the Penna. Road in the destruction of property of the W. U. Telegraph Co., located along its lines, and the endeavor of the company to finance its issues of new stock itself, without the assistance of bankers on Wall St. The former action excited fears of ruthless war between the Cassit and Gould interests, which might be greatly extended. The latter caused the animosity of the banking interests who have considered the financing and flotation of new stocks and bonds their exclusive field and a process which they are for their services entitled to the customary rake off." The bears took advantage of the situation, created more or less of a scare, and pounded the market vigorously to the great discomfort of the lightly margined. The process was drastic, heroic and thorough; as a result the market was pretty well sold out. Now the Penna. have yielded to the bankers, called them to their assistance, so that factor is eliminated in high financial circles. There is a growing belief that the Cassit-Gould people will speedily and satisfactorily adjust their difference. They of all people in Wall St. at present can least afford to fight as they would, as they would be among the largest sufferers and self interest everywhere is the mightiest motive for arbitrating differences.

The buying of the past three days by the banking and greater interests has been most confident and aggressive. Such classes of buying always appear at the culmination of a struggle between Wall St. giants and never precedes the extension of such a fight.

Stocks are low, earnings are most gratifying, crop outlook is excellent and no signs of a diminution of business activity are in sight. Looking the situation squarely in the face, we arrive at the inevitable conclusion that the present is a most excellent time to buy stocks.

Summary—Bears were active today renewing their exertions to depress prices. Each attack was well preceded by the report of its expectancy so when they arrived the eight climbers joined in the selling movement. The bulk of the rally, which was a fair one, took place after two o'clock. Shorts assisted the advance towards the close, but today their selling was considerably in preponderance of their purchases. The short interest [illegible] per cent. Sales 887,800.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

One of the Very Best to Be Found in the Financial Market in Canada or the States

It has been the province of the National Banker to direct public attention heretofore to the exceedingly rich mineral deposits of Eastern Oregon, and especially of the Sumpter gold fields. We have shown how in the early days of gold mining in California the placer gold, immensely rich in its deposit, first attracted the attention of the gold seeker, and many millions of dollars was panned out of Mother Earth with the primitive pan before more modern methods were utilised in the extraction of the precious metal. Eastern Oregon has to a large extent the same mineral formation existing in California, and its rich placer field gives assuring evidence of the same relatively rich quartz deposits. The ocular demonstration of the richness of the Sumpter gold fields now going on day by day has startled the mining world and these mining properties situated in this now famous district are regarded as the most desirable and valuable in all Oregon.

Situated in the heart of this richly mineralised region is the property of the Minersville Gold Mining and Milling Company, consisting of the Fleur De Lis, Mayflower and Mistletoe Quartz mining claims, covering sixty acres. They are advantageously situated for mining purposes, being within a short distance from the Sumpter Valley railway, and from Sumpter, the point of supply. Two well defined veins indicating big values have been opened and a third exhibits the same extensive mineral formation. These fissure veins are from 16 feet to 20 feet in width and are indicative of the great values which will be obtained when these claims are fully developed. Two companies adjacent to the property of the Minersville Gold Mining and Milling Company operating on these same veins, have blocked out sufficient ore bodies to warrant the installation of a reduction plant at an early day. Recent assays from the Mistletoe vein exhibit values of an average $6.60. Assays from the Fleur De Lis show an average of $9.24 per ton. This showing comes from practically near the surface of these claims. When full development is proceeded with these values will double and treble, and when it is understood that these ore bodies are free milling, susceptible of easy amalgamation and subject to the cyanide process of treatment it will be readily seen that the cost of producing the precious metal will be reduced to a minimum and that the profits derived will be a source of great revenue to the fortunate shareholders. For the purpose of immediately making the necessary development on this valuable property the company is offering a limited number of shares of its treasury stock at 15 cents per share, and there is not the slightest doubt these shares will go to par and beyond when the work already mapped out is well under way, and the inexhaustible rich ore bodies obtained. It is seldom that such a splendid opportunity presents itself for large dividends that are sure to accrue to investors, and the National Banker, speaking with a personal knowledge of the inexhaustible richness of this foremost mining district, recommends the investing public to make quick purchase of this desirable stock.

Oregon mines have made many fortunes for its mining capitalists and investors, and the history of the past will be again realized to those who seize this opportunity to become owners of permanent, big paying dividends. The company is managed by gentlemen who occupy a distinctively high position in commercial, financial and mining circles, and whose word has always been recognized as good as their bond. Mr. J. B. Hall, the fiscal agent, with office 710-167 Dearborn street, is one of our well known citizens, to whom has been entrusted the placing of this stock. Mr. Hall is recognized as a gentleman of unquestioned business standing, honest, reliable and truthful, and his connection with the Minersville Gold Mining and Milling Company assures the prompt disposal of the stock now on sale. The National Banker takes pleasure in recommending this stock as a most desirable and profitable investment.

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU OAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Oopper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B, May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

Lost Appetite Quickly Revived

A Fitful Appetite is generally associated with a general weakness of the system. Ferrozone the best tonic and appetizer should be taken after each meal and a rapid improvement is sure to follow

Distaste for food often follows La Grippe and fever, or is brought on by over excitement or worry. It is a dangerous condition and paves the way for more sickness. On this account it should be at once corrected by the regular use of Ferrozone.

A new and wonderful medicine is Ferrozone. It instantly imparts a real zest for food, and gives power to the stomach to digest and assimilate all that is eaten. Dyspepsia and indigestion are quite unknown to those who use Ferrozone, simply because it digests food so quickly that it has no time to ferment or sour on the stomach.

Ferrozone regulates the bowels, quickly remedies urinal disorders and causes all the organs of the body to perform their functions with proper regularity. If the liver is torpid, or the kidneys not eliminating as they should, they are soon restored to normal action, and the poisons that might otherwise be retained in the body to cause disease and ill health, are carried off through natural channels.

The surest road to perfect health is Ferrozone. Young girls who have been accustomed to eat almost nothing at breakfast, soon get over the bad habit by using Ferrozone, and as a result grow into healthy vigorous womanhood. When people get up in years and loose the strength and vim of youth they need a good tonic and blood builder to enable them to resist the trials of our vigorous winter, and this is where Ferrozone can be used to great advantage.

Both the young and the old, the weak and the strong, male and female can derive untold benefit from Ferrozone. It is guaranteed to contain no opiates or injurious drugs, and will do just what is claimed for it.

Druggists recommend and sell it price 50c. per box or three boxes for $1.25. Sent to your address by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

ANXIOUS SEARCH CONTINUES

Friends Find No Trace of Mr. Sanderson's Body

The search for the body of the late Mr. W. A. Sanderson continues, but so far without success. Messrs. Adam Hall, W. G. Ferguson, B. Shortly, G. W. Morrow and James Connal have returned to town after two days' search. They left other willing workers behind, who will continue their labors.

The party dragged the lake in the vicinity of where the canoe was found. The water at this point is very deep, ranging from 60 to 110 feet. It is not probable that the body will be recovered until it raises of its own accord.

BURNED BY A LIVE WIRE

A Young Man Employed by the Light and Power Co. Meets with an Accident.

Mr. Bert Downing, a young man in the employ of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, met with a very painful accident, on Wednesday morning last.

Mr. Downing, who has been in the employ of the company for some few weeks, was on a 35 foot pole trimming a lamp when two of the fingers of his right hand came in contact with a bare wire of high voltage, and were severely burned. Strange to say, Mr. Downing went on with his work when he recovered from the shock, although it might have been sufficient to have killed him if he had received it more directly.

POLICE COURT CASES

A Couple of Cases Occupied Attention of Court Yesterday

At the police court yesterday morning the case of the two men who were on Wednesday charged with vagrancy was disposed of. Two witnesses testified that one of the accused had been begging at their premises, and he was given one month in jail at hard labor. His companion who was found drunk, stated that he had been working steadily for a year, being last employed as a river driver, and had come to town on Monday to accept a position on the following day. He admitted being drunk, but stated that he had never begged. He was allowed to go with a warning.

Hester Boyd, a Barnardo Home girl, who was on Monday charged with stealing money and articles of value from Miss Annie Brown who was staying with Dr. Pigeon, Charlotte street, while the prisoner was employed as a servant there, was remanded again until Monday. Accused pleaded guilty to the charge. She has been in this country for nearly six years, being employed at several places during that time.

The Paper Late

An apology is due our readers in town, Lakefield and other places, on account of the lateness of the delivery of The Times yesterday morning. The fault was with the Peterborough Light and Power Company. At four o'clock, when the forms were ready for press, there was no current on, and it was seven o'clock before our presses were ready to move.

Morris, of McCaul street Methodist church, Toronto, will preach special hospital sermons in the interests of the Free Hospital for Consumptives at Gravenhurst—in George street Methodist church at 7 p.m., and St. Paul's Presbyterian church at 11 a.m. Mr. Morris is an able speaker and has a good subject for the occasion.

THIRTY YEARS AWAKE

Then He Quit Coffee and Found Refreshing Sleep

Coffee causes insomnia and physicians are agreed that this is one of the most distressing of all nervous complaints. It is seldom indeed, that a man who has reached the advanced age of 81 years is entirely cured of insomnia of 31 years standing. An old gentleman of Phila. says: "I have been a great sufferer for many years from insomnia. I am 81 years of age and can truthfully say that until I quit coffee and commenced the use of Postum Food Coffee, I had not known real refreshing sleep for more than 30 years.

"Postum was prescribed for me by my doctor who made me quit coffee. I have now used Postum for more than 2 years and its good effects are both wonderful and permanent. I regard it as a good friend, not only as a remedy for coffee ills, but as a pleasant and nourishing food drink with a fine flavor. Several of my friends are using it to great advantage, and think it much superior to coffee.

"When the directions for making it are followed closely, it cannot fail to give satisfaction." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Such evidence supports the scientific theory on which Postum is based. There is a reason.

A New Poem

Our Junior Reporter has been at it again. He has written a five-verse poem on "Human Nature," and we venture to print a sample verse. Fact is, this poem must be taken in small doses.

Sure a poem of this silly nature's
The vilest of all liter-atures;
And a man that will practice
Such folly—the fact is
He'd ought to be pushed in his features.

IT SCARES PEOPLE

Who come of a consumptive family when they begin to cough and the lungs are painful. But it is a fact beyond disproof that consumption is not and cannot be inherited. The microbe which breeds disease must absolutely be received by the individual before consumption can be developed.

Men and women who have been afflicted with obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, emaciation and weakness, have been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the cough, heals the lungs, and builds up the body with solid flesh.

"When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chaneyville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Doctor Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better, then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

NO LABOR FAMINE IN THIS COUNTRY

District Council Declares That Reports on the Situation are Greatly Exaggerated

Toronto, May 29.—At the meeting of the District Labor Council last night there was an animated discussion upon the action of Mr. W. T. R. Preston, Dominion Immigration Agent in London. A British trades unionist has written a letter to the local council and enclosed an interview obtained by a reporter of the London Daily Times with Mr. Preston, in which he is credited with making the statement that Canadian manufacturers had made application to the immigration office for 10,000 mechanics and 6,000 farm laborers.

It was claimed by the delegates who spoke that this was a misrepresentation of labor conditions as they exist in Canada at the present time and that such statements tend to flood the labor market, which is the desire of the manufacturers, making it necessary for the worker to cheapen the price of his labor to suit the conditions.

A committee composed of President Cox, Vice-President Simpson, and Secretary Kennedy was appointed to draft a statement setting forth the conditions of the labor market in Canada, which will be forwarded to trades unionists in the United Kingdom.

A resolution was moved committing the council to an endorsation of the Hon. Mr. Latchford's bill respecting arbitration and conciliation, but it was decided to refer the bill to the Legislative committee with instructions to bring in a report as to the advisability of the council endorsing the measure.

It was decided to amend the constitution to allow the representatives from the Women's Label League to take a seat in the council. The women's organization are becoming an important auxiliary to the trades union organizations, and their value in promoting the interests of the movement will in the future be properly recognized.

AUSTRALIA AND BRITAIN

Will Accept Preferential Trade If British People Agree to It

London, May 29.—The speech from the throne in the Commonwealth Parliament, in which it is stated that the urgency of domestic questions prevents immediate consideration of preferential trade, is seized upon by the Radical papers here as Chamberlain's first rebuff.

The Australian authorities, however, say the next word must obviously come from Britain as senior partner of the Empire. If Britain accepts Chamberlain's plans Australia's acquiescence is assured.

CHAMBERLAIN TO RESIGN

Great English Leader Said to Intend Organizing a New Political Party

Liverpool, May 29—The Post today publishes a rumor that Colonial Secretary Chamberlain intends to resign from the cabinet, and is to head a party advocating protective duties against the whole world.

CHICAGO FREIGHT HANDLERS

Men Demanding a 25 per Cent. Increase—Merchants Prepare for Strike

Chicago May 29—The flat refusal of the railroad managers even to consider a compromise on the demands of the freight handlers for a 25 per cent. increase in wages threatens a repitition of last year's great tie-up. Anticipating a second paralysis of traffic merchants are sending rush orders for goods, newspaper publishers are supplying themselves with great quantities of paper and cold storage houses are filling their places with food supplies.

The freight handlers however, deny that the situation is critical, being confident that the roads will eventually grant some concessions as they did last year.

SCARLET FEVER A GRAVE DANGER

Board of Health to Wake Up the Municipalities

SOME ARE INACTIVE NOW

Dr. Bryce to Take Steps to Bring Two Venerable Physicians of Port Hope to Time

Toronto, May 28—According to reports presented at the quarterly meeting of the Provincial Board of Health this morning, the work of suppressing contagious disease is fraught with difficulties, of which municipal indifference was a large one.

The scarlet fever situation, Dr. P. H. Bryce said, was most dangerous. There had been a widespread outbreak and the rate of mortality had been 20 per cent. If drastic measures were not taken the deaths from this cause would reach one thousand for the the first six months of 1903.

Toronto Junction suffered severely from outbreaks of scarlet fever and diphtheria during the past winter. An isolation tent for scarlet fever patients had been erected in March, and it had proven most effective in reducing the mortality and in preventing infection afterwards. One case of diphtheria showed infection of the throat after eleven weeks, an extraordinary period.

The report from Teeswater showed a deplorable state of affairs. There had been an outbreak of scarlet fever there, which had increased to one hundred cases. The spread of the [illegible] attributed to the fact that the cases had not been placarded.

A Problem.

The most important problem was reported from Hintonburg, near Ottawa. A young man at the capital, who had lived in that city seven years, was seized with smallpox. An Ottawa doctor, learning that the young man's parents lived at Hintonburg, sent him there. At the latter village the malady was discovered and he was sent to Ottawa Isolation Hospital. The city of Ottawa then billed the municipality of Hintonburg for the cost of treatment, and the courts held the latter liable, on the ground that though the disease was contracted at Ottawa, it was first reported at Hintonburg.

Dr. Bryce announced that the attention of the Government had been called to the matter, and it was possible that some measure would be taken to protect municipalities in such cases. It was also pointed out that the doctor who originally attended the case at Ottawa was lible to $40 fine.

Authorities at Fault.

The authorities at Minden reported that they were unable to cope with the scarlet fever outbreak. Lindsay reported that it could not see its way clear to erect an isolation hospital this year, although Dr. Bryce pointed out that it had been given a general hospital by Mr. Wm. Mackenzie and Sir James Ross.

Port Hope Scored.

Dr. Bryce dealt severely with the town of Port Hope in his report. He said there had been a serious outbreak of scarlet fever there with a high rate of mortality. The Health Officer was anxious to establish an isolation tent and take preventive measures, but two old and highly-respected physicians were by their pigheadedness blocking all efforts in this direction in defiance of the law. He proposed, with the consent of the Board, to go to Port Hope in the near future and take drastic steps. It was, he said, an outrage that such a pretty little town should be ruined by two old doctors out of touch with the times. The board assented to the doctor's proposal.

The city of Kingston came in for especial praise for its preventive arrangements.

GERMANY AND CANADA

The Action of Germany will Help Great Britain

London, May 29—Berlin telegrams anticipate the announcement next week of Germany's policy regarding Canada. Some of the staunchest friends of the preferential plank will not be sorry to see Germany persist in attempting to keep Britain and Canada apart. As a leading M. P. said today, "Germany can do much just now for the federation of the British Empire."

THE BARR COLONISTS

London Truth Attacks Barr and the Whole Venture

London, May 29—Private letters are still being received from Barr's all-British colonists. They give somewhat depressed accounts of the colony's first days in the North-West. Truth attacks Barr and the whole venture, and says the Canadian Government hitherto strongly discouraged enterprising gentlemen of this type. The paper asks for definite statements from the Government in regard to its attitude towards Barr.

SOCIAL CIRCLES OF COBOURG EXCITED

Husband of a Society Bride Said to be a Bigamist

WEDDED IN PORT HOPE

The Man Said to Have a Wife and Children in Pittsburg—Now Under Arrest

The Times has been informed that a scandal which, when it becomes known, will create an intense sensation in the aristocratic society of the drowsy village of Cobourg had its origin in Port Hope a couple of weeks ago. One of the best known young ladies of Cobourg, a leader in all social entertainments, was recently married at Port Hope, and now it is said that her "husband" is "wanted" on a charge of bigamy.

Two weeks ago last Saturday one of the proprietors of the Hotel St. Lawrence was sitting in his office, enjoying a cool smoke from one of his best imported cigars, when he was approached by a stranger who made himself known and began a friendly conversation. After chatting for a time the stranger invited the proprietor to retire to the wine room. The talk went on and soon became very confidential. At last the stranger disclosed the fact that he was going to be married that afternoon and asked permission to have the matrimonial knot tied in the drawing room of the hotel. He also requested the handsome proprietor to grace the ceremony with his presence and to affix his signature to the documents as a witness.

This the proprietor was pleased to do and a bell-boy was immediately despatched for a leading divine, while the groom procured a license. Everything being in readiness the proprietor carefully waxed and curled his moustache and attired himself in a wedding garment. It is said that his reflection is still in the mirror, it having got stuck there from constant impression.

The divine arrived, also the prospective husband who brought the issuer of marriage licenses as an additional witness. After all hands had been introduced to the bride the ceremony began. The hotel proprietor was much surprised to behold in the bride a Cobourg young lady who moved in the highest society of that town. After the ceremony the happy couple left for Cobourg.

The story does not end at that. It is now said on good authority that the groom was a married man and that a warrant is out for his arrest on a charge of bigamy.

Chief Douglas when asked about the affair said that he had no official information about a warrant being issued, although he had heard unofficially that that was the case.

A Times reporter also interviewed the Rev. A. G. Sinclair, who is said to have performed the ceremony, but he said he would give nothing for publication although he admitted that the marriage had taken place and that he was pledged not to say anything about it.

The father of the bride is a well-to-do Cobourg citizen and is said to be much distressed over the affair. He has placed the matter in the hands of a leading Toronto attorney. The groom is said to have a wife and family in Pittsburg.

LITTLE GLORIA WHALEN'S DEATH IS STILL A MYSTERY, NO CLUE

To the Murderer, and Officers are Wholly at Sea

Slight Suspicion Now Points to a Dead Man

Little Girl Fought Hard Before She was Struck Down, Blindfolded, and Shot

Collingwood, Ont., May 29.—Glory Whalen left her home on Wednesday morning at a quarter past eight. As she turned out the gate she shouted: "Mother, do you think it will rain?"

"You have your umbrella," was the answer, and then the girl turned and left her home for the last time. Fifteen minutes later, Lilly Zeigel, a neighboring girl friend, left her home for Collingwood. The Whalen home is two and a quarter miles south-east of Collingwood, and the Ziegel girl lives just a little further east. Glory Whalen usually walked along the Grand Trunk Railway tracks to school, because it was nearer, and because the walking was better. She was usually accompanied by her school friends, but Wednesday morning she went alone. Miss Zeigel, aged 18, also walked along same track every morning. This eventful Wednesday she walked the tracks fifteen minutes after Glory had gone ahead. Tie by tie she went; tie by tie gradually approaching the spot where the murder took place, and as gradually leaving it. Miss Zeigel passed the spot where the murder was committed at fifteen minutes to nine. She heard no sound. She saw nothing to attract her attention. At this time Glory Whalen was lying in the swamp by the railway track, lying, so indications would point, gagged and helpless, and, perhaps, unconscious, not dead yet, for the fatal shot was not fired at the time of Lily Zeigel's going by.

The murder has all the ear marks of being one of the most cold-blooded in Canadian annals. There is a lack of motive. There is no sign of a baffled rage. Lying as if in sleep, almost with a smile upon the face, with clothes carefully arranged, with her umbrella and school bag in close proximity, there lay Glory Whalen beneath the cedar trees, and the birds about her singing. There are many theories. There is one probable theory. The crime has been laid at the door of a negro, but no negro will likely be connected with it by the Crown. The crime has been laid at the door of a peddler, but it is not likely that a peddler had anything to do with the death of little Glory Whalen.

The cause is, perhaps, nearer home. The cognate facts are these. Glory Whalen, a school girl, was [illegible] Wednesday morning while going to school. The murder took place in a swamp or near the edge of a swamp along the railway track, upon which Glory was walking. The spot was just outside the town line. The nearest house was that of Mr. Kendall, a farmer. This house would be within 100 yards or even less of the scene of the tragedy. Russell Kendall, a son of the owner of the farm, found the body in the swamp. He, it is said, walked into the swamp in company with the girl's father, and pointing to the figure lying there, said, "There is something." He did not go nearer to the body, but went into Collingwood and told Chief Wild of the discovery.

Now to go back a bit: Three girls besides the little victim passed over the ties to Collingwood within an hour of Glory's going by. First went Tena Whalen, leaving the house at 7.30, three quarters of an hour before Glory. Then came Edna Pentland, a neighboring school girl, 15 minutes later, and half an hour before Glory. Glory was next, and 15 minutes later came Lily Zeigel. The body of Glory was found not far in the bush from the track. Anyone going by would hear a scream or protest, or even in conversation, for the air has the quiet of country life along this lonely track. It is supposed the little victim was watched and that she had been noticed on her daily tramp to school. She was a pretty girl, a brunette, well developed and never a day ill in her life. A handkerchief was found tied over the eyes of the corpse.

Nearby Chief Wild found a cudgel freshly cut from a tree. The tree from which the cudgel was cut has been found also, and the gashes on the cudgel and tree correspond exactly. A sock was also discovered by the watchful chief, a woolen sock that looks as if it was home-made. Therefore it is deduced that Glory Whalen, pretty and attractive, had been noticed daily passing along the track, and that some one who knew her habits well lay in wait for her, some one who not only knew her habits, but knew her.

By the side of the track is a strip of grass. Separating this grass from the bush is a barbed wire fence. The grass is trampled. It gives evidence of a struggle. For fifteen feet on either side the sod is torn with feet marks. There was a desperate fight for honor here. But the assailant hears a step, or perhaps looking up sees the form of Lily Zeigel approaching, so the cudgel strikes a cruel blow and Glory Whalen is unconscious.

International Union Repudiated by Strikers

Montreal, May 29—Last night a body of 400 street railway men went to Mr. J. E. C. Bumbray's house in Hochlega and requested him to accompany them to the meeting of the International Union in the Hall at the corner of St. Catherine and Parthenais streets.

The meeting was ended before the hall was reached. It was then proposed that a national union of Montreal Street Railway employes be organized. This was done and the following officers elected—Mr. Morin, president pro tem; Mr. Marcland and Mr. Micland, vice presidents, pro tem; Mr. Tessier, secretary.

The following resolution was passed unanimously:

"Whereas, the international committee has not performed its duties and has placed the employees of the Montreal Street Railway Company in a most difficult and embarassing position, and as the public and press did not sympathize with the movement, it is, therefore,

"Resolved, that the international committee be dismissed from its functions, and that it be displaced by a committee representing the true interests of the employes."

AN HONEST SKEPTIC

And Where He Landed

An honest skeptic will learn things that a prejudiced and ignorant person misses. There have been many skeptics of the great rebuilding value of the pure food Grape-Nuts simply because they did not understand the scientific principle upon which it is based.

A Cincinnati man prepared to die and then got well and strong in spite of his convictions. He says: "I have always regarded your food as only another catch penny to fool the public, but I am now forced through simple justice to admit that it is all you claim.

"I suffered for years from indigestion and had 'set my house in order' to die. Then I took up the study of the alimentary table, bought a set of chemical devices to analyze the different foods and set to work to intelligently study the food question.

"I selected and ate those vegetables and meats in which I found the most nutriment, and which were supposed to be the most easily digested, but I continued to waste away and my stomach grew to be a veritable hell; sour scalding eructations came up in my mouth taking my breath away for such a long while that I thought many times my end had come. I would fall in a faint and remain unconscious for some time and when revived would find great dark spots obscuring my vision to such an extent that it seemed to be almost night in my room.

"My stomach grew so weak that I could not digest even well boiled rice. While lying in bed, badly discouraged and more willing to die than live, a voice seemed to come to me 'Why don't you give up your prejudice and try Grape-Nuts.' I thought about it every little while during the day and late in the evening sent out for some and ate a little, expecting it would hurt me and cause all the terrible trouble over again, but an hour passed and everything was right so I took another little meal and waited. I felt better and the old sick feeling quit. So about 9 o'clock I took a pretty good meal of Grape-Nuts and went to bed feeling good. I laid awake some time fearing my poor weak and scalded stomach would suffer, but strange to say I dropped off to sleep and slept sound and peaceful, and enjoyed the most glorious night's rest I had for several years.

"I go heavy on Grape-Nuts now and I have gained 10 pounds in the last five weeks; have sound, refreshing sleep, no sour eructations of the stomach, no dark blind spots and my nerves are as steady as can be. I am truly myself again and all due having at last found the proper food." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The Late Mrs. Holmes

Port Hope Times: The death occurred on Saturday last, of Anna Sarah Holmes, the wife of T. George Holmes, John street. The deceased was twenty-nine years of age. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon at the Union cemetery, the service being conducted by Rev. E. B. Lancely. The funeral was private, only relatives of the deceased being present. Among the members of the family who arrived at Port Hope, and were present at the funeral, were: Mrs. Decker, Rochester, mother of the deceased, Mrs. T. Simpson and Mrs. H. Bray, of Rochester, sisters of the deceased, the Misses Maples, Rochester, cousins, Walter Decker, of Rochester, brother, Mrs. W. Bickell, Toronto, aunt; and Miss L. Bickell and Mrs. T. Medland, Toronto, cousins of the deceased. Mr. and Mrs. W. Boundy, of Southampton, were also present, Mrs. Boundy being the deceased's sister-in-law. Much sympathy is being expressed for Mr. Holmes and the relatives of the late Mrs. Holmes in their sad loss. It was only on Friday, May 15th, that a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Holmes. The child is thriving, but a week after its birth its mother passed away.

Held a Winning Hand.

He had studied palmistry and was looking for a chance to marry money. They sat in a corner behind a big bank of plants. One of her hands was in his. The little marks that time is so fond of distributing had begun to be visible around the corners of her eyes. She was still a pretty woman, however, and, notwithstanding the fact that she had buried one husband and divorced another, was inclined to believe that there might be a good lively romance or two in her still. He bent low over the slim, soft hand. He noticed the splendid rings upon her fingers. He had heard of the fortune that was at her disposal.

"I hate to tell you anything," he said, "that will be likely to make you feel uncomfortable, but—shall I tell you what I really see?" "Yes," she said, drawing a quick breath; "tell me everything." "It looks to me," he went on, "as if a great sorrow were in store for you. It will come along about the time you are twenty-seven years old." Two weeks later the gossips were asking one another how in the world it had ever happened that he and she had become engaged upon such a short acquaintance. "Why, he can't be over thirty," they declared, "and she's at least forty!"

JOHN BULL HAS FLOOR IN THE MATTER OF TRADE

Canada Has Spoken Out in Favour of Preferential Trade

BRITAIN WILL DECIDE

As Regards Chamberlain's Proposals for Empire Unity

Montreal, May 29—The Star says:—Opponents of Mr. Chamberlain's programme who take comfort in any voices for delay and consideration, are dooming themselves to disappointment in the future. It is not the colonial voice which is awaited just now. The colonies have, indeed, spoken. Canada has given a preference for nothing, has increased it without invitation, and has expressed her willingness to do even better if the Mother Country will meet her half way. South Africa has declared in favor of a mutual preference. Responsible Australian statesmen have pledged themselves to advocate such an arrangement. There is no shadow of doubt about the position of the colonies.

The man whose decision is awaited is—John Bull.

Mr. Chamberlain has spoken. The colonies have spoken. Many influential British statesmen have spoken. It is now for the British people to say whether they are in favor of that free sort of free trade which enables the various parts of the Empire to fight for each other fiscally as they have proven their willingness to die on the field of battle.

[illegible]n the colonies will come requests for detailed information. They will also busy themselves with their local affairs while John Bull is making up his mind as to what he is going to do about it. As Mr. Sifton said the other night in London, Canada will not intrude her opinion on Britain at this time. Britain knows where Canada stands. We are committed to the hilt in favor of the principle of preferential tariff. Some may want to know more about the details of Mr. Chamberlain's scheme before committing themselves to any particular schedule; but it is doubtful whether Mr. Chamberlain has himself thought out his details yet. What is asked now is simply adhesion for the principle; and it is for John Bull to speak first.

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 30, 1903.

RAILWAY LABOR IN AUSTRALIA

Herapath's Railroad Journal says that the strike of railway servants on the State-owned lines of the Colony of Victoria is an object lesson the significance of which is by no means confined to the Antipodes. It is the expression of Socialistic opposition to all organised Government. The railway men of Victoria are civil servants, well paid, with permanent posts, and entitled to substantial pensions. Not satisfied with this, they want to be trade unionists as well, and to join the central organization of the trade unions of the colony. The effect would be that the railwaymen would be liable to be called out at any moment in support of some strike in which they were in no way personally connected. In other words the trades unionists at large wanted to get control of the railways of the country in their hands as the surest and swiftest engine for coercing capitalists and the Government. The nearest parallel in this country is furnished by the post office officials, who, though civil servants, are organized, but are not affiliated with any trades union. They draw the line at bringing private pressure to bear on members of Parliament. The Government of Victoria, unlike the Italian Government in recent parallel circumstances, realises the fundamental gravity of the situation, and has met the strikers by a bill that is all that could be desired in comprehensive and drastic severity. The Dutch Government had recently to do the same thing. When such strike at the root of order and at individual liberty, which is the essential condition for any Government, the constitution can not exist. The Anti-Strike Bill drafted by the Government provides that any employe who left work without giving fourteen days' notice would be assumed to have joined the strike, and to be guilty of an offence involving a penalty of £100 or a year's imprisonment, and offending employes would lose their pensions, and become ineligible for future Government employment in any capacity whatever. The bill further empowers the Railway Commissioner to fill the places of the strikers, the new appointments to be for two years. It prohibits interference of any sort with the employes, and, under the terms of the act, any person who collected or distributed strike funds or acted in a manner likely to encourage the strike would be guilty of an offence. The bill empowers the police to destroy printed documents encouraging the strike, and provides that the printers of such documents shall be regarded as offenders. It further declares attending strike meetings unlawful, and empowers the police to arrest persons attending them. Such meetings will be unlawful if four strikers are present, and refusal to disperse renders all persons attending them liable to arrest without warrant. All this means civic martial law, and the suspension of habeas corpus, as far as railway strikers, their aiders and abettors are concerned.

THE COUNTY COUNCILS BILL

Mr. Taylor, the member for North Middlesex, has a bill before the Legislature to amend the County Councils Act. It is proposed therein that the county council shall be composed of reeves of townships and villages and mayors of towns. The seeming objection to this is that the municipalities are of unequal size and that it would be unfair to give the representatives of the smaller municipalities an equal voice with the representatives of the larger ones. To get over this objection the following clause is provided:

"In every question arising in a county council constituted under this section, which involves the expenditure of money to an excess of $2,000 for any purpose other than the current annual expenses of the municipality, the result shall be determined by adding together the equalized assessments of the municipalities whose representatives vote for such expenditure, and against such expenditure respectively, instead of by a majority vote of the members as in other cases."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

While the population of Scotland has increased 60 per cent. since 1858, the number of lunatics has increased 186 per cent. On January 1 of this year, there were 16,658 insane persons in Scotland. Too much golf, golf talk and Scotch whisky!

It's hard to make a woman tell her age if she doesn't want to. A New York woman defendant in a divorce suit declined to tell her age but admitted she was the mother of a girl twenty years old and left it for the jury to figure it out for themselves.

A statute of General Robert E. Lee commander-in-chief of the Confederate armies, will be placed in Statuary Hall at Washington just as soon as it can be prepared. The Virginia legislature has taken the final step by passing a bill making $10,000 available for the work and appointing a commission to see that the plans are executed. The opposition developed developed to the statute in certain quarters spurred the legislature to take action sooner than otherwise would have been the case.

A public forum is to be established and maintained by the town of Leominster, Massachusetts, the first one probably in any place in the country. It is based upon a vote at the recent town meeting instructing the selectmen to provide a forum for the free use of its citizens, where they may discuss subjects and questions of common interest to the people of the town. A committee was appointed under instructions to provide subjects for discussion, strictly party questions in politics or sectarian questions in religion to be avoided.

PRISON REFORM LEGISLATION REQUIRED

To the Editor of The Times:

Dear Sir,—The Prisoners' Aid Association, at the present moment is pressing for legislation whereby effect may be given to the probation system as a substitute for the imprisonment of comparatively innocent first offenders. The probation system, in its operation, is similar to the "First Offenders Act" of Great Britain, and the Berenger law of France, and for a number of years has been working most satisfactorily—where in operation—in the diminution of crime and in preventing the stigma and contamination of jail association. The Ontario Government is also urged to make some provision, during the present session of the Legislature, for the efficient treatment of indigent inebriates either by the adoption of the proposed bill, prepared at the request of, and submitted to, the Government over three years ago, or by means of a special grant to the Prisoners' Aid Association for the purpose of continuing a system of treatment commenced a few months ago with encouraging results. It is to be hoped not only that members of the Government, but that each private member of the Legislature shall be given to understand that the best sentiment of the Province would favor the inauguration of these much needed reforms. Will not every one who is in a position to do so, kindly give this important matter a helping hand? Yours truly,

A. W. ROSEBRUGH,
Toronto, May 27, '03 Sec'y

FERROZONE

Will give you an Appetite and with Appetite and good digestion comes health and strength

Ferrozone will in one week give you a splendid apetite, and will so improve digestion and assimilation that full benefit will be derived from everything eaten.

There is nothing like Ferrozone to create a keen healthy relish for food for the brain, and a tonic for the nerves and brain. To those leading a sedentary life it is a perfect boon.

The reverned Dennis O'Brien, D.D., the well known Evangelist says of Ferrozone: "I have pleasure in saying that I have found Ferrozone a remarkably good preparation. It keeps up one's appetite, cures nervousness and sleeplessness, and perhaps the very best tonic I have used. Being in the form of chocolate coated tablet, it is both pleasant and convenient to take and is well worthy of my highest recommendations."

This is an example of the way people speak of Ferrozone who have used it, and should be convincing evidence of its unusual merit. It is warranted to cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Lost Appetite, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Catarrh, and all other diseases arising from impairment of blood or nerve tone.

Refuse to accept a substitute for Ferrozone. Every druggist sells it 50c. per box, or three for $1.25. Prepared by N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., and Kingston, Ont.

Watch Your Friends and Neighbors Who Use

Paine's Celery Compound

Why Continue in Suffering While Others Are Banishing Their Ailments and Weaknesses?

Our heartfelt desire at this time is to impress upon the minds of our women and girls the folly of trusting to time and nature to secure freedom from the ailments and weaknesses, the symptoms and warnings of disease that wreck the lives of so many. The entire female organism at this season demands attention. The delicate and complicated machinery cannot work with regularity and precision when you suffer from female irregularities, nervous prostration, headaches, backaches, sideaches, liver complaint and the effects of impure blood.

Today, your friends and neighbors are using woman's friend, Paine's Celery Compound, and are getting rid of their burdens and troubles. If you are observant you will note that your women friends are putting on flesh, they are blessed with renewed vigor, elastic step, bright eyes and clear complexions, all of which are true indications of a new and better health. Why suffer when you can secure the same blessings? Why deny yourself the happiness of true womanly life when Paine's Celery Compound is able to make you as healthy and attractive as other women are? Mrs. George B. Griswold, Nanaimo, B.C., writing specially for women, says:—

"The grand success of Paine's Celery Compound in my case leads me to believe that it has no equal in the world for curing the ills of women. For three years, female troubles, dyspepsia and nervousness made me a shadow of my former self. I was treated by competent doctors, and took a sea trip that lasted six weeks but got home again feeling no better. After reading one of your books on Paine's Celery Compound, I bought a supply and used it faithfully. Three bottles were sufficient to convince me that I had found a friend and helper. Six bottles, thank God, banished all my complaints and made me a new woman. I am anxious that every suffering woman should know what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me."

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL

Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the

ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y

in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory

lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects.

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share. This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that. It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

If shares are exhausted when your application is received we will return your money. Make checks payably to the order of the Actonoma Oil and Development Company, P. H. Enright, Secretary and Treasurer, 218 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

TRANSFER OFFICE; BRISTOL, CONN.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in, in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

heads, but no one was struck. The little party at the blockhouse cheered the reinforcements as Keith and his men raced in.

As they did so the attacking party left cover and advanced in loose order, scattering and coming on at a double.

"Choose your men, lads, and wait till they're within thirty yards," cried Keith.

Most of the bullets flew wide, but a couple of men fell. The rest looked at the earthworks frowning in front of them, glanced at their dead comrades, and went back.

"Attacking in the open ain't pleasant," said Keith. "They won't come on again, neither here nor up yonder, see if they do!"

This proved to be the case, for presently the "Hecuba" fellows were to be seen scouting their way homewards singly, avoiding the open. Half a dozen men descending from the hill were seen by the "Penelope," and a shell was sent after them to accelerate their movements. They shouted something unintelligible and shook their fists in the direction of the ship. Keith considered that his men had done pretty well. It had been a disastrous day, chiefly owing to the treacherous murder of Brenton and Warden; but besides these there were two men wounded and another killed. The enemy had suffered about the same loss, but they had been taught a lesson.

"We shall be all right by daylight after this, sir," said the bosun. "But what about night attacks? That's the danger."

"You're right," Keith assented, "and a big danger, too. We must post pickets, bosun, and put men on sentry-go. It won't be a pleasant duty, but we must take turns and do it."

That night the bosun himself and Keith took first sentry duty. Keith walked backwards and forwards in a semi-circle at a distance of three hundred yards from camp. It was a weird experience. But the night, somewhat to his surprise, passed quietly, and neither the bosun nor he was interfered with. Neither did those who took duty after them either hear or see anything to alarm them. Keith was delighted, but not impressed by the military ability of the enemy.

"They must have been more frightened than we knew!" he said. "They duran't attack even by night when they'd have had a fair chance. We've fools to deal with, and cowards, bosun!"

"Be sure they're up to some darned roguery!" said Bosun. "If they've left us in peace to-night, it's only in hopes they'll catch us napping to-morrer."

CHAPTER XX.

Tom Foster Learns the Secret.

On board the "Penelope" during the previous day, in the intervals of firing his shells, Tom Foster had found time to do good work of another kind.

The prisoners were much upset by the firing of the cannon on board and by the sound of the constant rifle-shooting on shore. They were perishing with anxiety to know what was going on. It was a struggle between "Hecuba" men and "Penelope" men, that of course; but how went matters, and what about this big gun aboard ship?

Separated as they were, they had not even one another to converse with. Consequently the visits of Tom, the cabin-boy, with food were looked forward to by both men with keen excitement.

Evans was as pleasant as butter when the lad brought his dinner. "Look 'ere, young 'un," he said, "I was cross and behaved like an idiot t'other day when we [illegible] get away and you wouldn't and it made me mad. Well, I want to ask your pardon and get you to talk to me again. It's cruel dull havin' no one to speak to."

"Gives you all the more time to prepare for death," said Tom. "You're to be killed pretty soon, I'm told."

"What d'you mean, sonny? What 'ave you heard?"

"Only that you and t'other chap and one or two from the island is going to be strung up from the yard-arm, presently, when there's time, just as a kind of warning to the others. They've shot half of them to-day and they're a-going to try the other half for murder, and you with 'em."

"What! has the 'Hecuba' chaps been worsted to-day?"

"Worsted? Why, our big gun alone blew them into the next world in groups of six and eight, and over on the island our chaps were chasing them round the place like so many hares. The trouble is whether there'll be any left to hang, except you."

"They can't hang us for nothing. You're talkin' what you don't know, my son," said Evans, who looked pale and anxious in spite of his assumed air of security.

"I don't know so much as the skipper, of course," replied Tommy, cheerfully; "but I hear them talking at dinner, and there's something you've done over at home that you're to hang for, either here or there. Here, I hope, for I wouldn't miss seein' you kickin' at the yard-arm, not for a month's pay."

Evans flushed and replied with a curse. "You're lyin', you devil's imp! You never heard anything of the kind. As for hangin', once I get hold of your little carcase I shall have somethin' to hang for, not before!"

"I'll get Mr. Foster down to you in a minute," said Tom, "if you get threatenin'!"

"Well, let him come down if he will. I've somethin' particular to say to him. Has he been down to see my mate this afternoon?"

"Not as I knows of," said Tom. "What'd he want to see the fool for, nor you neither?"

"Well, you get him to come, young 'un, and I'll thank yer. I'm sorry I was rude again; one gets irritable. There's a sovereign in my kit you can have soon as I can git at it. You ask Foster to come and see me."

The cabin-boy mentioned this matter to Foster when he took in his tea.

"What does he want?" asked the latter. "Have you been sayin' anything about the fighting? You're a lying young swab, I know, but I'll forgive you this time."

"I made it a bit worse than it was for the 'Hecuba' chaps," said Tommy, grinning. He thinks they haven't scarcely a man left alive. I told him he or his mate was to be hanged as a warnin' to others for somethin' you know of that they did over at home."

"You told him that? How d'you know anything about it? You've been listenin' while we talked at meals, you young rascal."

"One can hear a lot without listenin', out in my pantry," said Tommy, grinning. "I can't help it."

Foster went down to the cabin in which Evans was confined. If the boy had so exaggerated matters, he thought, as to have brought the man on his knees, he might as well profit by it.

AUSTRALIA AND BRITAIN

Will Accept Preferential Trade if British People Agree to It

London, May 29.—The speech from the throne in the Commonwealth Parliament, in which it is stated that the urgency of domestic questions prevents immediate consideration of preferential trade, is seized upon by the Radical papers here as Chamberlain's first rebuff.

The Australian authorities, however, say the next word must obviously come from Britain as senior partner of the Empire. If Britain accepts Chamberlain's plans Australia's acquiescence is assured.

The "Nose For News."

An interesting incident is told in the New York "Times" of the exploit of an office-boy connected with that journal. The telegraph editor and members of the staff had gone home in the early morning of a day last fall. Their work was done, and the paper had gone to press. The office-boy, tired and sleepy, sat at his desk finishing up some little task preparatory to going home.

Just as he was leaving the room one of the carriers used to bring messages through the tube from the Associated Press office leaped out into the receptacle. Mechanically the boy stepped over to the tube, and, lifting out the envelope, tore it open. Hastily glancing down the page, he saw that it was a bulletin of most important news. He had been long enough in the office to realize the value of news.

He looked around the rooms, but not an editor was left to whom he could refer the matter; so he ran upstairs to the composing-room and had a consultation with the foreman, who at once recognized the value of the news item.

The office-boy and foreman prepared the despatch for the printers, put the head-lines upon it, and had it set up.

Meantime the presses in the basement were grinding out the morning edition. A message was sent by the foreman to the pressroom to stop the printing. One of the stereotyped plates was taken off and a new one, containing the new matter, substituted.

From that time on until dawn this boy was the editor-in-chief of the paper, and got out three editions. He did not know whether his act would meet with the approval of his superiors or not, but he was doing what he felt ought to be done; and, in fact, he had saved the paper from being beaten by its rivals.

When he came down to the office a few hours later, a little anxious, he found himself in high favor. His act was chronicled on the office bulletin-board, and he was commended for his thoughtfulness and enterprise. The editor-in-chief further told the boy that his salary had been raised, and that a place was open to him on the staff of reporters.

One of William Black's Yarns.

Stories which illustrate the Scotch habit of thrift are constantly coming to light. There was one which greatly amused the late William Black, and which his biographer, Sir Wemyss Reid, says he was fond of relating. It is a story within a story, and although one part of it is old the rest is not.

Somebody was telling a Scotchman a tale which he had just been reading of a certain Eastern potentate who, having taken offence at the doings of his grand vizier, had ordered him to be put to death. The victim knew he must die, but he wished to die comfortably. He was aware that his master's chief executioner was very proficient, and could despatch his victims not only with swiftness, but with no appreciable suffering. Accordingly he sent for the executioner, and offered him a large sum of money on condition that he would [illegible]

The executioner promised to do his best, and the grand vizier went to his doom in a frame of pious resignation. Kneeling to receive the fatal blow, he was conscious that the sword of the executioner was whirled about his head, but he felt nothing.

"How is this?" he said. "You undertook for a large sum of money to put me to death instantaneously and without pain, yet you are only playing with me and prolonging my misery. Do your work quickly!"

Thereupon the executioner stepped up to the condemned man and offered him a pinch of snuff. The vizier took the pinch of snuff and sneezed, and forthwith his head tumbled from his shoulders.

This is the story which, according to Mr. Black, was told to a fellow-countryman of his. The Scotchman listened and at the end said:

"Well?"

"Well!" repeated the interlocutor. "What do you mean?"

"I'm waiting for the finish of the story," said the Scot.

"But you've got the finish," said the other. "Don't you see? The executioner was so clever that he cut the fellow's neck in two without letting him feel it."

"Oh, aye. I kent that weel eneugh, but that's not the point. What I want to know is, did the executioner get the money?"

All Ready For Baby,

The young mother thinks, when she has completed the baby garments that are to clothe the little form. But she is not all ready for baby's coming, unless she has done something more for the baby than merely to prepare his clothes. Many a young mother who goes through hours of pain and suffering wonders why it was not possible to prepare in some way for the baby's advent, and to avoid the agony that seemed almost unendurable. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the one medicine for women which prepares them perfectly, both for the burdens and pleasures of maternity. It prevents the morning sickness from which so many women suffer. It strengthens the whole body, so that there is no nervousness nor anxiety. It promotes a healthy appetite and causes refreshing sleep. It gives the mother strength for her trial and makes the baby's advent practically painless. Healthy mothers have healthy children, and it is the general testimony of those who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a preparative for motherhood, that the children were healthier and happier than those born after months of mental misery and physical anguish on the part of the prospective mother.

Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter absolutely without fee or charge. As chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. R. V. Pierce, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has in the past thirty years and over treated and cured more than half a million sick and suffering women. The testimonials of these cured women are on record. A large number of them were cured when doctors had pronounced a cure impossible and after enduring years of useless suffering.

Let no sick women hesitate to take advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer, but write at once and so secure the professional counsel of a specialist in the diseases of women, entirely free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Hoped for Death.

"For the sake of poor suffering women, I feel it my duty to inform you of the great benefit your medicine has given me," writes Mrs. Callie Bowles, of Watts, Iredell Co., N. C. "I was in a most miserable condition when I wrote to you. I had uterine disease so bad I could scarcely walk and suffered such dreadful misery I hoped to be relieved by death. You wrote to me to take your 'Favorite Prescription' and I have taken eleven bottles of it, and two of your 'Pleasant Pellets.' I am entirely well and feel like a new woman. I feel thankful to God and to Dr. Pierce for the blessings I now enjoy. I have a fine big boy, two months old and never got along as well in my life. Can't praise your medicines enough."

Very Thankful.

"I will be very glad to say a few words for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. P. B. Douglas, of Mansonville, Brome Co., Quebec. "During the first four months when I looked forward to becoming a mother I suffered very much from nausea and vomiting and I felt so terrible sick I could scarcely eat or drink anything. I hated all kinds of food. At this time I wrote to Dr. Pierce and he told me to get his 'Favorite Prescription' and a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I got a bottle of each and [illegible] better, and when I had taken hardly three parts of each bottle I felt well and could eat as well as any one, and could do my work without any trouble, (I could not do any thing before). I feel very thankful to Dr. Pierce for his medicine and I tell all who tell me they are sick to get these medicines or write to Dr. Pierce."

FOR A SHORT TIME ONLY

A LIMITED NUMBER OF SHARES IN THE

The Minersville Gold Mining and Milling Company

W be sold at 15 CENTS PER SHARE. PAR VALUE, $1.00.

Full Paid, Non-Assessable and No Personal Liability.

READ THIS! This Company offers one of the safest and best investments, as its property is located in the famous Sumpter District, Baker Co., Oregon, and has for its neighbors such mines as the Bonanza, Red Boy, Eureka, North Pole, Columbia, Golconda and Cracker Oregon, which are producing from $40,000 to $100,000 each per month. This great property for which the undersigned is Fiscal Agent is more promising than many of the big producing mines at the same stage of development.

This Company has three full claims, with two large veins, one sixteen feet and the other twenty-two feet at the surface, showing good gold values and strictly free milling.

The Company owns the property outright, being free from all debt and incumbrance and in order to equip the mine with modern machinery and to continue development work, a limited number of shares will be sold for a short time only at 15 cents per share, as announced above.

Investors who wish to place money in large or small amounts can do no better than investigate this proposition. All information cheerfully furnished and all cheques payable to

THE SMERDESH FIGHT

Insurgents Hoist With Their Own Petard—Corea's Attitude

The Relations Between Japan and Russia —Times' Editorial on Kishineff Affair

Vienna, May 28.—It seems that the Bulgarian insurgents at Smerdesh were hoist with their own petard. They had collected large quantities of ammunition and dynamite, and this was exploded by the shells of the Turkish artillery, the insurgents themselves being blown sky high, together with the fortified building which they held. An official Constantinople telegram says that over 3,000 Bulgarians have been arrested in the vilayets of Uskub, Monastir, Salonica, Adrianople and Constantinople.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA.

Tokio, May 28.—The leader of the Opposition in the Lower House of the Japanese Diet presented to the Government a series of questions re Corea and Manchuria, asserting that the condition of the latter constitutes a violation of Chinese sovereignty and injury to Japanese interests. He declared that the Government had failed to co-operate with Britain in utilizing the alliance, which was intended to secure the integrity of China and Corea. A resolution to present an address to the throne impeaching the Ministry was introduced by the Opposition in the Lower House, but was rejected by 228 votes to 123.

COREA IS INSISTENT.

Tokio, May 28.—Replying to the Russian representative, the Corean Government insists that all acquisitions of lands and buildings by aliens in the interior in connection with mining or railway concessions, as hitherto, must be prefaced by official sanction, whereas the Russian purchases at Yongampho are wholly unsanctioned.

THE JEWISH DEPUTATION.

St. Petersburg, May 29.—Minister of the Interior Plehve received on Sunday a deputation of Jews who had journeyed from Kishineff in order to place their case before the central authorities. I understand that the delegates were much impressed with the Minister's display of amiability, and the attention with which he listened to their complaints and requests. The greater part of what passed is naturally regarded as confidential, and has not yet been divulged. It has leaked out, however, that the delegates urged upon M. Plehve the necessity of showing in some unmistakable way his disapproval of the recent outrages and the anti-Semitic agitation generally. They strongly objected to the tone of the communique published in the official Messenger, which, contrary to all the facts, attempted to make the Jews responsible for the occurrences.

M. Plehve said it was impossible for him, as they must understand, to publish a new communique, which would even seem to disavow what he had already written, but he had other ways of making clear to the public the sympathy the Government felt for the Kishineff sufferers. He reminded the deputation that he had dismissed the Governor of Bessarabia, Chief of Police Moren, and that they could scarcely desire more in that direction. The delegates objected that there were among the local officials men whose guilt was even greater than the Governor's. [illegible] way towards a complete change of personnel at Kishineff. They strongly urged that a curb be placed on the anti-Semitic agitation by a section of the press, and mentioned The Znamya and The Bessarabyets as the chief sinners. In this regard the Minister showed his willingness to meet their views, and promised to take immediate action. That the deputation was not without effect was proved by an announcement in the official Messenger forbidding the sale of The Znayma, the most violent anti-Semitic paper in St. Petersburg, except to regular subscribers.

Poultry and Bee Notes.

Spring dwindling is the result of bad winter management.

Hives should not be shifted on the stands, as this confuses the bees and leads to trouble.

Stump pullers are too cheap to permit negligence in pulling out the stumps.

Fowls appreciate a change of feed and should not be kept to an invariable diet. Give as great a variety as possible.

Keep the brood as near the center of the hive as possible. With modern hives the bee-keeper has perfect control of such things.

Laying hens require more food than those that do not lay. Remember this and feed more of the kind of feed that makes eggs.

It takes from seven to fifteen pounds of honey to make a pound of comb. This shows why the best bee-keepers use foundation.

Luck has nothing to do with poultry keeping. Good honest attention to business is what counts in the fall. The lazy man is unlucky.

The lazier a fowl is the coarser the meat, as a rule. This explains why the smaler fowls are the best to eat. A big fowl always has coarser flesh than a small one.—Ex.

Good Turkey Stock.

The common black turkey is as good a general-purpose turkey as any, with the possible exception of a cross of American black with the mammoth bronze. Do not attempt to raise the cross of the wild turkey with the domestic, for it will only result in a half-wild bird which can never be kept within proper bounds. Large fields for feeding by day and well-ventilated houses near the fields for roosting by night are necessary to make turkey-raising profitable. It is essential that the house for the turkeys be near the field where they feed with no trees between, or the chances are they will roost in the trees nine nights out of ten. In the winter house warmly and feed out of doors, scattering the grain thinly over the ground, to make the turkeys take the necessary amount of exercise.

Men who marry school teachers should be pretty sure that they themselves are well grounded in grammar.

Was George Eliot Immoral?

One of the most interesting passages in Sir Leslie Stephen's book on George Eliot is that in which he attempts to interpret the motives that led George Eliot to unite her life with that of George Henry Lewes. He says: "Lewes had married in 1840. He was at this time living in the same house with Thornton Hunt, who had edited the "Leader" in co-operation with him. Mrs. Lewes preferred Thornton Hunt to her husband, to whom she had already borne children. Though Lewes's views of the marriage tie were anything but strict, this had led some two years previously to a break-up of his family. A legal divorce was impossible; but George Eliot held that the circumstances justified her in forming a union with Lewes, which she considered as equivalent to a legitimate marriage. . . . It may be a pretty problem for casuists whether the breach of an assumed moral law is aggravated or extenuated by the offender's honest conviction that the law is not moral at all. George Eliot, at any rate, emphatically took that position. She had long protested against the absolute indissolubility of marriage. She thought, we are told, that the system worked badly, because wives were less anxious to please their husbands when their position was 'invulnerable.' She held, with Milton, that so close a tie between persons not united in soul was intolerable. . . . Writing a few months after the union, she says she cannot understand how any unworldly, unsuperstitious person, who is sufficiently 'acquainted with the realities of life,' can pronounce her relation to Lewes 'immoral.' Nothing in her life, she declares, has been more 'profoundly serious,' which means, it seems, that she does not approve of 'light and easily broken ties.' No one can deny that the relation to Lewes was 'serious' enough in her sense. It lasted through their common lives, and their devotion to each other was unlimited and appears only to have strengthened with time."

A GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, desiring, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

The Error of a Great Corporation

New York, May 29—Right on top of a failure or partial failure of Morgan's ingeniously contrived steel conversion plan and the somewhat chilly reception of the International Mercantile Marine, the great Penna. railway corporation endeavored to float on their own account, in a somewhat disturbed market, some ninety million dollars additional Penna. stock, even without the assistance of the banking interest. At the same time they breathed defiance to other powerful Wall Street interests, the latest development of the fight being the destruction of the telegraphic property along the lines of the great railroad. This brought on not only uneasiness of the financial interests, but the bitter antagonism and retaliation of the other financial powers. The Penna. speedily saw its error, and rapidly retraced its steps. It secured the assistance of the bank, thereby assuring the success of its financial projects, and it is more than likely that an amicable understanding has been reached with the Gould party. On these facts stocks should be bought immediately. Had the Penna. not been so drastic in handling the telegraph episode at the same time they were soliciting additional funds from the public, but, instead had declared an extra dividend of one per cent. upon their then outstanding stock, they would have saved the difference between $2,500,000, which the underwriting one per cent. would have amounted to, and also financed the scheme independent of any outside assistance. These errors of judgment are being remedied and the impairment to price resultant to these acts will undoubtedly be rectified. Wall Street turns quickly. We anticipate considerable improvement in the near future.

Summary.—Despite a buoyant opening the market for the day lacked character, becoming dull and weak. Copper made a poor showing and probably served to keep the list from taking on a better tone. As many issues appear to be greatly oversold, and as liquidation appears to be over we think the speculative world with two days absence from the tape will meditate over prevailing conditions and conclude that this price level is unwarranted. We look for a more optimistic feeling during the coming week and before that a restoration of values will be brought about. Money closed 2 per cent. Sales 620,500.

"What did you say, dear?" she asked.

"I say it makes me ill to read such things," replied Mr. Tellit, making angry jabs at the paper with one finger. "Such things as are printed here."

All Mrs. Tellit could see was a large picture representing "Honorable Somebody-or-other" and some black-face type announcing, "Says he was cured in one month after ten years' lingering illness."

"Don't read them, then," she advised. "Miss Murray, the psychological teacher, says that much of our bodily discomfort is caused by auto-suggestion, and——"

"There's a whole lot of it caused by automobiles, for that matter," interrupted Mr. Tellit, "but that isn't the kind of illness I mean. I mean such things as this."

And he waved the page before her eyes, pointing feverishly at a brief article which stated that a successful foreign musician—a man—had been mobbed by an audience of young women.

"Wrought upon psycho——! I'd show 'em how to be wrought upon! And all the way to the theater Mr. Tellit kept muttering to himself, with an occasional "huh!" that made his wife snicker in a most un-Delsarte manner.—W. D. Nesbit in "Judge."

A High-Priced Dinner.

The Paris newspapers have lately printed the account of a strange lawsuit which the "Green Bag" of Boston translates for its readers. The complainant in the case testified that he was dining on the terrace in front of a restaurant, enjoying the air as well as the food. He had just begun to eat his soup, which he found too hot for his palate. While waiting for the soup to cool, he took from his pocket a roll of bills which he had received in payment of a bill.

In counting the money he accidentally dropped a hundred franc bank-note into his soup. He took it out of his plate with a fork, and sent the soup away. The bank-note was saturated with the greasy liquid, and he laid it down on the tablecloth to dry.

He was partaking of the second course, when a sudden gust of wind blew the note off the table. He ran after it, but a dog, which, although it wore a collar, and therefore in all probability had a home, yet showed every sign of hunger, seized it. The taste of the soup on the paper made it palatable, and the dog swallowed the note in an instant.

The complainant used all his persuasive power in an effort to get the dog to come near him. "Good doggy! Come here!" he coaxed.

The animal, pleased with the taste of the soup, was finally toled near enough for the complainant to read the name engraved on the collar. When he had made a note of the name and address of the owner of the dog, he dismissed him with a Scotch blessing.

Then he sought his lawyer, and brought suit against the owner of the dog for the restitution of the hundred francs.

The court decided that the owner of the dog must pay, holding that since the dog was property, the owner must be held responsible for any act committed by the animal.

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU CAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., May 14th, 1903.

Eastern, National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

A GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, desiring, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is this time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

And you'd be right there at the desk when the little blue wagon dumped us out before the sergeant, to tell him my real name and address, and advise him to get me a good long sentence, as I was a dangerous man and a menace to society! Huh!"

And all the way to the theater Mr. Tellit kept muttering to himself, with an occasional "huh!" that made his wife snicker in a most un-Delsarte manner.—W. D. Nesbit in "Judge."

A High-Priced Dinner.

The Paris newspapers have lately printed the account of a strange lawsuit which the "Green Bag" of Boston translates for its readers. The complainant in the case testified that he was dining on the terrace in front of a restaurant, enjoying the air as well as the food. He had just begun to eat his soup, which he found too hot for his palate. While waiting for the soup to cool, he took from his pocket a roll of bills which he had received in payment of a bill.

In counting the money he accidentally dropped a hundred-franc bank-note into his soup. He took it out of his plate with a fork, and sent the soup away. The bank-note was saturated with the greasy liquid, and he laid it down on the tablecloth to dry.

He was partaking of the second course, when a sudden gust of wind blew the note off the table. He ran after it, but a dog, which, although it wore a collar, and therefore in all probability had a home, yet showed every sign of hunger, seized it. The taste of the soup on the paper made it palatable, and the dog swallowed the note in an instant.

The complainant used all his persuasive power in an effort to get the dog to come near him. "Good doggy! Come here!" he coaxed.

The animal, pleased with the taste of the soup, was finally toled near enough for the complainant to read the name engraved on the collar. When he had made a note of the name and address of the owner of the dog, he dismissed him with a Scotch blessing.

Then he sought his lawyer, and brought suit against the owner of the dog for the restitution of the hundred francs.

The court decided that the owner of the dog must pay, holding that since the dog was property, the owner must be held responsible for any act committed by the animal.

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU CAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

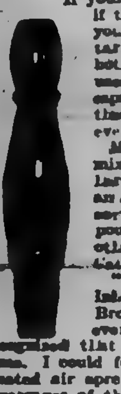
Lung Trouble

Promptly relieved and permanently cured by inhaling Catarrhozone

Mrs. Bay Brown of Tenecape, N.S., was cured by Catarrhozone of lung trouble and catarrh after hundreds of other remedies failed



If your lungs are weak, if there is consumption in your family; if Colds, Catarrh and Bronchitis bother you, be sure to use Catarrhozone. It is especially adapted for these diseases and cures every t

Mrs. Brown took cough mixtures, but they made her sick. Then she used an atomizer, but, after resorting without benefit to poultices and numerous other remedies, she tried Catarrhozone.

"I used Catarrhozone Inhaler," writes Mrs. Brown, five minutes every hour, and soon recognized that it was going to cure me. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhozone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that no cough, cold or catarrh can exist if Catarrhozone is used."

No treatment is so clean, so pleasant, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone. By means of the Inhaler the local symptoms such as coughing, inflammation and congestion are speedily corrected. Ferrozone tablets which are taken after each meal purify and cleanse the blood of all poisons and build up and strengthen the system.

This local and constitutional treatment is always effective, and cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. Money can't buy or produce anything better, and to get cured it is absolutely necessary to use Catarrhozone.

BETTER BUOYS WANTED

Steamboat Men Complain of the Buoys in Rice Lake Waters

Complaints have reached The Times office regarding the condition of the buoys in the Otonabee River and Trent River, above Hastings. In many cases these buoys have been dragged from their original position by the ice. Then, it is said that they are completely covered with water at certain seasons of the year. It is further alleged that the buoys are not painted, and cannot be seen on a dark night.

We would call the attention of Superintending Engineer Rogers to this matter.

We congratulate the shareholders of the Dominion Bank on the result of the year's operations as set forth in the financial statement presented in another column. The profits for the year ending April 30, 1903, after making provision for bad and doubtful debts, amounted to $445,567.09, from which quarterly dividends at the rate of ten per cent per annum were paid the stockholders, amounting to $277,457.02. After writing $20,120.44 off bank premises, the sum of $483,865.24 was transferred to Reserve Fund, and the balance, $353,355.18 carried to Profit and Loss.

By-laws were passed changing the date of the annual meeting to the last Wednesday in January, and authorising an increase in capital stock to the extent of $1,000,000.

A SERIOUS CHARGE

Two Men to Face a Charge of Fighting on a Steamboat

Yesterday Captain Anson Cartwright, of the steamer Water Lily, laid an information before County Police Magistrate Edmison against Joseph Sullivan and George Wheeler, for disorderly conduct on board the steamer Water Lily on Monday last, May 25th.

It appears that Sullivan, who got on board at Jubilee Point, was the worse of liquor, and soon began fighting with Wheeler. The captain, who was in the wheel-house, ran down into the cabin below, and tried to separate the combatants. In the meantime the greatest excitement prevailed, one lady fainting. Sullivan defied the captain, who landed the steamer and ordered the men ashore.

The penalty for an act of this kind is very heavy, and the magistrate will probably make an example of this case when it comes before him.

A VERY PECULIAR LAKE

One of the Most Beautiful of Our Inland Lakes

Sandy Lake is situated near Ball Lake, a few miles from Buckhorn. It is beautifully imbedded in a forest with a fringe of evergreens all around it. The water has a bright greenish tint, and is so clear that the pure white marl bottom is discernible at a great depth. On account of the lake being so sheltered the water is perfectly placid and throws some very pretty shadows. Those who are familiar with Ruskin's "Cloud Shadows" will need only a glance at this lovely lake to have all his words endorsed. It has a small outlet, but no visible inlet, from which it is manifest there must be a subterranean supply. The beach is over one hundred feet wide, and is entirely composed of hard, white marl and sand. For bathing, fishing, scenery, etc., the lake is unexcelled.

On one occasion a representative of The Times spent a few hours fishing at Sandy Lake, driving from Buckhorn, a distance of about four miles. We caught a couple of dozen white bass ranging from four pounds downwards. These fish are of splendid flavor, having no equal.

—Views of the Lift Lock, Court House, all the Churches, Parks and places of interest, handsomely mounted, and the words "Souvenir of Peterborough" inserted on each. Now on sale at Times Bookstore.

FROM BABY'S GRAVE

A Pathetic Scene Witnessed in the Little Lake Cemetery

The following story was handed to The Times for publication:

One Sunday recently two boys were strolling through the Little Lake cemetery which, this day, in early spring, was every where decorated with flowers.

In their walk the two lads came across a small grave that had no flowers upon it.

The younger one, aged about 7 years, stopped and looked at the grave. Then, turning about to see if anyone might be looking and thinking the coast all clear, he crept over to a nearby grave that was covered with costly blossoms and selected several bouquets. Secreting the flowers beneath his coat, he crept back to the neglected little mound and gently and lovingly bestowed the blossoms upon the tiny grave.

Then the two boys walked away, saying no word to each other until they were in the street outside the cemetery.

Then one said to the other: "That wasn't stealing, was it?"

"Course it wasn't," responded the other. "Don't you think that little baby had just as much right to a flower as some of those grown folks?"

Aye, why not?

Somebody had forgotten baby's grave, but that was no reason why its little tomb should not have some blossoms. There was no reason why the tender feelings of a boy should be hurt. In the sweet heart of the little lad was a reproach that could be removed by taking a few flowers that would not be missed from the "grown folks'" graves.

Of course it wasn't stealing. It makes no difference what the law books say. It was not stealing.

Or, if you must stick to your musty statute books and the letter of the law, let us say:

If it was stealing the act was like that of Uncle Toby when he let slip his oath—the recording angel dropped a tear upon it and blotted it out forever.

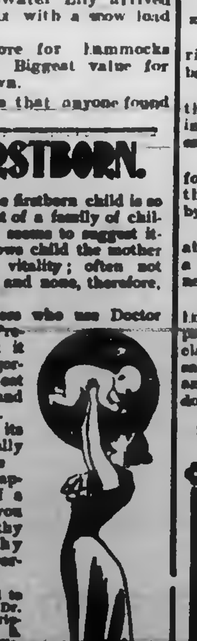
THE FIRSTBORN.

Why is it that the firstborn child is so often the healthiest of a family of children? The reason seems to suggest itself. As child follows child the mother has less and less vitality; often not enough for herself and none, therefore, for her child.

Expectant mothers who use Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription find that it keeps them in vigorous health. They eat well, sleep well and are not nervous. When baby comes its advent is practically painless, and the mother is made happy by the birth of a healthy child. If you would be a healthy mother of healthy children use "Favorite Prescription."

"I will be very glad to say a few words for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. P. [illegible], of [illegible], Brome Co., Quebec. "During the first four months, when I looked forward to becoming a mother, I suffered very much from nausea and vomiting, and I felt so terribly sick I could scarcely eat or drink anything. I hated all kinds of food. At this time I wrote to Dr. Pierce, and he told me to get his 'Favorite Prescription' and a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I got a bottle of each, and when I had taken them a few days, I felt much better, and when I had taken hardly three parts of each bottle I felt well and could eat as well as any one, and could do my work without any trouble (I could not do anything before). I feel very thankful to Dr. Pierce for his medicine, and I tell all who tell me they are sick, to get these medicines, or write to Dr. Pierce."



Those who suffer from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

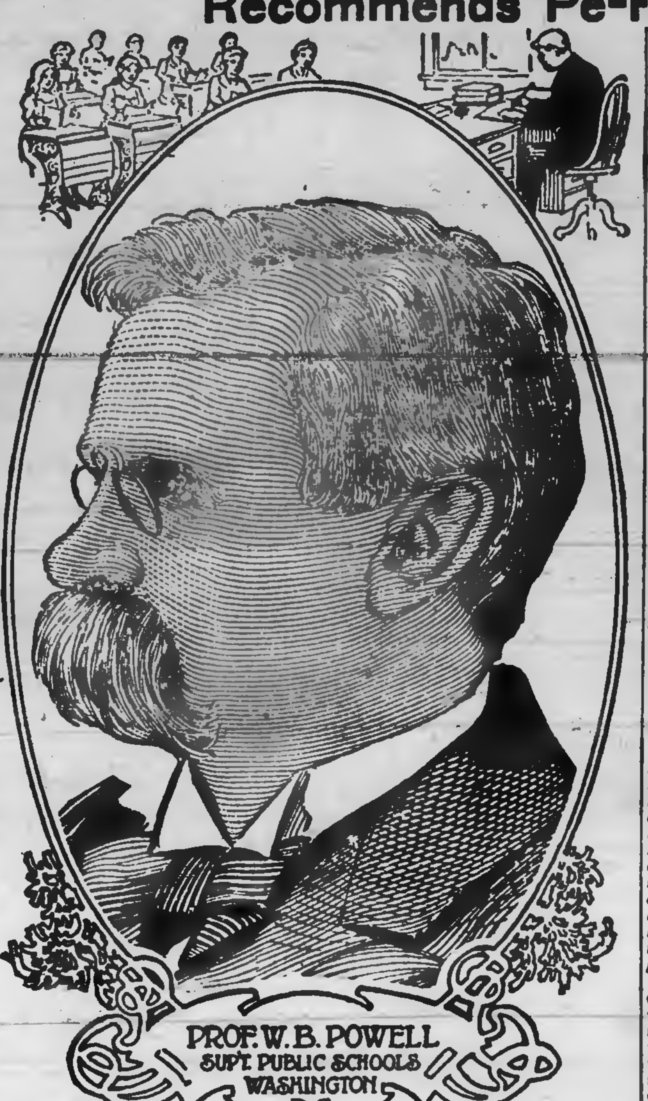
SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS FOR FIFTEEN YEARS.

Professor Powell, of Washington, D. C., Recommends Pe-ru-na.



Prof. W. B. Powell, of Washington, D. C., is one of the best known educators in the country. For fifteen years he has been Superintendent of the Public Schools of Washington, which is considered the best school system in the United States. Professor Powell is the author of a number of school books which are used throughout the United States.

This well known gentleman does not hesitate to recommend Peruna to his countless friends and acquaintances all over the United States. In a recent letter from 1410 N street, N. W., Washington, D. C., to Dr. Hartman, he says:

"Persuaded by a friend I have used Peruna as a tonic, and I take pleasure in recommending your remedy. Peruna is indeed a good medicine and should be in every household."—W. B. POWELL.

SUCH straightforward evidence cannot be overlooked. What the common people say carries weight, but when a man of national prominence says "Peruna should be used in every household," it is a significant fact to the increasing prominence and undoubted efficacy of Peruna.

Peruna is of national fame as a catarrh remedy. It is the only internal systemic catarrh remedy known to the medical profession. It makes diseased mucous membrance healthy, whether it is the mucous membrane lining the nose, throat, lungs, stomach, kidneys or pelvic organs. It cures various diseases of all these organs, because two-thirds of the ills of mankind are due to catarrh. With healthy mucous membrance climatic diseases lose their terror, the system is enabled to throw off contagion, and health follows inevitably.

Mr. A. T. Wood, Mt. Sterling, Ky., writes:

"For many years I have been a sufferer from catarrh, and have spent time and money with physicians and used many kinds of remedies which were 'guaranteed sure cures', but in every case it was money thrown away.

"I reaped no benefit whatever from them. In my seemingly vain search for relief I purchased a bottle of Peruna, having no confidence in it whatever at the time. This was about one year ago, and I began to improve and was able to attend to my business without being constantly hampered by every kind of pain known to a human being. My hearing, which was almost entirely gone in one ear, got very much better. The medicine not only seems to cure, but to prevent disease.

"This winter when every one was suffering from la grippe, I stood like a stone wall, absolutely proof against it. I am not a believer in 'patent medicines,' having found the majority of them fakes, but I do not hesitate to recommend Peruna as the best medicine for catarrh the world has ever seen. I keep a bottle of it at home constantly and shall continue to do so, because I believe it to be the best medicine on earth. I never leave home that I don't put a bottle of it in my grip." A. T. WOOD.

Mr. Evan D. Bowen, Dodge City, Kan., Conductor on the A. T. & S. F. R. R., writes: "I have had catarrh of the stomach for seven years, and I began to think that I never was going to be cured. At the time I began taking Peruna, I was unable to make more than one or two trips on the road at a time, not being able to keep anything on my stomach. I then weighed 168 pounds. I have been taking Peruna since that time and have never lost a trip, and now weigh 200 pounds."—Evan D Bowen.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

NO CLUE AS TO SLAYER OF GLORY WHALEN--TORONTO MAN ARRESTED

Theories as Plentiful as They are Reckless

Handkerchief Stained and Marked as Though Used to Clean Revolver

Collingwood, May 31—Theory upon theory in the murder of Glory Whalen has been set up, to be torn down as soon as investigated. Inclination and reason seem at variance here, for theory is one thing and facts are another, and warrants are backed upon facts. The authorities have determined on a general roundup extending from Dan to Beersheba and back again. Already the roundup is commencing. From Beeton comes word of one arrest, from Duntroon the wire told of a prisoner, since released, and from Thornbury a third suspect is reported as having been gathered in. Coroner Stephen repeats over and over that the case is too deep for him, and Dr. Stephen is 84 years of age, and has investigated many murders. He says the case is too much to even have a real opinion on. The lack of motive puzzles him. Dr. Stephen inclines however to the theory that the handkerchief was placed on the head of the dead girl by hands which were oiled and greasy. Dr. McFall has taken the hankerchief and with the microscope will determine whether it is dirt or powder grime on it. This will settle the question whether Glory Whalen was blindfolded or gagged and then shot, or whether the handkerchief was placed upon the head to hide the wound after the shooting took place.

The Beeton Arrest.

Late last night word spread through the town that Glory Whalen had been outraged, and that the information was suppressed. This was investigated. It was only a rumor. Information received by Chief Wilde led to the arrest of the Beeton prospect. It is understood that yesterday afternoon a person of somewhat eccentric appearance arrived in Beeton and began to discuss excitedly the Whalen murder. He, it is said, declared himself as just from Collingwood. When the Star arrived this eccentric individual is said to have read the report of the finding of the body of Glory Whalen. Then, it is alleged, he said: "That account is not correct. The murder took place in this way: The body was found in such a position." So they have detained him for his talk. This marks the first arrest and it is not looked upon as an important one.

The absence of a motive makes the murder of Glory Whalen rank among the most mysterious crimes in Can[illegible] with his Monsieur Lecoq would be strained to put forward a reason for the murder of this girl. Sherlock Holmes would himself be badly puzzled, and so it is not to be wondered at that, like the man lost in the woods, the authorities go round and round only to come back to the same place again—the place in the woods.

Who would not bare the head, who would not pause a moment, to let the little cortege by in quiet? and so this morning, early though it was, Collingwood came out in numbers to see Glory Whalen's body rested in St. Mary's cemetery. There were many flowers, but from no hands came tributes more full of meaning than from "her playmates and friends at school," and today the body rests in a grave that looks down upon the scene of the murder. Father O'Leary officiated and amid the rites of the Roman Catholic church the final act in the tragedy was consummated.

Toronto Man Arrested.

The news spread in Collingwood. Rumor is seldom right, and so the news spread that the murderer was caught. It is a curious crowd and an anxious one. The officers stop in front of the little red brick jail—a large dog-house; that would suit it better. Out get the two. Then come Provincial Detective Greer and Chief Wilde. The crowd outside grows. Across the way is the town band, giving the weekly concert, but a murder is a rarer event than a band concert, and a murderer is a fine sight for the morbid. There are hundreds about the door. It is an interested crowd, but not an angry one. Soon the jail doors swing open and out comes Joseph, a free man. He has explained his whereabouts since Wednesday morning, and the law is satisfied. The crowd disperses quietly. The Assyrian peddler goes to his friends. The first arrest has ended in failure.

The Assyrian arrested was the one who was a visitor at the Kendall residence on Wednesday noon.

Policeman Best's Story.

Now that the Assyrian suspect has been rounded up and released, the police are turning their eyes closer to Collingwood. Today policeman Best gave a correspondent his account of the story, and exhibited the handkerchief and sock which it is hoped will form an important part in the evidence that is being collected. "This sock," said the policeman, "was found by myself. It was rolled up this way. He took the sock and rolled it up in the shape of a gag.

The handkerchief was then for the first time brought out. It reveals itself in a new light. It is saturated with blood, and if washed might show a mark or initial. It certainly possesses a hole which at first glance resembles one which a bullet would produce. It has marks, and these marks produce a theory which if true adds to the mysteriousness of the crime. The marks on the handkerchief are exactly the marks which would be produced if a person used the handkerchief to clean the barrel of the revolver after firing a shot. If the barrel was cleaned a week or a day after that shot these marks would not be left, but, cleaned immediately, they would appear exactly as they do now upon the handkerchief. The imprint of the inside of the barrel is plainly seen on the handkerchief. Further, if the revolver barrel was cleaned as described, something would be needed to push the handkerchief in the muzzle, and this would easily be forthcoming, for a twig would do the job. A twig would also make a hole in the handkerchief to correspond with the jagged hole it [illegible] the revolver is easily apparent, for a dirty revolver recently discharged and the corresponding ball in the head of the girl, would be prima facie evidence. Then this would point out that the girl was first stunned by a blow from the butt of the revolver; then the assassin cut the club and laid it there as indicating that a blow had rendered her unconscious. The club laid there would be a blind, for it would point to death by this means. However, Gloria, perhaps showed signs of recovery to consciousness, the murderer, then fearing for the future, shot her, cleaned the revolver, tied the handkerchief over the wound, arranged the body, the umbrella and the schoolbag beside it, and hurried away. The sock might have been dropped in the woods a month ago.

This is the latest theory, and it appears as reasonable as any, and more reasonable than most theories yet advanced. If this theory is a true one, Glory Whalen was shot by some one, who knew her well, and who was afraid that when she recovered from that blow she might reveal his identity and send him to the penitentiary. The cutting of the club would then be an afterthought as shown. Glory Whalen then, was shot not without motive, and that motive was self-preservation.

What was the handkerchief tied on for? asks the incredulous. The work of an acquaintance who, regretting the deed, endeavored to assuage the end of a dying girl, for the doctors say, Glory Whalen might have lived an hour after the shot was fired.

The Muderers' Ruse.

What was the sock doing in the woods so near the murder? It was a sock freshly laundered, and was just such a sock as a peddler would sell, or as any man on the farm would wear. And it is because of this that the sock was placed there. There are Assyrian peddlers in Collingwood—a colony of them. The very day of the murder two passed along the track. This was just a few hours afterwards, and as they passed by the scene of the murder they called in at houses all along the line. They had socks and handkerchiefs. Here was an idea for the murderers, who according to the latest developments knew Glory and lived near, or in, Collingwood. He saw the Assyrians and their pack as they plodded on. Then he got a sock and placed it in the woods near the scene of the crime. This, with the club, laid there also for a blind, would place the blame on peddlers. And so it did, and peddlers were suspected, and one was arrested, only to be as quickly released.

KENDALL TO EXPLAIN

The latest despatch from Collingwood received by The Times late last night states that young Kendall will be called upon to give a more complete explanation of his movements on the day of the murder.

Foreign Labor Agitators Receive a Hard Blow

Montreal, May 30—The question of foreign labor agitators coming into Canada and stirring up trouble between employes and employer came before an adjourned special meeting of the Board of Trade yesterday, the President, Mr. Arthur J. Hodgson, in the chair.

On motion of Mr. Henry Miles, seconded by Mr. Charles Chaput, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"That this Board entertains the opinion that grave danger exists to many important Canadian interests in the current interference in Canada of foreign international trades unions;

"That the advent of foreign labor agitators accentuates Canadian labor troubles, to the disadvantage alike of capital and labor:

"Therefore, be it resolved that the amendment to the Criminal Code, presented in the Senate by [illegible] Mr. Loutgeed meets with the approval of this Board, which earnestly hopes the Parliament of Canada, will, at its present session, adopt legislation which will accomplish the objects sought in the said amendment to the Criminal Code."

The Croatian Members Issue a Strong Manifesto in Their Own Defence

A BATCH OF NEWS FROM THE OLD WORLD

Say Their National Rights Have Been Violated — St. Petersburg Celebration --- Attacked by Strikers

Madrid, May 31 —A report from Ceuta says the Sultan of Morocco's brother, Mulai Mohammed, is dead. He was poisoned, according to the despatch.

Croatia's Protest.

Vienna, May 29, —The Croatian members of the Reichsrath and the members of the Croatian Diet have [illegible]uting the popular excitement at Croatia to what they describe as the sad condition of affairs in that province, the national rights of which they declare have been violated.

St. Petersburg Celebrates.

St. Petersburg, May 29—The celebrations of the bi-centenary of the founding of St. Petersburg were inaugurated auspiciously today with salutes and a procession of the image of the Saviour and Peter the Great's boat, "the grandfather of the Russian navy," from Peter's house in the fortress of Saints Peter and Paul to the Cathedral of St. Isaac, which was reached amidst the pealing of many bells and the chanting of hymns. At the cathedral a great assemblage of dignitaries, diplomats and representative bodies awaited the arrival of the Czar and Czarina.

Attacked by Strikers.

New York, May 31—About 400 Italians, who were formerly employed [illegible] strike, gathered in Harlem to-day and made a descent on the non-union negro laborers who were at work on the tunnel at 161st street, and Morris avenue. The Italians were armed with picks, shovels, clubs and pieces of lead pipe. The police advanced on the Italians and rained blows right and left. The rioters made a brief show of resistance and then fled in all directions. A majority of the gang gathered again, however, and went north to 171st street, near Claremont Park, and attacked the men engaged in work on the concourse. Police scattered the crowd and made several arrests.

WITH THE EXPLORERS OF ANTARCTIC SEAS

Letter from One of the Discovery Crew Tells of Effort to Reach the Pole

New York, May 31—The progress of the Discovery Antarctic expedition is reaching South Pole latitudes by degrees. The following extracts from a letter written by Able Seaman E. Joyce, and dated "SS. Discovery, Winter Quarters, McMurdo Bay, February 28, 1903; Lat. 77.49 S.," adds some homely details to the information recently telegraphed from Port Lyttleton, New Zealand.

"We have been living on seal all the time except Sundays, when we had mutton, which the new Zealand farmers presented to us before we left, it as a luxury. But it ran out three months before the relief ship morning arrived and gave us another supply. I would give a good pay day for a nice feed of good old English roast beef and vegetables. I reckon if they turned the ship's company out in a field with plenty of grass there would not be much left.

"A party under Lieutenant Royds searched for Emperor penguins' eggs, and after a couple of days found one which got accidentally left behind, for the birds carry them in a sort of pouch like the kangaroo. This, I believe, was the only one ever found."

Telling the story of Captain Scott's dash for the south, which took him into 82.17 S., or 207 geographical miles nearer the Pole than anybody before Joyce writes: "Captain Scott said, 'Lads, I will take you to beat all records.' The next day we found we were in lat. 78.55 south, so hoisted Union Jacks, and the party were photographed.

"On the way back Lieutenant Shackleton, through running, broke a blood-vessell and was very bad. He could not do anything, so Captain Scott and Dr. Wilson had to haul about 270 lb. to a man. They had to throw away things to lighten the load. Seventeen days from the ship my poor old dog gave way, the last of the pack, so Dr. Wilson took out two of his teeth and brought them back to me. So you see they thought of us in their trouble.

"There is one thing: we are British, and have got a splendid leader in Captain Scott; could not have had a better man; a thorough gentlemen every inch of him. Every man on board would go anywhere with him.

"You do not feel the cold very much without the wind. Then, with the wind, look out. First your nose, then ears, then fingers go. We never go out alone on account of the heavy blizzards. Your companion will turn around and say, 'Your nose is gone.' It turns as white as this paper. You turn away from the wind and pull off your mittens to bring your nose around. By that time your fingers are gone. So it's no pleasure going out in a slight breeze.

25,000 PEOPLE RENDERED HOMELESS, WHOLE FAMILIES CLING TO THE ROOFS OF HOUSES

Kansas Towns Flooded, Many Lives Lost, Many Canadians Said to Have Suffered from the Almost Unprecedented Floods

FAMILIES ROOST ON ROOFS OF BUILDINGS ALL NIGHT

Shooting Revolvers and Shouting to Attract Attention, A Pontoon Bridge of Telephone Poles and Lumber Being Constructed

Kansas City, Mo., May 30—Fourteen lives, it is estimated, have been lost fully twenty thousand persons rendered homeless, and financial losses, including damage to houses and stock wasted away, and railway tracks and bridges rendered useless that will mount high into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, are the results of the almost unprecedented floods now raging in Oklahama, Indian Territory, Kansas and Missouri Nebraska and Iowa.

Lives are reported lost at the following points: Topeka 8; Des Moines 4, Kansas City 1, Oklahama City 1.

The homeless are estimated as follows: Topeka 700, various interior Kansas points 3500, Kansas City, Kas., and vicinity 600, Des Moines 6000 and Nebraska points 1000.

Thousands of persons, particularly in Topeka, and throughout Kansas, spent last night on housetops; hundreds at Des Moines are without food or shelter, and great suffering is being experienced all through the flooded district.

Railroad service, particularly west and southwest from Kansas City, is demoralized, dozens of bridges, reaching as far west as Manhattan, Kas., have been washed out, and many miles of track are under water.

Rain is falling at many points in the southwest and the Weather Bureau predicts that the disastrous flood records of 1881 will be exceeded, and that the worst is yet to come.

Topeka, Kansas, May 30.— North Topeka, with its 7000 inhabitants, is an island and can be reached by boat alone. Houses with the water below the second story windows are the exception in the resident district. Three business houses collapsed early today but no one was hurt. Gas, water and electric lights are shut off, while down Kansas avenue, the main street, water is pouring in a swift stream. It is impossible to estimate the damage. The river is still rising.

All night long families over the worst flooded portions roosted on the roofs of buildings and in upper stories, shouting revolvers and shouting to attract attention. One baker and four of his workmen, who camped on their roof over all night escaped on planks today. They saw a woman and her two children float away to their death, and the body of an unknown man. All night the citizens of South side labored to rescue the people. A cold rain is falling today, adding to the discomfort of the victims. The houses on the south side are being thrown open and the auditorium and other public buildings are filled with refugees. Boats are being constructed as rapidly as possible.

All of the big wholesale buildings along the river front are flooded. The city street railway and the south approach of the Rock Island bridge went out early today, and the approaches of the Big Helen bridge are weakening.

Wolf's packing plant is flooded and abandoned, as are all the ice plants. The railroads will be heavy losers and their tracks were not only washed away, but the embankments against the river's approaches carried away.

Communication with the north side was almost impossible at noon, owing to the swift current. A pontoon bridge of telegraph poles and lumber was being constructed, by which it hoped to establish communications between the two portions of the city. Battery B and Company A of the National Guards were ordered out today to assist the sufferers and to aid in quieting any disturbance that may arise from the crush of frantic persons who have relations in the flooded district.

Mayor Bergunthal and the chief of police are at the former's home, camped on the roof awaiting rescue. Congressman Charles Curtis escaped with his family in the night.

Henry Jordan, thought to have relatives in Peterboro, was drowned today while trying to rescue a man from a tree and the latter, whose name was unknown was swept away.

The Latest Disaster Comes from Somaliland

England has had hard luck in Africa from Egypt to the Transvaal. What with fanatics who achieve Heaven through a violent death and Fuzzy-Wuzzies who are disinclined to shoot up their blood relations the Mad Mullah has proved a formidable and relentless foe. The latest disaster comes from Somaliland, which the British have for a long time tried to pacify. The Mullah's mission in life is to preach the Gospel according to his lights and to cut up, destroy and annihilate British and Egyption troops sent to remonstrate with him. On April 18 he caught Major Plunkett with a command of two hundred Sicks and African rifles at Gumburru, which is somewhere in the centre of Somaliland. Nine British officers and nearly the entire force of native troops were killed. "Ran out of ammunition and fought with the bayonet until overwhelmed," reads the despatch. Hadji Mohammed Abdullah, the Mad Mullah, only achieved political prominence a few years ago. After a pilgrimmage to Mecca (which may or may not have consisted of a trip to the rifle manufactories) he returned to the desert to revive the religious spirit of the tribesmen and back up his new creed with Martinis and patent ammunition, which he had in great plenty. A bold man and a prophet (who possessed rifles) the fame of the Mad Mullah extended into Abyssinia; the tribes to the number of 80,000 insane men gathered to his standard and in 1899 with an army at his heels he "declared war" on the British invader. Then began the Somaliland campaign.

IRELAND WILL NOT WELCOME KING EDWARD

Maude Gonne Indulges in Some Very Wild Talk

IRELAND IS DISLOYAL

Says the Woman Who Claims to be an Irish Leader

Paris, May 31—"If King Edward goes to Dublin he will ride like a stranger, being hedged with steel, through the silent and sullen streets" said Mrs. MacBride, better known by her maiden name of Maude Gonne, to a correspondent this morning. The "Irish Joan of Arc," who has just returned from a turbulent campaign in Ireland, aimed at preparing a rebuff for the King when His Majesty carries out his plan of visiting Ireland, said further: "I reminded the crowds of Irish patriots of Parnell's declaration in 1885, that no British monarch ought to ever receive a welcome from the Irish until a Home Rule bill had passed. That reminder, however, was unnecessary, for I saw everywhere spontaneous evidence of a determination to show to the world that Irishmen do not regard Edward otherwise than an usurper. When the King comes he will be forced to readjust his ideas of Irish sentiment."

Mrs. MacBride says that the recent row in Dublin was due to the fact that the people distrust the Dublin municipal administration. They are especially suspicious of Tim Harrington, the Lord Mayor, who, though elected on the issue of not presenting an address to the King on the occasion of his visit, shows signs of weakening.

"That is the reason I insisted on asking his intentions, the question which caused the rumpus, although Harrington himself started the row by hurling a chair from the platform into the midst of my supporters."

Mrs. MacBride returns immediately to Dublin to continue the agitation, intending to stay even while the King is present. Parisians in general approve Major MacBride's action in writing to the Dublin papers a spirited letter stating his desire to meet on French soil those parties whose actions at public meetings makes his wifes presence in Dublin unsafe.

KISSED HER 1,236 TIMES

Jury So Decided and Gave Her a Verdict of $3,000

Saratoga, May 31— Miss Frances Petitt will have to wait for the judgment of $3,000 awarded her in her suit against James P. Tittemore, of Galway, N.Y., for breach of promise of marriage. Miss Petitt claimed $5,000. She alleged that the defendant had kissed her just 1,236 times during fourteen years of his courtship. The jury decided that her kisses were worth about $2.42 each, and rendered a verdict for $3,000 accordingly.

Auburns vs. Pullmans

The Auburn baseball nine won their second game of the series in the City Amateur League on Saturday afternoon, the Pullmans being the vanquished nine. This places the Auburn team in second place, they having lost their first game with the Excelsiors, who are at the head of the list having won two and lost none The Pullmans are the tailenders having suffered two defeats without a win.

The game on Saturday for the first three innings was good ball and the work of both teams until the fourth innings gave the spectators the impression that they were going to witness a game full of ginger and clever playing. But in the fourth innings the Pullmans had gone "up in the air" and wild throws were made quite frequently. The score at the conclusion of the match was 14—0 in favor of the Auburn team.

The "woollen mills" bunch played a good snappy game. McCurdy, who was in the box, pitched fine ball and was given good support.

Port Hope defeated the Tecumsehs on Saturday at Port Hope.

Toronto won one game and lost one at Buffalo on Saturday in the Eastern baseball league.

Miller, who scored six bull's eyes in seven shots. This is the statement given the Times representative, and may or may not be strictly authentic. It looks as though these two marksmen run a good chance of being invited to go to England on the Bisley team this year.

THREATENING STRIKERS

Ten Thousand Germans Making Trouble in Russia

Berlin, May 30—The Tageblatt says it learns that serious labor troubles have broken out in the Government of Woronesh, Russia. The paper adds that 10,000 strikers have assembled there, threatening violence, and the Governor has asked for a large military force to disperse them. The strikers are circulating many revolutionary hand bills.

HUGHES AND HUTTON

The Military M. P. From Victoria Has a Parting Shot at His Former Foe

Ottawa, May 31—The last correspondence in the famous Hutton-Hughes controversy has been presented to Parliament. At the end of March, 1900, Col. Sam Hughes was at Uppington, South Africa. He had just heard that the papers in connection with the controversy with the general were to be moved for in Parliament, and the colonel thereupon sat down and indited a letter to Dr. Borden, in which he urged him to see that he (Col. Hughes) got fair play. He declared that General Hutton's action in publishing his private letters was contemptible, and his statement that he (Col. Hughes) had apologized to him was little short of infamous. Col. Hughes remarked that General Hutton's wife's [illegible] were the only merit the fellow possessed.

Proceeding, he says: "The average South African Dutchman took the palm for equivocation, duplicity or slimness—(a Dutch word for general and consistent unreliability) — but to my mind General Hutton can give them all pointers."

Colonel Sam adds some interesting information in the letter, how he was seeking to upbuild the Empire, and on the 30th of March had relieved Uppington with two Canadians, two C.I.V. cyclists, and some native scouts. They traveled 68 miles in 24 hours and drove out one commando, 75 in number, in one body, and several hundreds in another body.

AGAINST THE EMPLOYERS

Unions Refuse to Recognize Right of Owners to Organize

Chicago, May 31—That the latest move of the labor organizations here, is an effort to break up the employers' association, was made known last night at a meeting of the unions of the waiters and freight-handlers, when they put themselves on record as refusing to treat with associations except through the employer as an individual.

GREAT BRITAIN IN PERSIA

Lord Lansdowne's declaration that Great Britain would resist by force the attempt of any European power to establish a naval base in the Gulf of Persia, may be taken as a reply to Russia's action in Manchuria. In 1899 the French received a secret concession for the establishment of a naval base a few miles from Muscat, which lies on the south side of the Gulf of Oman. It was immediately intimated that any such attempt would mean war. Since then Great Britain has bound the Sultan of Oman still closer under her protectorate and minimized the danger of her European rivals gaining a lodgment there. The remainder of the Persian Gulf is under the rule of Persia and the Sultan of Turkey. The Sultan of Turkey's authority is nominal. The real authority around the estuary of the River Tigris is a British gunboat. The most important part of the litoral of the Gulf, however, is that controlled by the Shah of Persia. Here Great Britain is exposed to a danger of an entirely different kind. The road to India for Russia lies through Persia, and if Russia, or an ally of Russia were to obtain a naval base on the Gulf of Persia, not merely could Great Britain's line of communication with by sea be pounced upon and broken, but the problem of defending India in case of war with Russia would be made enormously more difficult. The substance of the matter is that Russia [illegible] the northern frontier of Persia for several years, just as she did upon Turkestan and earlier upon Circassia. She has been gaining in trade and political influence at Teheran, and is now aiming to lay out and control a railway system for Persia. Her trade is promoted by a system of State bounties which England cannot match because bounties are contrary to her policy. On the other hand, Great Britain's facilities for transportation by water are such that she can lay down Manchester cottons in the interior of Persia at less cost than Moscow cottons can be offered and with railway transportation from the Gulf northward could undersell Russian goods in spite of Russian bounties. But, nevertheless, both to maintain the trade of Persia and also to counteract the politics of Russia, commercial development under British auspices must proceed from the south to meet Russian influence coming from the north. This is capable of counteracting not merely Russian aggression from the north, but also German aggression from the West. It forms a definite and intelligible line of policy for Great Britain to pursue much more to the liking of Britons than the foolish idea of assisting Germany to build the Bagdad railway into which the Government so nearly blundered.

THE COUNTY REFUGE

The bill which provides that every county must have its house of refuge, for destitute poor, has passed its second reading and is bound to become law. The reason for this legislation lies in the fact that the jails contain many who are not criminals and whose only defect is that they are old, infirm, and unable to support themselves. It may be agreed that some of them have been improvident and do not deserve very much consideration. This is doubtless true, and yet the helpless poor, including those who have wasted their money, cannot be abandoned to their fate. The jail is not the place for them. The government some time ago undertook to aid in the maintenance of the county refuge and to the extent of a large sum annually. Now it goes further and to avoid the scandals of incarcerating non-offenders in the jails, requires every county to have its home for the indigents who live within it. It remains to be seen what the effect will be of this legislation. If the counties respond, as they are expected to do, the jails will be emptied in some cases, and the poor be made to feel that they are living in a Christian land.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Canada is about to become the chief source of the world's supply of arsenic. The arsenic which for many years baffled the gold miners of Hastings county, Ontario, in their efforts to extract the precious metal from its matrix, has become the more profitable of the two minerals. This strange turn of the wheel of fortune has been caused by the virtual exhaustion of the former chief sources of supply of arsenic in Germany and England, together with the superior quality and purity of the Canadian product.

The Retort Courteous.

George Ade is an expert at badinage, but in Chicago one day a little messenger boy got the better of him.

Having only a few minutes for luncheon, Mr. Ade had gone to a cheap place, and was sitting on a stool before a marble counter when the messenger boy entered, took a place beside the humorist, and ordered a piece of apple pie. As he ate the pie the fact became evident that his hands were dirty.

There was on his plate a piece of cheese—a piece of very yellow, hard cheese, cut with mathematical precision, so that it resembled a cake of soap. Mr. Ade pointed to it and said:

"Here, boy, take that and go wash your hands with it."

The boy answered: "You take it, and go shave yourself."

There was no possible rejoinder, for Mr. Ade's beard was indubitably of two or three days' growth.

"I hope Charlie treats you well, dear?"
"Oh! he treats me well enough, but oh! so seldom."

FERROZONE

Furnishes in a convenient form, a Tonic-Laxative which cures Constipation and a host of other diseases more or less common

The entire length of the intestinal canal can be gently and thoroughly cleansed of all foul decaying matter, by taking Ferrozone after each meal.

Ferrozone helps the kidneys and liver to their work, and by preventing the pores of the skin from being clogged up, it clears and beautifies the complexion. Ferrozone relieves irritation and pressure on the tissues of the brain and nerve centres, and insures a healthy vigorous condition of mind and body.

The great merit of Ferrozone is that it instantly relieves constipation, and permanently cures it without interference with business or pleasure, and never causes inconvenience or distress. It keeps all the bodily functions regular, and is the only medicine for constipation that acts gently, acts quickly, acts surely, without grip or grippe.

Ferrozone will keep the entire family in perfect health. It regulates the bowels, cures headache and stomach troubles, and effectually cleanses the blood from all impurities. It builds up muscle and sinew, strengthens debilitated constitutions, and permanently remedies all manner of skin blemishes.

Ferrozone is especially efficacious in cases of over-work, headache, brain fag, torpid liver, weak memory, and melancholia. It relieves that "tired feeling," and puts elasticity into every movement. Ferrozone gives strength to the regenerative organs, and for the relief of nervous prostration, nervous debility, or decline of mental or physical power, is certainly superior to any curative agent the world has ever seen.

The range of adaptability of Ferrozone is simply wonderful. It is entirely vegetable in composition, and quite free from any possibility of injurious effect, even under long continued use. It is prepared in the form of a chocolate coated tablet, and no uncertainty or mistake as to the proper quantity or dose can ever arise.

Ferrozone is recommended and sold by all druggists, price 50 cts. a box, or three boxes for $1.25. Remember the name and see that the genuine Ferrozone is supplied. Refuse a substitute. Sent safely by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

CANADA'S BIG RIVAL IN GREAT BRITAIN

New Zealand Making a Strong Bid for the Country's Trade

PREMIER SHEDDO'N PLAN

To Bring Gold Into Australia's Coffers and Oust Canada

London, May 31—The scheme of Premier Seddon, of New Zealand, to open a number of retail butcher shops in Great Britain to push the sale of New Zealand meat, causes much criticism. New Zealand now supplies half the British meat imports to the mutton trade which is constantly increasing. Why, then, the critics ask, is state aid necessary? Is New Zealand beef not of sufficiently good quality to command a big sale here? Frozen beef cannot compare with chilled beef, which is not importable from New Zealand, owing to the length of time a voyage requires.

It is noted that a certain proportion of £40,000,000, which New Zealand has borrowed at various times from Great Britain, has been partly subscribed by the butchers who now are now in the unfortunate position that their own money is employed in unfair competition with their own business.

The shares of the British meat companies are falling and in view of the New Zealand proposals the Manchester Meat Retailers' Association has entered a strong, formal protest. On the other hand it is admitted that the English consumer would complacently welcome a situation wherein he has nothing to lose.

Mr. Seddon's scheme has given a fresh impetus to the project of the Canadian produce company. The company's agent now returning from Canada has formed an influential working committee including Hon. Mr. Tarte. The subscription list will probably be opened before the end of June. The promoters hoped to become public purveyors during the autumn. It is proposed to open at least one Canadian depot in every important shipping district in London, namely 100 in all. Fifty more will be opened in provincial towns. The prices of meat will be appreciably less than the ordinary prices now prevalent.

Where Car Conductors are Polite.

Jerome A. Hart, editor of the "Argonaut," in writing to his paper of a visit to the French Riviera, has something to say about the habitual courtesy of street car conductors in France:

"When we reached Nice it was a brilliant morning. The picturesque city was flooded with sunshine, a welcome sight to those who had not seen the sun for weeks. It was so inspiring, after the gloom of the northern cities, that we heeded not the clamoring cabbies, but walked from the station down the fine Avenue de la Gare. Presently we came to the terminus of a tramway which led to the quarter we intended to seek—Cimiez. We entered a car. The conductor at once doffed his cap, saying: 'Bonjour, 'sieur et 'dame.' I thought the man was drunk, and gazed scrutinizingly at him; but there was no smell of liquor on his breath, and he was apparently sober. When he took our fare, he said 'Thank you' as he handed me the change. This convinced me that if not drunk he was mad, and I looked around uneasily that we might effect our escape if this lunatic should grow violent. But nothing happened except that he continued to show this abnormal and alarming courtesy to the other passengers as well as to us. He assisted all the old ladies to mount and to descend from the car; he respectfully murmured to a man 'Will monsieur give himself the trouble to move up a little?' as the car grew crowded; as a young woman waved her sunshade at him at an 'optional stop,' he took off his cap and said pleasantly, 'Very sorry, mademoiselle, but we are complete;' when he went forward he addressed the motorman in such polite terms that I was irresistibly reminded of Captain Reece of the good ship 'Mantelpiece,' who always said 'If you please' to his crew. I reached our point of destination in a dazed condition, and was still further amazed when the conductor took off his cap to us when we got out. His mild address to the young woman when telling her the car was full was a strong contrast to the tough car conductors of Chicago, when they bawl: 'Aw, take de next car!' His gentle request to the passengers to move up was not at all like the L-road ruffians in New York, when they shout to the sheep-like flock of passengers, 'Move up, dere, and step lively now, youse!'"

A Scotch-Speaking Coolie.

The following absolutely true story will appeal to Scotchmen, or, as they prefer to be called, Scotsmen. The Natal Government railways employ for rough labor some thousands of Madras coolies, who are imported for the purpose. These natives are once a week supplied with rations from a store presided over by a European. This official, on the occasion in question, happened to hail from the Land o' Cakes; and, as the coolies filed past, he, to relieve the monotony, frequently made some such remark as "Weel, Sammy, you are getting fat," or "When air ye going awa' hame to India?"

One morning, to mystify the "jungle-walker," as he afterwards explained, he put on his broadest accent and greeted a coolie with: "Weel, ma bra' laddie, ha' air ye the noo?" Without a second's hesitation, and in perfect Gaelic, came back the answer: "Ah, weel, maister, thank ye fa' speerin." To hear this from a coal-black bedraggled native of India so flabbergasted the Scotch official that he almost fell off his chair. On making inquiries the native explained that he had worked for a "Scotch boss" for several years, and had picked up from his master a good deal of the dialect. The Madrasee's heart was that morning gladdened with a double ration of rice.

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL
Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the
ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y
in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects.

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share. This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that. It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

If shares are exhausted when your application is received we will return your money. Make checks payably to the order of the Actonoma Oil and Development Company, P. H. Enright, Secretary and Treasurer, 218 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

of Boulder, Colorado.

TRANSFER OFFICE; BRISTOL, CONN.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

Buried Gold

By FRED WHISHAW.

Author of "A Boyar of the Terrible," etc.

"Well, what is it?" he asked, entering.

"It's the boy, sir, what's frightened me a bit. Is it true the 'Hecuba' chaps is pretty near all killed to-day?"

"That's the trouble I'm afraid of. The fools would have it, and what with our big gun and the rifles it's even betting we've shot most of the covey, maybe the whole lot. It'd be awkward if we was to find there ain't anyone left alive to show us what they've done with the treasure."

"That's just what I wanted to speak about, sir. I could do a deal with you if I liked. It's no secret to me where that there treasure is to be found."

"If I liked, you mean, and I don't know as I do. There's your mate I can go to if I prefer it. You both ought to hang for that Dick Robinson affair; but I should say you're the guiltiest of the two—you seem to take the lead, anyway. However, if I can get at the secret without either of you I'd rather give you both up to justice."

"Don't you build on that, sir. They can't prove anything. I've an alibi to prove my innocence. You do a deal with me and you won't regret it, so'elp me, you won't. I know all that your chaps over there've got to know before they can find the stuff."

"I don't know that you do. Dick Robinson thought he did, and he made a mistake."

"Ah! we changed the place after he went, guessin' he'd bring a party to look for it, just as he did, leastwise sent one. I was there and saw it done. I know to a inch where the stuff is this very minute, and could take you there blindfold."

"Well—what do you propose? There's your mate knows it too, don't you forget that."

"Don't you go to him, sir. He ain't to be trusted. I'll act straight, once I undertake it. Promise you'll land me in Australia with five hundred pounds in my pocket, and I'm your man."

"I can't settle the amount. Mr. Warden 'll have to do that, but you shall be landed safe in Australia with a good sum, I can promise you."

"Well, you row me ashore to-morrow, and I'll show you the spot."

"D'you take me for a fool? It's to be value received or no deal. You might escape or get drowned or shot. You've got to tell me now, this minute."

"It's a risk. How'm I to know you'd play fair if I was to tell you beforehand?"

"All right, if you don't like the terms, leave 'em. There's your mate. He'll agree fast enough. He don't seem particular anxious to be took back to England and tried."

"Well, swear before heaven you'll act square and I'll tell you now."

"Right, I swear before heaven I'll act square, and I swear also that I'll do all I can to get you hanged if I find you've lied."

"I'm not goin' to lie. If they've changed again I'm not to blame."

"Right. That's fair enough."

"Well, there's six boxes full. We broke one and looked in. Rows and rows, if you'd believe me, of richest gold, all in bars, ready for mint. Never was such a sight! We took and hid it first in an open space, a mile from the village, but visible from Lookout Hill, where a man was always goin' to stand, so's in case anyone went and had a dig for the stuff on his own he could be shot comfortable. Then that there Dick Robinson played us all false and got away alone in the dinghy. Well, there was danger of him and others comin' back now folks outside was goin' to know all about the treasure. So we ups with it all again and carries it to a new place, nearer home this time, so's to be under our eyes at all times."

"Well, go on," said Tom Foster.

"Come now, sir. Before I tell you the exact spot, give us your word I shall have that there thousand pounds and a clear slate."

"You take me for a fool, man! If I won't promise you five hundred I ain't likely to make it a thou. Finish your story or I'll go straight to the other man. I'm doin' you a favor, givin' you first chance, don't you forget that."

"I don't know as he'd tell you. He's a determined kind of a silent devil. We all swore solemn we'd never reveal the place to any soul alive. If I'm to sell my soul I ought to have a thou. for it."

"Your soul isn't worth it. As for your mate, he'll jump at the chance, don't you fret. He ain't such a fool as you look. Now then, out with it if you're goin' to, before I count ten, else your chance is lost. One, two——"

"I'm going to tell. I am, so help me! Surely a man may bargain when it's the price of his soul, mayn't he? Come, be a gentleman and say——"

"Three—four—five—" cried Tom Foster.

"Well, then, it was in the very middle of the village. We unshipped the skipper's own bed, dug a pit under it and laid the boxes two deep beneath where it had stood. Then we put the bed back, sacks o' dried ferns, and there the stuff is still, as I hope to be forgiven my sins; and may I be roasted for 'em if what I say isn't the strict truth and nothin' but it, amen—unless they've gone and changed it again, which wouldn't be my fault."

"I told you that was all right. What you say shall be tested, and if you've spoken the truth I'll do what I said, though I'm wrong, maybe, to agree."

"That's a good day's work done," Tom reflected as he went to his own cabin. He had scarcely been able to conceal his delight while in Evans' presence, and had left the store-room, in which the rascal was confined, rather suddenly. The cabin-boy was busy in his cabin.

"You're a nice one, you are," said Foster, "to tell lies. What made you frighten the pore chap?"

"Serves him right," said Tommy, "for threatenin' of me and usin' bad language. I said I'd like to see him kickin' at the yard-arm, and so I would."

"Very likely, but you told him every one of the 'Hecuba' chaps had been killed to-day. What made you tell him that?"

"If they ain't to-day, they will be to-morrow," explained Tommy. "That's all right."

"Now see here, sonny. There's enough of these 'ere chaps left on the island to pay us a visit any night and seize the ship if we don't prevent 'em; there might be a big fight any time. Now, I've got somethin' I want to tell Mr. Adams, and if I was to get killed he might never know it, though it's important. Can you remember a message so certain that if I died you would be sure to tell Mr. Adams my very words?"

"Oh, don't die, sir. Don't you talk o' dyin' and bein' killed," whimpered Tommy. "What'd I do, if they was to come and there was a fight? You don't expect me to fight grown men, do you, sir?"

"Not I. That's just what you're not to do. You're to remain alive and give my message to Keith Adams. Soon as there's an alarm, you go and hide your-

Mr. Chamberlain's Speech Sets Everybody Talking and Speculating

The Policy will Not be Pressed Just Now—Parliament will be Given an Opportunity to Discuss It

London, May 30.—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's protectionist policy is the all-prevailing topic of discussion here. His assertion that he would make reciprocal trade between the Mother Country and her colonies the question of the hour has been sensationally fulfilled. Columns of comment fill the afternoon newspapers and everyone is asking: "Does it mean dissolution?" Some people maintain that the Government contemplates appealing to the country on preferential trade and old age pensions immediately after the close of the present session of Parliament at the beginning of August, while others maintain that the Government has not the slightest intention of giving up its unexpired term of office.

The Telegraph, generally semi-inspired, says: "The issue could not be voted on for at least eighteen months, but, in the meantime, the Government will give the country and Parliament every opportunity to discuss it."

A definite decision will probably be arrived at soon, and it will depend almost entirely on the result of the propaganda now undertaken by the press and the members of the House of Commons. If the indications show that Mr. Chamberlain is likely to have the country at his back a general election at the end of this year is extremely probable.

The Colonial Secretary himself, the Associated Press learns, is doubtful if he could win out just at present, but he is enthusiastically positive that with political agitation the constituencies can be brought to see the wisdom of his policy. Those who have discussed the preferential scheme with its author say he never exhibited such keen interest in any topic.

"For the first time in my life," said a friend of the Colonial Secretary, "I can say Mr. Chamberlain is really excited."

In this crusade the Colonial Secretary is absolutely in harmony with Premier Balfour, and harbors no designs on the Premiership. If a general election occurred to-morrow and Mr. Chamberlain's program was carried, Mr. Balfour would again take the reins of Government. The only practical development likely to occur in the near future is a series of political speeches from the leaders on both sides. The Opposition is almost solidly opposed to a modification of free trade and will endeavor to arouse that public ferment which was associated with the corn tax days. Mr. Chamberlain, Mr. Balfour, and such Unionists as agree with them, will try to extract from the public that degree of support which they may interpret as a popular mandate.

All signs point to a lengthy campaign on the lines of protection versus free trade, which is likely to destroy party lines almost as much as did the Home Rule question. The opponents of the scheme point out that the comparative immunity of the American from taxation precludes his prosperity under protection being applicable to the Britisher, who, as even the Government organs admit, is already so heavily taxed that the initial years of protection with higher priced food, would be a severe strain on him, and possible create bitter dissatisfaction among the poorer classes.

LORD KNOLLYS IS ANGRY

He Indignantly Denies Stories About the King's Health

London, May 30.—Please use these very words: "My indignation is too great to answer such wicked and mischievous lies." This was the answer given by Lord Knollys yesterday to a correspondent's query as to whether there was any truth in the stories that King Edward was not in the best of health, and that His Majesty's physicians had reported another operation was necessary. The King's private secretary spoke heatedly in making his statement. At Epsom yesterday, the King looked a trifle pale, but otherwise was very fit and was deeply interested in the Derby. He watched the face from start to finish through field glasses, standing in his usual position at the rail of the royal verandah, beside the Queen. Lord Knollys was with the King, and made his statement during the race interval. The King is growing very sensitive about reports of his condition, and none of the London journals refer to his health except to state that "it is robust."

Shot in Mistake for Panther

Victoria, B. C., May 30.—Richard Christmas was accidentally shot and killed by W. J. Walker, who mistook him for a panther while the men were out hunting at Parksville at the time. Christmas was shot just above the heart. The men were the best of friends.

A LIMITED NUMBER OF SHARES IN THE
The Minersville Gold Mining and Milling Company
Will be sold at 15 CENTS PER SHARE, PAR VALUE, $1.00.
Full Paid, Non-Assessable and No Personal Liability.

READ THIS! This Company offers one of the safest and best investments, as its property is located in the famous Sumpter District, Baker Co., Oregon, and has for its neighbors such mines as the Bonanza, Red Boy, Eureka North Pole, Columbia, Golconda and Cracker Oregon, which are producing from $40,000 to $100,000 each per month. This great property for which the undersigned is Fiscal Agent is more promising than many of the big producing mines at the same stage of development.

The Company has three full claims, with two large veins, one sixteen feet and the other twenty-two feet at the surface, showing good gold values and strictly free milling.

The Company owns the property outright, being free from all debt and incumbrance and in order to equip the mine with modern machinery and to continue development work, a limited number of shares will be sold for a short time only at 15 cents per share, as announced above.

Investors who wish to place money in large or small amounts can do no better than investigate this proposition. All information cheerfully furnished and all cheques payable to

A

GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock, underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, desiring, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

AN ABSOLUTELY SAFE INVESTMENT

—One that will Increase 200 Per Cent. within a Year.—

The Adams Copper Mining and Refining Co.

Owns Seven Copper Mines, all of which Show Wide Veins of Pay Ore.

One of its mines, the Copper Coin, has just been equipped with buildings and up-to-date machinery.

The company [illegible] own its own properties.

At a recent meeting of the directors, the officers of the company were instructed to sell a small block of the treasury stock for the purpose of fully equipping more of the mines with proper buildings and up-to-date machinery, and in pursuance with the above instructions the officers do now offer TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK AT 12 CENTS PER SHARE, on easy payments, as follows: On all orders for 100 shares to 1,000 shares, $5 cash with order and $5 per month thereafter until fully paid. The management fully expects to make this stock worth par in from 12 to 15 months.

The secretary and treasurer of this company bought Gold Coin stock at 12 cents per share and sold it at $6.50 per share within 24 months.

Another officer of this company bought Calumet & Hecla Copper stock at $1.00 per share and sold it for $825.00 per share. This company paid $70,000,000 in dividends.

Adams Copper Mining and Refining Company's stock will do the same, as they have enormous bodies of ore already in sight.

WHEN TO INVEST

HERE ARE A FEW COPPER FACTS well worth the attention of all would-be investors: $100 invested in 1890 in the Tamarack Copper Company is now worth $782; $100 invested in 1893 in Boston & Montana Copper Company is now worth $1,896; $100 invested in 1896 in the Arnold Copper Company is now worth $1,870; $100 invested in 1893 in the Wolverine Copper Company is now worth $6,600. $100 invested in the Butte & Boston Copper Company is now worth $5,000. $100 invested in 1896 in the Calumet & Hecla Copper Company is now worth $8,650.

More money has in recent years, been made in copper mining than in any other staple enterprise as free from the element of risk. There is nothing misleading in the statement that copper mining as a proposition is better than gold, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The most valuable minin properties in the world are copper properties.

To every purchaser of stock a specimen of ore from the Company's mines will be sent FREE.

Send your order at once before the advance, which will certainly be made in the near future. Ten per cent. discount for cash.

THE FIRST BILLIONAIRE

John D. Rockfeller Leads the World's Rich Men

New York, May 30—John D. Rockfeller is now classed as a billionaire and reported to be the richest man in the world. Before the South African war Alfred Beit of Kimberly, was, according to the English list published in 1900, the world's only billionaire. Li Hung Chang, of China, stood second in the list with $500,000,000 and John D. Rockfeller third with $250,000,000. Only seven others were given fortunes of over $100,000,000. Prince Emil Demidoff, of Russia $200,000,000 Cornelius Vanderbilt of New York, $125,000,000; Andrew Carnegie, $120,000,000 and Wm. K. Vanderbilt, John Jacob Astor, William Rockfeller and William Waldorf Astor, each $100,000,000.

Lord Rothschild of England was credited with $75,000,000 and Alphonse Rothschild of Paris and Baron Albert Rothschild of Vienna, $70,000,000 each. The English dukes of Devonshire, Bedford, Norfolk and Buccleugh each had $50,000,000. Alfred Krupp, gunmaker, had $45,000,000; Claus Spreckles and P. D. Armour, each $40,000,000, Colis P. Huntington Geo. J. Gould and J. Pierpont Morgan each $35,000,000 and Marshall Field, Harold McCormick, W. L. Elkins and James J. Hill each $25,000,000 all of them ranking in wealth with Russian and Austrian princes.

Fifty years ago the millionaires were confined mainly to the princes and dukes and bankers of Europe. The American millionaire came with the era of development of railways and the mineral and manufacturing resources of the country. Since the census year of 1900 there have been great changes. Mr. Rockfeller has quadrupled his wealth, and South African millionaires have lost ground. Many Americans who were simply hard workers twenty and thirty years ago have advanced to the rank of millionaire.

BARREL STRAWBERRIES

Barrel Strawberry Culture is a Matter of Much Interest.

Barrel strawberry culture is a matter of such interest that we present the following working details which are reproduced from a circular of J. P. Ohmer, Dayton, Ohio, who is a successful cultivator by this method. The illustration, will further elucidate the grower's remarks:

"Take any iron-bound barrel, except one which has been used for pickles, sauerkraut, or vinegar; remove all hoops but four, and bore four holes in the bottom. Then space holes around the barrel so that twelve plants will go around it; five rows high will make sixty plants to the barrel, (the fifth row can be placed five inches from top of barrel). So as to make the holes of proper depth, bore two holes, one above the other, using a bit one and one half inches, and cut out the wood between the two holes, you will then have a hole one and one half by three inches. Put about two inches of firm gravel or coarse sand in the bottom of the barrel. When planting put the plants as near the top of the holes as possible, to allow for settling of the soil. Use clay, well mixed with rotted manure; put in till about three inches above the first row of holes, being careful not to have it too wet.

"The first row of holes must be eight inches from the bottom of barrel. Get in and stamp the soil solid, then loosen with a trowel where the plants go and plant that row. Spread the roots out well, then put soil about one-half way up to the next row of holes. Now take a common drain tile, twelve inches long by three or four inches in diameter, put it in the center of the barrel, and fill the tile with coarse sand, then fill up the barrel with soil a little above the next row of holes and stamp again. Be careful not to move the tile and when adding soil to the barrel, cover up the tile, so as not to get any dirt in it. After planting the second row, lift the tile; see that the sand settles and fill the tile with sand again. Then put in soil above the next row of holes, tramp again, and plant that row; and repeat operation until the five rows are planted. But don't fail to tramp.

"After planting the tile remains in the barrel; have it empty so as to take the water. In watering you water in the tile for the lower rows; on top of the barrel for the two top rows. It would be impossible to water the lower plants without the tile and the core of sand. You can water the plants too much. Fill the tile once per day, and put about two quarts of water on the outside of tile. After cold weather sets in we quit watering. The plants want no winter protection. Set the barrel on brick, to keep it off the ground. If any should die in the summer, you can replant by taking a runner and putting the young plant in the hole, making it fast with two little sticks.

"Use the largest fruiting variety that does well in your locality, and a perfect blooming sort, if possible. Planted early in the spring, a fair crop may be expected the same season."

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU CAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

C.P.R. CROSSING GATES

Are Now in Position and will be in Operation To-Day

The gates at the C. P. R George street crossing are now in position and will be completed today. The gates are manufactured by a Chicago firm, and are of the latest and most improved pattern. They are operated by a compressed air pump in the station house, and are locked automatically after being lowered; a gong is also started to give wayfarers notice when the crossing is closed.

After a few pump connections have been made the gates will be ready for operation and the necessity of a flag man will be dispensed with.—Com.

SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY

The Company's Grounds the Scene of Great Activity and Bustle

The excavations for the buildings in connection with the local beet sugar manufactory have been completed, a large amount of cement foundation has already been laid, and the work is being pushed forward as rapidly as energy and skill can possibly be expected to do.

Mr. F. Bartlett, the energetic architect, has shown himself equal to the occasion, and everything in his line has worked without a hitch. Mr. James Bogue, the local contractor, is having his stone crusher moved to the company's grounds, and will crush stone for the buildings.

Work will shortly begin on the Grand Trunk siding into the premises, the route being already staked out and levels taken.

TO SPRAY MUSTARD WEEDS

Department of Agriculture Takes Action as Bane of Farmers

As mentioned in The Times a few days ago, Mr. Wm. Collins received notice that a demonstration would probably visit Peterborough soon to show the farmers how to kill mustard weed.

This bright yellow weed is one of the legacies of this Province received [illegible] ago. To the farmer it is one of his most troublesome pests. Readers of Scripture know how traditionally prolific it is. So thick it is in some places that hand pulling is impracticable, and therefore, any method that will assist in its extermination will be welcome. For the past two years the Ontario Department of Agriculture has given some demonstrations in the killing of this weed by spraying it with a bluestone solution. The experiments are about to be repeated. The secret of the application is that the wild mustard has a fluffy or hairy leaf, which holds the destructive bluestone, while the leaf of the grain plant is smooth and thereby escapes destruction.

Damage by Frost

Inquiry amongst the farmers from different districts on Saturday reveals the information that frost has done considerable damage to the growing crops, especially timothy and barley. In some localities the tender vegetables have been cut down by frost during the week. Fall wheat and clover are still looking well, but warm weather and rain is still wanted.

The Governor General's Visit

At the invitation of the Mayor Aldermen O'Connell, McWilliams and Best, the Hon. J. R. Stratton, Mr. Hughes-Charles, president Board of Trade, Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, Col. Miller, and Col. H. C. Rogers, met in the town offices on Saturday evening to discuss the programme of proceedings for recommendation to the Council in reference to the Governor-General's visit Friday next.

Slowly Recovering

The general public will be pleased to learn that Miss Stewart, who was wounded by the discharge of a shot gun in the hands of young Framm, is gradually recovering and was expected to sit up yesterday. The surgeon has removed 14 grains of shot from the wound, and is still under the impression that some remain untouched.

It was thought that the young lady would have been able to appear in court last Saturday, but it is to be regretted that she is still too ill to leave her home. It is understood that her life is in no immediate danger, unless perhaps blood poisoning should set in, which is not at all likely.

—Frank McPherson's automobile sprung a leak yesterday in front of Robinson's livery stable, and was taken into the barn to undergo repairs. Mick Tooley was on hand at the time of the accident, and sprung the gag that it "an-it-eat-hay," which caused the horses to wiggle their ears and laugh. Don, remained up all night to prevent the horses from kicking the barn down as they meditated over the joke.—The vehicle has been removed.

—The Auburn Sunday School will run their annual excursion on July 1st (Dominion Day.) to Stony Lake per steamer "Majestic." Kindly bear this date in mind.

MARRIED ON HIS SICKBED

Canadian Sweetheart Goes to New York to Wed Lover

William Fayal Clarke, associate editor, of St. Nicholas and Miss Clementina Katharine Strickland, of Lakefield, were married on Saturday in Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge's apartments in the Osborne, where for a week Mr. Clarke has been flat on his back with fever. It had been intended to have a large wedding on June 2 at the bride's Canadian home, but this plan was upset by the groom's illness.

Mr. Clarke was taken ill last Friday while making a business call on Mrs. Dodge, who is the editor of St. Nicholas, and who has herself been kept to the house for two weeks by a strained knee.

Dr. David H. Greer performed the ceremony. C. V. Mapes, Mrs. Dodge's brother, gave the bride away; Kern Dodge, of Philadelphia, was best man and Miss Helen Boucher, of Peterborough, was bridesmaid. The bride is a grandniece of Agnes Strickland, authoress of "The Queens of England and Scotland."

LOOKING FOR "SUNSHINE."

Two Ladies Visit Peterborough on a Philanthropic? Mission.

A couple of well dressed ladies called on a number of our citizens on Friday last soliciting money with which to purchase copies of a magazine known as "Sunshine," for the poor. It was represented that this little paper was a good thing to send to poor families, and as the subscription price was only 50c a year it was not difficult to secure 50 cent subscriptions. The women were fluent talkers and did telling work amongst a number of the business men, who are known to be "easy," especially when approached by a good looking woman. Amongst those who are said to have appeared on the honor (?) roll were Chief Rossel, and Messrs. W. Bunton, Dickson Hall, A. H. Stratton, D. Davidson and others. The editor of this g. f. j. might easily have been there too, only that his natural modesty prevented it. However, with that unselfishness, characteristic of newspaper men, he directed the ladies to the offices of our philanthropic contemporaries. This evidently was a Pierpont Morgan stroke, for the ladies were seen next day at Chemong Park, blowing themselves quite extravagantly.

CHURCH PARADE

The 57th Regiment Holds Its Annual Church Parade Yesterday

The 57th Regiment in full force, with both bands, paraded to St. John's Church at 4 o'clock. There was a large turn out, and the boys looked fine.

At the church an eloquent and impressive sermon was preached by the Regimental Chaplain, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector. There was quite a sprinkling of officers of other corps present. Special music was provided by the excellent choir of the church.

The sacred building was appropriately draped with national flags and all arrangements for the occasion were perfect in every respect. The order of service had been printed in pamphlet form so as to enable both soldiers and civilians to heartily participate in the beautiful Church of England service. The choral portion of the service was led by the regiment's own splendid band. The lesson was read by Lieut.-Col. J. W Miller. The rector prefaced his sermon by a brief eulogy of the work accomplished for the regiment by its late commander, Lieut.-Col. E. B Edwards and with the assurance that in Lieut.-Col. Miller, its present commander, every man in the regiment has a friend. [illegible] regiment on the exceedingly high moral tone it at present enjoys, which redounds credit to both officers and men.

It might be in order to mention here that the 57th Regiment was organized (G.O.) May 3rd, 1867; reorganized as a City Battalion 1885; increased from six to eight companies 1900; served in Fenian Raid, 1866; one Company served with Midland Battalion in North-West Rebellion, 1885; representatives served in South Africa 1900-02; colors presented by ladies of Peterborough 1889. The regiment is badly in need of new colors.

The duel in the dark was a favorite with duelists. Two men were locked in a dark room and crawled stealthily from corner to corner, until some false step made one of them the target for bullet or blade.

Life is a duel in the dark with disease. One false step, one mistake, and the attack comes swift and sudden. The mistake which commonly opens the way for an attack by disease is neglect of the symptoms of stomach trouble. When eating is followed by undue fullness, belchings, sour or bitter risings, etc., disease is attacking the stomach.

The best way to frustrate such an attack is to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and makes the body strong and healthy.

"I was suffering very much with my head and stomach," writes Mrs. W. C. Gill, of Weldon, Shelby Co., Ala., "head was so dizzy when I would raise up in bed would fall right back. Could eat but very little, in fact scarcely anything, there seemed to be a heavy weight in my stomach so I could not rest; I had to belch very often and would vomit up nearly everything I ate. I was in a bad condition. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and five of his 'Favorite Prescription' and am now well and hearty. I feel like a new woman and give Dr. Pierce's medicines credit for it all. I had taken medicine from physicians without any benefit as I could see."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

RECEPTION OF VICE-REGAL PARTY ARRANGED FOR

By the Town Council--Infantry and Cavalry Escort--Address of Welcome at the Court House Park

At last night's Council meeting Mayor G. M. Roger submitted the following program agreed upon by a committee of the Council and prominent citizens on Saturday evening for the reception of Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Minto, who will visit Peterborough on Friday next.

The Governor-General, Lady Minto, and party, will be met at the G.T.R. station, upon their arrival, at 12 o'clock by a reception committee and taken for a drive around town, arriving at the Court House at one o'clock, when an address will be presented by the Corporation, followed by a reception, after which the Vice-Regal party will be driven to the C.P.R. station, whence they will leave at two o'clock. It is also suggested that the 57th Regt. Band be present at the station and at the Court House, and Colonel Miller has promised a guard of honor to receive Their Excellencies at the station and at the Court House. Major Johnston has also promised to furnish if possible a cavalry escort. For the presentation of the address a platform will be erected in front of the Court House, and to this representative citizens will be invited and will be presented to Their Excellencies, as also will other citizens who so desire it.

His Worship, the Mayor, expressed the hope that all citizens will make their places as presentable as possible, decorate their premises, turn out in large numbers, and leave no stone unturned to show Their Excellencies that Peterborough citizens are loyal to the core.

THE RECEPTION COMMITTEE.

Moved by Ald. Morrison, seconded by Ald. Shortly, That this Council has learned with pleasure of the intended visit of His Excellency the Governor-General and Lady Minto to Peterborough on Friday next; that the suggested programme for their reception which has been mentioned to the Council be approved, provided it meets the wishes of His Excellency; that a committee be appointed to make the arrangements pertaining to the reception consisting of the Mayor, Ald. Best, McWilliams, O'Connell and Rush, Ex-Mayor Denne, Col. H. C. Rogers, Col. Edwards, Col. Miller Major Denniston, Mr. J. Hughes-Charles, President of the Board of Trade, and Mr. E. H D. Hall, with power to add to their number and that the Treasurer be instructed to pay any expenses incidental to the reception upon the certificate of the Mayor or such person as he may appoint.

The Hon. J. R. Stratton was named on the above committee, but he has expressed his regret that he will not be able to act.

POSTAL DELIVERY.

Ald. Morrison moved, seconded by Ald. Rush—That in view of the fact that the government recognize the inadequacy of the present post office, and are about to spend four or five thousand dollars in an extension to the building, the Postmaster-General be memoralized to give Peterborough a street delivery, which will avoid the necessity of enlarging the present premises.

Ald. Morrison thought the size of Peterborough fully warranted a street delivery of its citizens' mail. The revenue from the post office last year was $21,471 and will this year amount to $25,000. There is an old rule accepted by the government that when a town's postal revenue reaches $25,000 it shall be entitled to a street delivery, and he thought the time was ripe for Peterborough to expect such a privilege. The expenses of our present postal system amount to but $1,630 and it will not cost much more for a carrier system. Brantford enjoys a street delivery, operated by eight carriers, at an expenditure of $3,637.

Mayor Roger approved of the resolution, but thought a street delivery system might possibly mean an increased local postal rate. He thought it would be wise to leave the matter over for a week or two so as citizens could express their approval or disapproval by means of the press.

The matter was allowed to stand as a notice of motion.

THE DRINKING FOUNTAIN

Ald. Batten remarked that it was a disgrace that the drinking fountain in the Central Park should be left in its present state of uselessness. It could not be utilized in its present condition as the waste water flows back into the ice box. This could be readily remedied by a drainage system to carry off the waste water, and he urged that his Committee be given a free hand in the matter.

The Property Committee were empowered to act at their discretion, and the drinking fountain in the Central Park will shortly be available for the purpose for which it was erected, thanks to Ald. Batten and his Committee.

The Town Council met in regular monthly session last night, when there were present Mayor G. M. Roger, and Aldermen Shortly, H. Rush, Morrison, Finnie, R. F. McWilliams, Batten, Corkery, Best, Edgcumbe and Clinkscale.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were taken as read.

BOARD OF WORKS.

A very lengthy report of the Board of Works is left over until tomorrow.

$150 FOR THE BAND.

A bylaw to authorize the granting of $150 to the 57th Regiment Band passed its several readings. A condition of this bylaw is that the band shall play in one of the parks one evening each week during the summer months.

STONE CRUSHING.

A bylaw to authorize the execution of an an agreement with Wm. Henry J. Gibson for stone crushing passed its several readings.

$5,000 FOR WATER WORKS.

A bylaw to authorize the expenditure of $5,000 by the Water Commissioners for the extension of the water works passed its several readings.

THE DIXON PARK.

A bylaw to authorize the expenditure of $5,000 on the Dixon Park passed its several readings. The bylaw provides that the town shall spend $250 in 1903 and $250 in 1904 in improving this property, which shall also be properly maintained as a public park for the period of ten years.

EEXMPTION OF TAXES

A bylaw to authorize the transference of exemption of taxes from the late Stanley Piano Co., to their successors, the Martin & Stanley Piano Co., of Toronto, Limited, passed its several readings. Such exemption is to cease should the Company fail to operate their works for three months in any one year.

The Court of Revision reported that they had not the power to exempt the Y.W.C.A. from school taxes without the authority of the Council, to which the court referred the matter.

Ald. Morrison, who submitted the report, moved that the Council exempt this association from school taxes.

Ald. Corkery suggested that the T.A.S., who are doing splendid work in town, be included in the motion. Ald. Morrison acquiesced, when the motion was seconded by Ald. Ald. Corkery.

A DANGEROUS SIDEWALK.

Judge Edmison called the council's attention to the dangerous condition of the sidewalk on the east side of Rubidge street, from Murray to Brock. Several persons, he said, had tripped on this defective walk, and the town was liable to have a suit for damages any day.

Ald. Morrison remarked that the walk on the north side of Brock from Rubidge to Stewart street, should also be attended to at once.

The Board of Works was authorized to look into the matter without delay.

GENERAL BUSINESS.

Ald. Clinkscale moved, seconded by Ald. McWilliams, that the Canadian Rubber Company be communicated with in reference to waterproof clothing, and that the Fire, Water and Light Committee be authorized to ascertain the cost of an appropriate site for a new fire hall.

Ald. McWilliams urged the Council to take immediate steps to secure a new fire hall, as the present town offices were totally inadequate for all requirements, and the only way out of the difficulty under present circumstances was to erect a new fire hall and take over the present one for office purposes.

The Council then adjourned

A WORD FOR THE BABIES

In the new edition of the Ontario Public Health Act there is a regulation regarding scarlet fever, which is looked upon by every body as a piece of senseless cruelty. In this new issue of the Health Act, there is a cast-iron rule that every child, without exception, suffering from scarlet fever must be removed to an isolation hospital. The same rule is found in former editions of the Health Act, but always with this condition, that such removal must not take place if it was at all dangerous to the child's life. With this regulation very few would find any fault, but the cast-iron rule is arbitrary and inhuman, and never can succeed. Just fancy a weak, timid, nervous child two or three years of age torn away from its home to an isolation hospital among strangers, and all through the lonely hours of the night, while its feeble voice calls for its mother, it cries itself to death with grief and pain. It is true the hospital nurse may be kind, but there is no substitute for a mother's love, and it is a vicious and inhuman law that would refuse a mother the poor consolation of pressing her loved one to her heart, and of soothing the last moments of her dying child, as the Angels bear its innocent spirit away to a better world.

Sympathy for the helpless offspring is not confined to the human race, and the Provincial Board of Health, with its esteemed secretary, might learn something from the wild beasts of the jungle, for the bear, the tiger and the wolf are at all times ready to lose their lives for their young.

To stamp out scarlet fever is a most laudable undertaking, but where a child can be properly taken care of at home, no authority should interfere.

MORE VENEZUELAN TROUBLE TO CANADA

The Calvo Doctrine Sure to Lead to Complications

REFUSES TO PAY DEBTS

Like Turkey the South American Republic is Notoriously Bad Pay

Washington, June 2.—The Post says: "There is promise of more trouble in Venezuela over the new law relating to foreigners doing business there. This law was enacted after the blockade, and is intended to put into effect the so-called Calvo doctrine, so warmly upheld in all South American countries. The law requires foreigners living in Venezuela to agree to submit all their claims against the government and citizens to the tribunals of the country, and to waive the right to collect by force damages for losses incident to revolutionary troubles. The state of Maracaibo, in which is the capital, Caracas, lately tried to carry this law into effect, the alternative to acceptance of it being expulsion from the country. North Americans were not required to submit to it, probably because we never tried to collect such claims by force. Other foreigners refused, on the advice of their ministers that the law was contrary to treaties, and there the matter stands.

In point of fact, this Calvo doctrine is the theory and practice of every civilized nation. The more stable South American nations have no difficulty in enforcing it; but they want protection from the rest—and for themselves in time of trouble—against European conquest in guise of debt collecting. Argentina asked our government formally, after the blockade, if it would uphold Europe in collecting ordinary debts by force, and got an unsatisfactory answer from Mr. Hay. Soon or late we shall have to decide the matter, and it may be hoped that we may not be seriously embarrassed by anything in the correspondence relating to the blockade.

The deplorable fact is, that we did consent, whether beguiled by imperial blandishments or intimidated by the English alliance, to collection of ordinary—and probably unjust—commercial claims by Germany under cover of the British claims for wounded national honor. This never was done before in the history of the country. We can only hope that it is not on formal record against us as a precedent. It is a strange thing that the president who talked more about the Monroe Doctrine than all the rest together, should have permitted the largest invasion of it. The invasion was needless, because the event proved that a frank appeal to Anglo-Saxon public opinion would have smashed the Anglo-German alliance in the beginning. It is no wonder that the South American states begin to think it time to take measures for their own protection.

RUSSIA'S BOLD ORDERS AGAINST LONDON TIMES

The Times Correspondent Tells How He Was Expelled from Russia

HE WAS FIRST PLACED UNDER ARREST

Had to Sign Declaration That He Would Not Return — Much Indignation Felt Toward Russia

London, June 2.—The Times today publishes an account of the circumstances of the arrest and expulsion of Mr. Brahm, its St. Petersburg correspondent, which it has received from him. The correspondent says he was expelled from the country by order of General Von Wahl, the Assistant Minister of the Interior, on account "of my hostility to the Russian Government and the invention of false news." While the necessary arrangements were being made he was to be kept and lodged as a transit in prison. His telegram to The Times was read and mailed to the German frontier, whence it was telegraphed. He describes how at 11 o'clock on Thursday morning he was summoned by a police officer to accompany him to the police office, where he was kept waiting half an hour. Then he was sent back for his passport, which he then presented to the commissary, and he was again asked to wait. Replying to enquiries as to the meaning of all this, the correspondent was told by the commissary that he was arrested by order of the Chief of Police, General Kleigells, but that his identity was doubtful, for the name in the order of arrest was not Brahm, but Graham, and final instructions were awaited. Further information was refused and he was forbidden to send any message, even to his wife or to the Ambassador. After some delay a message came that there was no longer any doubt as to his identity.

As he was about to be removed to prison a message arrived from the the prefecture saying that nothing more was to be done until further orders. In the meantime he might write to the Ambassador, which he immediately did. After half an hour final order came that he might be liberated after signing a promise to leave Russia by the first train, and if he refused he must be expelled in the ordinary manner. There was no alternative and he signed the promise at once. He then visited the British Ambassador and laid the whole case before him. The latter proceeded to the Minister of the Interior, as he considered that possible the action might be due to the mistaken impression that the correspondent was responsible for the publication of the letter alleged to have been written by Minister Plehve to General Von Raaben in anticipation of the Kisheneff riots, with which he had nothing to do.

On the Ambassador returning he informed the correspondent that he must quit Russia. M. Plehve said they had been prepared to take such a step for some time. They did not object to the correspondent personally, but they dislike what they called the hostile tone of his correspondence. They said that ever since he had been the correspondent at St. Petersburg The Times had attacked Russia and Russian policy. They had made up their minds that The Times correspondent could no longer be tolerated. They knew that this would provoke an outburst in the British press, but they were resolved to read The Times a lesson. Personally they regretted the inconvenience to the correspondent. The correspondent had to sign a promise to leave Russia for ever within three days. The police officers, he says, behaved with the greatest consideration and courtesy.

WILL CREATE A SENSATION.

Copenhagen. June 2.—The expulsion of the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times will undoubtedly create a sensation in all Scandinavian countries, where the feeling towards the Russian dictatorship in Finland is one of intense indignation. Several of the most prominent of the expelled Finlanders passing through Copenhagen have vividly described Russian official brutality in Finland. The Times correspondent's articles have been much quoted by the Swedish, Danish and Nowegan press, and are considered the best guarantee that the descriptions from the Finlanders themselves are not exaggerated.

Pekin, June 2.—M. Lessar, the Russian minister, who has been absent on leave, returned yesterday from St. Petersburg. He devoted two weeks en route to making inspections in Manchuria, and in consulting with the Russian generals in that province, and also Admiral Alexieff, the Russian commander at Port Artubr. It is thought that M. Lessar will now devote his time to recovering the ground lost through the unlucky negotiations of M. Planchon, and despite the Russian Government's protestations during the past two years the status quo ante bellum, including Chinese sovereignty over Manchuria would be restored, and in face of the convention of 1902, the whole question involving the integrity of China, and the open door is further from settlement now, and is more complicated than it was a year ago. The Russian force in Manchuria is larger now than at any time since the occupation. The Japanese say that the increased number of troops is being disguised by constant movements, and that barracks are being built at Laoyang to accomodate an army. Notwithstanding that the Chinese board of foreign affairs repudiates the Russian claims to timber rights on the Yalu River and Corea protests against the granting of any such rights, the Russians are in possession of both banks of the river, and are building alleged commercial stations on the Corean side at its mouth. Foreigners here await M. Lessar's future action with suspicion and distrust.

Nicholls Hospital	29 02

On motion of Mr. Eyres, seconded by Mr. Schneider, it was resolved that this Board of Health, under section 668, sub-section 4, of the Municipal Act, recommend the Council to construct a sewer on Hunter street between Aylmer street and Stewart street for the purpose of draining that locality for sanitary purposes as a local improvement.—Carried.

It was moved by Mr. Parker, seconded by Mr. Schneider, that the owner of the McComb property on Simcoe street be notified to connect the premises with the sewer and that the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company be also notified.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned until Monday, June 8th, at 11 o'clock.

Lacrosse Match To-Night

The T.A.S. have arranged for a game with the Port Hope seniors to-night not Saturday night, as reported. This promises to be a very interesting match. Although the visiting team travel in senior company, the T.A.S. are quite confident that they will give the visitors a hard game. The match is called for seven o'clock sharp.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 1, 1903.

THE GEORGIAN BAY CANAL

The Montreal, Ottawa and Georgian Bay Canal Company has mapped out a canal which can be built for $70,000,000. English capital is ready to finance it, but is dickering with the Canadian Government over terms. It provides the shortest route and an all-water route at that from the farthest shores of the Great Lakes to whose borders the products of the grain-producing States is brought to the Atlantic seaboard. The company proposes to construct a 22-foot-deep waterway from Georgian Bay through the French River and Lake Nipissing to the Ottawa River and down that stream to tidewater at Montreal. By this waterway the distance from Chicago or Duluth to Montreal will be no greater than the sailing distance through the lakes from the same ports to Buffalo about 900 miles. Moreover, the route is not a canal like the Trent Valley Canal, there are only short stretches of excavated channel—thirty-two miles in all. The rest is open lake and river navigation.

TRADES UNION LIABILITY

Another blow has been dealt unionism in the rejection, by a large majority in the British House of Commons, of the Trades Dispute Bill, the aim of which was to legalize picketing, and change the law affecting the liability of trades-union funds. Mr. Balfour, and other Ministers, opposed the Bill, and promised that a Royal Commission should be appointed to enquire into the whole position of unionism. Thus the British House of Commons has refused to relieve the British trades unions of the liabilities which the Taff-Vale Railway decisions showed belonged to them. There is an end to the unfair situation whereby an employer, who has established his right to damages when a labor union which injures him by taking his employee's part, cannot be recovered from because he is one of a union. The body or association is liable, and the employer can get justice.

THE OPEN DOOR

The United States is expected to join with Great Britain and Japan in advocating the "open door" policy in Manchuria and China generally. Such action will come with special grace from the United States of America. The policy of monopolization of trade pursued by Russia fades into insignificance compared with the monopolization of trade pursued by the United States where it has an opportunity. The United States took Porto Rico and Hawaii and shut them up tight as a drum. So far as the Senate could, it tied up the trade of Cuba exclusively to the United States. In the Philippines, the United States gave the world as solemn a promise of the open door as ever Russia did in Manchuria, and then proceeded shamelessly to violate it by trick and artifice. The United States is not a believer in the open commercial door unless it is someone else's door that is to be kept open. Whether the policy which America has adopted in regard to her possessions is the right one or not, whether it is the best one or not, for either the people of the United States, or for the people in these dependencies. Russia has certainly as much right as has the United States to shut the door of any territory she has acquired by force or fraud. We imagine that protests from the United States will lack convincing power. The United States is quite as big a sinner as Russia is ever likely to be. Its one idea of foreign possessions is to sweat them for the benefit of the United States. If Russia is a pot, the United States is certainly a kettle.

ORDERED TO LEAVE

London Times Correspondent Ordered from St. Petersburg

London, May 31—The Times announces the receipt of a telegram from its St. Petersburg correspondent, stating that he had been ordered by the Russian Government to leave Russian territory. The order, as originally signified to him, was that he was to leave St. Petersburg by Thursday, but by the good offices of the British Ambassador he has been allowed three days' grace to make domestic arrangements before leaving.

The Times, commenting editorially upon the incident, says: "Until we possess more detailed information it is impossible to comment adequately upon this remarkable measure, unprecedented within our experience, or even to speculate upon the causes to which it is due. We feel very confident that our correspondent will not be found to have given the slightest justification for the harsh treatment dealt out to him. He has displayed conspicuous judgment and moderation in the discharge of his responsible du- in the discharge of his responsible duties. If there have been features in Russia's domestic policy which it was impossible for any foreign observer in his position to either overlook or minimize, he has but shared the misgivings felt by not a few thoughtful and patriotic Russians themselves".

What to Eat at Breakfast and How to Eat It

Malt Breakfast Food the original and only Malt-Wheat cereal is the result of years of successful scientific experience. It is an honest health food that satisfies the taste and meets the needs of young and old. Malt Breakfast Food is the great morning invigorating dish.

Malt Breakfast Food requires cooking before eating. It is a mistake to imagine that the cold fad foods with which the country is deluged, can impart health or strength. Malt Breakfast Food brought to the table steaming and hot, gives to young and old in fullest measure all its deliciousness and health virtues. Any cereal food worthy of a place in the home, should be cooked and eaten while hot. Here is the difference: Cold fad foods produce colic and stomach troubles; Malt Breakfast Food eaten hot, imparts life and vim. All Grocers.

OUR GREAT WEST COUNTRY

Not the Slightest Danger of It Being Americanized

Montreal, May 31—"What the West needs more than anything else is greater transportation facilities" said [illegible] to a reporter today.

"The greatest problem before that part of the country at the present time is the problem of increased opportunities for shipping grain to the seaboard. The people of Manitoba, the North-West Territories and Alberta are watching the proceedings at Ottawa with more than average interest. Settlers are coming in rapidly. The West is filling up and what we want now is a better transportation service and more competition. Present prospects point to a record harvest. There have been heavy rains throughout the West and the wheat is rapidly growing. The freight blockade and lack of cars of last year must not be repeated."

Mr. Harris ridiculed the idea of the West becoming Americanized. "We are getting along very well and fully able to take care of ourselves" was his criticism.

Murderer Gosselin Anxious

Quebec, May 29—No commutation of sentence has yet been received for Joseph Gosselin, the condemned murderer of Mrs. Tralan, of St Lazare, who is under sentence to be hanged at Montmagny, on the 12th of June next, and who is now confined in the district prison there. Both the prisoner and his counsel, Mr. Ernest Roy, M.P.P., are very anxious about the case, having, apparently, hoped that the Government would have taken into account the fact that both in the Court of Appeals and in the Supreme Court, a minority of two judges favored the prisoner's appeal upon two points of law, though three judges in each case decided against it.

TROUBLES OF THE EAST

Austrian Promoters Not to Use Force in the Balkan States

Vienna, May 31—Diplomatic negotiations are on foot to dispel the animosities fast arising between Austria and Italy on account of the recent Nationalist demonstrations in the two countries. Austria has assured Italy that the disturbances are disapproved by the Government, and Italy has responded in a like sense.

Count Goluchowski, Premier and Foreign Minister of Austria-Hungary, in view of the Italian suspicion concerning the purposes of the dual empire, states that the Vienna authorities have not the slightest intention of occupying even a single acre of Albania. The Count also says that Austria-Hungary will not under any circumstances use force in the Balkans, unless an effort be made by means of the Croatian riots or on some other pretext to create a great Slav State on the southeastern borders of the empire.

NEURALGIA.

THIS DISTRESSING COMPLAINT IS DUE TO IMPOVERISHED BLOOD

When the blood becomes thin and watery, as a matter of course, you become weak, vitality gets down low, and there is but little power in the system to ward off disease and pain.

Neuralgia hunts out a weak spot, and makes a home there, so secure that it is only by the use of the proper remedies it can be driven from the system, never to return. To obtain immediate relief, first apply to the painful parts, a good quantity of Polson's Nerviline, and then bind on a hot flannel cloth.

This local treatment will be found very efficacious, but must be followed by a course of Ferrozone treatment. Ferrozone is a blood food, and a blood purifier, and quickly strengthens the system so that further attacks may never be feared. It makes the rich red kind of blood, that gives strength and vigor to weak constitutions and puts them in good shape to resist neuralgia attacks.

This combined treatment of Nerviline and Ferrozone in Neuralgia, Sciatica, and Rheumatism, is marvelously effective and cures after all else has failed. Because of the unique success of these remedies we have no hesitancy in endorsing their use to our readers. All druggists sell them.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S TROUBLES

[illegible] Island

Sydney, N.S., May 31—The great rapidity with which the population of Newfoundland is being decreased may be inferred from the fact that for the past three months there has arrived at Sydney from the Ancient Colony 7,000 passengers, mostly all of whom came to work in different parts of Cape Breton, principally the mining districts of Glace and Inverness Counties. The latest reports from Newfoundland indicate that fishing this season has proved a failure. The number of men employed in this pursuit this year is considerably less than in any previous year, due to the fact that those who follow it for a livelihood are now working on shore in the mines and the railways of Cape Breton.

The Cape Breton Railway, from Port Hawkesbury to St. Peter's, a distance of thirty-two miles, will be opened for traffic in less than a month's time. The rolling stock is now mostly on hand. The line is completed with the exception of about two miles near the village of St. Peter's. A force of 300 men is now employed on the construction of this part of the road.

PRAYING FOR RAIN

Earth is Dried Up and Crops being Ruined—Streams Drying Up

Hoosick Falls, N.Y., May 30—The drought situation is daily growing worse. Pastors in several churches yesterday prayed for rain. The water in the bed of the Hoosick river is so low that hundreds of fish are caught by hand. Smaller streams are dry. Farmers have despaired of rain and are using pails to water crops.

Some have ceased plowing. The ground is now white and parched. The dry weather of last week had an especially telling effect on rye, oats and grass. Pasturage is burned and dried by the sun's rays. The drought has lasted five weeks.

A Triumph in Medicine.

Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets

A NON-ALCOHOLIC REMEDY AND A POSITIVE CURE FOR ALL FORMS OF KIDNEY DISEASE

The use of liquid kidney medicines containing alcohol is suicidal, and must quickly come to an end. A deadly poison like alcohol aggravates and assists troubles like Bright's disease and Diabetes.

Kidney-Wort Tablets are a triumph of medical science—a boon to victims of disease that cuts off tens of thousands every year. Kidney-Wort Tablets are, to-day, curing well-developed and established cases of kidney disease, urinary and bladder troubles; no other remedy has ever given such marvellous and assuring results.

Kidney-Wort Tablets are now prescribed and recommended by eminent medical men in Canada and the United States. Do not fail to give them a trial if you experience the slightest symptoms of deranged or weak kidneys. If you are making use of liquid medicines, throw them aside at once, the alcohol in them will hasten your destruction and death. Ask your druggist for the positive cure, Kidney-Wort Tablets.

A GUARANTEED CURE For All Forms of Kidney Disease

We the undersigned Druggists are fully prepared to give the following guarantee with every 50 cent bottle of Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets, the only remedy in the world that positively cures all troubles arising from weak or diseased kidneys:—

"Money cheerfully returned if the sufferer is not relieved and improved after use of one bottle. Three to six bottles effect astonishing and permanent cures. If not relieved and cured, you waste no money.

England Seizes Three Islands

Tahiti, May 15, via San Francisco May 3—Information received on the best of authority confirms the rumor that three small islands near Pitcairn were seized by England recently. It appears that they were regarded by British Consul Simons at Tahiti as valuable, anticipating the completion of the Panama Canal. The British Foreign Office approved the seizure.

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL

Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the

ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y

in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory

lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects.

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share. This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that. It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

If shares are exhausted when your application is received we will return your money. Make checks payably to the order of the Actonoma Oil and Development Company, P. H. Enright, Secretary and Treasurer, 218 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

TRANSFER OFFICE; BRISTOL, CONN.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in, in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

self, and don't you appear again till all's quiet. Now, do you understand? I don't say the ship is going to be attacked, but it may."

"I understand," said Tommy; "but, oh, Lord, save us! don't you go and get killed, Mr. Foster, and let these 'orrible chaps get the upper hand!"

"Not if I can help it, sonny, you may bet! Now here's the message—it's only four words: 'Under Jake Foster's bed.' What is it now?"

"Under Ja—Jake Foster's be—bed," sobbed poor Tommy.

"That's right. Say it six times over so's to remember it." Tommy did so.

"Good. Now in case you should have to defend yourself, if they find where you're hidden, take this pistol. You can fire it five times. It's a revolver; and this here's a bag of extra cartridges. D'you know how to use it?"

Tommy tearfully explained that he had handled revolvers many times, but never fired one.

"That's all right. Hold it straight and don't shut your eyes; it can't hurt you. Think of a place that'd be good to hide in, where you can get at food if you're there some time. Choose it and put a bucket or two of water in beforehand. When there's possible dangers one has to think on ahead. That's all. Now don't be frightened, only prepared in case; and don't you forget the message."

Tommy left the cabin sobbing, but somewhat comforted by the reflection that he was actually armed with a revolver. The sense of importance was soothing and upheld him wonderfully.

Foster took pen and paper and wrote the following note, which he placed in Keith's cabin:

"Dear Adams—Case they get me before I see you, try under my dad's bed up in the village for you know what.—T. F."

CHAPTER XXI.

The Capture of the "Penelope."

Keith Adams was up betimes next morning in spite of the hard day's work and half a night of sentry-go. Nothing had happened during the hours of darkness and no attack been made upon the camp.

"We hit 'em pretty hard yesterday, sir," said the bosun. "They grow shy!"

The sentries reported a quiet time during the second half of the night, though one man thought he had heard two shots out at sea, as if someone on board the "Penelope" had thought he saw an enemy and fired on the chance.

"That is likely enough," said Keith. "They'd be keeping a careful watch, be sure, and would fire on the slightest suspicion."

During the morning Drake came and begged permission for an interview with Jessie Foster. Denys looked better; his arm—which had not been broken, though the shoulder muscles were injured—was better.

"What d'you want to see the maid for?" asked Keith. "This ain't the time nor the place for philandering."

Denys flushed. "Why shouldn't I see her?" he said angrily. "What harm can I do?"

"If only you'd be a sensible chap—as you could if you liked—for you might stop all this fighting and useless killin' by telling the girl what we're bound to know in the end—where this gold stuff is, why, you'd be doin' both yourself an' every man in the island a good service. What's more, if you was to show your sense in the way I say, you'd be welcome to talk to Jess all day."

"P'raps I may tell her and p'raps I mayn't," said Drake sulkily. "If I do, it won't be for love of you."

"I hope it would be for love of her; what do I matter? I don't want to quarrel with you, man. What's the use of sulking? Shake hands if you care to."

"When I've squared you for this," said Drake surlily, touching his wounded shoulder, "we can talk about shaking hands."

"Well, I don't want to be hard on you. You can see the maid," said Keith. "I'll send her out to you."

"Jess'll get it out of him yet," thought Adams. "He's waverin' now. All we've to do is to leave them a bit together. She'll wheedle it out of him presently. I needn't say another word." Keith felt buoyant and happy; things began to look more rosy.

"Go out and see your man, Jess. He's waiting for you," he told her. "And see here, my dear, don't you forget you can do us all a good turn by persuading him to come our side. There's something only he can tell us, and it's only you can wheedle it out of him."

"I don't know that he'll tell me," said Jess. "Maybe he'd feel bad about givin' away his own side."

"Tell him it's best for him and his side and all the island, both crews. Don't you see it for yourself that it's as I say? Why, it'll stop the killing and fighting and make us all rich men—eh! and get him home, too, for the weddin' what's been put off too long."

Jessie sighed. "Oh, I'll say all I know," she said. "It ain't that, it's how he'll take it." Jessie found Denys sulky and difficult to talk with.

"What's up, Denys?" she said at last. "What have I done then? You're cross."

"I'll tell you what you've done," he replied surlily. "You're in a conspiracy, you and Adams. I'm here to be persuaded and wheedled and bullied into bein' a traitor; that's what's up. D'you think I've no eyes? You may tell that fool he may go somewhere before he finds out what he's come for. Ah! and so he will, he and his whole blamed set."

"I didn't ask you to tell me anything. You're unkind, Denys," said poor Jess. "It ain't my fault if they want to know things. Maybe I do think it'd be better for all of us, you and me and all, if you was to stop the fighting and tell where the stuff is, so's we can all have our share and go home: but——"

"What did I say? There, you are beginning! Now I tell you square, Jess, if you want me to believe you're my girl and love me, like before——"

"I do love you, of course I do," began Jess——

"Let me speak. I say, if you want me to believe it you'll not say another word about this business. Would you like me to be a traitor to your dad and all the rest, or a true man?"

"I don't want you to be a traitor," said poor Jess, her lips quivering. "I want to stop this horrible killing and quarrelling."

"We'll stop that presently another way. Don't you say no more about it or I'll get angry. Now, see here, it's me or it's Adams, one of the two. You've got to take your choice. If it's me, you'll do as I say."

"It's you, of course," said Jess, now sobbing in earnest.

"Very well, prove it, then. I'm off to the village, soon as it's a bit dusk. If you're my girl and not Adams's, you're coming too."

PREFERENCE HOLDS POLITICAL ARENA

Mr. Chamberlain's Speech is Sole Topic of Speculation in England

ERA IN BRITISH POLICY

Chamberlain Preparing to Makd Definite Proposals to Next Colonial Conference

London, May 31—Every other topic is overwhelmed by the vital issue forced into the political arena by Hon. Jos. Chamberlain's further speech in the House of Commons last night. While Premier Balfour deprecated the idea of the preferential policy as issue next election, Mr. Chamberlain, when questioned, declared amid loud laughter, "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

Mr. Chamberlain's programme is to secure an electorate mandate whenever possible, then summon another colonial conference, believing that all difficulties would be easily overcome with the co-operation of the Colonial Ministers on the basis of a tax on imported foreign food.

The Unionist and Radical papers agree that Mr. Chamberlain's attitude marks the beginning of a new era in British politics, which will cut across the present party divisions. The only certain factor is Mr. Chamberlain's determination to lead the campaign. In a word, while Mr Balfour propounds the subject for discussion, Mr. Chamberlain propounds it for the election campaign.

As the Morning Post says:— "Mr. Chamberlain does not want to repeat what he said last year to the Colonial Premiers, that when they proposed is against Britains' fiscal system. He wishes to be able to give Canada a preference in return for the preference she gives Britain, and wishes also to have a weapon to defend Canada against the retaliation of foreign countries."

The Lord Mayor of London, addressing the International Colonial Institute yesterday, calmly proposed that Mr. Chamberlain's preference should include all nations who would join. He said he could not conceive many refusing because the British Empire had so much to offer, so little to refuse.

The Value of Timothy.

Some of our readers grow a great deal more timothy than is good for them on their farms; others grow much less. The former act under the mistaken idea that timothy adds to the fertility of the soil, which it does not; the latter fail to see that in growing clover for fertility they may as well grow timothy and thus add to the total value of the crop. There is a direct benefit in growing timothy with clover. Where they are in about equal proportions the clover is not nearly so liable to lodge, nor will the timothy interfere with taking a crop of clover seed should the season be favorable. When grown with mammoth clover, the timothy will stand a poor chance the first year, as the clover will prevent its securing the sunlight necessary for its growth. It however, stands shade quite well and will show an astonishing growth of timothy with comparatively [illegible] interfere with taking a crop of seed, if desired, and the amount of clover remaining will furnish an excellent balance for the timothy. Timothy, therefore, has a place, and a large one, on the Western farm, but it should always be in connection with clover if the farmer wishes to either restore or retain the fertility of his acres.—Wallaces' Farmer.

Terrible Accident at Brandon

Winnipeg, Man., May 30.—At Brandon a shocking accident occurred in the Brandon Brewery Co.'s works. A wholesale liquor man, named Angus Munroe, fell into the machinery and every limb of his body was broken before he could be extricated. He died several hours afterwards.

Collision at Carlton Junction

Ottawa, May 31—The C.P.R. Toronto Thursday, collided, at Carleton Junction, with a freight train on a siding. Seeing that a collision was inevitable Engineer Langelier and Fireman Clendenning, after reversing the engine, jumped to save themselves. The engineer sustained a triple fracture of the leg, and the fireman escaped with a sprained ankle. The engine was badly wrecked. The passengers on the express escaped.

Paris, May 31—It was officially announced yesterday that President Loubet will proceed to London between July 18 and 20 to return the visit of King Edward, and that he will stay there three or four days.

SILAGE VS. FODDER

Interesting Results of Several Practical Experiments

As the result of a series of practical tests made at the New Jersey experiment station to determine the relative value of silage and dried corn fodder, the experimenters decided:

1. That the cost of harvesting, storing and preparing the dry matter contained in corn was greater in the form of silage than of dried fodder.

2. That the changes that occur in the composition of silage were not such as to decrease the feeding value in greater degree than those which occur in the process of curing corn fodder, and that the losses due to spoiling in the silo amounted to 4 per cent. of the total amount stored.

3. That for milk and butter production the feeding value of the dry matter the silage was greater than that of the dried fodder corn. The yield of milk was 12.8 per cent. greater, and the yield of fat 10.4 per cent. greater.

4. Applying the results in a practical way, that is, to the actual amount of corn put into the silo, namely 130 tons, it is shown that what did cost $134.04 to store and prepare in the from of silage would have cost in the form of silage would have cost in the loss. Deducting from the amount put into silo, the 4 per cent. loss, it is found that there remained for feeding 73,120 pounds of dry matter, sufficient for one cow for 6,647 days, or for thirty cows 222 days. This, or its equivalent, was practically what was done with the silage, and with an actual average yield during the period of 17 pounds per cow per day, we have a total of 112,999 pounds of milk. If, as the experiment indicated, this yield of milk was 12.8 per cent. greater than could have been produced from the same dry matter in the form of dried fodder, there was a gain of 12,822 pounds of milk, which, at 1 1-4 cents per pound, which was the price which could have been received for the milk at wholesale—the milk was sold at retail—would have amounted to $192.22. Assuming that only 1 cent per pound could have been secured, which is probably nearer the actual price received from November to April in districts distant from the city, the increase would have amounted to $128.22; deducting from this the $10.92 representing the greater cost of storing the silage, and we have a difference on the basis of 1¼ cents per pound of $181.41, and on the basis of 1 cent per pound, $117.30, which shows the increased value of the corn crop on twelve acres (nearly $10 per acre on the basis of 1 cent per pound.) when fed in the form of silage, rather than in the form of dried fodder.

WU TING FANG CHOSEN

Appointed as Member of the Chinese Foreign Office

Pekin, May 30—An Imperial edict issued today appoints Wu Ting Gang the former Chinese Minister at Washington, to be a member of the Foreign Office. (While Wu Ting Fang's appointment violates the protocol, he is the only English-speaking member of the Foreign Office, and he alone has had experience with foreign affairs. The legations, therefore, welcome the selection.

Body Found — Murder Suspected

Odgensburg, N.Y., May 31— The body of Wm. Jackson, of Chateauguay, aged 20 years, was found lying in the pond six miles from his home. There was a bullet wound in his body, and the authorities believe that he was murdered. He was the son of Joseph Jackson, a butcher who left home several days ago. The body was found on what is known as the Houshauer road. The authorities are investing the case.

Paine's Celery Compound

Will Do For You What It Did For Mr. J. B. Butts.

There was never a remedy so highly recommended for making sick people well in summer time as Paine's Celery Compound. It successfully grapples with all the ailments common in summer time, and never fails to remove long standing and chronic diseases that have baffled the skill of physicians. When Paine's Celery Compound is used, there is no long waiting for results. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, assists digestion, gives sweet sleep, excites the bowels to healthy action, expels all foul humors from the blood and braces the nervous system. Mr. J. B. Butts, Spadina Ave., Toronto, Ont., says:

"I had a very bad attack of la grippe, which left me with a nervous and brokendown system; I also suffered from indigestion, and sleeplessness added to my misery. I was troubled with horrible nightmares and dreams; indeed, my sleeping hours were to me times of terror and fear. I commenced to use patent medicines for my trouble, but derived little benefit from them. I happened to get one of your books at my house, and after reading about the wonderful cures effected by Paine's Celery Compound, I decided to give it a trial. In three months I found myself fully and perfectly restored to health, and had gained fifteen pounds in weight. I am satisfied Paine's Celery Compound saved my life, and without it I would not now be alive. It is, without doubt, the best remedy in the world."

GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well-known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, desiring, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

AN ABSOLUTELY SAFE INVESTMENT

—One that will increase 200 Per Cent. within a Year.—

The Adams Copper Mining and Refining Co,

Owns Seven Copper Mines, all of which Show Wide Veins of Pay Ore.

One of its mines, the Copper Coin, has just been equipped with buildings and up-to-date machinery.

The company has no debts and owns its own properties.

At a recent meeting of the directors, the officers of the company were instructed to sell a small block of the treasury stock for the purpose of fully equipping more of the mines with proper buildings and up-to-date machinery, and in pursuance with the above instructions the officers do now offer TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK AT 12 CENTS PER SHARE, on easy payments, as follows: On all orders for 100 shares to 1,000 shares, $5 cash with order and $5 per month thereafter until fully paid. The management fully expects to make this stock worth par in from 12 to 15 months.

The secretary and treasurer of this company bought Gold Coin stock at 12 cents per share and sold it at $6.50 per share within 24 months.

Another officer of this company bought Calumet & Hecla Copper stock at $1.00 per share and sold it for $625.00 per share. This company paid $70,800,000 in dividends.

Adams Copper Mining and Refining Company's stock will do the same, as they have enormous bodies of ore already in sight.

WHEN TO INVEST

HERE ARE A FEW COPPER FACTS well worth the attention of all would-be investors: $100 invested in 1890 in the Tamarack Copper Company is now worth $782; $100 invested in 1893 in Boston & Montana Copper Company is now worth $1,896; $100 invested in 1896 in the Arnold Copper Company is now worth $1,870; $100 invested in 1893 in the Wolverine Copper Company is now worth $5,600; $100 invested in the Butte & Boston Copper Company is now worth $5,600. $100 invested in 1886 in the Calumet & Hecla Copper Company is now worth $6,650.

More money has, in recent years, been made in copper mining than in any other staple enterprise as free from the element of risk. There is nothing misleading in the statement that copper mining as a proposition is better than gold, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The most valuable mining properties in the world are copper properties.

To every purchaser of stock a specimen of ore from the Company's mines will be sent FREE.

Send your order at once before the advance, which will certainly be made in the near future. Ten per cent. discount for cash.

STOCK MARKETS

BEARISH EFFORT LESS POTENT

New York, June 1.—The week just past was one of extra ordinary bearish effort. The conclusions to be derived from the course of speculation for that period are mainly the great increased effort necessary to depress prices. Rebounds are quick and at any lapse of pressure against price, the market either runs into dullness or prices improve. Despite all the vigorous efforts brought to bear against the market all the week long, prices in most instances failed to go as low as they did on Monday last. The facts derived from the movements of the market last week would indicate prices to be hovering around bottom. Thursday and Friday last the very strongest financial interest in Wall street were free buyers of stocks. There is no doubt of the present bullish attitude of the Morgan, Gould and Rockfeller interests. Keene brokers have been havy buyers as well. Stocks can now be purchased at a price yielding better interest returns upon the moneys investment than they could at any time previously for over two years past. This is a point that should not be overlooked. In addition there are no indications at present that would warrant the expectancy of any falling off in earnings. Business is good, freight is plentiful, and crop outlook is most excellent, with splendid prices ruling for all commodities and staples. The period of new security issuing is also terminating. These are all most favorable factors which should be considered when investigating stock prices. Best of all stocks are down from their previous high prices from ten to one hundred points. Those who buy stocks when they are away down and unduly depressed, if they keep their committments within the bounds of what they can conveniently care for, usually are the people who make the money in Wall street.

New York, June 1.—Stocks will rise again, as to this fact there is no doubt. They are, in our opinion, now pounding around bottom prices. We are strongly bullish on the present market.

PETER O'LEARI KILLED

Raced Beside Trolley and Then Dashed in Front of It

Niagara Falls, May 31.—While riding his bicycle on Buffalo avenue, near Portage road yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, Peter O'Leari, who boarded at George Smith's hotel on Eleventh street, fell in front of a trolley car and was so badly injured that he died 15 minutes after reaching the Memorial Hospital.

O'Leari was riding alongside of a Buffalo and Niagara Falls car and was going at a rate of speed equal to that of the car. Suddenly his wheel shot ahead and the motorman was terrified to see the man make a dash across the tracks. Either the man did attempt to cross or his wheel swerved. A second later he fell in a heap in front of the car. The fender picked him up and he struck the front of the car with such force that his skull was crushed.

A hurry call was sent for the ambulance, and although the man lived until he reached the hospital, he did not gain consciousness.

Sugar Beet Industry.

The Secretary of Agriculture has just transmitted to the President for the information of Congress a very full report on the present condition of the sugar beet industry in this country. The best results from last year's trials were reported from the States of New York and Michigan. Other States for which reports were favorable were Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota, Nevada, South Dakota, Wyoming and Colorado. States giving fair results were Iowa, Nebraska, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. In general, it was found that after passing south of the mean isotherm of 71 degrees Fahr., for the three months of June, July and August, the results were poor. It is found that the belt of territory included between the limits of the isotherms of 72 and 69 degrees may be regarded as the basic belt of the beet sugar industry. The best results are obtained within or north of this belt, other climatic conditions being favorable. Extreme northern limits of sugar-beet culture are determined only by the advent of freezing weather.

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU CAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B, May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

Mr. Harry Gibson of Kingston, was rescued from an enemy that relentlessly pursued him for years

Mr. Gibson was born and brought up in Kingston. By profession he is a school teacher. He received his training in Queen's University, where he took a course in arts and medicine that well befits him to talk on almost any subject.

The enemy that for 25 years relentlessly pursued Mr. Gibson is a menace to our entire population—it is the demon, Catarrh.

Mr. Gibson says:—"For years I was never free from Catarrh of the nose and throat. It bothered me winter and summer and kept me so continually coughing and hawking that I found it a great impediment to the proper performance of my duties at school. I used every available means of obtaining a cure, took bottle after bottle of medicine prescribed by local doctors, but never got more than temporary relief. I consulted a well-known specialist in the States, but after spending a considerable amount of money with him to no advantage, was forced to look elsewhere for relief, which I first received from Catarrhozone.

I consider Catarrhozone a genuine cure for Catarrh. It drove the loathsome disease completely out of my system and to-day I am as well as if I never knew what the word Catarrh implied."

A straightforward proof of cure, coming from a well known gentleman like Mr. Gibson carries conviction of the fact with it that Catarrhozone does all that is claimed for it. As a cure for Catarrh and Bronchitis it positively has no equal. All druggists, price $1.00; small size, 25 cents. By mail from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

There are ten thousand pieces, all told, and these will at once be towed to Mr. Kelly's mills at Bridgenorth.

Mr. Kelly informed The Times yesterday that the outlook for this year was exceedingly good. His mills were running to their fullest capacity, and would continue until the end of the season.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

Wilson N. Blewett, of Smith, Loses a Leg While at Work

Last Saturday afternoon Mr. W. N. Blewett, son of Mr. Wesley Blewett of North Smith met with a very serious accident. He was employed by the township to run the stone crusher with the engine which he uses in connection with his steam thresher. In some way he accidentally put his foot too near the driving wheel, which drew his foot and ankle into the revolving wheel, breaking the bones of his foot and leg as far up as the knee.

The young man, when released, was immediately brought to town, and placed in the Nicholls Hospital where his leg was amputated above the knee.

Mr. Blewett is an industrious and prosperous young man, who also owns and runs a portable saw mill at Buckhorn.

He is a brother of Mr. Milson Blewett, a bookkeeper in the Peterborough Hardware Company's office, and who is so well and favorably known in town.

The injured man is doing well and no further danger to his life is anticipated.

SNAP, PUSH AND GO

Is What One should Get from Food

A young St. Louis lady learned a food lesson she won't forget. She says: "I suffered from indigestion for nearly 10 years and although I tried all kinds of foods for breakfast I could not eat any of them until one day I discovered Grape-Nuts and now I wonder how I ever did without it.

"I am a stenographer in a business office and need all the energy possible but I formerly spent the greater part of every morning wishing I had gone without breakfast for I was continually reminded of it by the uncomfortable distressed state of my stomach. How much ability I lost through this I could not tell you but now all is different for I eat some fruit and a saucer of Grape-Nuts and work hard all morning and never think of my stomach until lunch time comes.

"I feel the good effects of Grape-Nuts in a sharpened brain, better memory and increased thinking capacity. The only difficulty I have about it is that I never want to limit myself to the required amount for I love it so." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There is a reason why Grape-Nuts sharpens the brain.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT

The Great Slash Knife in Mann's Factory Does Terrible Work

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Robert Hagerman, a lad of 16, who lives with his parents at 26 London street, met with a terrible accident, whereby he lost all the fingers of his left hand.

The young man has been employed by Mr. Earnest Mann to assist in the manufacture of cheese boxes in Ashburnham, and was sent to bring the hoops away from the slash knife, an immense blade, about 6 feet long, and which was moving at the time, and although the lad had no occasion to go near this machine, he laid down a number of these hoops and went over to stop the motion of the knife by placing the stick in position which puts the machine out of gear. It is supposed that he forgot about the knife and placed his hand directly under the ponderous blade which, coming down, severed all four fingers completely close to the palm of the hand.

The poor fellow ran immediately to his fellow laburers, and showed them waht had happened. His companions tied up the wounded member as quickly as possible, and hurried him to the office of Dr. Brown, who attended to his injuries, and placed him in the Nicholls Hospital, where he rested as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

This is the second very severe accident which has befallen this rather unfortunate lad. Some years ago he lay unconscious for 14 days, on account of a collision while out coasting on the hills in Port Hope.

His many friends and acquaintances will be sorry to hear of his misfortune and will be sorry to think that he must go through life thus maimed.

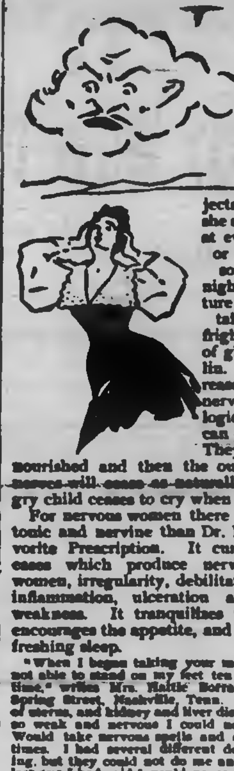
Servant Wanted

WANTED—A maid servant. Apply until 1 o'clock to-day to Mrs. Cumberland, at Snowden House. Afterwards to Lakefield, either in person or by letter.



When a woman is nervous her imagination gives fantastic and threatening shapes to the most familiar objects. By day she starts in fear at every sudden or unfamiliar sound. By night the furniture of her room takes on affrighting forms of ghost or goblin. You can't reason with the nerves. Neither logic nor love can quiet them. They must be nourished and then the outcry of the nerves will cease as naturally as a hungry child ceases to cry when fed.

For nervous women there is no better tonic and nervine than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the diseases which produce nervousness in women, irregularity, debilitating drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite, and induces refreshing sleep.

"When I began taking your medicine I was not able to stand on my feet ten minutes at a time," writes Mrs. Hattie Borradaile, of 117 Spring Street, Nashville, Tenn. "Had falling of uterus, and kidney and liver disease, and was so weak and nervous I could not keep still. Would take nervous spells and almost die at times. I had several different doctors attending, but they could not do me any good. The last one I had said I would never get up again. Told him that I was taking your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and he said, 'Might just as well take that much water each day.' But I thought I would give the medicine a fair trial. Before I had finished the first two bottles I was able to get outside the house and walk around the yard. I kept on taking the medicines and they cured me."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

EMIGRATION TO CANADA IS PLAYING HAVOC WITH BUSINESS IN BRITAIN

Scotland is Suffering, The Steamship Combine, A Canadians Suggestion

Relieve the Scarcity of Labor in South Africa by Importing Coolies

Rumors That Canadian Pacific Has Thrown in its lot With Combine

London, June 2— Edinburgh shopkeepers and small house owners are suffering by emigration Canadawards. May term, day found the house agents with an unusual number of unlet dwellings and business premises, while the rents of many smaller shopkeepers are over [illegible]. The exodus to Canada is blamed. There were 19,000 emigrants from Scotland last month, as computed with 10,000 in April, 1902.

The Steamship Combine.

London, June 2—There is a persistent rumor that the steamship department of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is making arrangements with the North Atlantic Shipping Conference so that the Conference agents may book freight and passengers by the C.P.R. boats and vice versa. This may mean that the Conference has found the Canadian Pacific too strong a competitor and has yielded, or that the Canadian Pacific has been forced to forsake its independence and join the conference.

A Canadians' Suggestion.

London, June 2—Capt. H. G. Joly de Lotbiniere, late officer in charge of the native refugee camps in South Africa, and a son of the Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia, in a letter to The Times, advocates solution of the Transvaal labor difficulty, by the importation annually of 20,000 natives from India on a two years' contract at 26 rupees equivalent to $12 a month.

The Eternal Dreyfus Case Has Forged to the Front

The eternal Dreyfus case has forged to the front once more. On April 21 the former French military Captain petitioned the Minister of War to grant him another trial, though this spectre of the army, according to the "Figaro," is now under private enquiry. Up to the time of his last awakening Dreyfus has been living quietly in Paris. The points on which he relies for a reopening of the case are improper influence on the Rennes court by the introduction of the annotated document ascribed to Emperor William, the false testimony of Cernuschi, one of the witnesses, and new evidence, not specified. Dreyfus letter is couched in the most dramatic style. He calls attention to his "most horrible suffering and says "falsehood and deception have stabbed me in the back." The revival of this celebrated case recalls the great "beat" of the "Figaro," which in some manner unknown secured and published the testimony taken on the Dreyfus trial by the criminal branch of the Court of Cassation—a prize coveted by every journalist in Paris.

TWO HUNDRED KILLED BY GEORGIA CYCLONE

Awful Calamity at Gainsville Georgia

Atlanta, Georgia, June 3. — News has been received from Gainesville by long-distance telephone that the town was struck by a terrific tornado, killing probably one hundred persons, unroofing the city hotel and other large buildings and destroying the Gainesville cotton mills.

The death list will not be known until the debris is cleared away. The greatest loss of life is reported in the destruction of the cotton mill, where about eighty are believed to be killed and a score injured. Eighteen persons were killed in the city between the centre of the town and the railway station, where four large stores were blown down.

The storm has driven many people into the stores for refuge and they were probably all killed.

There were 500 at work in the cotton mills when the storm came. The mill was a three story building.

Atlanta, Ga., June 3.—2.30 p.m.—The reports from Gainesville now place the loss of life at 200.

PREMIER ROSS A SICK MAN.

Toronto, June 3.—There is no disguising the fact that Premier Ross is far from well. His ashen face and weak appearance are outward proof of his condition. It is improbable that he will be able to fight much longer without rest. His physician is known to have urged a rest, and while no immediate danger is apprehended, a complete breakdown is almost certain unless relief from worry and overwork is afforded.

TROUBLES OF RUSSIA

Ministers Endeavoring to Find Solution of the Difficulties

St. Petersburg, June 3. — Three cabinet meetings have been held within ten days to discuss internal political conditions. A newspaper correspondent learns from a trustworthy source that the ministers, without exception, regard the outlook as serious and that important reforms are necessary for the maintenance of social order.

M. De Witte, Minister of Finance, demanded a policy of universal retrenchment on behalf of the taxpayers and warned the Government that finances of the empire would not bear further reckless colonial and military expenditure.

Gen. Kouropatkin, Minister of War, stated that revolutionary outbreaks on a large scale are likely to happen at any moment and must certainly come within a few years, unless forestalled by statesmanlike measures for popular conciliation.

Mr. Von Plehve, Minister of the Interior, advised the issue of manifestoes promising reforms, together with severe police measures, pending the formulation of a comprehensive policy, dispelling discontent. Meanwhile labor disturbances in several districts are requiring the intervention of troops.

TWO BOYS PERISH

Two Lads Miserably Perish in the Fire at Eton College

London, June 3.—Two boys, each fourteen years old, were burned to death in a fire which gutted one of the master's houses at Eton College early this morning. There were 33 students in the house, and the survivors, clad in their night clothes, had great difficulty in escaping, many scrambling from the windows down the ivy covered walls of the house. The work of rescue was considerably delayed owing to some of the windows of the house being barred. The incineration of the two students is attributed to this fact.

The annual celebrations, June 4th, have been abandoned. King Edward, Queen Alexandra and the Princess of Wales all of whom were at Windsor Castle, were greatly concerned and sent frequent inquiries about the boys.

Bush fires are raging in all directions around Vankleek Hill, and whole fields of spring crops are being destroyed.

WEDDING DEFERRED

Unexpected Illness of Mr. H. B. Robertson of British Columbia Causes Delay

The very many friends and acquaintances and the whole community will deeply sympathize with Miss Helen Rogers, in the postponement of her marriage to Mr. H. B. Robertson, of Victoria, B.C.

The wedding, which was to have taken place this morning, is indefinitely postponed on account of Mr. Robertson's contracting diphtheria, and has been removed to St. Joseph's Hospital to undergo treatment. He is not seriously ill at all, and feels the confinement very keenly, not so much on his own account, as the disappointment and sorrow caused to his beautiful affianced, and interesting friends.

It is sincerely hoped that his recovery will not be long delayed.

$10,000 DAMAGES CLAIMED

Mr. W. J. Kearns of Town Sues the Bank of Ottawa for Large Amount

A heavy suit for damages against the Ottawa Bank has arisen out of some dealings with the Temiskaming Railway contracts at North Bay. W. J. Kearns, merchant and contractor, doing business at Peterborough and the Soo, has commenced an action against the bank for $10,000 damages for "malicious prosecution and false arrest."

It seems that Kearns went to the North Bay branch of the defendant bank, and obtained from the manager, William Kingsmill, an advance of $50 on a note signed by the firm of Kearns & Pelangio. This money Kearns said was to be used for the purpose of purchasing supplies to carry out a contract he and his partner, James Pelangio, had on the railway. Before the note came due this contract was rescinded, and when it did become due Pelangio repudiated not only the note but also the partnership, and denied all knowledge of the $50. Acting on this statement, the manager of the bank had Kearns arrested, charged with "obtaining money under false pretences," but the magistrate immediately dismissed the case, whereupon Kearns brought the present action.

The matter came up in Toronto yesterday on a motion by the plaintiff to strike out of the bank's defence all references to the statements of Pelangio, which the plaintiff says are not relevant to the case.

"CAP." SULLIVAN HAD A PARTNER

Who Was an Official of the Crown Lands Department.

A full attendance of members of the Public accounts Committee were on hand yesterday morning sharp at ten o'clock at which time Col. Matheson and his co-adjutors resumed their probings into the Shannon-Sullivan timber limit deal. Captain Sullivan and his son were at last present, and during the morning the Captain began his explanation of his connection with the matter. The explanation led to the interesting item of news that his partner in the deal was Mr. Theodore C. Taylor, of the Crown Lands Department, who took half of the $8000 odd dollars profit. Another interesting bit of the morning's evidence was given by Mr. Patrick McDermott, who intimated that Frank Sullivan had written him in April of last year, offering the limits for sale, and after receiving that letter McDermott had bet a friend that the limit would be sold privately instead of by public auction, as should be done.

The Hon. Mr. Davis told a reporter after the committee adjourned, that Mr. Taylor would be promptly dismissed. No officials of the Department are allowed to take part in deals of this kind.

Mr. Thomas Charlton was the first witness. He produced the cheque on the Traders' Bank for $4,500 cashed by Sullivan at the Central Canada Loan & Savings Company. Col. Matheson examined Mr. Charlton at some length as to this note, but no new information of importance was developed.

After Col. Matheson got through with the examination of Mr. Charlton as to the note, Hon. Mr. Latchford started in to make some enquiries as to the cost of getting out the timber from the limit. Col. Matheson and Mr. St. John vigorously objected to pursuing this line of inquiry at the present stage. "If you're going into the question of the actual cost of letting out the timber," said Mr. St. John, "we'll have to go into it right to the bottom."

"You want to take up time," said Col. Matheson, quoting from previous remarks of his own.

Continuing, Mr. Charlton stated that the estimate of $25,000 cost of getting out the timber was made by reference to the books kept by the firm. It included the $9,000 paid Sullivan, but did not include $2,000 timber dues. The scaler's report to the Crown Lands Department shows 1,670,000 feet cut.

"I am informed that there are from 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 feet of timber in the cut," said Mr. Matheson. "In that case, the cost of the timber, according to your estimate, would be $10 per thousand feet."

After considerable wrangling the committee ordered that a copy of the accounts of the firm, dealing with the limit in question be produced. Orders were made out by the committee for the appearance of W. J. Shepherd, Waubashene; D. L. White and J. Playfair, Midland; D. G. Cooper and W. T. Toner, Collingwood. Mr. T. G. Brough, of the Dominion Bank, was also asked to produce the accounts of Theodore C. Taylor.

Statement Produced.

Mr. E. R. Wood, manager of the Central Canada Loan & Savings Company, produced a statement of Captain John Sullivan's account with the savings department of the company. Col. Matheson seized the memorandum and eagerly scanned it for significant deposits or withdrawals during the month of September last.

On Sept. 6th, there appeared a deposit check for $2,021; on September 10th a deposit check for $900. Captain Sullivan voluntarily produced the checks in question, showing date of cashing of these checks. The check of $2,012 was endorsed as being paid to the Captain himself on Sept. 21st, by the Dominion Bank.

Mr. Latchford—That wasn't the Ontario Bank.

Mr. St. John—If that $3,000 were actually traced there wouldn't be so much smiling about it."

"You noticed Mr. Wood," said Col. Matheson, "that Gamey alleged he was paid the $3,000 on Sept. 11th, and was promised to be paid a week before."

Finally after a careful examination of checks and savings deposits and withdrawals it was found that the other large checks referred to had been returned uncashed from the Public Works Department at Ottawa on account of tenders unaccepted. There were, besides these entries, deposits of $1,500 on 30th July last, and $4,000 on Sept. 6th. These amounts are presumably the amounts received from Charlton Bros. for the Rutherford timber limit.

On the surface the investigation of accounts does not seem to show any connection between the Captain's accounts and the Gamey charges.

Offered $1,200 for Limit.

Mr. McDermott, lumberman, of South River, who owns limits in Rutherford township near the limit in question, told the committee that he had offered the Sullivans $1,200 for the limit. He had received letters from Frank Sullivan in April of last year, offering the limit for sale, and he had afterwards made a bet with a man in South River that the limit would never be sold by public auction, but would be sold privately.

Mr. Lucas—What reason had you to think that the limit would be sold privately?

The witness was rather reluctant to answer, but finally intimated that it was by reason of remarks in Sullivan's letters. These letters will be produced at another meeting of the committee.

Mr. McDermott also testified that after a cursory survey of the limit, he had estimated 1,500,000 feet of timber in sight, and made the offer of $1,200.

Mr. Pettypiece asked the witness a few questions seeking to show that it was no unusual thing to make very big profits out of buying and selling timber limits. It developed that the witness himself had bought one timber limit for $2,700 which he now held at $30,000 and another limit—No. 43 Second township—had been bought [illegible] at $30,000.

Mr. McDermott will reappear next Thursday with the Sullivan correspondence which he has gone to South River after.

Cap. Sullivan Called.

Captain Sullivan was not called until shortly before one o'clock, and his story will be further heard on Thursday morning. He was examined by Mr. Lucas, and the first questions developed the fact that the $2,000 check of Sept. 6th was cashed by Mr. Taylor, of the Woods and Forest branch of the Crown Lands Department. "We were in the deal together," said the Captain. "We were buying the limit from Shannon." Mr. Sullivan denied that he had asked Mr. Grant to make an application for the grant for him. He (Sullivan) had bought the limit from Sullivan through Grant, and because he knew from personal observation that the limit was worth considerable money.

On motion of Mr. St. John Messrs. George Cole, Clifton H. Burns, Darius Cameron of Killarney were summoned to appear before the committee on Thursday next and give evidence regarding the limit.

An order was also made for all departmental correspondence relating to the sale of berth 53, Second township to Mr. McDermott.

The people of town will have the extreme privilege of seeing Lord Minto, the Governor-General of Canada, and his estimable Lady on Friday next.

The officials of the town will entertain the representatives of Royalty from twelve o'clock noon, until 2 p.m.

The programme as outlined by Mayor Rogers at the Council meeting on Monday evening is that the Vice-Regal party be driven about town for one hour, and shown the beauties of our town as well as the large industries for which our town is now noted.

The business places are expected to be decorated as handsomely and as profusely as possible. Each private residence will also be made as attractive as each individual can afford.

The School Board has granted a half holiday to the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute, so that all may share in the demonstrations of loyalty to the Crown and respect to the King's representative in Canada.

CANADA SHOULD WAKE UP SOUTH AFRICAN TRADE

Canadaa Can Supply the Goods Now in Demand in the New Province

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S SCHEME SURE TO CARRY

A Prominent Business Man from Johannesburg Now on a Visit to Canada

Montreal, June 3—"The Hon. Joseph Chamberlain's scheme is bound to be carried out eventually, and be recognized as a good thing by the Empire, but I think it will take years to move a conservative country like England to alter its fiscal policy towards the nations of the world.

"In the meantime Mr. Chamberlain's scheme would grow more rapidly to maturity if the colonies took the initiative, and approached each other with a view to finally completing the plan laid down by Mr. Chamberlain, by linking the whole British Empire, colony to colony, and finally taking in the mother country.

"This would be done by means of preferential tariffs and intercolonial reciprocity."

Mr. J. H. Parker, of Johannesburg, South Africa, made these statements to a reporter yesterday.

Mr. Parker, who has been traveling through the United States and Canada for the past few weeks, having spent the past ten days in Canada, is amazed at the beauty and extent of the country, of which he had previously no idea. He was chiefly struck, however, with the industries of Canada, of which absolutely nothing is known in South Africa. He was astonished to find that certain articles which had always been purchased from the United States by the people of South African colonies could be purchased from Canada as well.

"It takes time to divert trade from a certain channel," said Mr. Parker, "but for years certain things which have been imported from the United States might just as well have come from this country, if only you had pushed your products and given us to understand that you could supply our needs."

Mr. Parker thinks that there are great possibilities in intercolonial reciprocity. If South Africa and Canada would mutually agree, and later other colonies would come in, it would be possible to have intercolonial free trade, with protective tariffs against the rest of the world. This would be of immense advantage and mutual assistance to the various parts of the whole Empire. If the Government of Canada would push this idea, Mr Parker thinks the South African Government would be only too pleased to take it up.

"At first," said Mr. Parker, "Mr. [illegible] excellent in the abstract, would be bad for the English people themselves as within a radius of twenty-five miles around Manchester, there are seven millions of people, who live entirely by free trade. With the Colonies it is different."

Mr. Parker pointed out the immense business that could be done between the two countries, as nothing is made in South Africa, and an enormous trade is carried on with the United States, that might as well be carried on with Canada. All agricultural implements used in South Africa are imported from the United States, from ploughs to churns; mining machinery is altogether brought from the United States; leather goods are brought from the same country. No furniture is made in South Africa, but all is imported from the United States, folded and packed carefully, ready to be put in position.

"In the next few years," said Mr. Parker, "we will be building thousands of houses, and every door and window so far has come from the United States. They are sent not in small quantities, but in shiploads. Why could you not supply these things from Canada? Then you make rails, I believe. We did get American locomotives, but found them poor, so now we get them from England. All our canned fruit we use comes from California. Think of that. It comes three thousand miles overland, and six thousand miles by sea, and yet you have a line of steamships running directly to South Africa by which you could send your goods. Cheese and butter are not manufactured in South Africa, but come chiefly from Australia.

"It must be remembered also," said Mr. Parker, "that nearly all these things come into South Africa free of duty, or at a merely nominal rate of duty, because they cannot be produced in the country, and are necessities. If these goods could be supplied by Canada, South Africa could be induced to put a prohibitive tariff on all countries outside the Empire. On the other hand, we would ask you to protect our wines and brandies and raisins and other South African products, which might eventually be imported. From ten to thirty per cent. is charged upon diamonds in the United States."

Mr. Parker spoke of the sympathy and good feeling which existed between the colonies on account of the late war. He said the feeling of gratitude to Canada for the assistance in the war was very sincere, and that was one of the reasons for South Africa wishing to establish beneficial trade relations. South Africa is recovering wonderfully from the effects of the war, and Mr. Parker stated that in five years' time there would be nothing to show what a struggle had taken place. Mr. Parker referred to the good work of Sir Percy Girouard, a Canadian, of whom South Africa knew a good deal.

"I don't think you realise all the advantages of this country," he said. "We would give a great deal for all the rivers and lakes, and that splendid wood you have here. I would not change it all for Natal though, and I don't think I could stand your winters."

Mr. Parker repeated what has been so often told, that there is not enough known of the different parts of the Empire. Many South Africans vaguely imagined that Canada was part of the United States.

Mr. Parker sailed for Scotland on the Sicilian, and will spend about six months in England.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. AND ITS GREAT FUTURE

As Viewed by a Prominent American Banker

Boston, June 2.—A Boston financial journal, in discussing a recent circular sent out from New York, which makes an attack upon the C.P.R. and the present selling price of its stocks, pays a high compliment to the road and the great future before it.

The circular in question is attributed to a "Prominent Banker" and is as follows:

"Canadian Pacific Railway stock is quoted at an absurdly inflated price. It should not sell any higher than stocks like Northern Securities, Southern R. R. Preferred or Atchison Preferred. Canadian Pacific ought to fall 90, and probably will. Railway experts consider $90 a share a very fair price for it.'

After quoting these remarks, the circular goes on to say:

What is the position of the C.P.R. financially and as regards traffic?

The position of the C.P.R. is unique, its conditions are such as to render a fair comparison of this enterprise with other railways quite impossible.

The line extends across this continent, then it has direct connections with Great Britain by its line of Atlantic steamers, and with the far East by its own Pacific fleet. Thus it is the only enterprise which has an unbroken line of ships and railway that connect Europe with China and Japan. It has also its own telegraph and express service. It owns and operates all restaurants and newstands on its line, as well as a number of high class hotels. These are all contributors to its revenue. It also owns 15,000,000 acres of land in the North-west, 3,923,000 in British Columbia, and on the completion of the Columbia and Western Railway it will add 2 1-2 million acres to its estate. The value of this real estate can be judged by the sales in 1902 of 1,560,000 acres at an average of $3.29 per acre. On 30th June last, the deferred payments on land sales amounted to $7,005,254, a sum which with land sales since then, practically offsets the company's land bonds. The capitalization of the Canadian Pacific is as follows:

Capital Stock......	$84,500,000
Four per cent. Preference Stock......	31,171,000
Four per cent. Consolidated Debenture Stock...	63,632,415
Land Bonds......	15,000,000

1902	37,503,054	14,085,913	7,709,317

From 10th July, 1902, to 1st April, 1903, the gross earnings were $6,295,255, showing a net increase of $922,083, which is equal to an increase of 15 per cent. in the business. The saleable value of the company's land is sufficient to retire its whole outstanding indebtedness, except the common stock. No existing railway is in so strong a financial position as the Canadian Pacific, nor has any line brighter prospects of increased earnings and profits. The earnings from 14th May to 21st May last, were $857,000, which exceeds those of any previous week of same date, and is $273,000 in excess of same week in 1902.

At the same price, say 127-128, the C.P.R. stock yields a return of about 4 per cent. There is every probability of the traffic being much increased owing to the rapid settlement going on in the North-West. There is not a feature in the situation to justify doubts as to the progress of this unique enterprise in traffic development, reduction of capital indebtedness by land sales, and consequently enlargement of profits.

Detroit Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

YOU PAY ONLY IF CURED.

Expects No Money Unless He Cures You—Method and Full Particulars Sent Free—Write for It This Very Day

A Detroit specialist who has fourteen certificates and diplomas from colleges and medical boards, has perfected a startling method of curing the diseases of men in their own homes, and so that there may be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has both the method and

DR. S. GOLDBERG.

The possessor of fourteen diplomas and certificates, who wants no money that he does not earn.

the ability to do as he says, Dr. S. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have strictures that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, vital weakness, varicocele, lost vigor, blood poison, hydrocele, emaciation, impotence, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but likewise all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and if you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It would seem, therefore, that it is to the best interest of every man who suffers in this way, to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the fourteen diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply Dr. S. Goldberg, 208 Woodward Avenue, Room 503, Detroit, Mich., and it will all immediately be sent you free.

This is something entirely new and well worth knowing more about. Write at once.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

Recommended to be Proceeded with at Once by Board of Works

At the Council meeting Monday night, Alderman Best submitted the [illegible] Works, of which he is chairman:

Gentlemen.—Your Board of Works beg leave to report as follows:

1. We recommend that the Engineer advertise for the construction of all the granolithic sidewalks of which notice had been given, except the south side of Scott street, and that the walk on the northside of Gilmour street be four feet wide, to be included in the contract or not at the option of the town.

2. We recommend that the Engineer's report and recommendations as to the lines on the streets upon which the sidewalks should be built be adopted.

3. We examined the petition of W. A. Sanderson and others for the construction of the granolithic sidewalk on the south side of Brock street, from Reid to Park streets, as a local improvement, and found it sufficiently signed. We recommend that it be granted.

4. That having examined the petition of R. J. Wolstenholme and Wm. Yelland for the construction of a granolithic sidewalk on the north side of Murray street, from Aylmer to Bethune street, as a local improvement and found it sufficiently signed. We recommend that it be granted.

5. That having examined the petition of W. H. Roberts and others for the construction of a granolithic sidewalk on the east side of Stewart street, between McDonnell and Murray streets, as a local improvement, and found it sufficiently signed, we recommend that it be granted.

6. That having examined the petition of S. Clegg and others for the construction of a granolithic sidewalk on the west side of Stewart street, between Charlotte and King streets, as a local improvement, and found it sufficiently signed, we recommend that it be granted.

7. We recommend that the Engineer advertise for tenders for the construction of sewers of which notice had been given, except on Hunter street, from Aylmer to Bethune streets, and on Reid street, from McDonnell to London streets.

8. That having examined a petition from Adam Hall and others for the construction of a sewer on Simcoe street, from Aylmer to Bethune streets, as a local improvement, and found it sufficiently signed, we recommend that it be granted.

9. That having examined a petition from W. H. Hill and others for the construction of a sewer on Bethune street, from Smith to Edinburgh streets, and on Aylmer to connect with the sewer to Dublin street, as a local improvement, and found it sufficiently signed, we recommend that it be granted.

10. We recommend that in future all petitions for local improvements properly signed be referred to the Engineer for a report immediately upon receipt.

11. That having examined the petition of W. Croft and others for the construction of a sewer on Dalhousie street from Bethune to Stewart streets, as a local improvement and found it sufficiently signed, we recommend that it be granted, subject to receiving a favorable report from the Engineer.

12. We recommend that the request of F. W. Doane, Local Manager of the Bell Telephone Co., for permission to place eight poles on Sherbrooke street and two on Park street be granted, provided the Engineer is satisfied that they are required to fulfill existing contracts.

13.—Your Board advertised for tenders for crushing and delivering stone, and received the following tenders: Henry Gibson, $2.60 per cord; Samuel Kennedy, $2.65 per cord, and E. J. Hicky, $3.95 per cord. We recommend that the tender of Kennedy and Gibson be accepted.

14. We recommend that the Clerk write to the Clerk of the village of Stouffville, and call the attention of the Council of the village to the fact that they were allowed to have the road roller for 6 weeks for $50, and inform them that they will be charged for the roller for the time they have kept it this spring at the same rate until it is returned.

15. We recommend that the Street Commissioner be authorized to engage a team when necessary to assist the town team in street watering.

16. We recommend that the Street Commissioner be authorized to buy a carload of soft coal.

17. We recommend that the Engineer be instructed to advertise for tenders for the construction of the sewers that the Council is in a position to build, except that on Bethune street.

18. Your Board returns to the Council for action the recommendation of the Board of Health that a sewer be constructed on Rubidge street, from Charlotte to Rink street, as a local improvement, and we recommend that the petition for a sewer on Bethune street and the Engineer's report thereon be refrred to the Board of Health.

19. That having examined the petition from R. E. Wood and others for a granolithic sidewalk in the north side of Gilmour street, from Park street to the Monaghan boundary, as a local improvement, and found it sufficiently signed, we recommend that it be granted.

Bulky Food.

There are many cheap foods that will be relished by fowls. If the blades of corn fodder are finely cut, and then scalded, the hens will relish such, and they are partial to cooked potatoes or turnips. Those who keep large flocks of ducks thicken cooked turnips with bran and cornmeal, and the ducks thrive on such diet. Meat should always be given as a portion of the ration, however, to all laying fowls.

Squash Bug Trap.

Noticing how the bugs would all fly as soon as disturbed, I conceived the plan of making a big fly trap of wire web 2 feet high, funnel shape; the lower large end 12 inches across so as to cover a large hill of squash. It is made in two parts; the inner part also funnel shape, 8 inches high, with small openings in the top that open into the larger part to let the bugs come in as a fly trap. Small tin hoops made a little rounding inside are fastened on the bottom of each part, thus holding the inner part in place and so tight that the bugs cannot escape, also can take apart to clean. I made it high so one [illegible] much. One needs a wire web a little finer than ordinary screen. It cost me put up 25 cents, but I do not have them to sell. I never saw anything of the kind before and hope that it can be still improved, for I think this a practical plan.—H. J. Baldwin, in Practical Farming.

Silver Cup Presented

Mr. Horace E. Ayres, Secretary-Treasurer of the Midland League Football Club, has received a communication from the Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary in which he states that he has presented a silver cup to be annually competed for by clubs comprising the Midland League.

This League, it might be stated, is progressing with every success, and the very best of feeling seems to exist between the competing teams. There has not been a single protest lodged up to the present time.

Change of Life

A TIME OF INTEREST AND GREAT IMPORTANCE TO ALL WOMEN.

Wrecked health is produced by neglect during this trying period, and small wonder that women look forward with dread to its coming, for if not properly passed, is but the beginning of an endless chain of troubles.

As soon as the unmistakable signs known to all women make their first appearance, Ferrozone should be used regularly, and if persistently taken will be a guarantee of happy, healthy old age.

Nothing can bring more pleasure than to know that the days of sickness and suffering are over. This can best be accomplished by building up the system with Ferrozone, which produces blood, muscle, tissue, and strength to resist and ward off disease.

Ferrozone increases the appetite strengthens and improves nerve tone and digestive processes, thereby strengthening and invigorating the whole system. It gives tone to the heart, regulates its action, removes distressing palpitations, and it lays the solid foundation of perfect health.

Ferrozone is a sensible and efficient tonic; it brings back strength very quickly, and few people are so strong and healthy, that they would not be benefited by using it.

Be advised and try Ferrozone. It is very pleasant to take, one tablet after each meal. All reliable druggists sell it for 50c. per box, or three boxes for $1.25. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

A SPLENDID PROPOSITION

Messrs. Thos. Patterson & Son, Brokers, Peterborough, Appointed Agents of the Alaska Gold Fields, Limited.

One of the best officered companies that is to be found is the Alaska Gold Fields, Limited, of which Messrs. Thos. Patterson & Son, the well known brokers, are the local fiscal agents.

The company is formed to thoroughly equip (with the latest improved appliances) and operate extensively the property of proved value, consisting of three full claims and a fractional claim on Independence Creek, near Circle City, Alaska Territory, U.S.A., and to acquire adjoining properties to increase and enhance the value of the company's present holdings, as shown on map. The following is an abbreviated description of the properties and plant of the company at the present time, extracted from the lengthy reports of A. Schuyler M[illegible], the general manager of the company, and John Pulver, mining engineer, of Cariboo, British Columbia, who have both thoroughly examined and operated the properties in person. Your attention is directed to the reports of Maxim Schumann, M.E., and Mark C. Bray, M.E.

Discovery Claim.

This claim has proven very rich. Besides the fine gold which is produced from the grass roots down, nuggets weighing as high as sixty-three dollars each were found on bedrock, a small amount of which has been cleaned. This claim is equipped with all necessary sluice boxes and hydraulic appliances.

Independence Claims, Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

Located directly above Discovery, are largely stripped of muck and debris, ready for extensive operations as soon as the improved appliances are on the ground. The equipment on the company's property consists of, in part, about two miles of flumes and ditches, about one hundred lengths of sluice boxes; also bedrock flume boxes, hydraulic pipe, hose giants, large quantity of mining tools, blacksmith shop and outfit, mess-house complete, and bunk-house for twenty men. The company owns the land in Circle City upon which is situated their large warehouse and stables, a number of mules and sleds and all requirements necessary in conducting their own transportation direct to the mines, the roads being excellent for freighting, and the distance only sixty-two miles from Circle City.

Actual operations have demonstrated the company's property to be exceedingly rich, considerable gold having already been produced from same. The lowest average of the ground already worked gave $4.60 and up as high as $40 per cubic yard. When the new plant and appliances are installed this spring, the engineer gives as a minimum of capacity 600 cubic yards per day. By taking the lowest average as yet obtained ($4.60 per cubic yard), with a capacity of 600 cubic yards per day, for 180 working days in the year, a very satisfactory result is assured — almost $500,000 for the season's work. The gold averages 850.01 in fineness, and the United States mint receipts prove the value at $17.13 per ounce. The engineer asserts that under the most adverse conditions the operating expenses cannot possibly exceed 20 per cent. of the gross revenue.

Upon the recommendation of the engineer and general manager, it is the intention of the company to acquire by purchase the three additional claims (now held under bond), as shown on the map, and marked Claim 1, 2 and 3, north of Discovery claim.

Birch Creek District Development.

[illegible] upper Birch Creek region, but little work was going on. Dawson and Cape Nome had caused an exodus of the rugged miner. Still, the country seemed to me a splendid one, especially for intelligent mining.

Hydraulic and dredging are both possible on Independence Creek. Much stripping is here of the first necessity before undertaking operations, and I would advise stripping ground enough for a year or two ahead. The ground without this moss cover will thaw out at a quick rate. Work done intelligently here will pay highly, especially so, as the latitudes of the miner are wider and less shackles put on mining as across the international border line.

Applications for stock will be received by Thos. Patterson & Son, brokers, Simcoe street, where copies of prospectuses may be obtained.

SCHOOLBOY'S UNION

Trouble with the Pupils of Shelton Public School

Darby, Conn., May 31— Seventy-five pupils of the Shelton Public School have formed a union, and yesterday they presented a demand to Principal Peirce to have the forenoon session at 11 instead of 11.30 o'clock, and the afternoon session begin at 2 instead of 1.30 o'clock.

James Brennan is president of the union and Walter Blue secretary. Willie Flynn refused to join and was thrashed by his unionist fellows. Only eight girls joined, and the others are being roundly denounced as "scabs." All the unionists are wearing badges.

Principal Peirce referred the malcontents to the School Board, and said he would punish every pupil who appeared with a badge on Monday.

Murderer Gosselin Anxious

Quebec, May 29 —No commutation of sentence has yet been received for Joseph Gosselin, the condemned murderer of Mrs. Tralan, of St Lazare, who is under sentence to be hanged at Montmagny, on the 12th of June next, and who is now confined in the district prison there. Both the prisoner and his counsel, Mr. Ernest Roy, M.P.P., are very anxious about the case, having, apparently, hoped that the Government would have taken into account the fact that both in the Court of Appeals and in the Supreme Court a minority of two judges favored the prisoner's appeal upon two points of law, though three judges in each case decided against it.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in, in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 0 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

Author of "A Boyar of the Terrible," etc.

"Oh, Denys, I can't. How can I? You don't want to be a traitor, and no more don't I. I would be a traitor if I did that!"

"Not a bit of it. It's your father's wish, and you owe him your first duty; and it's my wish, too, though it seems that don't weigh much with you."

"I wish I'd never come!" sobbed Jess "I was a fool to think you'd like it and care for me same as before."

"I do like it; and of course I care for you. You know that well enough. As for bein' a traitor, the traitoring is in staying here, not in coming away. Ain't your dad anything, and ain't I? Very well, then. You show how you consider his wishes and mine, and you'll soon see I care for you same as ever."

"I'll think it over by the time it's dusk. I do wish you could kiss me, Denys. I feel we're parting in anger."

"There's no need. I can't kiss you here in the open with all these chaps loafing round. I shall be down by that big palm by nine to-night unless I'm shot while escapin'. It'll be different then, and we'll take our time walkin' to the village."

Poor Jess returned to her tent with red eyes. Keith passed her and looked enquiringly at the girl. He had waited for the end of her interview with impatience and some agitation. Much depended upon her success with Drake. He saw her red eyes and his heart sank.

"Any luck?" he asked her softly, without stopping.

Jessie shook her head, but said nothing.

"Rome wasn't built in a day," Keith reflected. "She'll have him after a bit; maids know how to manage these things."

Keith was busy with arrangements in case of further attacks, when a shout from the bosun down at his little entrenchment caused him to turn and look round. The bosun pointed out to sea.

"Good Lord!" exclaimed Keith, rushing down towards the blockhouse.

"They can't be going to attack her in daylight—they won't be such fools. Why, Foster'll blow them out of the water in a minute!"

The "Hecuba's" large boat had shot out from behind the reef that hid the landing-stage by the village and now boldly approached the "Penelope."

"Knock me giddy!" exclaimed the bosun. "If that ain't suicide I don't know what is! Makes one almost sorry for the poor devils that have got to be blowed up in a minute. They can't have forgot the big gun!"

"Why don't Foster remind 'em? They'll be getting too close for him before he's ready. Perhaps that's what they're relyin' on," said one of the bosun's men.

Keith Adams ran up panting.

"Tom'll have to look sharp if he means to use his brass gun," he said. "Maybe he's going to depend on a rifle volley at close range."

Breathless with excitement, all hands watched the boatful of men approach the ship. Nearer and nearer they came. There were two or three men on the deck of the "Penelope," but it was impossible to see what they were about.

"They're going to shoot from the portholes," said the bosun. "They've only four men and a boy, and can't afford to lose any."

Sick with anxiety and incomprehension Keith and the rest watched the boat approach the "Penelope." Now it was but a few yards away and not a shot had been fired. What did it all mean? Now the smaller vessel had reached and made fast to the larger. The crew were climbing up on board. They were on deck. Had they arrived unobserved and captured the ship absolutely without resistance? It seemed like it.

"Bosun," Keith groaned, "what in thunder does it mean?"

The bosun sighed and shook his head.

"It looks pretty bad, sir, and that's the 'oly truth," he said. "They've got her; but whether Mr. Foster is sick, or some of his chaps has played false and given the ship away, or whether them prisoner chaps got loose and somehow communicated with the 'Hecuba' folks, after making it all safe on board, 'eaven alone knows, not me!"

"After making it all safe on board?" repeated Keith, slowly. "If that means anything, bosun, it means murderin' Foster and the rest."

"That's the very meanin' I wished to convey," said the bosun grimly. "I don't see as 'ow they was to get on board without a shot fired unless Mr. Foster was dead or dyin'-sick, let alone his three men and a boy. That there boy's generally pretty wide awake too."

Keith ran down to his own landing creek. His two ruined boats lay visible in deep water. He groaned aloud as he gazed at them. Oh! if only they could be mended fit to use! The bosun followed more slowly.

"There was those two shots the sentry heard about two in the morning," Keith said suddenly. "That's what it was, bosun, depend upon it. They made an attack in the dark. The poor chaps aboard only got a shot or two in and were overpowered. Two men watchin' and two asleep—it wasn't fair on them. I wish to heaven we had left poor Foster a few more men."

"Another couple or so of chaps might have helped and might not. It might only have meant another two good men murdered in the dark. It's a bad business, Mr. Adams, and there's no manner of doubt about it. What's to be done now?"

"Attack the village—how'd that be? They'd come swarmin' back in their boat and we might put in such a volley as would kill most of 'em at one go. Then we might re-take the boat and retake the 'Penelope,' too."

"It's a dangerous game to go for the village where the chaps can sit in the huts and shoot us down without bein' seen themselves. If anyone could swim out, now, soon as it's dark, and cut the line what's holdin' the boat to the ship's side——"

"Stop—let me think, bosun. Swim out when it's dark, cut the line, and return to shore in the boat. Why, then they'd be prisoners on board and unable to get back, wouldn't they? Upon my word, it's a good thought, dash me if it ain't!"

"It'd be a dangerous game, sir. The 'Penelope's' a good half-mile away. I ain't no swimmer myself—can't swim two yards, not without one foot on the bottom."

"I could swim it," said Keith, reflectively, "if I wasn't afraid of the sharks. Not that I've seen any about here that I can remember."

"I'd rather someone else did it, sir," said the bosun. "I would indeed, though it ain't sharks I'm thinkin' of. We couldn't spare you if anything was to happen."

"Oh, I should take good care of myself if anything was to happen." Keith did not explain what he meant. As a matter of fact, he scarcely knew what [illegible]

Boston's Italian Palace.

The people of Boston have at length had an opportunity to inspect Mrs. "Jack" Gardner's Italian palace, or museum—Fenway Court it is now called—which was brought over almost stone by stone and set up with great care in the outskirts of the Hub City. Outwardly the buildings are not at all imposing — high and long plain walls broken by the simplest possible windows and surmounted by a slant red-tiled roof pitched barely enough to let the rain flow off. But within, the courtyard is said to be beauty itself, and all the rooms are of palatial proportion and mediaeval magnificence. In the main part of the house are a Dutch room, a Persian room, a Japanese room, and an Italian room, each furnished in the style of the country whose art it is supposed to represent. The music room is the largest of all the rooms in the palace, being two storeys high, and it is claimed also to be the largest apartment in any private house in this country. It is fitted with a stage, and its acoustics are practically perfect. Fine specimens of Roman seats are about the walls, and Cleopatra's dais has a prominent place In this room doubtless will be held the more important social functions given by Mrs. Gardner. A Chinese room, replete with treasures of the Orient; a leather room, in which the "Crowning of Hebe" is done in colors of wonderful softness; many living rooms for the accommodation of Mrs. Gardner and her guests, are other features of the palace. In the chapel, which was dedicated by a High Church clergyman of Boston at a midnight mass which set the whole city by the ears, Crabach's "Adam and Eve" is conspicuous, as is also the Botticelli "Madonna," which cost its present owner $63,000, the Italian Government no end of trouble, and Prince Chigi very many uncomfortable hours.

"The existence of such an artistic house as this, in an American city, is of really priceless value as an art education to those who cannot go abroad," says the Boston correspondent of the New York "Sun." "While reproducing in effect many of the characteristics of the stately palaces of Italy, and preserving their antique aspect by means of old stone, old woodwork, and old furnishings, Fenway Court has the added advantage of being the creation of a single person of superior taste, who has not only known how to reject the unworthy and superfluous, but also to place objects befitting their surroundings, so as to produce the best artistic effect. Old European houses are accretions of many generations, in which good pictures and bad, fine and foolish ornaments and furnishings are huddled together, often in poorly lighted rooms, without being subordinate to any scheme of general beauty. It is otherwise here, where every detail has been studied with a view to the whole, and one finds no discordant note. Fenway Court is a noble monument to its creator, Isabella Stewart Gardner."

This museum venture, by the way, is only one of the many extraordinary episodes in Mrs. Gardner's career. Ever since she went to Boston a bride, forty-two years ago, she has been attracting attention. George Proctor, the musician, has been the subject of her constant attention ever since she first saw him a sweet-faced choir boy in the Church of the Advent at Sunday morning service. She sent him to Europe to receive a musical education, she rushed across the continet to launch him properly at a Chicago musicale, but she remains ever the same mysterious woman she seemed to him that first time she saw him at the Church of the Advent, when she asked him what his hopes for the future were. Yet this is the same Mrs. Gardner who personally inspected Sandow's muscles, hired a Chinese theater in which to entertain her guests, fondled lion cubs in the Boston Zoo before a huge crowd, and once [illegible] no other way of reaching her destination. The latter is a characteristic story. She was to arrive at Gloucester at a certain hour to take a ride on the new coach then running between that city and Beverly. The train came, but there were no signs of Mrs. Gardner or her escort, so the coach driver started to depart. Suddenly cries to stop were heard, and Mrs. Gardner was discovered snugly tucked up in the cab of the engine beside the engineer. Her escort was clinging to the tender, looking very ill at ease and uncomfortable.

He Saw too Much.

As a rule an employer requires the persons he employs to be bright and acute at all times, and when an employee is discharged it is generally for not keeping his eyes open. It occasionally happens, however, that an employee sees too much for his own good, as in the case of the Virginia planter who hired a field hand.

One day the planter came along and accosted the new hand:

"Did you see a coach go down the road a while ago?"

"Indeed I did, sir. One of the horses was a gray horse, and the other was a roan and lame in the off leg."

"I thought that I heard some hunters there on the edge of the woods."

"Yes, sir. One of them was Colonel Jones. He was the tall one. The second one was Major Peters, and the third one was Tom McKee. Colonel Jones had one of them new-fangled, breech-loading guns that break in two."

"Did you see those wild pigeons fly over just now?"

"See 'em! Guess I did! There was nineteen of 'em. They lit in that cornfield down yonder."

"Well, you see too much for a man that is hired by the day. Here's your wages. When I want a man to keep watch of what is going on, I'll send for you."

How to Make Baby Sleep.

You can make baby sleep by giving him laudanum or the "soothing" stuffs which invariably contain opiates. But no sensible mother will do that. The way to make baby sleep happily and in comfort is to take away the cause of his wakefulness. This cause is located in his little inside—nowhere else. Babies seldom have anything the matter with them but their stomachs, and it is safe to say that the baby who cries unseasonably is complaining of his stomach. There is no ailment of a baby's stomach that Baby's Own Tablets will not cure right away. They make baby cheerful and happy and give him sound, natural sleep—not the drugged sleep produced by soothing stuffs. Mrs. William Smidt, Listowel, Ont., says: "My baby used to be very restless and sleepless, but since giving him Baby's Own Tablets he is better natured, sleeps better and is better in every way." These Tablets cure all the minor ailments of little ones, and can be given to the very youngest baby. You can get them from any druggist, or they will be sent, postpaid, at 25 cents a box by writing direct to the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Peers on the Stage.

The Earl of Rosslyn, who has just played an engagement in a Toronto theater, is not the only British peer on the American stage. Another is the notorious Earl of Yarmouth, who has just landed an heiress with a fortune. His engagement to Miss Alice Thaw, daughter of the late William Thaw of Pittsburg, who made an immense fortune in coal and iron, has just been announced. Having exhausted his moral, social and financial credit in England, and being in what are called reduced circumstances, the Earl, who is the eldest son of the Marquis of Hertford, came to the United States several years ago in search of an heiress, and has been so gracious as to offer his coronet to a dozen or fifteen young ladies of property. Each in turn has squelched him, and, being pressed for means to pay his board and cigarette bills, he has made use of his title in the theatrical and newspaper business, without great success in either. He wrote articles for the sensational New York newspapers for so much a column as long as the editors would pay for them, and then he played minor parts at different theaters as long as curiosity would lead people to a theater to see an actor earl.

"The word 'dirigible,'" explained the teacher, "means capable of being steered. Now, which little boy or girl can give me a sentence in which that word is used?" Little Abijah Meddergrass raised his hand. "You may tell us, Abijah." "The bunco men in New York found that Uncle Silas was dirigible."—"Judge."

The Company has three full claims, with two large veins, one sixteen feet and the other twenty-two feet at the surface, showing good gold values and strictly free milling.

The Company owns the property outright, being free from all debt and incumbrance, and in order to equip the mine with modern machinery and to continue development work, a limited number of shares will be sold for a short time only at 15 cents per share, as announced above.

A GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

Sterling Mines and Tunnel Co.

IS OFFERING STOCK FOR SALE WHICH WILL PAY DIVIDENDS BY OCTOBER

We have the ore in sight that will average $98 to the ton. At present we are erecting a shaft house, and installing machinery to sink the Beaver shaft [illegible] feet; we are now but 130 feet deep and the ore shows for over 60 feet. In addition to our Beaver, Sewell and [illegible], which are producers, we have one of the best Tunnel propositions in the Idaho Springs district, on this tunnel we will cut 23 veins which are owned by the Sterling Company. We ask you to buy stock in order to drive this tunnel, and at the same time give you an interest in our producing mines, enabling you to receive a dividend, and giving you an excellent opportunity to make a stake, when our 23 veins are cut in the tunnel

This is one of a very few stock companies that offer you such an investment, the reason for this is that you are buying your stock from the owners and not from a stock broker. We are running on business principles, expecting to get our returns from our property and not from the sales of stock.

Why pay 50 to 75 cents a share for prospective stock when you can buy Sterling Stock at 25c cash; 27c on instalments.

The Adams Copper Mining and Refining Co.

Owns Seven Copper Mines, all of which Show Wide Veins of Pay Ore.

One of its mines, the Copper Coin, has just been equipped with buildings and up-to-date machinery.

The company has no debts and owns its own properties.

At a recent meeting of the directors, the officers of the company were instructed to sell a small block of the treasury stock for the purpose of fully equipping more of the mines with proper buildings and up-to-date machinery, and in pursuance with the above instructions the officers do now offer TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK AT 12 CENTS PER SHARE, on easy payments, as follows: On all orders for 100 shares to 1,000 shares, $5 cash with order and $5 per month thereafter until fully paid. The management fully expects to make this stock worth par in from 12 to 15 months.

The secretary and treasurer of this company bought Gold Coin stock at 12 cents per share and sold it at $6.50 per share within 24 months.

Another officer of this company bought Calumet & Hecla Copper stock at $1.00 per share and sold it for $626.00 per share. This company paid $70,000,000 in dividends.

Adams Copper Mining and Refining Company's stock will do the same, as they have enormous bodies of ore already in sight.

WHEN TO INVEST

HERE ARE A FEW COPPER FACTS well worth the attention of all would-be investors: $100 invested in [illegible] in the Tamarack Copper Company is now worth $782; $100 invested in [illegible] in Boston & Montana Copper Company is now worth $1,[illegible]; $100 invested in [illegible] in the Arnold Copper Company is now worth $1,270; $100 invested in [illegible] in the Wolverine Copper Company is now worth $5,000. $100 invested in the Butte & Boston Copper Company is now worth $5,000. $100 invested in [illegible] in the Calumet & Hecla Copper Company is now worth $[illegible].

More money has, in recent years, been made in copper mining than in any other staple enterprise as free from the element of risk. There is nothing misleading in the statement that copper mining as a proposition is better than gold, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The most valuable mining properties in the world are copper properties.

To every purchaser of stock a specimen of ore from the Company's mines will be sent FREE.

James R. Keene on the Situation

New York, June 2.—Mr. Keene's public abandonment of the bear leadership and his return to the bull ranks is announced in the financial column of the daily papers, and his remarks on the situation are pertinent and worth quoting. He says in part: "In the past thirty years I never knew such generally good agricultural and commercial conditions to be so completely ignored, market wise money is ample for all purposes. Investment securities were never so conspicuously displayed on the bargain counter as they are to-day. Looking ahead one can see or rather discern no trouble. The recent liquidation has in my judgment, been sufficiently expensive and drastic to make the financial situation most healthy. There are lots of cheap investment securities to attract the attention of the most conservative. Where can a better proposition be met with than is to be found in the U. S. Steel 5 per cent. bonds? This fixed charge on the largest and greatest money making corporation in the world is but $25,000,000 annually. Five per cent. gilt edged and amply secured investments should in a market like the present one sell at 110 or higher. Are not four, five, six, and seven per cent. stocks attractive? Union Pacific, B. O., Atchison preferred, Pennsylvania, St. Paul, etc. are exceptionally cheap. Compare them, their physical condition, earning capacity and revenue yield with other properties, especially on a foreign country, and you will quickly see how meritorious and actually good they are. What do I think of Steel stocks? My earnest and sincere conviction is that dividends will continue to be regularly paid on steel common. This stock sells between 31 and 32 and yields nearly 14 per cent. on the investment. Thinking as I do of the common it is difficult to find words of sufficient force to adequately commend the preferred." His views are worthy the fullest consideration, and after the intense liquidation the stock market has undergone, the practical termination of the May labor troubles, and the investment demand always created through an excessive decline, it is an opportune time to buy standard stocks freely.

An Episcopal clergyman of Cincinnati was being shaved by a barber who was addicted to occasional sprees. The razor manipulator cut the parson's face quite considerably. "You see, Jackson, that comes from taking too much drink," said the man of God. "Yes, sah," replied Jackson; "it makes de skin very tendah, sah. It do for a fack."

A certain parson of the old school, who had preached a sermon of the finest, old-fashioned flavor, after deploring the new-fangled doctrines of some of his younger brethren—especially the ideas of the heaven and other historic places which they inculcated in their discourses—wound up his own discourse by saying: "As for me, brethren, the hell of our fathers is good enough for me."

At a banquet of the American Irish Historical Society in New York not long ago the chairman told a story apropos of the customs officials of the port of New York. When he was coming down the gangplank on his return from Europe he had a handkerchief over his eye. An Irish customs officer asked: "Why have you your eye under cover?" "There's a bit of coal in it." "Ah, bringing in coal! You'll have to pay duty on that!"

A Scotch laird had an Englishman as his guest during the fishing season. The Englishman was a novice at the sport. One day he hooked a fine salmon, and in his excitement slipped and fell into the river. The keeper, seeing that he was no swimmer, hooked him with the gaff and started to drag him ashore. The laird called out: "What are ye aboot, Donal'? Get haud o' the rod and look tae the fush. Ma friend can bide a wee, but the fush winna."

An aspiring Southern politician used to quote grandiloquently the familiar saying, "The office should seek the man, not the man the office." On one occasion he was observed electioneering for himself in the old-fashioned style, with whiskey, cigars, etc. Being reminded of his recent lofty utterances, he answered: "I still maintain my position. The office should seek the man; but, by gad! sah, the man should be around when the office is looking for him."

A wind is a wind, from whatever quarter it may blow. So thought the hotel-keeper in the Scottish Highlands, of whom a tourist asked: "Is this a good place, do you think, for a person with weak lungs?" "Nane better, sir, nane better," was the encouraging reply. "I have been advised to settle in a place where there is a south wind. Does it blow much here?" "Oh, aye," was the answer. "It's aye the south wind that blaws here." "But it's blowing from the north now!" "Oh, aye, sir, it's a' one. It's the south wind a' the same, sir, on its road back agin."

FACES MURDER CHARGE

Thomas Gauthier Under Arrest for Killing Joseph Veilland

Ottawa, June 2.—Joseph Veilland, shantyman, of Nasham Mills, is dead, of injuries received at the hands of Thomas Gauthier. The latter, after a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Talbot, was released on bail to appear for trial on June 3. Upon the death of his victim a charge of murder was entered against Gauthier and Constable Groulx had been sent to effect his arrest. The assault happened last Saturday at Nasham Mills. Veilland, with three or four companions entered Gauthier's house and he, supposing them to have intentions of violence against himself, picked up a stick of wood and dealt deceased the blow which resulted in his death.

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU CAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL

Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the

ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y

in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory

lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects.

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share. This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that. It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

GORGEOUS JUNE WEDDINGS

THREE MATRIMONIAL EVENTS OF GREAT LOCAL INTEREST

Nuptials of Miss Catherine Hall and Mr. W E. Burns—Miss Hettie Burnham Married to Mr. C. H. Geale—A Cathedral Wedding

GEALE—BURNHAM.

At St. Luke's church yesterday morning a very pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., assisted by Rev. W. Baynes Reed, when Miss Hettie Amelia Burnham, daughter of the late John Burnham, M.P., was married to Mr. Charles Henry Geale, of Toronto.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Burnham, and Mr. Herbert Geale, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman.

A reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother, Lake street, Ashburnham, at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Geale left on the noon train for Montreal and points east, carrying with them the best wishes of a host of friends.

COUGHLIN—McCAULEY.

Yesterday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Peter's Cathedral a very pretty wedding took place when Miss Anne McCauley and Mr. Daniel Coughlin, of Peterborough, were united in marriage by Rev. Father McColl.

The bride was charmingly attired in a dress of white silk, trimmed with Valenciennes lace and wore a white embroidered hat, trimmed with orange blossoms and carried a lovely boquet of American Beauty roses. She was assisted by her sister Miss Agnes McCauley, of Rochester, who was attired in white organdie, trimmed with lace insertion. The groom was supported by Mr. John O'Connell, of Peterborough.

Among the guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Kopeland, of New York. Numerous congratulatory telegrams were received from out-of-town friends.

After a few weeks' honeymoon on the upper lakes, the happy young couple will take up residence in Peterborough.

BURNS—HALL.

A very pretty and interesting wedding was celebrated yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at "The Roselands," the home of Mr. Adam Hall, No. 300 London street, when his eldest daughter, Miss Catharine Mary, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. William Ernest Burns, barrister, of Victoria, B.C. Rev. Dr. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. J. A. Wilson, assistant pastor, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of invited guests.

A dainty gown of white embroidered chiffon, over white satin, with the orange blossoms and bridal veil, was worn by the bride, who carried a handsome shower boquet of roses. The bride also wore a magnificent pearl and turquoise necklace, the gift of the groom.

Miss Lillian Burns, sister of the groom, and Miss Agnes Hall, sister of the bride, were the bridesmaids, and were most becomingly gowned in silk pleated, white crepe de chene and wore hats composed of white tulle and adorned with pink roses. Dr. W. D. Keith, of Victoria, B.C. supported the groom. The groom's gifts to the bridesmaids were nugget brooches. The going-away gown of the bride was tailor-made of blue cloth, with a white waist of tussore silk with a hat of blue and green foliage to match.

A magnificent array of presents were received by the bride, who is one of the most popular young ladies in Peterborough, and who will be much missed from the social circles of the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns left on the 6.10 C.P.R. train for the Coast and will [illegible] and Glacier.

The guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Burns and the Misses Burns, Miss Margaret Keith, Mrs. Foxley, Mr. B. A. Craig, Mr. C. E. Bunting, Mr. C. A. Partridge, of Toronto; Dr. and Mrs. Kneely, of Ottawa; Miss Gibson and Mr. P. Alexander, of Hamilton, and Mrs. McLaglan.

Fenian Raid Land Grants

One of our Fenian Raid Veterans, says the Lindsay Post, who took up his free grant of 160 acres in the New Liskeard (Temiscamingue) district, last fall, received a letter the other day that aroused mixed feelings in his breast. It enclosed a tax slip from the township clerk calling for the payment of the school rate on an assessment of $500. The rate is not a light one, and as the owner would gladly accept $250 for his land, he thinks he should consider himself a victim as well as a veteran. There is a bright side, however. In conversation with Capt. Hunter, implement agent, on the subject of these grants, he informed our representative that his brother, Col. Hunter, located 70 claims for veterans in New Ontario last winter, and within three months one man was offered $3,000 for his section.

—The C.P.R. announces a change of time table to take effect on June 7th.

EXPERT TESTIMONY

Coffee Tried and Found Guilty

No one who has studied its effects on the human body can deny that coffee is a strong drug and liable to cause all kinds of ills, while Postum is a food drink and a powerful rebuilder that will correct the ills caused by coffee when used steadily in the place of coffee.

An expert who has studied this subject says: "I have studied the value of foods and the manufacture of food products from personal investigation and wish to bear testimony to the wonderful qualities of Postum Cereal Coffee. I was an excessive coffee drinker, although I knew it to be a slow poison. First it affected my nerves and then my heart, but when once I tried Postum I found it easy to give up the coffee, confirmed coffee fiend though I was.

"Postum satisfied my craving for coffee and since drinking Postum steadily in place of the coffee all my troubles have disappeared and I am again healthy and strong.

"I know that even where coffee is not taken to excess it has bad effects on the constitution in some form or other and I am convinced by my investigation that the only thing to do if health and happiness are of any value to one is to quit coffee and drink Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The Dinner Pail

Of the American working man is generally well filled. In some cases it is too well filled. It contains too many kinds of food, and very often the food is of the wrong kind—hard to digest and containing little nutrition. As a consequence many a working man develops some form of stomach trouble which interferes with his health and reduces his working capacity.

Where there is indigestion or any other indication of disease of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition, the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will almost invariably produce a perfect and permanent cure.

Mr. Thomas A. Swarts, of Sub Station C, Columbus, O., Box 103, writes: "I was taken with severe headache, then cramps in the stomach, and my food would not digest, then kidney and liver trouble and my back got weak so I could scarcely get around. At last I had all the complaints at once, the more I doctored the worse I got until six years passed. I had become so poorly I could only walk in the house by the aid of a chair, and I got so thin I had given up to die, thinking that I could not be cured. Then one of my neighbors said, 'Take my advice and take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and make a new man out of yourself.' The first bottle helped me so I thought I would get another, and after I had taken eight bottles in about six weeks, I was weighed, and found I had gained twenty-seven (27) pounds. I am as stout and healthy to-day, I think, as I ever was."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

VICTIMS OF FLOOD ARE GOING INSANE

Several Have Already, Owing to Their Terrible Condition Committed Suicide

THE AWFUL CALAMITY IN NORTH TOPEKA

Vivid Sketch of The Suddenness of the Catastrophe by Rev. Charles M. Sheldon

Topeka, Kan., June 4.—Men, women and children, victims of the awful floods which have practically swept away North Topeka, are going insane. Several have committed suicide, unable to wait longer for rescue or because they were helpless to save dear ones.

The water, which has been a surging ocean for three days, is now falling. While last night the air was filled with screams for help and the crack of pistols, to-day the situation is more hopeful.

Thieves and ghouls are at work among the dead and ruins, and the police and militia have orders to shoot all who are caught looting.

In describing the scene, Rev. Chas. M. Sheldon, says: "In ordinary times the Kaw River is a harmless stream, navigable only by courtesy, and used principally in summer time for its supply of building sand. Last Friday night this quiet body of water developed into a monster of destruction, to the astonishment and terror of some ten thousand people living on the north side. As if it had burst out of the ground under their feet, people saw the water whirl around their churches, their business blocks, and their homes, and in less than six hours there was not a dwelling in North Topeka standing on dry land. Saturday morning those living in cottages climbed trees for their lives. How many fell, chilled and exhausted by the bitter cold rain of Saturday night is not known, but the heroism of the people rose to the occasion faster than the water provoked it. There are heroes in plenty among the rescuers and rescued. They will stand in the history of Topeka as a monument for all time to come of the unprecedented flood of 1902."

LOSS WAS EXAGGERATED.

Topeka, Kansas, June 4.—It is now believed that the total number of lives lost in the flood here will not exceed 20. No lives were lost, and only eight buildings were destroyed in the fires. Early reports were unavoidably exaggerated.

About 200 people are still at North Topeka, 150 of them being in the upper story of the woollen mill. They are well fed.

The property loss, from the best estimates now possible will amount to approximately $1,000,000. Water in North Topeka is seven feet deep. While the 200 people quartered in the second stories of various buildings have plenty of food, they are in great need of good drinking water, which is being supplied as rapidly as possible in barrels and cans.

The great fear at present is that some of the buildings in North Topeka may collapse and cause further loss of life.

DESTROYED BY CYCLONE

Awful Damage by Storm Near Atlanta

Eighty-Five Persons were Killed and Much Valuable Property Destroyed in a Few Hours

Gainesville, Ga., June 2—A tornado of terrific force struck this city this afternoon, causing fearful loss of life in this city and New Holland and White Sulphur. As near as can be calculated, the result was 85 men, women and children dead, and perhaps 40 more fatally injured, with a property loss of something like $500,000. The death list is yet imperfect, not all the bodies having been recovered and identified. Many of them were mangled beyond recognition.

The storm appeared suddenly a little before 1 o'clock, and, within two minutes it had killed nearly 100 persons, torn two stories from the five-floor brick factory of the Gainesville Cotton Mills, demolished almost 200 cottages, razed two brick stores to the ground, and blown down innumerable outbuildings. By what resembles a miracle, the tornado's fury was confined to the outskirts of the city, the main business and residence portion not being touched. Torrents of rain accompanied the wind, but, within five minutes after its first onslaught, the sun was shining upon a scene of fearful desolation.

Mainly Cotton Mill Hands.

The list of the dead is confined mainly to operatives of the Gainesville Cotton Mills and the Pacolet Cotton mills, and two-thirds of them were women and children. The tornado did its appaling work in such an incredibly short time that it is difficult to obtain a coherent description of its character. It appears to have swept down from the southwest, striking the Gainesville Mills with a roar like the report of artillery. After lifting two stories from this structure, it swept to the northward, leaving a trail of destruction along Summit street, which is inhabited almost exclusively by negroes. Nearly 100 cottages of colored people on this street were levelled to the ground, but, by a fortunate circumstance, the tenants were mostly absent, having left the city in the morning to take part in a picnic.

Says 200 Dead.

Atlanta, Ga., June 3 — Governor Terrel tonight issued a proclamation saying about 200 were dead at Gainesville, and 1000 in need of relief. He calls on Georgians to send relief.

Flood Lost at Kansas City

Kansas City, June 3 —The total death list in this vicinity, according to the statements of the Chief of Police of both Kansas cities, will not, up to 3.30 this afternoon, exceed 20. These deaths occurred at different points, no two of them taking place at any one point.

The first direct information from Armourdale since yesterday was obtained this afternoon by river men acting for Swift & Co. By making a wide circuit they were able to float into the packing house district. There has been no loss of life during the past twelve hours.

A BRIDGE COLLAPSED.

Kansas City, Mo., June 4. — The flood situation showed no improvement this morning, except the fires, which it was feared last night would spread, were put out by the rain and the flood. So far as rail communication was concerned the city was almost an island. The only communication, and that uncertain, was by a road running south-east.

Manufactories on high ground were compelled to shut down owing to the almost total shutting off of the water supply. No street cars were running nor were any railway trains going south to or from the city, north, west or south.

Great anxiety is felt for the safety of the people of Kansas City, Kansas. There has been no communication with that city since yesterday, and exhaustive efforts to get word from there this morning failed of any result.

The river gauge this morning showed 35 feet, having risen from 30.7 during the night. This is nearly nine feet higher than the high record of 1881. There was eight feet of water in the Union station today.

A great swirling lake, dotted with floating cottages, trees, telegraph poles and other wreckage covers the lowlands as far as the eye can reach. Similar floating objects came rushing down the Missouri River, some of it possibly from Topeka.

The committees having in charge the work of relief and rescue were busy early, and a special meeting of the city council was held during the forenoon. Thousands of refugees at convention hall made their breakfasts from the liberal rations issued by the relief committee.

A message from Kansas City, Kan., by way of Leavenworth, early to-day, says 27 men were on the Union Pacific bridge which spanned the Kansas River, when it went down, and all of them were drowned.

ANARCHISTS ARRESTED

They are Suspected of Plotting Against Italy's King

Paris, June 4.—A despatch to the Patrie from Marseilles says three Anarchists have been arrested at Mentone on suspicion of being engaged in a plot against King Victor Emanuel on the occasion of his approaching visit to Paris. Five other suspects escaped. The police found incriminating papers on the arrested men.

LORD ROBERTS'S VISIT

He will Come to the United States in His Official Capacity

London, June 5—It is stated that when Lord Roberts, Commander-in-Chief of the Forces, goes to the United States in August, it will be in his official capacity. The King has expressed a wish that his trip shall be regarded as an official one, in return for the recent visits of distinguished American military officers to Great Britain.

Lord Roberts will remain in America for a month, and will probably be present during the race for the America's Cup in New York harbor.

MARRIES HIS DIVORCED WIFE

Dr. East Has Now Married Two Women Seven Days

Guthrie, Okla., June 5—Dr. T. H. East, a wealthy brigade surgeon in the Spanish-American war, and formerly city physician of Chickasaw, I.T., and Miss Tessie M. East, his divorced wife, were again married there yesterday. Dr. East has married two women seven times in all. The successive marriages were necessitated by failure to observe technicalities in the marriage law of the Chickasaw Indian Nation and the Federal Government. His second wife died only two months ago.

The Customs Revenue

Ottawa, June 4.—The Customs revenue for eleven months ending May 30, was $33,039,974, an increase of $3,874,397, compared with the same period of last year. For the month of May only the customs receipts aggregated $3,061.27, a gain of $274,291 over the same month of 1902.

Rebellion in Yun Nan

Paris, June 4.—A despatch received here from Saigon, capital of French Indo-China, says Governor-General Beau has been detained in Tonquin by the serious conditions prevailing in the adjoining Chinese provinces of Yun Nan, where the rebellion is spreading. Two hundred French subjects are surrounded at Yung Nan Fu, and Mong Tse Railway works are interrupted.

M'WILLIAMS—SHEPPARD

Dr. Victor Howard McWilliams Weds a Toronto Bride

All Saints' church was prettily decorated with palms and white flowers today for the marriage of Miss Josephine Gordon Sheppard, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Sheppard, to Dr. Howard Victor McWilliams, of Peterborough, which took place at half-past two o'clock. The Rev. Arthur Baldwin, rector of the church, performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Joseph Sheppard, of Goldwater, cousin of the bride. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely robe of white Duchesse satin, with a bertha of rose point lace, the gift of her mother. This lace has an unique interest, it being the work of an old lady of 86 years of age, a friend of the family, who has been working on it for two years. The skirt of the gown was slashed up to show fan-shaped ruffles of chiffon, topped with medallions of rich lace. Long angel sleeves of chiffon reached to the hem of the skirt. The bridal veil of Brussels lace, 150 years old and an heirloom in the family of Mrs. Sheppard, has been worn by five generations of brides. A bouquet of orchids and maiden hair fern was carried. The attendants were Miss Stainer, maid of honor and Miss Olive Sheppard, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore white organdie, with white chiffon hats, decorated with pink roses and carried bridesmaid's roses. Mr. Roland McWilliams, brother of the groom, was best man, and Mr. Norman Whylie, Dr O'Brien, and Mr. Harry Beemer, were the ushers. The ushers and bridesmaids were the recipients of gold shepherd's crook pins, which they wore.

During the ceremony Miss Adelaide Sheppard, cousin of the bride, sang the nuptial music from Lohengrin, and Mr. Blakeley was at the organ. The church was filled with a very large number of guests, many from out of town, and interested spectators; and, after the ceremony, the former drove to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Shephard, 104 Pembroke street, where a reception was held. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers, and an orchestra played throughout the time. Later on, Dr. and Mrs. McWilliams left for Montreal and Quebec, where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride going away in a suit of navy blue cloth, striped with white and trimmed with strappings of navy broad cloth, and a dark blue chiffon hat with white roses. Mrs. Sheppard, mother of the bride, wore black and white grenadine over white tafetta, and black and white hat.

Among those present were: Sir William and Lady Mulock, Hon. and Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Hon. and Mrs. Harty, of Kingston, Hon. and Mrs. E. J. Davis, Miss Stevenson, Major McGee, the Misses McGee, Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams of Peterboro, Mr and Mrs. Hall of Peterboro, Mr. W. B. Grose of New York, Mr. and Mrs Bert Whitney of Detroit, Mrs. Stoddart, of Albany, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Murphy of Washington, Mr. Fred Montgomery of Barrie, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sheppard of Orillia, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sheppard of Coldwater, Dr. and Mrs Harrison of Keene, Ont., Dr and Mrs Wagner, Mr and Mrs. F. E. Sheppard, Mr and Mrs. Stanbury Finch, Mrs Miller, of Peterboro, Miss Campbell, of Belleville, and many others.

DOMINION DAY IN TOWN

An Effort Being Made to Secure Home Attractions for the First of July

A committee of citizens met in the Town Clerks' office last night, with a view to arranging a programme of home attractions for Dominion Day. The following gentlemen were present, Mr. Hughes-Charles, President of the Board of Trade; Mayor G. M. Roger, T. E. Bradburn, R. E. Layfield, C. F. McGill, R. M. Hamilton, A. Rountree, J. M. Brooks, R. Fair, W. H. Hill, P. Campbell, Alex. Elliott, R. H. Leary, Dickson Hall and Dickson Davidson.

The question was thoroughly discussed, and the committee were unanimous that a town of Peterborough's size and importance should not allow Dominion Day to pass by without a home demonstration of some kind. It was proposed to secure the services of a first class city band, if possible, and to arrange a programme of sports on the Driving Park for the afternoon and a band concert in the skating rink at night. The Turf Club promised, if all goes well, to supplement the afternoon's events with horse races. However, nothing definite was decided on, excepting the naming of a committee to ascertain whether a good band can be obtained for the day at this late date: Messrs. Hamilton, Fair, Campbell, T. E. Bradburn and Layfield, the latter gentleman to act as chairman. This committee will report on Friday night.

Mr. Layfield will telephone to Toronto this morning to learn if one of that city's bands can be engaged (regimental preferred.)

GERMANY IS ALARMED AT BRITISH UNITY

And That Country Withdraws Her Retaliatory Measure Against Canada

A SUGGESTION FOR A COUNCIL OF THE EMPIRE

Wonderful and Far Reaching Effect of Mr. Chamberlain's Empire Unity Policy

London, Juhne 4.—Official Germany has clearly taken alarm at the prospect of British Imperial fiscal unity. The Berlin correspondent of The Times today forshadows the German Government's withdrawal of the proposal to place a further surtax on goods from Canada.

An inspired communication to The Colonial Gazette says; "We are confronted by a great process of British development. We ought not to do more than take counsel coolly and await developments. This great process of fermentation is best left to itself. By adopting more stringent measures against Canada, we should assuredly gain nothing. We might possibly introduce into the economic battle, which is now to be fought out between the English parties, an element which would favor the efforts of those who do all they can to place obstacles in the way of foreign exports to the colonies."

Thus, as The Times correspondent says, instead of an increased surtax on Canadian goods, which the German press before Mr. Chamberlain's speech encouraged to speak of as a foregone conclusion, the German press now consistently advocates lying low, quite certain that no more patent force making for British fiscal unity could be devised than the spectacle of Germany creating obstacles.

The French and Austrian press also take the situation with new gravity. A Vienna telegram represents most Continental criticisms when it says; "Mr. Chamberlain is still a schemer, but his schemes have an unpleasant trick of fitting themselves to circumstances, which if not actually existent are already casting their shadows before. As Goethe said in reference to the battle of Valmy, from to-day begins a new chapter in history.

The Australian telegrams still strike a varied note. Rt. Hon. George H. Reid, the alternative of Sir Edmund Barton for the Australian premiership, says; "Mr. Chamberlains' scheme is a dangerous experiment. Free trade meant peace. A preferential tariff, including protection, means universal conscription."

It looks as though Mr. Chamberlain had provided an issue for Australian as well as British election.

In England a truce prevails in political discussions owing to the Whitsuntide holidays, though it is clear there is more disposition to sympathetically discuss the question in all its bearings than ever before in teh history of the preferential campaign, owing to the high imperial issues which Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Balfour both declare at stake.

UNABLE TO FIND ANY CLUE TO MURDERER

The Mystery Surrounding the Death of Glory Whalen Yet Far From Being Solved

Collingwood, June 3—The mystery surrounding the death of Glory Whalen is yet far from being solved. The authorities have worked diligently on the case but so far have been unable to find any clue to the murderer.

Everything possible has been done to trace the guilty party and every clue has been carefully followed up, but all without avail.

This afternoon at half-past one o'clock the coroner's inquest was resumed. The court room was only fairly filled, the interest having abated somewhat owing to the fact that it had previously become known that the Crown had no new evidence of importance to offer. In the crowd were noticed many people from the surrounding country, including the young farmer Russell Kendall and William Crone, proprietor of the brickyard, who were with the father of the murdered girl when the body was found in the swamp. A number of women were also present.

Coroner Stephen conducted the case, and Crown Attorney Cotter, assisted by Detective William Greer, acted on behalf of the Crown.

On the opening of the inquest Crown Attorney Cotter stated that [illegible] work on. So far they had only been working on theory.

He called Dr. McFaul, after which an adjournment was made until Friday, June 12th.

Dr. McFaul filed an extended report of the postmortem, which was made on Thursday last. He also stated that the blow on the head would not cause death, but would daze the girl so that she would be unable, for some time, to recognize her assailant. He had concluded that her death was due to the bullet wound and he was convinced that the marks around the hole in the handkerchief found around her head were those of powder from a pistol fired close to the head. He had carefully examined the girl's clothing and found no trace of an attempted assault.

NO BAIL FOR STRIKERS

Toronto Police Magistrate Sends Two Men to Gaol

Toronto, June 4—"Have you got that man-with-the-loaf?" inquired Col Denison yesterday, when three builders' laborers strikers, John Simmons, William Humphrey and Robert Grindley, charged with interfering with Robert McArdle's non-union men, appeared on remand in the Police Court. Thos. Rolston, the man referred to, told the Magistrate that the defendants wanted him to quit work, and he said he saw one of the men throw a brick at McArdle. James Duncan and Samuel Montgomery, two other workmen of McArdle's, stated that the defendants had been at them several times to quit work.

Colonel Denison convicted the three men, and sent Simmons and Grindley to jail for ten days, without the option of a fine, and let Humphrey off on suspended sentence, because he had not actually been engaged in the fight with McArdle.

"If I impose a fine, the union will pay it," said his Worship, "so I'll impose a penalty that the defendants themselves will feel. These men are out on strike, anyway, and not working."

Assassin of President Lincoln

St. Louis, June 3—A Globe Democrat despatch from Enid, Okla, says:—Junius Brutus Booth, the actor, and nephew of John Wilkes Booth, assassin of President Lincoln has fully identified the remains of a man known as David E. George as his uncle. George, or Booth, committed suicide here January 14 last, and in his effects was found a letter directed to K. L. Bates, of Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Bates came here at once and fully identified the body as that of John Wilkes Booth. He then went east and has obtained positive identification of the remains from the dead man's nephew, and from Joseph Jefferson, Miss Clara Morris and a score of others who knew him in his early days. According to Mr. Bates' story he had acted as Booth's confidential agent and attorney for nearly forty years. After Lincoln was shot the assassin escaped to the Garret plantation in Virginia. According to Mr. Bates the man who was killed was named Ruddy. Being warned Booth left Garrett's and was taken care of by friends in Central Kentucky. He later settled at Glen Rose Mills, Texas, where he conducted a store for many years as John St. Helen.

Serious Bush Fires

Brockville, Ont., June 4.—Bush fires are laying waste many fine timbered farms of Leeds county, near McIntosh's Mills, in the Dobbs settlement. They have been in progress all week, and though the farmers are turning out to a man in the fight to stop the flames, very little progress is being made. Over one hundred acres of timber land have been swept already, but fortunately, no farm houses have been in the trail of the fire up to the present. The country is very dry, which adds to the seriousness of the situation. At latest accounts the wind had changed to the south-west, threatening

SIR FREDERICK BORDEN AS A RAIN-MAKER

Mayor Cook, of Ottawa, seems to think that although the Department of Agriculture cannot do much to relieve the Dominion from the drought from which it is now suffering, the Department of Militia may be more successful, for His Worship has waited upon Sir Frederick Borden to request him to have the guns on Nepean Point fired whenever there seems to be a chance that the concussion will bring down some rain. The Minister of Militia has promised to look into the matter, and it is not unlikely that the interesting experiment will be tried. The conditions which have prevailed in this locality during the last month have been very favorable for rain-making "experiments," for although eleven one-hundredths of an inch of rain has fallen during May on many evenings there have been apparent indications of abundance of rain. Not even the Minister of Militia can bring rain out of a clear sky by bombardment but during a great part of last month the skies have been so cloudy that the failure of the moisture to precipitate has been really marvellous.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

"The deadliest weapon ever seen" by General Miles is the McLean automatic one-pound gun, made in Cleveland. It is now in use in the U. S. navy, but, somewhat improved upon, it was tested on Thursday. It weighs about 450 pounds and discharges twenty-five one-pound projectiles with one pull of the trigger, unloading, reloading and firing being done automatically by energy generated within the gun on the principle of a gas machine. It can fire eight hundred shots a minute.

They sometimes say that emotional people cannot reason. Mrs. McBride, whose maiden name was Maud Gonne, supplied a striking proof to the contrary. She is an emotional person if ever there was one, yet see how correctly she reasons. At a meeting in Dublin the Lord Mayor, "Tim Harrington," as she familiarly calls him, hurled a chair from the platform into the midst of my supporters," from which Mrs. McBride infers that Tim's friendliness to her cause is not above suspicion—surely a sound conclusion. Maud went to Ireland, she explains, to make sure that, when King Edward visits the country, he shall receive no welcome from the people. She thinks things are going her way, but she is disappointed in Timothy.

Miner's Remarkable Escape

Rossland, B.C., June 4.—Superintendent Leslie, of Le Roi, had a miraculous escape from instant death Saturday. A stick of timber weighing over half a ton fell a hundred feet just grazing Leslie's head. He escaped with a four inch scalp wound, but a difference of an inch would have been instant death.

DISTRICT NEWS

APSLEY.

—Apsley Court of Revision met in the town hall Saturday. A few slight alterations were made in the roll for 1903, before adoption.

—The cheese factory is booming and Bob has his vats full these mornings, and sometimes more. However, he says, with Bert's help, he can accommodate all; so bring on your milk.

—Apsley is still on deck, and we have our little excitements just the same as other cities. Victoria Day was celebrated by a pic-nic and concert, under the management of the Presbyterian church which was a decided success, as was also the concert in the evening. The weather was perfect and all enjoyed themselves.

—Mr. J. Coyle Brown, school inspector, has been visiting the schools in this section. There is a rumor that a deputy inspector may be appointed in or near Apsley.

—Loon lake is one of the many lakes back here where the young people enjoy boating, but J——s B——d should be careful, as it is rather unpleasant taking a plunge bath. The water is none too warm yet.

—The days are so long now and evening so short that, by a special act of the Apsley Parliament, the time for sitting up with your best girl has been extended to 1 a.m., and on special occasions to 1.30 a.m. and permission given to have a slight repast. The most popular song at present is "Don't you go Tommy, don't go."

—Dr. J. R. Fraser, of Lakefield, drove through Apsley Sunday evening to attend a patient on the east road, and then went down to Jack's Lake with Dr. Bell and spent Monday with Mr. Wigg, securing some fine specimens of Jack's Lake trout.

—Burleigh and Anstruther Council met in town hall, Apsley. Among other business it was decided to ask the assistance of the County Council and Ontario Government in building three new bridges over Eel's Creek. As timber is now difficult to obtain, iron bridges will most likely be erected. The bridge over the creek at Apsley is beyond repair, and is in anything but a safe condition.

WOMEN STREET CAR CONDUCTORS

Montreal, June 2.—While being interviewed by some of the street railway strikers who were begging to be taken back, the Mayor said: "If you men strike much more you will probably never run the cars again. You are not aware, perhaps, that during the past few days the Street Railway Company has received several letters from South American cities where women conductors are being employed as street car conductors. The presidents of these companies made the assertion that women conductors were immensely superior to men; as they were more polite, more attentive to their duties and, in general gave better satisfaction than men.

One of the strikers ventured the assertion that the Montreal public would not tolerate women conductors.

The Mayor, however, took a much different view of the matter. He pointed out that women, at the present time, were filling all kinds of positions and that Montreal might yet see women street car conductors.

A SPLENDID INVESTMENT

The Two-Ten Oil Co of which Mr. Kidd is Fiscal Agent

We call the attention of Canadian investors to the proposition of the above company, of which Mr. R. J. Kidd is the fiscal agent.

The Boulder Oil Field of Colorado is now proven territory, and pronounced by experts to be the most promising oil field in the United States. As is evidenced by the number of wells now producing.

Knowing the demand for the better grades of oil was constantly increasing, and aroused by the rich returns secured by the prospectors in other fields, some capitalists secured control of several branches near Boulder and started to drill wells.

It is the quality that makes the Boulder product so valuable. Leading chemists have analyzed it and pronounced it the best illuminating and lubricating oil ever discovered.

This oil, on account of its very superior quality, brings the highest market price of any crude oil known. The cost of producing oil is less than 20 cents per barrel.

Throughout Boulder County the outcropping of the oil is found from ten to over one hundred feet in width. This sand is permeated with oil, and when put in a fire will blaze brightly for some time. Springs of oil are found in this oil sand.

The gas flow in many of these shallow wells throughout the County is another proof. At many wells a lighted match touched to its pump spout will light the issuing gas.

The present producing wells now show the oil sand to be from 1,000 to 2,700 feet below the surface.

It is also a fact that up to date no well has failed to strike oil that has gone deep enough, while every other district in the country records thousands of dollars spent before oil was found.

BUY TWO-TEN OIL STOCK.

1st. Because we have proved our land to be oil bearing. We struck oil in our first well at 2141 feet and we are now pumping and shipping oil regularly.

2nd. Our officers and directors are all well known business men, and the interest of each and every stockholder is carefully protected.

3rd. The money from the stock we are now selling is to be used for drilling other wells, it is the intention of the company to put down as many wells as possible. The more producing wells the greater the dividends.

4th. It is a well known fact that a well in this district producing 15 barrels per day will return a profit of over 100 per cent.

The following wells are all producing and pumping oil regularly. The McKenzie, Republic, Wellington, Crawford, McAffee No. 1 and 2, Otero No. 1, 2, 3, 4, Savannah No. 2, 3, 4, 5, Two-Ten No. 1, Boulder Valley, Boulder Valmont, Boulder Illuminating. Other wells are being drilled in different parts of the district.

A Startling Revelation

The Friends of Miss May McKenzie of London were Astonished to hear that she had gone into Consumption

This sad intelligence came as a shock to Miss McKenzie's many friends. In the early fall she contracted a heavy cold which developed rapidly into Catarrh, and finally made such rapid advances that the bronchial tubes and lungs became affected.

Although the doctors said nothing short of a change of residence to the south would benefit, on the advice of a Dundas street druggist Miss McKenzie decided to thoroughly test Catarrhozone, which is warranted to cure all diseases of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes.

Miss McKenzie says: "After my druggist had recommended Catarrhozone I spoke to my friends about it and they all said it was such a good remedy that I commenced forthwith to inhale it five or six times each day. I breathed it deeply into my lungs, and felt its beneficial action very quickly. It seemed to go where other remedies did not reach, and was so pleasant and convenient that I did not mind using it very frequently, which, probably, was the cause of it curing my obstinate case so quickly. Certainly no case of Catarrh or Bronchitis should go uncured if the sufferer can get Catarrhozone, which is a sovereign remedy, worthy of the highest recommendations."

Miss McKenzie's case needs no enlargement. She was in a critical condition, apparently beyond the aid of doctors' medicines.

Catarrhozone has cured her, and others in her condition should no longer experiment with uncertain, untried treatments, but should turn at once to Catarrhozone, and in it they will find relief and cure unobtainable by other means. Remember the name, Catarrhozone. Complete outfit guaranteed to cure. Price $1.00. Small size 25 cents. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

CHAPTER XXII.

Tommy Kills a Man.

On board the "Penelope" many things had happened since, some twelve hours ago, Tom Foster had contrived to extract an important piece of information from Evans. It was in the small hours of the morning and while darkness still hung like a black pall over the sea that a cutter, filled with armed men, crept out of the landing creek by Innocence village and glided noiselessly towards the "Penelope."

The good ship had shifted her position in order that any attacking party, if such there should be, might be unable to find her without much difficulty.

But though the cutter, by reason of this manoeuvre, was obliged to cruise backwards and forwards for some little while in search of her victim, the big ship was presently found as she lay looming black in the pale starlight.

The two men of the watch had utterly failed in their duties. One was fast asleep with his back planted tightly against the foremast, while the other, having walked up and down the deck until he was tired, sat down and presently dozed. Occasionally he would start up, listen intently for a moment or two, satisfy himself that all was well, and settle himself to doze again. Once, as he aroused himself to listen, he fancied that he heard a low plash of oars; but though he listened with all his might he was unable to detect the sound again.

Almost immediately afterwards, his fears having been too easily lulled to rest, a man suddenly and softly climbed over the ship's side. He saw the nodding sentry and quickly knocked his brains out with a clubbed rifle. A second and a third man followed the first, then others, scouring the deck.

The noise awoke the second sentry, who quickly leaped to his feet, dazed with sleep, and fired wildly among the crowd. Someone shot him, and he fell.

Then several men charged, shouting, towards the hatchway leading to the captain's cabin. Up the stairs to meet them rushed Tom Foster, awakened by the firing on deck.

Someone tapped him on the head before he could put in a blow, and Tom fell unconscious. He was secured and bound. The islanders searched every cabin and corner for further victims. They found one other, who, luckily for him, was fast asleep and snoring heavily. Him they secured without injury.

This man woke presently to find himself a prisoner to he knew not what mysterious enemies, and his arms and ankles tightly bound.

One individual escaped the notice of the invaders, and, thanks to their ignorance of his existence, escaped successfully.

Tommy the cabin boy was a light sleeper. He slept at this time especially lightly, as men do when they are conscious of responsibility resting upon them. At the sound of the two shots on deck he had started up in his berth, and realizing in an instant that an attack was in progress, disappeared quickly into the steward's little pantry and thence through the trap-door into the ship's store-chamber, which was a section of the hold. Tommy carried his bedclothes with him in order to leave behind no signs of the cabin having been recently occupied. The blanket would, he knew, be useful to him should he remain a prisoner for long. He closed the trap-door behind him. Tommy had rehearsed this retreat more than once, and knew exactly what he was doing. Creeping cautiously through the pitch darkness in which he found himself, he safely reached the spot which he had fixed upon for his hiding-place—a dark corner between cases and sacks—and into this he dropped, bedclothes and all, pulling over him, roofwise, a huge empty case, which rested upon those forming the walls of his cell and completely concealed him from any who might casually pass among the stores, leaving but a narrow aperture for air. Tommy had everything prepared for a prolonged stay. He had made his preparations in the evening before retiring to his berth, in obedience to Foster's advice.

The wisdom of the advice had been quickly justified; for Tommy lay long and listened, half dead with fear, in case he should have been heard making his escape. But no one came. He was safe.

"But," thought Tommy, "they'll release Evans, and one of the first things he'll do, being a vengeful devil, will be to look for me, and cut me up into ribbons, as he swore he'd do."

When Tommy remembered this he took out and gazed, half timidly, at the revolver Foster had given him. Then he put it into his breast-pocket, where he could reach and draw it in a moment.

"If he does come, he sha'n't have first say," thought Tommy. "This shall!"

But Evans did not seem to be coming. Tommy breathed again.

Up above, the "Hecuba" men, swarming into the cabins aft, scoured the place for further victims. In the berth which had been Keith Adams's they found the note written by Foster overnight, and addressed to Keith by him. This they took with them, the man who found it handing it to Finlay, one of the "Hecuba's" mates, who commanded the attacking party. Others soon discovered the prisoners and freed them. This was a matter for unmixed rejoicing as far as Inglis was concerned; but Evans, though wild with surprise and delight at the first moment, to find that he had been deceived by the cabin-boy as to the "Hecuba" party having been destroyed almost to a man, suddenly remembered that he had revealed a certain secret to Tom Foster, and his joy received a shock; he turned thoughtful and silent. What if the "Hecuba" men should discover that he had "blabbed!"

"The imp of Satan! I'll cut his infernal throat for this!" was the muttered result of a very short period of reflection. "As for Foster, I'm not safe until he's out of the way," he continued, "not for an hour."

Evans happened to be actually present when Foster's note to Keith Adams was found. If he had thought of it or guessed what the note contained, Evans would have seized it from the finder and swallowed it rather than have it seen and read; for within the envelope was his own condemnation. As a matter of fact he was thinking how best to silence Foster before the "Hecuba" people should get to know that their secret had been given up to one of the "Penelope" men.

"You've got young Foster, haven't you, lads?" he asked as he walked along the deck with the rest looking for the mate.

"We've got two chaps. I don't know whether one's Foster," said a "Hecuba" man. "We finished the other two as we came aboard."

[To be Continued.]

Drug Habits.

It is a regrettable fact, says the "Youth's Companion," that nothing is easier to form than bad physical habits, and nothing harder to break than such habits when they have been formed. For this reason the watchful care of young people during the habit-forming period of life should be the duty of parents and guardians.

Among these bad habits may be placed those little tricks of self-medication that are so fatally easy to fall into. There comes, for example, the first attack of acne, an eruption of the skin, to which many young people of both sexes are subject for a year or two. It is, of course, easier to give a trial to some drug than it is to enter upon a self-denying course of exercise and bathing, fresh air, patience, and abstinence from candy. The advertised drug may be harmless, in which case it is likely to do no good. If it has some quickly potent effect, it possesses properties that should leave it to the control of a trained physician who knows something of his patient before he writes a prescription.

Young people, fortunately, are likely to be good sleepers. When for any reason they are not, they are also likely to be more intolerant of the tedium of wakeful hours than are their more disciplined elders. Here again it is easy to experiment with some one of the many "quieting" medicines, so highly spoken of, so "harmless." A cool sponging off, five minutes' brisk exercise and a slowly sipped cup of hot milk would be much better, and would prevail eventually, if not the very first night. Many a victim of the morphine habit owes the first impulse to the self-prescribed quieting doses of some well-disguised, far-distant cousin of that valuable but much abused and dangerous drug.

It is a well-known fact that alcohol is the basis of many of the so-called tonics, and is to be found in considerable quantities in some of them. Whatever opinion one may hold of alcohol as a medicine, nothing can be said in favor of allowing it to masquerade in unknown quantities and doubtful quality in all sorts of medicines put up for self-doctoring. No more insidious plan for the forming of a bad habit could be devised. If one needs alcohol one's doctor will know it, and how much and what kind; and the safe way is to go to him for a prescription. We have all heard of the man who was unwilling to wash in the River Jordan because he expected that a miracle would be performed. The Jordan is for all of us the formation of clean, healthy, common-sense habits. Then we shall not need miracles.

In this connection the "Argonaut" points out that the health department of New York City has been investigating the adulteration of drugs there with startling results. Samples of phenacetin were obtained from more than three hundred drug stores. Less than one-fifth of these were found to be pure. Some were adulterated with greater or less percentages of acetanalid, others were pure acetanalid with no trace of phenacetin in them. As phenacetin costs one dollar an ounce, and acetanalid eighteen or twenty cents a pound, the incentive is apparent. Samples of tinctures to the number of two hundred and fifteen were also examined, and of these forty were found to contain wood alcohol instead of the real article. Wood alcohol is a poison, and in time produces blindness, paralysis and St. Vitus's dance. When examined, the dealers confessed that they had bought the drugs from peddlers at from one-quarter to one-half of the market price, without asking any questions. As large quantities of phenacetin are smuggled into the country, the presumption is that the dealers were trying to defraud the government instead of their customers. The "Medical Journal," in commenting on the developments, justly says "that it is appalling—almost incredible—that four-fifths of the pharmacists in question should be dishonest to the point of endangering life for such a paltry gain in dirty money." Undoubtedly the same vicious practices, on the part of druggists, prevail in this city.

Pasters on Luggage Taboo.

It is no longer "the thing" to have one's luggage decorated with the "pasters" of foreign hotels, steamships and railways. Young men who wanted to appear "knowing" and to get the reputation of being traveled without the trouble and expense of traveling, had their friends who went abroad send them the necessary pasters. Some even boldly wrote to hotels in Switzerland, France and London asking for the coveted bits of paper. Then when they disfigured their suit-cases with foreign labels they were delighted if every time they crossed the ferry people read the evidences of travel with awe and expressed envy and admiration in their eyes. Some even had their different pieces of baggage varnished so that the labels would not come off. Now, however, the doubting Thomases glance contemptuously at the portable picture-galleries and say to their companions: "Pooh! that don't prove anything. Likely as not he bought 'em." So now, says the New York "Press," the real traveler, the one to whom a trip abroad is not the event of a lifetime but an almost annual occurrence, tries to keep his luggage as free from foreign labels as possible in order that he may not be confounded with the spurious article.

Edison Will "Rest."

Thomas A. Edison says he is tired and intends to drop industrial science for two whole years and rest himself by taking up pure science and investigating the thousand and one properties of metals and chemicals that he has notes about in his book. He does not consider this a strenuous vacation, but says: "All I'm going to do is what every pure scientist does—the fellow who finds out the actions of metals and chemicals under different conditions and in various combinations by experimenting, but who does not apply the results industrially. Guided by my notes, I'm going to mix things in laboratory mortars and chemists' tubes and what not, and watch for results. That's all pure science does. It never thinks things out, like industrial science. It just blunders, stumbles against discoveries, while industrial science is the result, in greater part, of concentrated and consecutive thought. It will be fun, and maybe I'll find out something worth while—who can tell? Anyway, I'm looking forward to a real good time."

"Say, our backbones are like serial stories, aren't they?" "Prove it." "Continued in our necks."—Harvard "Lampoon."

Incident of the Plague in the Philippines.

A correspondent of the "Medical Record" says that in December last a padre in a northern province of Luzon told his congregation that he had had a vision in which he had seen San Roque, the patron saint against cholera, descending into a well, and that San Roque had informed him that whoever drank or bathed in the waters of this well would have no cholera, that he (San Roque) thought that his people had been chastened enough, and had come back to protect them. This announcement was made immediately after the priest had heard that cholera no longer existed in the province. Immediately following the announcement of the priest, the people of the vicinity flocked to the well by hundreds, the news rapidly spread, and within a week a crowd of thousands had collected, many coming from distant provinces and camping in the fields. It was a sight never to be forgotten to see hundreds of men, women and children, stripped stark naked, standing about the well and having its waters poured over them, while others were drinking the water and carrying it away in bottles. The conditions were present for a most virulent outbreak, for many of the faithful came from districts in which cholera still existed, and the well was certain to become ultimately infected, and prove a focus from which the disease would be transmitted in all directions. Argument was useless with the pilgrims, and it became necessary for the authorities to close the well by force and place it under an armed guard—for the people firmly believed that San Roque would stamp out cholera if they only did as the priest told them.

Manners for Musical At Homes

Don't, when asking anyone to sing or play, casually close the piano while so doing. It is a simple act, but one most discouraging in its effect.

Don't, upon hearing some one consent to perform, throw yourself back in your chair after the manner of one about to have a tooth extracted; and don't, during the progress of a song, glare at the carpet or keep clenching your hands. Neither should you draw in a sharp hissing breath when the accompanist mislays his fingers.

Don't applaud until you are quite sure a song or piece is ended. If, however, you have been led into this error, don't upon its discovery mutter "Good heavens!" or collapse farcically in your chair.

Don't, when turning over for a pianist, perform this little service in such a way that your arm eclipses the copy, for where the performer's memory is defective or her powers of extemporization nil there is liable to be a gap in the proceedings. Another mode deserving even severer condemnation is that of holding the lower half of the page firmly with one hand while turning the top part briskly with the other. This is an entirely wrong system, and with some editions comes in terribly expensive.

Don't, when asked to oblige with a selection, go through your entire repertoire. Even a cornet gets wearisome if played badly and a great deal.

Don't, when accompanying, try to cover the defects of the voice by crashing out big chords of your own invention, and never under any circumstances grind your teeth audibly during a singer's inadvertent wanderings from the key.

Don't let the fact of your knowing your notes prompt you to substitute them for those of the composer.

Don't, if playing an obligato, tune during those portions of the song where it is intended you should remain passive; your tuning may be no less agreeable than your playing, but here it is out of place.

Don't whistle while a song is being rendered. Even if you whistle the same melody and in a similar key, the effect is irritating to those around you.—"Punch."

A

GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask. What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

WILL YOU GRASP IT?

Sterling Mines and Tunnel Co.

IS OFFERING STOCK FOR SALE WHICH WILL PAY DIVIDENDS BY OCTOBER

We have the ore in sight that will average $98 to the ton. At present we are erecting a shaft house, and installing machinery to sink the Beaver shaft an additional 100 feet; we are now but 130 feet deep and the ore shows for over 60 feet. In addition to our Beaver, Sewell and Monroe mines, which are producers, we have one of the best Tunnel propositions in the Idaho Springs district, on this tunnel we will cut 23 veins which are owned by the Sterling Company. We ask you to buy stock in order to drive this tunnel, and at the same time give you an interest in our producing mines, enabling you to receive a dividend, and giving you an excellent opportunity to make a stake, when our 23 veins are cut in the tunnel

This is one of a very few stock companies that offer you such an investment, the reason for this is that you are buying your stock from the owners and not from a stock broker. We are running on business principles, expecting to get our returns from our property and not from the sales of stock.

Why pay 50 to 75 cents a share for prospective stock when you can buy Sterling Stock at 25c cash; 27c on instalments.

—One that will Increase 200 Per Cent. within a Year.—

The Adams Copper Mining and Refining Co.

Owns Seven Copper Mines, all of which Show Wide Veins of Pay Ore.

One of its mines, the Copper Coin, has just been equipped with buildings and up-to-date machinery.

The company has no debts and owns its own properties.

At a recent meeting of the directors, the officers of the company were instructed to sell a small block of the treasury stock for the purpose of fully equipping more of the mines with proper buildings and up-to-date machinery, and in pursuance with the above instructions the officers do now offer TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK AT 12 CENTS PER SHARE, on easy payments, as follows: On all orders for 100 shares to 1,000 shares, $5 cash with order and $5 per month thereafter until fully paid. The management fully expects to make this stock worth par in from 12 to 15 months.

The secretary and treasurer of this company bought Gold Coin stock at 12 cents per share and sold it at $6.50 per share within 24 months.

Another officer of this company bought Calumet & Hecla Copper stock at $1.00 per share and sold it for $825.00 per share. This company paid $70,000,000 in dividends.

Adams Copper Mining and Refining Company's stock will do the same, as they have enormous bodies of ore already in sight.

WHEN TO INVEST

HERE ARE A FEW COPPER FACTS well worth the attention of all would-be investors: $100 invested in 1890 in the Tamarack Copper Company is now worth $782; $100 invested in 1893 in Boston & Montana Copper Company is now worth $1,896; $100 invested in 1896 in the Arnold Copper Company is now worth $1,870; $100 invested in 1893 in the Wolverine Copper Company is now worth $6,600. $100 invested in the Butte & Boston Copper Company is now worth $5,600. $100 invested in 1896 in the Calumet & Hecla Copper Company is now worth $6,650.

More money has in recent years been made in copper mining than in any other staple enterprise as free from the element of risk. There is nothing misleading in the statement that copper mining as a proposition is better than gold, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The most valuable mining properties in the world are copper properties.

To every purchaser of stock a specimen of ore from the Company's mines will be sent FREE.

Send your order at once before the advance, which will certainly be made in the near future. Ten per cent. discount for cash.

STOCK MARKETS

A Strong Indication of Turn for the Better

New York, June 3rd.—Even with the flood news essentially published, in many instances it is a noteworthy fact that prices have reached a plane where the bear operators can only depress about two stocks at a time, and then by a concentration of effort directed against them. Balance of market at the time refusing to decline and holding up stubbornly. The cream would appear to be off the bear movement, and the majority of stock issues to be grounded at practically bottom prices. Specialists in the various standard issues report a steady investment absorption, and are in possession of extensive buying scale orders which would indicate good support. From now on the bears are apparently selling into a supporting scale order demand, if they are, then troubles are immediately ahead of them. After a prolonged decline, in which the entire stock list has participated, then the market reaches a point where bearish operations are carried on in from only one to three stocks at a time, balance of market coming to a comparative standstill. It is a most strong and positive indication that the bear campaign is nearing a termination, and is a harbinger of a better market. This is an old and seasoned Wall street axiom that can be banked up nine times out of ten. Earnings continue large in volume. U. P. reporting a gross gain for April, the April statement for the M. P., it is known, will also prove to be a record breaker. Stocks are at figures well worthy consideration by people with money. They are at prices that should make them more desirable to possess than their cash. Cost indications are that the decline generally is about finished consequently it would appear to be advisable to buy some thing before the swing in the opposite direction sets in.

New York, June 3.—Continued improvement, as foreshadowed in our letter of yesterday, was the order of the day. Stocks made additional gains to those recorded yesterday, gains from one half to two per cent. The buying was of the kind described as food, while the selling was more or less scattering and desultory. Some of the traders who had the courage to buy at yesterday's low prices realized upon the advance. Their offerings were absorbed with avidity. It looks as if the market had turned and was consequently a purchase whenever weak. Our advice at the moment is to buy and hold. Specially when able to do so at slight concession in prices. Money closed 2 1-2 per cent. 717,100 total.

Students of Edinburgh University who could not spell had an evil day when Professor Traill, editor of a former edition of the "Encyclopaedia Britannica," was an examiner. According to Professor Knight's "Recollections," Professor Traill one day objected to a candidate for graduation, who was a native of Ceylon, on the ground of false spelling. "Why, he actually spelled exceed with one 'e'!" said he. "Well," instantly replied Professor Henderson, who filled the chair of pathology in the university, "you should remember that he comes from the land of the Singal-ese."

The latest story relative to the methods of President James J. Hill of the Great Northern Railroad comes from a Western city in which his line has car-yards and many side-tracks. A prominent citizen of the place desired to have a subway built to his property. Its construction involved tunneling under the tracks of the Great Northern. It seems that he had experienced some delay in getting the corporation's consent, and so when President Hill passed through the city recently the citizen bearded the magnate in his car. "I want this subway bad," Mr. Hill's visitor explained. "I have petitioned your company, but without getting satisfaction. So I have come to you for advice." The railway builder smiled. "I have found," he said, "that the best plan in such cases is to go ahead and get permission afterward." The subway is now in course of construction, and no protest has been filed by the Great Northern.

Zangwill's Physiognomy.

Zangwill, in common with the late Canadian Premier, Sir John A. Macdonald, is curiously like Lord Beaconsfield in feature, though without his blandness and polish. Lean, dark, sallow, with pronounced Jewish characteristics, his face in its rugged power is far more distinguished than any mere beauty of outline could make it. And he is not in the least sensitive with regard to the peculiarities of his appearance. Some time ago, when he was staying in New York, says the "Critic," he received a mysterious letter from an individual saying that it was his one wish in life to meet the great author. At first Zangwill took no notice of the letter; but the man wrote so often and so persistently that Zangwill at last relented, and appointed a time and place for meeting. At the very chiming of the appointed hour, to him entered, as they say in the old plays, an enthusiastic German Jew, who talked and talked and talked "until he'd most took root." Zangwill's time was valuable; he had many other appointments, and, at last, gently intimated as much. Still, his enthusiastic visitor did not depart. Even Zangwill's patience gave way. "I'm afraid," he said, "I'm very busy. What can I do for you?" "Ah-h! You haf done for me. I haf seen you!" was the enthusiastic visitor's somewhat unexpected reply.

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU CAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL

Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the

ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y

in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory

lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects.

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share. This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that. It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

Tonic Biliousness

ITS TRIAL FOLLOW HORRIBLE DREAMS, DESPONDENCY MELANCHOLY AND GENERAL WEAKNESS.

The proper elements needed to promote good digestion, regularity of the bowels, correct action of the kidneys and liver, must be supplied when a bilious condition of the system is once established.

Ferrozone can't help but do this. It gives the stomach perfect rest, and allows you to partake of and enjoy the variety of food that is necessary for maintaining health. One Ferrozone tablet taken after each meal will separate the nutritious portions of the food from the waste, which is carried off, thus preventing and curing constipation and its attendant evil, piles.

Being a potent blood purifier, Ferrozone cleanses the crimson flood of all bile and impurities, and as a result the complexion is restored to a rosy, healthy hue, and the dark circles under the eyes and the deathly pallor of the cheeks, go away never to return.

Taken for disorders of the stomach, commencing with biliousness and ending with derangements of the liver and kidneys, Ferrozone achieves marvelous results. It is at the same time a tonic and stimulant, and a regulator of all bodily functions, and chronic sufferers should not fail to give it a fair trial. It will do them good without doubt, and if the malady is curable it will yield to Ferrozone.

With the use of Ferrozone appetite will be better, the blood made rich and pure, sleep will be dreamless and sound. Your muddy complexion will be cleared and beautified, your eyes will acquire a new brightness, and as your spirits rise and good health returns, you will bless the day you learned the secret of Ferrozone's power.

If you think you need Ferrozone go to the nearest drug store and procure a supply. Refuse a substitute and insist on having the genuine Ferrozone, which costs 50 cts. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

KILLED IN A RUNAWAY

MR. MICHAEL O'BRIEN THROWN FROM HIS RIG ON SIMCOE STREET

And Receives Injuries Which Prove Fatal Horse Became Frightened of the Moving Train

The many friends and the host of acquaintances of Mr. Michael O'Brien will be shocked to learn of the terrible accident which caused his death yesterday evening.

It appears that he was on Simcoe street, near the Grand Trunk track, when his horse became frightened at a moving engine and ran away. The animal dashed down Simcoe street, and Mr. O'Brien was thrown heavily on the hard road in front of Mrs. G. W. Hall's door.

Mrs. Hall saw the horse running and Mr. O'Brien fall. She ran immediately to his assistance, and tenderly turning him over, asked him if he was much hurt. He responded by saying that he would be all right in a few minutes.

This courageous lady then ran into Dr. Green's office for assistance, leaving her daughter to care for the dying man, who was removed to the green boulevard where he expired in a few minutes.

The Rev. Dr. O'Brien, who is a nephew of the deceased, was soon on the scene and carried the terrible news to the family, who are overwhelmed with grief.

The body was taken charge of by Mr. McFadden, and after being properly dressed, was removed to his late home 777 George street.

The deceased came to this country in 1848 being then only 10 years of age, and was an employe of the late Judge Hall for many years. He was for some years teamster for Mr. Martin, who then ran a flour mill, so well known to many of the residents of town. He was also an employe and great friend of the late Wm. Hall.

For many years he conducted a very successful carting business, but last fall he sold his horse and rig and retired from the business; but about two weeks ago he purchased a horse, which was rather spirited for a man of his years, and which was the indirect cause of his death.

The late Mr. O'Brien was an inoffensive, industrious citizen, whom we believe, never had an enemy, and who was highly respected by everyone who made his acquaintance.

He leaves behind a sorrowing wife whose maiden name was Susanna Geary. Five children are also left to mourn the loss of a noble and loving father. The children are: Fred. of Marcellus, N.Y.; Annie, of Buffalo; Elizabeth, Lilly and Helen at home. His brothers are —John of Ennismore, and James, of town.

At the time of going to press no arrangements had been made regarding the funeral.

A PRETTY JUNE WEDDING

Nuptials of Mr. G. H. Williamson and Miss Annie B. Patterson

At 6 o'clock last evening, the home of Mr. J. Coyle Brown, Smith street, was the scene of a very interesting event, when his step-daughter, Miss Annie B. Patterson, was united in marriage to Mr. G. H. Williamson of town.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St Paul's Presbyterian church assisted by Rev. J. C. Wilson, of George street Methodist church.

The bride was becomingly gowned in white organdie trimmed with applique and was attended by Miss Bella Best, also prettily attired in a dress of blue crepe de chene. The groom was assisted by Mr. Horace E. Ayres, town.

A large number of handsome and costly presents were received by the bride, who is a very popular young lady and a favorite with all. The groom is well known in town as the secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Some of the guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. E. Duncan, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. W. Dobie, Toronto; Major A. and Mrs. Williamson, York; Mr. and Mrs. Williamson, Brantford.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson leave on Saturday for a short honeymoon trip to Toronto and points west and on their return will reside on London street.

—Lindsay Post :—Mr. Jas. Bogue completed his cement walk contracts Saturday, and returned to Peterborough that evening in time to close a contract for the crushing of 300 cords of stone for the beet sugar factory. He is a pusher and a right decent fellow.

FOOD WON

In a Case of Appendicitis

Food cured a well-known Kansas school teacher of appendicitis. "A year ago last July I was taken sick with appendicitis and was operated upon, being down in bed for 9 weeks and although I was given up to die by the doctor and the entire community I got up again and went back to work although a wreck. About the middle of last February I was taken sick the same way but went to Eureka Springs and stayed for 6 months, ill all the time and just about half alive.

"It was about this time I received a letter from an Aunt in Nebraska telling me of what a food called Grape-Nuts had done for her and asking me to try it. I did so and in a short time Grape-Nuts had done me more good than all of the treatments put together. My case is spoken of as one of the most interesting in Kansas for I spent over $1,000 for medical treatment and finally had to fall back on food and am now getting along far better than I have before for several years. I am recuperating rapidly and getting strong and healthy again. My stomach and bowels are normal and on the whole I feel like a new man.

"I studied dietetics in my work as school teacher but never knew before the power of pure scientific food could be so great. I recommend Grape-Nuts to all whether in health or sickness, young or old." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Weak intestinal digestion causes appendicitis when much white bread, potatoes, or partly cooked starchy cereals are used. Grape-Nuts food will prevent such troubles because the starchy part of the cereals has been already changed and predigested in Grape-Nuts, therefore there is no overtaxing of the organs and no fermented food to cause trouble.

Alexander Rocke Robertson, Justice of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, to Helen Macgregor Rogers, daughter of Lieut. Col. Rogers, of Peterborough, Ontario.

—The days are so long now and evening so short that, by a special act of the Apsley Parliament, the time for sitting up with your best girl has been extended to 1 a.m. and on special occasions to 1.30 a.m. and permission given to have a slight repast. Just within her grasp is safety—but she does not see it; she is looking the wrong way. There's many a woman struggling in a sea of disease who is "doing the same thing—looking the wrong way—snatching at medicinal straws when the life buoy, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is within her reach. Many a woman has testified: "I know I should not be alive to-day but for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription." This famous medicine establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

Weak and sick women, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I take pleasure in writing to let you know the great good I received from your 'Favorite Prescription' and your 'Pleasant Pellets,'" says Mrs. Nora Gaddie, of Rio, Hart Co., Ky. "I took seven or eight bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one or two vials of the 'Pellets.' Think I would have been in my grave had it not been for your medicines. It has been about four months since I took the medicine. I was all run down, had loss of appetite, could not sleep at night, was nervous, had backache, black spots on my limbs, and sick headache all the time. I have not had sick headache since I took your medicine."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

THE COMMISSION UTTERLY DISCREDITS STATEMENTS MADE BY MR. GAMEY

Hon. J. R. Stratton Completely Exonerated--No Questions Left Open

Conspiracy Charge Is Also Disproved—Every Phase of Evidence Dealt With

MR. GAMEY SEVERELY CENSURED

Document Comprises Over 100 Pages of Typewritten Matter

The report of the Gamey Commission was issued by the judges yesterday afternoon. It contains 109 typewritten pages. It completely exonerates Mr. Stratton and the Government and comments severely upon the conduct of Mr. Gamey.

The report says: In our opinion the corrupt charges stand disproved by a great body of evidence, which appears to be more accurate and credible than that adduced in support thereof. The $1,200 mentioned hereinbefore has not been paid into the hands of the commissioners by Mr. Gamey. The commissioners have impounded two sums of money, $500, in cash produced by Mr. Gamey in the House and $1,500 represented by his marked check of 3rd April, 1903. These sums have been lodged in the hands of Court, and the commissioners advise that the amounts be carried into a separate account, to be paid out upon the joint order of the Chancellor of Ontario, and the Chief Justice of the King's Bench for the time being, upon its being made satisfactorily to appear that any claimant has legitimate title thereto.

The Commissioners exonerate the Government on the charge of conspiracy.

To the Editor of The Times:

Our citizens are requested to put on our best appearance for the approaching visit of Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Minto, but would it not look more consistent on the part of the Council if they would lead the way, and see that our streets are properly watered, at least for the day of the visit, and not have Their Excellencies subject to the distressing effects of the dust, as we have been, although we are heavily taxed for street watering? Justice Armour Seriously Ill

Ottawa, June 5.—A private cable received here from England, announces the very serious condition of Mr. Justice Armour, of the Supreme Court, who is on leave of absence owing to ill health.

Punished for Expulsion of Religious Orders

France is punished for the expulsion of the religious teaching orders, now culminating in the dissolution of the Capuchin and Oblate Fathers' congregations. The removal of the societies has taken a large amount of capital out of the country, and the stocking of the peasant, which has paid off one or two heavy indemnities has felt the strain. The enforcement of the expulsion policy is the occasion of a still more serious entanglement, for this curious and unforseen development threatened from the very first to upset the French Ministry. The industries controlled by the Societies are so valuable that commissioners from various nations were on hand with the inception of the expulsion policy, whose mission it was to secure the removal to their respective countries of the manufacturing societies.

FIRES RAGE OVER EASTERN CANADA

Blazes in the Bush Cover Montreal With Smoke and Wood Ashes

Ottawa, June 4—Yesterday Hull narrowly escaped a repitition of the disastrous fire of 1900. It was touch-and-go with the town for several hours. As it was, 21 one-storey cottages fell a prey to the flames, and 12 families were left homeless. During a strong wind fire broke out in a hay loft near the corner of Charles and Chaudiere streets. The wind carried the flames directly into the heart of the town.

The fire spread to large piles of cordwood between Bank and Woburn streets, and on the banks of the Chaudiere. These piles were tumbled into the water. The people were panic stricken during the progress of the fire, and scores of citizens carried their household goods to vacant lots. Women rushed about hysterically, and children were [illegible] was razed and the progress of the fire was stopped.

Ottawa lent fire apparatus.

The burnt district is bounded by Woburn street, Chaudiere street, Pond street, Autumn street. The total loss is $15,000.

Bush Fires in Quebec.

Montreal, June 4— Montreal took on an amber shade yesterday, and ashes fell all over the city, much to the detriment of dainty spring costumes. The peculiar condition is the result of numerous forest fires in the Province. The sun looked like a rose-colored ball, and the yellow light reflected from the pavements gave the citizens countenances of Celestial hue. In banks and offices lights were turned on early, and even in one quarter of the city, the street lights were turned on at an hour when it is usually broad daylight.

From all over the Province come reports of towns threatened by bush fires. In many places people are going about with wet cloths over their nostrils, and volunteer fire brigades are tearing down fences and plowing fire guards around threatened villages or houses.

Coteau Junction telegraphed for assistance to fight a bush fire, but the fire chief refused the town aid because the fire bells in the city were jingling like trolley gongs. A drought had added to the situation. Vegetation is suffering severely, and the small lakes are drying up. The Canadian Pacific will not sell tickets on the Labelle branch north of Jerome on account of the bush fires. The railway bridge at St. Agathe was burned, and a railway employe while fighting the fire, was burned to death while he lay unconscious from smoke. Bush fires are burning from Scotstown to Megantic, at Shawenegan Falls, around Grand Mere, and near St. Therese.

N. B. Villages Wiped Out

St. John, N.B., June 4— A telephone message says that the village of Brigg's Corner, in Queen's County, was wiped out by fire yesterday afternoon. Included in the burned buildings were the large sawmill, general store, manager's residence, four barns, and three warehouses of Sayre & Holdie, of this city. This firm also lost a large amount of sawn lumber. Their loss is probably $30,000 or $40,000, and the insurance is $12,000. Reports as to the destruction of the other houses in the village are indefinite as to number, but from a city residence who knows the place it is estimated that probably a dozen residences were destroyed. The people lost practically all they possessed. They were mostly farmers and mill hands.

The forest fires were worse than ever yesterday in many sections of New Brunswick, and there is no prolotta County, on the line of New Brunswick Southern Railway, is reported to be wiped out. The fire was reported as threatening St. George, [illegible] County. St. John was invaded by cinders [illegible] that the old rope-walk of the Consumers' Cordage Company on Adelaide road and a residence were destroyed.

Coteau Landing Ablaze.

Coteau Landing, Que., June 4—Fire swept this village yesterday, destroying seven dwellings and rendering about 40 people homeless. The estimated loss is $6,000.

Requests for aid were sent to Montreal and Valleyfield. The Valleyfield brigade responded with help and were of much assistance in controlling the flames.

A. Blaze at Lobo.

London, June 4—An incendiary fire destroyed the post office of Lobo, twelve miles from here, and the general store of Geo. F. Dean, the postmaster. The loss is about $3,000 and the insurance $1,200. The post office, books, and stock of stamps were saved.

Sussex, King's County, N.B., June 4.—Forest fires swept down on two farmhouses owned by Isaac Linden and James H. Murphy at Piccadilly, seven miles from Penobsquie on Wednesday. Both places, with barns, etc., were destroyed, and two women burned to death. Isaac Linden was away working at another farm when his place caught. His widowed mother and her sister, Miss Susan Teackles, both advanced in years, were at home. It would seem that when the building caught fire the women went into the barns to let horses out. Unfortunately they were by some means unable to escape, for when Linden returned to night he found the remains of both women among the ruins of the barn.

WIPED OUT.

St. John, N. B., June 4.—Word has just reached the city from the village of Musquash, about 18 miles west of St. John, that forest fires yesterday, last night and early this morning swept the place, leaving but three or four buildings standing.

The financial loss will aggregate over one hundred thousand dollars.

THE HAY CROP RUINED

Ottawa, June 5.—Mr. D. D. Mann, of the firm of Mann and Mackenzie, states that no negotiations are going on between the Grand Trunk Pacific and his firm for amalgamation. He states that the Grand Trunk Pacific wanted to obtain the controlling interest in their lines, but they would not allow any such bargain to go through.

"A JOLLY GOOD FELLOW"

King Edward Gets Rollicking Greeting from London Crowds

London, June 5.—The King yesterday afternoon went on the trial trip on the Thames, on a new petrol motor launch. The river was crowded with Whitmonday holidayers. His Majesty was everywhere recognized and cordially greeted. A party in one launch stood with their hats off and sang "For he's a jolly good fellow." The King laughingly raised his hat in response. Other parties cheered him, keeping him bowing.

WINTER WHEAT IN MANITOBA

Wm. Martin of St. Jean Baptiste Grows First Crop

Winnipeg, Man., June 5.—The question of the successful growing of winter wheat in Manitoba has been solved by Mr. William Martin, owner of Hope farm, Saint Jean Baptiste, a short distance from Winnipeg. Mr. Martin has a field of Kansas red winter wheat, which was sown on August 1st, 1902, which is now 22 inches high, is just beginning to head and will be ready for the binders in another six weeks. The plant is strong, and gives every evidence of an abundant crop. Winter wheat has been grown successfully for some years in Southern Alberta, but winter wheat on the rich heavy lands of the Red River Valley is a new departure.

AMUSING SNAKE STORY

How a Young Lad Caught a "Monster" Angle-Worm

An amusing incident occurred on Water street, north, a few days ago, said a citizen to The Times yesterday. Some of the boys there, who are fond of fishing, are in the habit of gathering "night crawlers" in the evening by the aid of a lantern. On this occasion several small boys were industriously engaged in search of the big angle worms, and were operating along the edge of a board sidewalk.

"Oh, here's a monster," shouted the boy with the lantern to his companions. Now, anyone who has had any experience in capturing the slimy "night crawler" knows that quick action is necessary. On this [illegible] the first boy to get action on the victim pronounced a monster was the smallest in the crowd. He pounced upon it with a grip of iron, but imagine the little boys' consternation as the little fellow pulled a 12-inch snake from under the sidewalk.

OFF CAME HIS HEAD BY ORDER OF EMPRESS

The Chinese Empress Dowager's Way of Doing Things

GETTING NEWS IN CHINA

Information Regarding the Chinese and Their Religious Customs

Macon, Mo., June 5.—To send a telegram to his paper, the Shanghai Mercury, the correspondent at Pingtu, China, has to walk twenty-five miles. Pingtu is a city of 10,000 people, and the telegraph line runs through the town, but there is not enough telegraphing to justify the establishing of an office there.

Rev. W. H. Sears, a native of Missouri, now a Chinese missionary, is the Mercury's Pingtu correspondent. When he gets a piece of news that ought to go promptly, he saddles his horse and makes a twenty-five mile journey over the hills to a town where there is an operator.

Most of his news is sent by mail, and though the paper for which he corresponds is only a weekly, and his letters to the Mercury are not over-frequent, his expenditure for stamps at the Pingtu Post Office is one-fifth of the entire amount of stamps purchased there. In a letter received here from Mr. Sears, he says;

"China has established post offices in all the walled cities and many of the larger towns, but post offices and telegraph offices are looked upon as foreign institutions, and are not well patronised.

"There are not many papers in China. The province I live in has nearly 40,000,000 population, yet there is but one Chinese newspaper in it, and that one lonesome sheet has not nearly the circulation of the average country newspaper in Missouri. (About 2,500.) Not more than one native in ten read—no, I will say not one in twenty. I do not know of a single Chinese woman—except those who are Christians—that can read. The Chinese don't educate their girls.

THE EVIL IN OUR POLITICS, STRONG SPEECH BY DR. CARMAN ON CORRUPTION

Would Quarantine Entire Legislature and Let the Members Jeer Away at Each Ohter

Should be Provided with a Liberal Supply of Food with a Strong Cor- of Police in Attendance

Toronto, June 4—The general meeting of the Toronto Methodist Conference began at 10 o'clock this morning, with Rev. Dr. Carman in the chair. After the calling of the roll of ministerial and lay delegates by the secretary, Dr. Carman rose to address the conference. The venerable superintendent was in fine form, and his address was a stirring appeal for sincere and earnest effort on the part of all the brethren. He referred to the splendid work of the last General Conference at Winnipeg, the spirit of which, he declared, was largely along the line of that breathed in recent utterances of the British Colonial Secretary. Dreams of a world-wide British Empire were fast shaping themselves into realities, and it was in relization of this that the General Conference had devised such liberal things to push on the great work of missions. The nation builders today realized that a community of interest, and, more, a community of sacrifice throughout the Empire were the great forces to weld it into one harmonious whole. The population of the colonies and of Canada was increasing rapidly, and in dealing with the great influx it was well to remember that the greatest humanizing and civilizing force was a Christianizing force.

Missions and Temperance.

There was need, he said, of young men for mission work—they were 12 short in the Toronto Conference—and with the allurements of commercial and industrial life in Canada never so strong, the financial side of the question was not to be ignored. "But more than all," declared the superintendent, "men need the impulse of mighty spiritual power to choose, instead of the rewards of a commercial career or the honors—or dishonors—of public life, the humble service of the Master."

Turning his attention for a moment to the temperance question, Dr. Carman said he was not prepared wholly to endorse the action of the temperance people in appointing electoral leagues—that was a matter which the various districts should decide for themselves. The great need, he declared, was the elevation of the electors, to teach the people that on great moral and social questions they should be wholly independent of party.

Dr. Carman here took from his pocket a couple of pages of closely-written manuscript, with the remark, "They say I have a funny way of pulling papers out of my pocket." This particular paper, he said, he had carried around for the past three or four weeks; he had intended to give it to the press, but had decided not to do so, but if the Conference would keep the matter secret, he would read it to them. The leading ran:

Quarantine the Crowd.

After having followed the Gamey case for some time, Dr. Carman had concluded that the legislators should be supplied with a liberal supply of food and the lot quarantined in the Legislative buildings, with a strong cordon of police to watch them, and further, that no healthy person should be allowed to approach within half a mile of the place. Then let them jeer at one another and cry "You're another.

"If there is any conscience left in the people," read Dr. Carman, "it should not be further horrified; if none is left, then for pity's sake give us a day of grace and let us not plunge deeper into the abyss." We should not think or speak evil of rulers, for that is a Scriptural injunction, but it is not speaking evil of a spade to call it a spade.

Rev. Dr. Dewart here interrupted: "But these statements are altogether too sweeping."

Continuing Dr. Carman asked how long could the laws of the land be respected, if its people were to be regaled with such sights as they had beheld. If we took the opinion of one side of the House as to the election of men on the other side of the House, how many members were elected by an honest vote? He asked himself the question, Must a man be an unworthy man, and stoop to unworthy acts, to be a candidate for the Legislature? Unless the wretched party struggle were abated, all reputable people would be excluded from the House. He was persuaded, however, that in both parties, take them man by man, the majority were honorable men, and they would admit that under the influence of party they had stooped to many things that they could otherwise never have done.

As a solution for the terrible problem, Dr. Carman emphasized the need of an uplifted electorate. He condemned neither party, but sincerely deplored the conditions as they are today. The great remedy was to proclaim the Kingdom of Christ more loudly than ever before. Legislators were in duty bound to see to it that wrong-doing in public life would be made impossible.

President Rankin.

At the conclusion of Dr. Carman's address, Rev. J. A. Rankin, of Central Methodist Church was elected President of the Toronto Conference for the ensuing year. Mr. Rankin was presented with a cane on behalf of the Conference, in accepting which he said he would not regard it as a hint of weakness but rather as a token of general good wishes.

Alaska Boundary Dispute Causes Intense Anxiety

The Alaska boundary dispute, in which true bills have been exchanged between the American and British Commissioners, has aroused intense anxiety in the United States and Canada. Naturally, because it puts in hazard the ownership of the strategic points to the richest gold-bearing region on the face of the globe, and the fortunes of thousands of mine owners and investors. The Alaska Convention will take place next September, and a final decision is expected the following December. The case in brief is this: The United States claim is based on the treaty of 1825 between Russia and Great Brittain. According to that the boundary follows the sinuosities of the continental coast line (and the territory conveyed reaches at some points forty miles inland) disregarding the outlying islands, which are many. Should this contention hold good, the gateway to the Klondike country, now by courtesy of Mr. Hay, held by Great Britain, remains American territory. Great Britain claims that the stipulated boundary contemplates a line jumping from headland to headland along the westernmost coast of the intervening archipelago. This would hand over to the United States a great number of useless islands, while Canada would secure control of the gold reefs now being developed, the great Treadwell mine, and the Klondike settlements Juneau, Skagway, and Dyea, the Lynn Canal to Dyea and Skagway, as well as the passes; in fact, all the water and land routes to the gold-fields. And the Klondike is worth fighting for. This season the output of Alaska and the Yukon will add $25,0000,0000 to Uncle Sam's golden nest egg.

NOW UP TO ENGLAND TO BLOCK RUSSIA

Will the New Anglo-Japanese Alliance Stand the Rigid Test

GERMANY CAREFULLY WATCHES THE SITUATION

Hatred of England Has Caused Indifference to the Encroachment of Russia

Berlin, June 5.—Germany's strong anti-Russian sentiment seems, in the present Chinese situation, to be over powered by a stronger anti-British feeling. In German diplomatic circles complete indifference is felt—or affected over the occupation of Niuchwang. Mingled with this indifference is a malicious satisfaction over what they consider Great Britain's inability to combat Russian progress in the Orient. One German politician expressed himself as follows.

"The situation in the far East is to test the value of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. Most people believe it is worth less than the paper it is written on. If this view is false, now is the time for Great Britain and Japan to prove it. If England and Japan fail to put a spoke in Russia's wheel in the present juncture, the Anglo-Japanese alliance ceases to be a serious factor in international affairs."

It seems to be thoroughly understood that Germany is to incur no danger nor trouble by interference with the Manchurian situation.

A striking illustration of the ignorance and superstition from which spring the present Russian horrors is found in the case of a man named Aslamakow, a villager of Vajandur. Some time ago this man was taken seriously ill, and in spite of all remedies failed to get better.

One night he dreamed that God appeared to him and promised him restoration to health on condition that as soon as he was well he would sacrifice his infant son as a thank-offering for his recovery. In his dream he promised to do this, and shortly afterward became quite well.

On the Sunday following his full recovery he brought his child to the vesper service, laid him upon the altar and cut the throat of the little one in full view of the church worshippers.

The inhabitants of the village express surprise that so "holy" a man as Aslamakow should be put into prison for "obeying the orders of the Almighty."

FIRST AIDS TO THE DROWNING

Experiments with Methods of Artificial Respiration

Berlin, June 5.—Prof Schafer has presented the report of the committee appointed by the Royal Medical Society in 1902 to investigate phenomena attending deaths from drowning.

Experiments made with a view of determining the amount of air that can be taken into and forced out of the lungs by various methods of artificial respiration were first attempted on dead bodies, but rigor mortis prevented any trustworthy results. The experiments were then made on a living subject, the conditions being that he should remain passive without making any attempt at natural respiration or by voluntarily closing the glottis prevent a free passage of air in and out of the lungs.

Ten methods of artificial respiration were tested. They included, first, the traction method recommended by Silvester, consisting of enlarging the chest by raising the ribs, the arms being dragged forcibly forward by the side of the head; second, compression, recommended by Howard and Marshall Hall, which depends on the principle of squeezing the air out of the thorax by the pressure on its parietes and allowing fresh air to pass in by means of elastic reaction following the removal of the pressure; and third, combinations of the above, with modifications of the position of the patient.

The results showed that all were competent to effect a sufficient change of air to maintain oxygenation of the blood. The smallest amounts were yielded by the traction method pure and simple. The combination of the traction and alternating pressures gave results in some cases much larger than in others, and nearly as large as the amount in tidal air. Intermittent pressure alone proved inadequate means of effecting respiration.

Rolling, combined with pressure on the back, was also strikingly efficacious. The committee considered that this, and the even simpler method of rhythmic pressure on the back with the subject placed prone, should hold a prominent place in all recommendations for the resuscitation of persons who are apparently dead from drowning.

A Remarkable Offer.

Sir,—We make the following proposal to readers of The Times. To any one who is a subject of rheumatism, (no matter how long standing), or any blood disease, enumerated below, and will give Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills a fair trial, and are not fully and completely cured, we will refund the money paid for the pills. If no good results follow, we will forfeit $10 each.

We have yet to know of a single case where this wonderful medicine has not been almost entirely successful in the work of relieving suffering humanity.

—John Williams, of the C.P.R. Works, Toronto, was cured of chronic rheumatism, after taking 10 boxes Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills.

IS A QUIETING-DOWN DUE?

Bradstreets notes the growth of a pessimistic feeling in several lines of trade, pointing to a bearish future. This has been a feature of the stock market, rather than of the business community at large. Granting, however, says this recognized authority, that the stock market has had reason, because of the dullness of speculation, to take such views of the situation, there have been enough happenings in general industry to give more or less support to the bearish side of the picture. First of all, there has been a feeling, engendered by almost continuous activity of the past few years, that a quieting down was about due. Prediction, fashionable at all times, has rather tended to favor the idea that quiet must ultimately supervene some time, and every chance happening has been seized upon as confirmation of the near approach of such event. The extent to which cost of production, and therefore consumption, has been pushed of late years has been a favorite theme for pessimistic predictors. The upward rush in cotton, for one thing, has had an effect upon the manufacturing mind just as it has had upon the financial interests, who have apparently dreaded complications to follow the inflation of the price of this staple. To some observers the immense industrial flotations in the last and preceding years have been the theme for talk of congestion in securities, and the failure of the last Congress to give the [illegible] of financial relief has bred a feeling that the country as a whole has been doing too large a business upon a more or less insufficient capital, not only so far as the money employed was concerned, but also as regards the ability of existing demand to absorb production. Finally the precipitation of a swarm of labor troubles, which, after all, were merely an additional evidence of prosperity, in that they were largely brought about by a desire for higher wages on the part on industrial workers, coincidently with a weakening in the price of iron have all led to the fostering of a feeling that the crest of the wave of prosperity has past, and that the inevitable settling down process is well under way.

BRITISH SHIPPING

Charles H. Cramp, head of the great American ship-building firm of that name, denies emphatically the words imputed to him recently, that the United States had out-stripped England in the supremacy of the sea. He says it has been his belief for years that England has reached high water mark in her shipping, and doubtless will continue to hold that position.

"But while I have said this much" said Mr. Cramp, "I have never asserted that the United States had outstripped Great Britain either in ship-building or in the tonnage sailing under her flag. It would be ridiculous in the face of the fact that there are only two American-built transatlantic steamers sailing under the American flag to-day—the St. Paul and the St. Louis.

"As for the steamship merger, while it was American in conception, perfection and ownership, it has not placed our flag above a single additional ship, has not added a single ton to American register, and while we hope that it may ultimately benefit American ship-building interests, there is no certainty that it will do so unless we can offer them some inducement to come here and pay more for their ships than they would pay for them abroad. But it has had this effect: For the third time in her history Great Britain has been aroused from her lethargy and stupid self-complacency to the dangers that menaced her from German and American competition, and she has already taken steps to minimize the influence of the merger.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Druce claimant has at last appeared in London for the title and estates of the Duke of Portland. He is George Hollanby Druce, of Melbourne, and his case is financed by an Australian syndicate. Like the recent case of Miss Druce, the contention is that the claimant's grandfather led a double existence as T. C. Druce and as the fifth Duke of Portland, and that the coffin of T. C. Druce in Highgate cemetery contains nothing but a lot of stones.

A duel on bicycles was recently fought in Paris. The two combatants were placed fifty yards apart and then ordered to charge. They rode at one another at a furious pace, but overshot the mark and failed to meet. Wheeling quickly around they returned to the charge, and this time came together with a terrific shock. Both were thrown, while the seconds, who were following behind, also on bicycles, fell in their turn, and both were injured. Neither of the combatants touched the other with his sword, but in falling one ran his weapon into himself and his opponent injured his leg.

AMUSING SNAKE STORY

How a Young Lad Caught a "Monster" Angle-Worm

An amusing incident occurred on Water street, north, a few days ago, said a citizen to The Times yesterday. Some of the boys there, who are fond of fishing, are in the habit of gathering "night crawlers" in the evening by the aid of a lantern. On this occasion several small boys were industriously engaged in search of the big angle worms, and were operating along the edge of a board sidewalk.

"Oh, here's a monster," shouted [illegible] companions. Now, anyone who has had any experience in capturing the slimy "night crawler" knows that quick action is necessary. On this occasion the first boy to get action on the victim pronounced a "monster" was the smallest in the crowd. He pounced upon it with a grip of iron, but imagine the little boys' consternation as the little fellow pulled a 12-inch snake from under the sidewalk.

Womanly Troubles

SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED TO UNDERMINE HEALTH AND BEAUTY, BUT SHOULD BE TREATED AT ONCE BY FERROZONE

It is impossible to go into details on this subject, but the experience of many a poor woman who is crippled for life, just because she didn't use a good remedy in time, should be a warning to others.

When the first stages of womanhood appear in a young girl, a great deal depends upon getting her over this critical stage, so that in years to come she will not develop green sickness or consumption.

As soon as she complains of flushed face, headache, bearing down feelings, give her at once a course of Ferrozone treatment which will carry her past the crisis.

In the adult woman if any irregularities occur, Ferrozone will be found a remedy of remarkable potency and power.

Ferrozone is the ideal regulator for the monthly period and causes all organs of the body to perform their work properly, and at just the expected time.

It purifies the blood, tones up the nerves and vital energies. The stomach is strengthened, and digestive and assimilative processes are improved by the good work of Ferrozone. It regulates the bowels, cures constipation, and piles, and replaces disease and decay by health and strength.

There is nothing better for the complexion than Ferrozone. It removes the dark circles from under the eyes, removes and cures all manner of skin eruptions, gives brightness and brilliancy to the eyes, a rosy tint to the cheeks, whitens the teeth and develops a well rounded plump and handsome form.

Ferrozone is the ladies' favorite, and should find a place in every household. It is prepared in the form of a chocolate coated tablet, convenient and pleasant to take. Price per box 50c. or three boxes for $1.25. Sold by all druggists, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

—During July & August the J. C. Turnbull Co., will close their stores at 5 p.m.

WALTER L. MAIN'S SHOW

A Grand Military Spectacle is One of its Leading Features

The magnitude of the Walter L. Main's Enormous Shows, combined with the grand military spectacle, Savage South Africa, is difficult to conceive. The triple-ring show, with its elevated stages, hippodrome track, aerial enclave, museum, menagerie, curio department, horse fair, and vaudeville entertainment is gigantic in itself. When consolidated with the mastadonic military production, Savage South Africa, in which are introduced scenes of battle in that far-off country, participated in by those who were actively engaged in the original battles, it beggars description. It is only during recent years that South Africa commenced to become a center on interest for the world in general. Years ago it was only known by the reports made by such explorers as Du Chaillu and Livingstone, and later by Stanley. To-day South Africa is regarded as almost entirely under the ban of civilization, and anything appertaining to it is interesting. With the Main show it is seen as it was and is and as shown is not only interesting but educating. The Kaffir kraal and native village are shown, and frontier life in this torrid zone under savage monarchy. Hundreds of Zulus, Matabeles, Basutus, and the sturdy Boers and Burghers from the Transvaal are assembled with their families, and for the first time in this country their many industries and modes of living are truthfully and faithfully shown. Their manner of warfare, games, pastimes, religious worship, and, in fact, South Africa is seen, not read of. One of the particularly pleasing features is the exhibitions of riding and shooting given by the Boers. It is an admitted fact that, as marksmen and rough riders, they have no equals. Over one thousand men, women, horses, and wild animals are used to present Savage South Africa, and it is a sight never to be forgotten.

While this spectacular has been perfected, the ring performance has not been overlooked. The cream of the profession has been secured to give the finest exhibition ever given under canvas. Lady and gentleman riders, jugglers, tumblers, acrobats, gymnasts, funny clowns, trained animals, contortionists, high jump-horses, wire walkers, and, in fact, a program is furnished that is calculated to please the most exacting. It is a show that leaves a lasting and pleasing impression, and one calculated to elevate and refresh. Mr. Main has long enjoyed the reputation of furnishing only the very best, but this year he has quite outdone all his previous efforts.

Two exhibitions will be given under the mastadonic sun and waterproof tents in Peterborough on June 16. The afternoon performance will commence at two o'clock, and the evening performance at eight o'clock. Doors will be open one hour in advance to allow visitors an opportunity to visit the various departments before the performance begins. One ticket admits to every department of the big show.

Suggestions for a Short Spring Course of Lectures.

(To be delivered before any audience of sufficiently advanced Socialistic views.)

Lecture I.—Shakespeare as the True Socialist should see him.

Synopsis of Lecture.

1. Fundamental Maxim of Society—"All Men are, or ought to be, born equal."
2. First commandment of the Social Decalogue: "Thou shalt not excel thy [illegible] who violates this law an enemy to the commonwealth and a breaker of the Social Bond.
3. The pre-eminence of Shakespeare plainly established by existence of such works as "Hamlet," "Macbeth," etc., etc.
4. The generally accepted estimate of Shakespeare a mistaken one, and founded on a false conception of merit.
5. Shakespeare in his true light as the Arch-"Out-Topper," and enemy of the community.
6. Final verdict upon Shakespeare—Anathema Maranatha.

Lecture II.—Wordsworth and his Work as the outcome of a Crying Injustice.

Synopsis.

1. The natural beauties of the Lake District the chief inspiration of Wordsworth. Probable arrest of his poetic development had his surroundings been those of the Black Country.
2. The inequality in the beauty of natural surroundings a glaring injustice.
3. Suggested remedy:
   - (a) Total number of natural beauties of England counted and classified; thus: number of mountains, number of lakes, of trees, of meadows, and so on, ascertained.
   - (b) Average number of natural beauties as apportioned to each square mile ascertained, e.g., one hill, one lake, forty trees, one-fourth of an acre meadow-land, and so on.
   - (c) Funds supplied from Imperial Treasury to carry out transference of natural features from one part of England to another, thus making the scenery for each square mile uniform.

     Mountains displaced by dynamite, solid matter conveyed by a nationalized railroad, water by canals and pipes.
   - (d) Expense a drain on Treasury, but justice thereby done to all citizens in all parts of England.

Lecture III.—The Marriage of King Cophetua and the Beggar-Maid no pleasing incident, but an act of the highest injustice.

Synopsis.—1. Beauty of Beggar-Maid apparently the sole reason of King Cophetua's choice.

2. Plain or even squint-eyed beggar-maid just as worthy of promotion to rank of Queen, hence injustice of marriage.

3. Suggestions for removal of inequality of beauty in Society.
   - (a) All women to be placed by Local Commissioners in five classes of descending values of beauty, A, B, C, D, E—C representing the average.
   - (b) All female dress to consist of uniforms designed by members of the Royal Academy, and arranged in ascending values of beauty, a, b, c, d, e—c representing average.
   - (c) Women compelled by law to wear the uniform of the class corresponding to their own; thus, women of class A (beautiful) to wear uniforms of class a (unbecoming), while women of class E (plain) to wear uniforms of class e (highly becoming).—"Punch."

It does not say Au Revoir.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

Buried Gold

By FRED WHISHAW.

Author of "A Boyar of the Terrible," etc.

asked Evans.

"One's in the chart-room and t'other in the galley," he was told. "One's got a broken head; the chap who had a mate's cap on."

"That would be Foster," thought Evans. "It would be a pity if he couldn't get rid of him quietly and without suspicion."

He was about to look in at the chart-room when he overheard the mate's remarks upon receiving the note found in Keith's cabin.

"What's this?" asked Finlay, the mate.

"Found in one of the cabins aft, sir, and I thought you might like to see it," replied the finder.

The mate opened the note and read it. He read it indifferently, the significance of its contents not seeming to strike him for a moment. Suddenly his face blackened and he uttered a fierce oath.

"Who wrote this?" he asked, savagely. Someone replied that it was found in an officer's cabin. The mate examined it closely. "It's signed T. F.," he said. "That must be Foster, for he speaks of his dad, old Jake. He knows where the stuff is, d—n him! How in thunder could he have found out, here aboard?"

Evans did not wait to hear this speech to the end. He had slunk away before the mate finished speaking. Things were getting too hot for him.

Down into the steward's pantry he rushed; he had thought of the same hiding-place that had recommended itself to the boy Tommy. Evans lifted the trap-door and slipped into the hold, closing the trap after him. He lit a match and peered among the barrels and sacks looking for a safe sanctuary. Those who were his friends but a moment ago would now suddenly become, he knew, his most relentless enemies.

Evans stood and listened; there were rapid steps overhead; men were running excitedly about the decks. Could they be after him already? There was a broken arm-chair in a corner of the store-hold, chucked in there out of the way as useless. Evans tore off one of the legs, swearing savagely. "They sha'n't have me without a fight for it!" he muttered.

But the footsteps passed forward and there was a respite.

"If I can get hold of a place where they won't find me for an hour or two I'll give them the slip yet, and swim off to the island and join the 'Penelope' chaps," thought Evans. "I'd sit under an empty cask for a week rather than hang."

Destiny guided the man towards the spot where poor Tommy lay and trembled. He had caught sight of Evans and recognized him by the light of the match and for a moment or two terror so paralysed him that he could move neither hand nor foot. He would have screamed, but his throat seemed gripped by the hand of fear, and he could not.

Evans found a packet of candles and lighted one. Then he came on, straight as a line, for Tommy's sanctuary.

"Here's the very thing — an empty case," he muttered. "I'll haul it out and get under it."

He seized the case and dragged it up. Tommy's voice found utterance, and he yelled aloud for mercy.

Evans started back in the first moment of surprise, but in another instant he had recognized the boy.

"It's you, you hell-hound whelp!" he said. "Is it? Ah, and it's you I've to thank for this, you and your lies. Say your prayers! I'm going to knock your brains out in a minute."

Tommy suddenly remembered the revolver Foster had given him, and his courage returned with a rush.

"Say yours," he cried. "If you come [illegible]"

"Put that infernal thing down," said Evans, pretending to laugh. "I was only jokin'."

"Not me. I don't trust you after what you said. Go back and get out of the trap-door and swear you won't come down again, or tell I'm here, and maybe I won't fire."

"Put it down, you fool. I ain't going up, and can't. I'm hiding from my enemies. I can't go."

"I'll count ten," said Tommy, covering him all the while, "and then I'll pull. One—two——"

Evans gave a bound towards the lad, hoping to knock up his arm. Tommy shut his eyes and fired. The candle dropped from Evans's left hand, the bludgeon fell with a clatter from his right, the man himself tottered forward a step, tripped, and fell dead.

Tommy uttered a scream of horror dropped the pistol and fled. Over casks and boxes he scrambled, shrieking, slipping, falling at every step till he reached the opposite corner. Here he sank behind a pile of potato sacks and fainted.

A moment later the trap-door opened and two or three men jumped down.

"There he is—hidin'. I see him," cried someone. Another man snatched up the guttering candle and held it close to Evans's face. "He's dead," he said. "He ain't hidin'! It's a case of suicide. Here's his pistol lyin' close to him. The poor devil preferred it to hangin' and no fool, either!"

"He might have put the candle out, the silly idjit," said a second man. "There'd have been a big blaze in a minute."

CHAPTER XXIII.

Jessie in Trouble.

The searchers brought Evans' body up with them.

The mate was by this time examining Foster, who sat up in the chart-room with his head bandaged. Inglis stood by, in irons again, a guard of two men over him.

Evans' body was chucked on the deck unceremoniously enough.

The mate examined it, turning it over contemptuously with his foot.

"Shot himself in the head," he commented. "Result of a guilty conscience! No need to bother any more, I suppose, as to which of 'em gave the information. It was this one, of course, Mr. Foster?"

Foster nodded.

"Inglis is innocent, no doubt?" continued the mate. "It ain't worth your while to lie about it—couldn't do you any good."

"I'm not going to lie—why should I?" said Foster, angrily. "He's innocent of having given me any information, certainly; but I believe him to be a murdering rascal, just as bad as Evans, and guilty with him of the murder of Dick Robinson in England."

"Oh, we've nothing to do with that. Let Inglis go, there! Now then, Mr. Foster, maybe you'll tell us a little more about this here matter. You've been told a secret which spells death to any that knows it outside the island; that's our law. We've as much right to our laws as any other community, and they're going to be kept."

An Appeal to Honor.

Treat a man as if he were a gentleman, and he will rarely disappoint you. In illustration of this truth Mr. Crosse, author of "Round About the Carpathians," tells a good story of a robber chief in Hungary. A few years ago the Carpathian Mountains were infested with organized bands of robbers, and neither life nor property was safe. At this time a lady of great wealth, the Countess Z., who lived not far from the main highway between Budapest and Vienna, received a polite note one morning, informing her that twelve gentlemen would dine with her at midnight. She understood what it meant.

It was impossible to summon help, and well she knew that every approach to the castle would be guarded, to prevent communication. In this dilemma she made ready for her uninvited guests.

At midnight up rode an armed band, twelve men in all. Immediately the gate of the outer court and the entrance door were thrown wide, as if for the most honored and welcome guest. The countess stood at the entrance to receive them, richly dressed. She bade the chief and his men a gracious welcome, gave orders that their horses be cared for, and then, taking the arm of her guest, led the way to the dining-hall. Here a goodly feast was spread, and all the gold and silver plate of the castle was lavishly displayed.

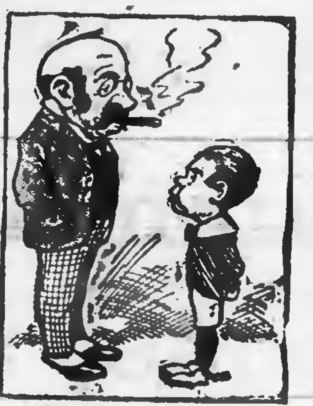
The leader of the robber band started back in surprise; but, recovering his self-possession, he seated himself beside his charming hostess, who engaged him in merry talk of the gay world at Vienna, with which they were both familiar. At length, when the feast was nearly ended, the chief took out his watch and said:

"Countess, the happiest moments of my life have always been the shortest. I have another engagement this night. Bad as I am, none ever appealed to my honor in vain. You have received me as a gentleman, and I shall take my departure as one. As for you, my men," he said, looking sternly round with hand on his pistol, "I charge you to take nothing from this house. He who disobeys me dies that instant."

The chief then asked for pen and paper, and wrote some words upon a sheet, which he handed to his hostess. "This, madam, will serve to protect you in future. You have but to show it, and it will save you from any molestation or loss."

The name of the robber chief was afterward known. He was an impoverished cadet of one of the noblest families in Hungary. His fate was sad enough; he was captured a few months after the incident which has been related here, and ended his life at the hands of the common hangman.

A Mystery Explained.



Tommy—Papa, what makes you so bald?

Papa—Oh, that's because my mother used to pat me so much on the head for being a good boy.—"Ally Sloper's Half-Holiday."

The Fear of Being Thought Prim.

Commenting on the subject "Is Society Worse Than It Was in England," Gwendolen Ramsden says in the "Nineteenth Century:" "If there be reason to think that society is deteriorating rather than improving, it is not owing to the bad influence of a few among the aristocracy, who, by their conduct, have extinguished the respect hitherto accorded to their old family names, but rather to the apathy of some, and the timidity amounting to cowardice of others, belonging to that vast majority of respectable people who condone conduct which in their hearts of hearts they condemn. They ought to be the example, but they have never realized their responsibilities. With some the dread of being considered strait-laced or prim is far greater than the fear of evil. Virtuous themselves, they yet know and believe all the evil gossip about others from whom they readily accept invitations and benefits. They allow gambling to go on in their houses, for they have not the pluck to forbid games of cards being played for money. Idle people are encouraged by them to play 'bridge,' not merely as a recreation in the evening, but as the business of the day, beginning after luncheon and continuing throughout the night. In entertaining their friends and acquaintances, so anxious are they to be popular and please those who are the fashion of the day, that they encourage flirtations among married people, and would sooner think of leaving out the husbands than of not including in their invitations the well-known admirers of their guests."

Latin for a Cigar.

Nowadays, it would seem, the German schoolboy may reasonably expect to be asked what is Latin for a cigar. He has an opportunity at least of knowing how to answer this question if he studies Dr. Georg Capellanus's amusing little book "Sprechen sie Lateinisch?" In the conversation at the railway station on page 70 (third edition, 1900) "Gieb dem Schaffner ein paar Cigarren!" is rendered by "Da vecturario aliquot stilos tabaci!" and the author adds that "Americanische Neulateiner" calls cigars "convolvuli."

It was chic, and the color was blacque;
When she put it on first,
The blessed seams burst
And it split all the way up the bacque.

And she ordered a hat called a toque:
When they wanted the cash she was broque;
So she asked them for credit;
They winked as she said it,
And told her to go and eat soque.

Not Adapted to Melons.

An army officer sends the "Youth's Companion" an account of an experience he had when he was on duty along the Rio Grande. He put up one night at a small town in Cameron County at a time when a session of the court had filled the town with strangers. Some of the visitors were sitting on the piazza of the boarding-house after supper, and conversation turned upon the fertility of soils. A stranger from Starr County, which is near Cameron, waited his turn and then said:

"Well, I reckon the most fertile piece o' ground in Texas is up on Ed Jones's ranch in old Starr. The first time Ed plants potatoes they grows like young trees. Ed calculates on how there is a sight o' vegetable energy going to waste. So he sends off fer some tomato plants and grafts 'em on to the potato stock, and grows the finest lot o' tomatoes above and potatoes below you ever see."

The Starr County man had thrown down the gauntlet, and a Cameron man took it up.

"Well," he said, "that reminds me o' Bill Dury's ranch down on the arroyo. Bill is looking his ground over one day, when the idea comes to him that it is just the spot to raise watermelons. So he gets some of the very best seed from the Agricultural Department, and fertilizes all round permiscuous.

"He plants five or six seeds to each mound. When they come up he pulls up all but the healthiest one in each mound. When this one puts out runners he cuts off all but the likeliest. Did any o' you gents ever hear o' watermelons getting a better start than that? The vines kep' growing bigger 'n' bigger. The young stalks was the size o' yer wrist an' kep' growing. But, gentlemen, Bill never got any melons off them vines. The trouble was this: he hadn't figured on the natural fertility of old Cameron County. His fertilizing caused the trouble.

"Them vines got to growing so fast and powerful they kep' a-dragging the young melons over the ground an' wore 'em out, plumb wore 'em to a frazzle. The vines dragged some o' the melons against stumps and cracked 'em, an' one night some o' the likeliest ones was busted by the vines a-climbin' a fence an' dropping the melons, kerplunk, on the other side. Then Bill give up."

The teller of the first story drew his six-shooter from his hip-pocket, walked over to the teller of the second story, handed him the "gun" in token of surrender, and said, "And so do I."

Advice to Young Writers.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale says in his reminiscences: "I think nothing is more sure to drive an office editor crazy than to have some young enthusiast say, 'I threw this off last night,' or 'I send you fresh from the pen' this or that. People who print magazines for a million readers do not want to give them that which has been thrown off. It is much better to send them something which has seasoned in the back of your table drawer for one, two or three years."

An Esquimau Epesode.

"You are the light of my life," sighed the lover, edging a trifle closer on the hand-carved ice settee.

"You only say that because you know I drink so much train-oil," she blubbered.

However, it resulted in a match.

A

GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

A SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY

WILL YOU GRASP IT?

Sterling Mines and Tunnel Co.

IS OFFERING STOCK FOR SALE WHICH WILL PAY DIVIDENDS BY OCTOBER

We have the ore in sight that will average $98 to the ton. At present we are erecting a shaft house, and installing machinery to sink the Beaver shaft an additional 100 feet; we are now but 130 feet deep and the ore shows for over 60 feet. In addition to our Beaver, Sewell and Monroe mines, which are producing, we have one of the best Tunnel propositions in the Idaho Springs district, on this tunnel we will cut 23 veins which are owned by the Sterling Company. We ask you to buy stock in order to drive this tunnel, and at the same time give you an interest in our producing mines, enabling you to receive a dividend, and giving you an excellent opportunity to make a stake, when our 23 veins are cut in the tunnel

This is one of a very few stock companies that offer you such an investment, the reason for this is that you are buying your stock from the owners and not from a stock broker. We are running on business principles, expecting to get our returns from our property and not from the sales of stock.

Why pay 50 to 75 cents a share for prospective stock when you can buy Sterling Stock at 25c cash; 27c on instalments.

Investigate the Sterling Company before purchasing. Address.

125 WILL NOT REACH THE NUMBER OF REASONS WHY THE STOCK IN The Oro Rico Mining Syndicate IS A GOOD INVESTMENT.

I have offered this Stock at a very low price and it is your misfortune if you fail to take advantage of it.

THE ORO RICO MINES are located in the Providence Range of Mountains, San Bernardino County, California, consisting of 30 full claims.

THEY ARE MINES NOT PROSPECTS.

Vast ledges of ore running from $5.00 to $800.00 per ton. Five shipments of ore to El Paso Smelter gave returns from $79.80 to $223.00 per ton. This is not a five per cent. a month scheme, but it is a legitimate proposition that will give you better returns than Savings Bank or Mortgage loans. A few months ago a Mr. Woodside bought 200,000 shares in a Tonopah Company for five cents a share and recently sold the same at $8.00 a share. No business in the world is safer as an investment or more profitable than mining, and none offer a more honest dollar.

Remember that little money is ever made by purchasing Stocks which are already paying dividends. When you do this you pay DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR for everything you get. You must make your money on your JUDGEMENT and your FORESIGHT. It is the foresight that makes money, and if you follow the dictation of your foresight you will secure a block of ORO RICO STOCK, and when dividends are paid your income will be five times greater than if you waited until the Stock sold at par. The new Milling Plant is now being put in place and gold bullion will soon be turned out. After the first run you can't get the Stock at present price. It will soon be 60 per cent. higher.

The Officers and Directors of the Company have recently visited the mines and returned full of enthusiasm. The mines are turning out much richer than expected.

I can offer the Stock for a short time only at 20 cents per share. It is worth double that.

Will accept payments of 25 per cent. cash and balance, 25 per cent. per month. Wanted active agents. Address all orders to

STOCK MARKETS

FINANCIAL ATMOSPHERE CLEARING

New York, June 4.—The active bearish contingent Tuesday worked in unison with the believer that stocks are low. Both bought and the process was accelerated upon the old Wall street adage "Buy upon bad news." The Canadian failure was the bad news. The conditions existing through the situation of that house had been hanging over the market. Their load has been thrown down and their tremendous holdings liquidated. Unpleasant and painful as was the process, the market nevertheless is the better of it. It has cleared the financial atmosphere as does the summer thunder storm drive away the latent heat and revive the ozone. The West was a heavy buyer of the Western stocks thrown over by the stricken firm. Home people were buying home securities. They are naturally able to appreciate the bargain prices engendered by the financial distress. While practically demoralization was ruling upon the Toronto exchange, outside of the few Canadian specialties dealt in at New York, the market actually advanced vigorously, and even the stocks struck by the storm recuperated splendidly, notably Canadian Pacific, its present price is most attractive, so we will have something special to say about it in tomorrow's letter. A more or less feverish condition with considerable "backing and filling" as far as immediate fluctuations are concerned, is naturally to be expected. The sea is always more or less turbulent after a storm, but it gradually quiets, then comes fair weather. This is also a proposition to a stock market under conditions such as now are ruling. Lucky it was that the financial disturbance came after a declining period instead of unexpectedly when speculators were heavily committed in the market. Buy stocks from now on upon any weakness. This will apply for some time to come, and until such time prices reach a materially higher plane.

New York, June 4.—The market generally sagged all day. Particularly sharp attacks were made against copper, which extended to St. Paul and Pennsylvania. Reports were freely circulated as to the bearish attitude of a noted Chicago merchant, who is a large stock holder in various western roads. Rumor connected him with selling a report that Gould and Rockefeller had gained control of Erie, with the view to operating that road to the disadvantage of the Pennsylvania, was also given circulation. Bear interests have extended their short commitments materially. A good rally in prices is certainly [illegible]. Money 2 1-2 per cent. Total 767,000.

HAIGHT & FREESE.

A Convincing Prophet.

In discussing the attempted pilgrimage of the Canadian Doukhobors, who set out through the snow "to find Jesus," the London "Spectator" says that this is only another instance of the length to which the credulous Eastern mind can be carried. It gives a parallel case of wild belief among the Muruts, a race of squalid savages living in Borneo.

One day, a year or two ago, there appeared among them a Murut, naked like themselves, and apparently differing in no way from his fellows. Yet in a short time he was able to make the members of the tribe surrender to him their wives, their cattle and other possessions simply on the strength of his own declaration as to his powers.

He asserted that he could confer on devout disciples the power of flying. No one asked him to fly himself; it seemed never to occur to them. Yet a number of men climbed to the tops of the highest cocoanut-trees in the village, and leaped into the air.

When they were found to be dead, it is only reasonable to suppose that the survivors set upon the false prophet and killed him. Nothing of the sort! On the contrary, he explained that the dead men had not been sufficiently devout, and he found no difficulty in inducing others to follow their example.

At last, after he had initiated over twenty men into the process of flying from the tops of trees to the ground, he was arrested through foreign agency and thrown into prison. But even then the natives believed in him to such an extent that they resented any interference in the matter.

Explained.

Hostess—Of course the dinner is given for Miss Purdy, but I can't let you take her in because you never will take the trouble to be agreeable except for a pretty woman.

Reggy Westend—Whom do I take in, then?

Hostess—Mrs. Farris.

Reggy Westend—But she's uglier than Miss Purdy.

Hostess—I know that, but she's married and used to being neglected.

Soon Counted.

All kinds of questions come to the answers-to-correspondents man of a daily paper, and the impatience he occasionally manifests is not surprising.

"Editor of ——," wrote an enquiring citizen one day, "will you please tell me how many kinds of typewriters there are?"

This was handed to the answers-to-correspondents man, and in the next issue of the paper he replied to it as follows:

"Two—male and female."

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU CAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL

Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the

ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y

in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory

lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects.

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share. This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that. It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

If shares are exhausted when your application is received we will return your money. Make checks payably to the order of the Actonoma Oil and Development Company, P. H. Enright, Secretary and Treasurer, 218 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

BRONCHITIS

Scientifically Treated

The best authorities agree that bronchitis is treated most scientifically by Catarrhozone, which goes right to the root of the trouble

Bronchitis can be treated successfull only by a remedy carried direct to the affected parts along with the air breathed.

Catarrhozone is a vegetable antiseptic and is inhaled at the mouth, and after passing through all the air passages of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, is exhaled through the nose.

The healing vapor of Catarrhozone goes wherever the air you breathe goes, and reaches every part that is affected. No matter how deep-seated the bronchial irritation may be, Catarrhozone is sure to reach it. Catarrhozone protects and heals the mucous membrane, stops the cough, heals up the sores, and is guaranteed to bring speedy relief and sure cure.

By means of the inhaler Catarrhozone treats the local symptoms of bronchial trouble very effectually. The germs and impurities in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone, which is a wonderful tonic and stimulant for the entire system.

Ferrozone is a muscle and tissue builder, increases the appetite aids digestion and makes the body so healthy and strong that bronchitis goes away for good.

A prominent steamboat owner, well known throughout Eastern Ontario, Captain Dunlop, of Kingston, was perfectly cured of Bronchitis by Catarrhozone. The Captain had suffered for more than 20 years, and says that Catarrhozone is the best cure for Bronchitis on the face of the globe.

Mr. A. J. Calhoun, a prominent citizen of Neepawa, Manitoba, speaks very appreciatively of Catarrhozone as a specific for Bronchitis, and states that his wife could not get along without it.

Everyone that has used Catarrhozone is satisfied that it is superior to all other remedies. It is delightful to inhale, simple and convenient to use, and relieves from the first breath taken through the inhaler.

Better try Catarrhozone. All druggists sell and recommend it. Complete outfit, price $1.00; trial size, 25c. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

On Wednesday evening on Simcoe st. near Aylmer, a small girl, seven years of age was run over by a bicyclist while attempting to cross the street. Mr. Metcalf's Loss

The night before last, in some mysterious manner, the outbuildings of Mr. Metcalfe, near Jackson Park, were destroyed by fire. Fortunately the house was at a considerable distance and was saved from the conflagration. It is supposed by some that the fire was caused by tramps sleeping in the barn. The insurance was very small, and will not nearly cover the loss.

THINGS TO KNOW

About Coffee and What It Does

"Being a very hard worker and of an extremely nervous temperament I fell into the habit of making coffee do for both food and drink when my work was pushing me and [illegible] nurse.

"This I would do for a day or two and then be prostrated with heart trouble, fluttering, faint spells and other disagreeable feelings. One day I was persuaded to try Postum Food Coffee in place of coffee. I liked the Postum as well as the coffee and I found I could drink as much of it and as often as I wished, and instead of knocking me out as coffee used to I steadily gained strength. I had no more trouble with my heart, no more bloating, and no more stomach sickness. I have now been using Postum 18 months in place of coffee which means that I have given up coffee and sickness for all time. I will stick to Postum and be well in the future.

"My mother has been a great coffee drinker from her youth and had suffered all of the minor coffee ills such as stomach trouble, heartburn, severe headaches, etc. She tried Postum but did not make it right. Then I made some for her, boiling it 15 minutes and did not tell her what it was; she wanted to know what brand of coffee it was that was so delicious. I had taken it out of her own box of Postum and when I told her so, she was much surprised and pleased and has been drinking it ever since with the result that her coffee ills have disappeared and she is now healthy and contented.

"One of my patients (I am a trained nurse) is a great sufferer from ulcerated stomach and sometimes she does not eat a mouthful of food for several days. At such times she relies on Postum for nourishment. Since using Postum she gets over her attacks much quicker, is stronger and the attacks are less frequent than formerly. Her stomach seems to be getting better and we are quite certain that Postum will soon cure her completely.

"Another patient is a splendid example of what Postum will do. Her health has been very bad for three years and a year ago she was a wreck from nervous prostration and the worst form of dyspepsia, bloating, heart trouble, etc. I made her leave off coffee and all other drinks and gave her Postum and she improved immediately. She is now able to attend to her home and says that Postum has given her a new lease of life. She feels like a new woman and is getting fat.

"I must tell you of one more case, a person I nursed through what the physicians termed a morphine break-down. This woman's stomach revolted at sight or mention of food and she took absolutely nothing but strong coffee. I knew her heart would not much longer stand up under coffee and I told her husband to get a box of Postum. I made it strong for her and in less than a week she could take all necessary food and not once was the Postum refused and now after three months she is well and strong and is kept so by her steady use of Postum in place of coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THE OLYMPIC EXCURSION

The Outing Yesterday to Burleigh was Largely Attended

The Olympic excursion to Burleigh yesterday was largely attended, and as usual, was a very enjoyable affair. The party to the number of about one hundred, accompanied by the full band of the 57th Regiment, left on the early Lakefield train, and thence by steamer Majestic to their destination.

At Youngs' Point the party spent an hour very pleasantly, during which the band, headed by pro tem drum major Marshall H Brown paraded and gave some splendid music. At Burleigh, a splendid dinner was served by Mr. Darcy, who is known everywhere as a caterer worthy of the name. During the afternoon the band gave an excellent programme of music, which was greatly enjoyed by all. The party returned to town at ten p.m.

There was quite a large delegation of railroad men on board, amongst whom were Messrs. A. H. Notman, Assistant General Passenger Agent, C.P.R.; Marshall H. Brown, General Freight Agent, C.P.R.; L B Howland, General Manager I. B. & Ottawa R.R.; C. E. Mackenzie, Canadian Freight Agent, Pennsylvania R.R.; Harry Carter, Union Pacific R.R., and W. Bunton and W. S Dodd, of town.

It's Impure Blood.

"What is it?" asks the mother as she notices the smooth skin of her child marred by a red or pimply eruption. It is impure blood, and the child needs at once to begin the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the best and surest remedy for impurity of the blood. It entirely eradicates the poisons which corrupt the blood and cause disease. It cures scrofula, boils, pimples, eczema, salt-rheum and other eruptive diseases which are the direct result of impure blood. It enriches as well as purifies the blood.

"Dr. Pierce's medicine has not only benefited me greatly, but it has done wonders for my two sons," writes Mrs. M Hartrick, of Demster, Oswego Co., N. Y. "Both had scrofula. I have lost two daughters in less than five years with consumption and scrofula. My eldest son was taken two or three years ago with hemorrhage from the lungs. It troubled him for over a year. He took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and has not had a hemorrhage in over a year. My younger son had scrofulous sores on his neck; had two lanced, but has not had any since he commenced to take your medicine."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

ANOTHER BIG STRIKE OF THE COAL MINERS

A Vote to be Taken at Big Convention of Miners on June 15

IF CARRIED OUT WILL MEAN ANOTHER FAMINE

The Operators Claim the Men are Trying to Get Recognition of the Union

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 6.—The three anthracite boards of the United Mine Workers yesterday afternoon decided to hold a joint convention of miners at Pottsville June 15, for the purpose of determining whether or not a general suspension of work shall be declared.

When District President Fahey, the chairman of the miners' representatives on the conciliation board was shown the statement of the operators' members on that board, he said:

"There was no meeting of the stockholders of the coal companies called for the purpose of appointing the operators' side of the conciliation board, but the representatives of the stockholders, the officials of the company, met and selected their representatives. The mine workers selected their members, not by calling a meeting of all their members or stockholders, but by their organization, through their representatives as empowered by the rules and regulations of their organization and as provided by the award of the Coal Strike Commission. We raise no question on the manner in which the operators selected their representatives, and we hoped for the same treatment at their hands. Our understanding is that miners and operators shall stand on an equal footing on the board of conciliation."

OBJECT TO APPOINTMENT.

The following signed statement was given out as the operators' side of the controversy caused by the refusal of the operators' representatives on the conciliation board to accept the representatives of the United Mine Workers:

"Referring to the official announcement of the representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, the contention of the operators' representatives elected to the Board of Conciliation, is that the recognition of the United Mine Workers of America was not one of the questions submitted to the commission for decision; that Mr. Mitchell admitted this by appearing before the commission simply as a representative of the anthracite mine workers; that the award of the commission specifically asserted that the recognition of the United Mine Workers of America as at present constituted, was inadvisable.

"The representatives of the operators have been [illegible] strictly within the terms of said award, and there is no objection on their part to cordially accepting Messrs. Nicholls, Dettrey, and Fahey, as the representatives of the miners, providing they are elected by a majority of the mine workers as specified in the award of the commission. The objection is solely against their appearing as the official representatives of the United Mine Workers of America appointed by an executive committee without authority for such appointment.

"The operators' representatives feel that it is highly important that the formation of the Board of Conciliation be accepted by both interested parties as strictly in accordance with the award of the commission in order that its rulings may be received without question, and not be open to the criticism of having been made by a board not fully qualified to act. Signed, W. L. Connell, R. C. Luther, S. D. Warriner.

PRESIDENT TRUESDALE'S VIEW.

New York, June 6.—President Truesdale, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, made the following statement: "Neither the tone of the proclamation of the district presidents of the Mine Workers' Union, nor the statement contained therein are in any measure justified by the facts of the situation as they exist in the anthracite regions as I understand them.

"The operators without a single exception, so far as I know, are not only entirely willing, but extremely desirous of carrying out the terms of the award of the Anthracite Strike Commission, not only in spirit, but to the very letter.

"I believe that they have absolutely done this up to the present time, and the only trouble is the representatives of the miners' union in appointing their representatives on the Conciliation Board, are seeking to avoid this in the manner which the commission very strongly recommended.

"There is no occasion for making threats of a strike or tie-up to settle the point at issue.

"The commission's award provides for the appointment of an umpire by one of the circuit judges of the third judicial circuit of the United States to decide just such points as the one which has now been raised, and I am sure all the operators will be entirely willing to have this question referred to such an umpire, or better still, they will be entirely willing to refer it to the chairman of the commission, Judge Gray, and let him decide it, and I have no doubt Judge Gray would be entirely willing to do so.

"So far as the Lackawanna Company is concerned, there is not a single grievance or question of difference between the company and its mine employes."

President Fowler, of the New York, Ontario and Western Road, said: "I think the situation is very much exaggerated."

JOHN MITCHELL SPEAKS.

Indianapolis, June 6.—President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, said: "The refusal to recognize these district presidents as members of the Board of Conciliation is in direct violation of the provision made by the recent strike commission. The operators gave no reason for refusing to recognize these men who had been chosen by the executive board of the miners, and said only that they did not bear the proper credentials.

"I cannot say what action will be taken if the recognition is still refused, and I do not care to say whether or not any other solution than a general suspension of work is feasible."

JUDGE GRAY'S ADVICE.

Philadelphia, June 6.—The Press says today:

Judge Gray, of the U. S. Circuit Court, the chairman of the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission, when asked for his opinion in the pending dispute of the miners and operators over the Board of Conciliation, made a statement advising moderation, and the avoidance of disputes over mere technicalities.

In reply to the question as to his opinion regarding the status of things, he said that he was not fully informed as to the facts of the situation, and could, therefore, express no opinion. He could only express the hope that the settlements intended by the awards [illegible] by the making of [illegible] technical points by either miners or operators.

Washerwomen Form Union

St. Paul, June 3.—The washerwomen have formed a union. Their first demand is an increase in wages from $1.35 a day to $1.50. The women include those who are employed throughout the St. Anthony Hill district. Many of the domestic servants of St. St. Anthony Hill are unionized, and refuse to do washing. Hence the washerwoman have it in their power to force the housekeepers of "Swelldom Town" to either put up the cash or wear soiled silk stockings. The washerwomen have served notice that they will adhere to the union scale, and that no washing will be done unless the scale is paid.

FOR USE OF TROOPS

Action for $18,000 Entered Against City of Montreal

Montreal, June 3.—Capt. Gordon, district officer commanding No. 6 Military District, today, through his attorneys, entered an action for $18,800.65 against the City of Montreal. This is the amount claimed for the service of the soldiers called out to maintain order on the docks during the recent 'longshoremens' strike. The City on Montreal, having failed to furnish the money for the payment of troops, the district officer commanding has taken action.

The city claims that as the Government exercises full authority over all property controlled by the Harbour Commissioners, the Government should pay the troops for their services and maintenance during the time of the strike. The city will therefore call the Government into the case.

A New Regime.

A careful perusal of all the health journals and text-books being published, with a study of lectures given throughout the country, and a course of hygienic treatment under various popular methods, has resulted in the following eclectic system to preserve your health. It is free for all. Anybody with the usual number of bones, surrounded by the average amount of tissue, and having a nervous system capable of standing the strain, may enjoy its benefits.

The beauty of our system is that it takes only about ten hours a day. By business men who are obliged to support whole families, and who may have tried other systems, this will be duly appreciated.

You must rise at four o'clock in the morning and take a sea-bath. For this purpose salt water should be used, and it should be taken from the sea. A pipe can be laid directly from the nearest ocean right into your bath-tub. It may cost a few thousands, but think of how much more you would have to spend if you consulted a specialist! A cold bath is necessary, and if the water be too warm the tub should be filled with cracked ice. A short plunge of from fifteen to twenty minutes will be all that is required at first. This can be increased as you grow stronger. Immediately upon emerging from the bath go over yourself with a large number ten nutmeg-grater. This will improve the circulation and gradually loosen any particles of superfluous tissue. Now, after drinking a gallon of hot water, you are ready for your breakfast, which should consist of two small capsules of nutty nut and one ounce of selected grainy grain and a wine-glassful of prepared cream, from which the casein, albumen and fats have been withdrawn. This should be followed by a sun-bath under green, blue and yellow glass, the actinic rays of the sun being carefully removed. At ten begin your deep-breathing exercise. To do this successfully you must stand in front of a cheval glass. Raise the chest gently but firmly to the ceiling and let it rest there for four or five minutes; then let it fall slowly but surely to the floor. Every window in the room should, of course, be open, and, if possible, the roof removed. This movement should be rhythmic and accompanied by a piano attachment, or else try a bass-drum, as music helps the muscles to dilate. If all else fails, try a brass band.

At noon you will begin to feel hungry, but do not let this disturb you. Hunger is an abnormal condition. You will gradually get over this. For dinner, take a baked apple, from which the pulp has been removed, and scrape off the inside of the skin. This will afford the mental excitement necessary to harmonize the nervous system with the pneumo-gastric nerve. With this take one grain of nutty nut.

After dinner rest another hour, and then begin the regular exercise of the day. The ordinary methods of exercise—walking, running, riding horse-back, etc.—are not in accordance with the latest scientific formulae because they have a tendency to make you forget yourself. This is fatal. Remember that each muscle is a sponge, and needs to be contracted and expanded. Learn the names of all the muscles of your body and contract and expand them in alphabetical order, at the same time keeping the full force of your mind on each muscle. Do this until supper, which should consist of a two-grain capsule of nutty nut and a pinch of grainy grain.

The equipoise of the mind should not be neglected. Spend your evenings, therefore, in reading the health journals, the whole idea being to think about yourself as much as possible. By rightly adhering to this system, in a few weeks you won't know yourself.—"Judge."

They were asking conundrums in the commercial room the other evening when a previously silent young man put in his spoke.

"I've got one," he said.

"What is it?" asked the crowd.

"Why is heaven like a baby?"

They wrestled with it for ten minutes and gave it up.

"Because heaven is home, home is where the heart is, where the heart is is the chest, a chest is a box, a box is a small tree, a small tree is a bush, a bush is a growing plant, a growing plant is a beautiful thing, a beautiful thing is the primrose, the primrose is a pronounced yeller, and a pronounced yeller is a baby."

After which he once more relapsed into silence.

A NOBLE SCHEME

The Training of English Paupers for Canadian Farms

London, June 4.—The Poplar Board of Guardians is experimenting with farm training for the inmates of the British workhouses, hitherto regarded as hopeless failures, by sending them in small parties to farms in Surrey, to take care of live stock, and to attend to other farm duties, with the idea of subsequently emigrating to Canada. If the scheme succeeds other workhouses are certain to follow the example. Not five per cent. have so far proven failures.

FOREIGN LABOR AGITATORS

Montreal Chamber of Commerce Will Support the New Bill

Montreal, June 6.—Messrs. Damase Masson, president, and J. X. Perrault, were yesterday appointed by the Chambre de Commerce, to go to Ottawa as a delegation to support the amendment proposed by Senator Lougheed. The object of the amendment to the Criminal Code is to make foreign agitators indictable for causing men in Canada to leave their work or go out on strike.

The members of the Chamber expressed their regret that the authorities of Ecole Polytechnique had not deemed it advisable to issue invitations to the laying of the corner stone of that institution, on Monday last.

ABOUT CANADIAN STOCKS

The Financial News on the Situation in this Country

London, June 6.—The Financial News has an editorial entitled, "Canadian Cross Currents," in which it discredits the idea of there being anything unsound in Canada's finacial and industrial position, and points to the most remarkable progress of the Canadian Pacific's and Grand Trunk's earnings. The News confidently anticipates that bear raiders from the United States will not pay long visits to Canada, and says that their occasional advent will best be turned to account as opportunities for prudent Englishmen to buy Canadian securities cheaply.

Restricted to Certain Towns

Berlin, June 3.—The Tageblatt today prints a despatch from St. Petersburg, announcing that a law was published there today, giving a list of 101 town in Russia in which Jews are allowed to acquire land and live without restriction. Jews are temporarily forbidden to buy land outside these places, where they will be legally settled.

New Cars for C.P.R.

The C.P.R. is about to place six more parlor cars in commission. They will be [illegible] and will be named respectively:—Thrums, Trial, Trudeau, Treheran Thessalon and Tyndall. The C.P.R. is also having built by the Pullman Car Building Company a complete train for the Boston-Montreal service. This will consist of baggage cars, first class passenger coaches, sleepers and a kitchen car. The kitchen car, which is practically an evolution of the cafe car, and is the first to be used by the road. It contains a parlour compartment and diner and the new feature of it is that the kitchen, with all the cooking appliances, is placed in the centre of the car, between the diner and parlor compartment. This situation provides more convenient service to the diner portion, and in the event of the diner's capacity being overtaxed, tables can be placed in the parlour section.

—Whitby ratepayers held a meeting last week and unanimously adopted a resolution requesting the town to submit a bylaw for the establishment of municipal systems of waterworks and electric lighting.

"AUNTIES"

They Belong to the Whole Neighborhood

That dear only neighbor we knew as "Aunty" and who lived down the street was no relation of course except that her tender old heart made her "Aunty" to all the young people. And how she did love the young mothers! One who remembers her says: "We could always depend on 'Aunty' for good sound advice. She was particularly well informed on food and what to use for certain troubles. After having taught in the public schools for years my health became bad and I suffered frequently from indigestion. After my marriage I had indigestion so badly proper nourishment and was a very it became chronic. Owing to my condition my little baby did not get delicate child. I had about decided to put her on artificial food altogether when the advice of dear old 'Aunty' put baby and I on the right road.

"She insisted upon my trying Grape-Nuts Food declaring that it would help me and give baby more nourishment, so to please her I did, trying it for breakfast. The result was so marked and so quick that I ate it for breakfast. The result was so marked and so quick that I ate it for luncheon too and I must say the change has been wonderful. I have good health now and baby is a strong and active child.

"My mother says that Grape-Nuts helps her more and keeps her more cheerful and happy than anything else she has taken. Truly pure scientific food has great power." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The housekeeper who reads the little recipe book in each package of Grape-Nuts is usually famous for her clever desserts.

JOE MARTIN RETIRES

And Has Cleared Decks for Straight Part Fight

Vancouver, B.C., June 3.—Political events are moving rapidly here. Following the dramatic sweeping away of old-time cobwebs by the Conservatives in the introduction of party lines comes the retirement today of Joseph Martin from the position of leader of the Liberal party. That, as no other happening could, will clear the decks for a straight fight. Martin has been styled the "bogie man" of his party by men of his own political faith, but by his action, he has shown himself superior to attacks from Federal headquarters, and willing to sink ambitions and forget quarrels for good of his party.

The McBride Government has quickly got down to the business of making preparations for the general election. Captain Tatlow, the new president of the Council, delivered the budget speech today. The committee appointed to revise the estimates of the deceased Prior Government, adopted the proposed expenditure in toto, and added $170,000. The Government is being run by Premier McBride as Chief Commissioner and Capt. Tatlow, as President of the Council, and will probably be so continued until after the elections, when, it is understood, the elected Conservative members, if their party wins, which is very probable, will finally decide whether McBride or Charles Wilson shall lead the party.

BULLET MADE HOLE IN THE HANDKERCHIEF

Doctor's Evidence on Murder at Collingwood

Collingwood, June 3.—The inquest in the Whalen murder case was continued to-day. After the evidence of Dr. McFaul's post-mortem was received, the case was adjourned until June 15th. Dr. McFaul found beyond question that no effort at outrage had been made. The bullet had been fired through the handkerchief while it was around the girl's head, and it had been scorched by the powder. The club had caused temporary unconsciousness. Little interest was manifested, the room being but half full.

The police are now following up a new clue. Evidence has been found that two men, a white man and a negro, both tramps, were in the immediate neighborhood when the crime was committed, and notices have been sent to the chiefs of police in the eastern part of the province to arrest the suspects if found. The men were last seen around Thousand Island Junction, and it is supposed that they were making their way to the United States.

PROMPT REPLY TO MR. CHAMBERLAIN

The Acting Premier of Australia Telegraphs Colonial Support

SIR WILFRID IS CAUTIOUS

He Declined to be Interviewed on the Preference by London Daily News

London, June 6.—Following Mr. Chamberlain's letter to the editor of the British Australian, which is interpreted as an invitation for authoritative expressions of colonial support, Hon. Alfred Deakin, Attorney-General of the Australian Commonwealth, Commonwealth, who is acting Premier in Sir Edmund Barton's absence, telegraphs "The Commonwealth Government and all the Governments of the separate States approve Mr. Chamberlain's proposals. Only the extreme section of free traders are opposed. An immense majority is assured for the new policy, when put before the country. Preferential tariffs are indispensable to the foundation of the Empire."

The statements that the Canadian Government cancelled the reassembling this summer of the High Joint Commission is accepted as evidence that the Canadian Ministry regard reciprocity with the United States as the natural alternative to the British preferential plan.

Sir Wilfrid is Cautious.

The Daily News cabled Sir Wilfrid Laurier, asking his opinion on the general question. Sir Wilfrid replied that he was sorry, but he made a point of never being interviewed.

Sir Edward Grey, Lord Rosebery's chief spokesman in the Commons, condemns Mr. Chamberlain's plan and declares free trade absolutely necessary to Britain, more so even than fifty years ago.

Hon. W. H. Long, president of the Local Government Board, begs the British people to view the question as business men and not in the spirit of heated party controversy.

Sir William V. Harcourt, the Gladstonian Chancellor of the Exchequer, who has been seriously ill, says: "Mr. Chamberlain has done as much for me as all the treatment of the doctor. I must take part in this fight with my coat off."

The statement that Mr. J. I Tarte expressed his readiness to come to Great Britain to contest a British constituency as a supporter of imperial reciprocity, excites much interest. He would certainly be welcomed by all parties.

No Election for Year.

From statements dropped by various British Ministers, it is evident they do not encourage the expectation of a general election for another year, perhaps two, though they frankly admit to friends that Mr. Chamberlain has sufficient power to form a dissolution almost at any time if he so desires. Mr. Chamberlain's exact political intentions are evidently somewhat of a mystery to many of his colleagues in the Cabinet.

London, June 5.—Letters are published this morning from Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Lord Spencer, Lord Ripon, Lord Tweedmouth, and other Liberal leaders, all vigorously denouncing Mr. Chamberlain's imperial zollverein proposals as merely veiled protection. Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Lord Ripon contend that they would be a fruitful cause of disputes between the mother country and the colonies, and of conflict with foreign countries.

Lord Spencer says the country ought to press the Government to get the nation's opinion without delay on the details of the scheme.

The Daily News asserts that in the debate in Parliament on the Colonial Secretary's proposals, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and Mr. Goschen will both disavow Mr. Chamberlain's policy, whilst the Duke of Devonshire, Chancellor of the Exchequer Ritchie, Foreign Minister Lansdowne, and Lord Selborne, First Lord of the Admiralty, are all against the Colonial Secretary. It is not improbable, adds the Liberal organ, that Premier Balfour, finding such grave differences among the members of the Cabinet, will resign forthwith.

LORD MINTO'S WELCOME TO PETERBOROUGH

Vice Regal Party's Two Hours' Stay a Great Success

ADDRESS AND GOVERNOR GENERAL'S REPLY

List of Those Presented to Lord and Lady Minto—The Procession, Proceedings at the Park

Yesterday Peterborough did itself proud in the reception tendered to the Governor-General and party.

The train arrived promptly at [illegible] a.m., as was announced and a splendid welcome was tendered the Vice-Regal party by His Worship, Mayor Roger, amid the strains of the National Anthem by our 57th Regimental Band, and it is doubtful if Their Excellencies have listened to better music in the whole Dominion.

Twelve troopers of the 3rd Prince of Wale's Dragoons, under the able leadership of Lieutenant Geo. Hall, formed a bodyguard and accompanied the party throughout their visit in town and Ashburnham.

The infantry turned out in full uniform, presenting a fine appearance, and marched in splendid form, much to the admiration of the spectators.

The first carriage contained Lord and Lady Minto, His Worship, Mayor Roger, and Captain Bell, A.D.C. In the second were seated Lady Eileen and Lady Ruby Elliott. His Honor Judge Weller and Captain Graham, A.D.C., while the third carried Lieut.-Colonels J. W. Miller, J. Z. Roger, E. B. Edwards, and Mr. D. Hughes-Charles.

The party at once proceeded at a lively pace, set by coachmen R. H. Leary, immediately to the lift lock, which was minutely examined and admired by the visitors.

The return trip was as quickly made to the grand stand, which had been erected by the town in Victoria Park, and beautifully decorated by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, where the following address was read and presented by His Worship Mayor Roger:

To the Right Honourable the Earl of Minto, G. C. M. G., Governor-General of Canada.

May it Please Your Excellency.—On behalf of the Corporation and citizens of Peterborough, I desire to extend to Your Excellency and the Countess of Minto, a most cordial welcome to Peterborough, and to thank you for the honor and pleasure which you have conferred upon this community by this visit, all too brief, though it is. With all Canada we appreciate the deep interest which you have manifested in the country and the devotion to duty which you have brought to bear upon the discharge of the duties of your high office, and we rejoice to hear that the term for which you were first appointed has been extended.

We welcome you as the representative of our [illegible] person and throne we, in common with all Canadian citizens, entertain the strongest feelings of loyalty and devotion. We welcome you as the Governor of this, the foremost of His Majesty's Dominions beyond the seas, and we congratulate you and ourselves in that your term with us has fallen upon times of such unparalleled progress and prosperity for Canada, when the world seems at last awakened to some conception of the vast resources which here await development, and when the capital and population are flowing into the country as never before. It is seventy-seven years since a Governor of Canada first visited Peterborough and took part in the ceremony of giving a name to what nothing but the strongest faith in the future would venture to call a town. There are those with us today whose memories go back to the time when a single house stood in the midst of the unbroken forest where now stand comfortable homes, large mercantile houses and busy factories. These and similar evidence of growth which you have seen throughout Canada have no doubt caused you to share our unbounded confidence in the future of this young country. We feel assured that the interest which your Excellencies have ever shown in the affairs of the Dominion will not cease with your term of office, but will continue to bear fruit in future years, and we trust that your Canadian experience may always remain a pleasant memory.

Peterborough, June 5th, 1903.

The Governor-General in reply expressed his great pleasure at the splendid reception tendered and thanked the officials for the flattering address. He also said that he noticed with pleasure the evidences of prosperity which manifested themselves throughout the town. He spoke fluently of the possibilities of the Trent Valley Canal and of the wonderful lift lock. He paid other flattering tributes to the town and the different functions which took part in such a whole-souled and cordial welcome.

His Worship the Mayor thanked him for his kind and flattering remarks, after which the following were presented:

The Aldermen were first presented. They were all present:—Aldermen H. Best, Jos. Batten, R. Clinkscale, J. Corkery, R. F. McWilliams, J. Finnie, D. O'Connell, H. Rush, M. A. Morrison, Jas. Edgcumbe and R. Shortly.

The following were among those presented:—Mrs (Hon) J R Stratton, Mrs H M Lloyd, Mrs J G Potter, Mr W H Moore, Mr J A Hall, Mr J B McWilliams, Rev W L Armitage, Mr R P Watt, Mr Geo. Stewart, Mr R Innes, Rev A H Brace, Mr J J Hartley, Rev J C Davidson, Mrs W S McDonald, Miss Maude G Edmison, Mr. Geo Edmison, Mrs J A Hall, Mrs E B Edwards, Miss Roger, Miss A M Hall, Mr R Fair, Mr R M Dennistoun, Mr Wm Scott, Dr R P Boucher, Mrs R E Wood, Rev and Mrs J Bastow, Mr R Wood, Mrs Wm Yelland, Mrs Joe Mills, Mr F Green, Mrs Moore, Miss C F Bell, Mr Wm Faint, Miss Edmison, Miss H Peck, E A Peck, Geo. Fitzgerald, [illegible] John Carnegie, Mrs Carnegie, Mrs. Blackwell.

After leaving the Park Their Excellencies paid a short visit to St. John's church, drove to the station and departed amid the applause and good wishes of the entire population.

NOTES.

There was a large turnout of citizens at the station to greet His Excellency.

Mr. Leary supplied all the carriages used by the party and the reception committee. Lady Minto expressed her satisfaction at the handsome equipages provided.

BULGARIANS NOW READY TO INVADE TURKISH TERRITORY

War in the East Said to be on the Eve of Starting

Sofia, Bulgaria, June 6.—Bulgaria awaits with anxiety the result of Natchovitch's mission to the Sultan to procure mitigation of Turkish severities toward the Bulgarian population of Macedonia. Should the Sultan prove obdurate, it is said that ten thousand Bulgarians will invade Turkish territory and join the revolutionary bands in such a movement as would again raise the spectre of a Turko-Bulgarian war and disturb the dream of European statesmen.

The abolition of the Macedonian committees by the Bulgarian Government amounts to little more than a formality since the committees are being rapidly organised under the guise of benevolent societies.

FALLING PRICES ON STOCKS

The continuous recent fall in the prices of stocks is looked upon in some quarters as one of several indications that the great business prosperity which has prevailed for two or three years is about to moderate. The argument is that people are ceasing to have so much of a surplus of money to put into stocks, whether as a solid investment or as a gamble on margins. It may be that this is a mistaken view—that the slump is due merely to previous over-speculation—but the suggestion is worth thought by business men.

Bradstreet's last commercial review gives the impression that it is well to be conservative at present in incurring obligations. The reasoning is that the enormous flotation of huge companies and trusts at inflated values during the last few years have locked up disadvantageously a lot of private capital which can not get out except at a heavy loss; that the cost of production of all kinds of goods has been pushed up of late by increasing wages and increasing prices of material; that the United States currency system remains on a bad basis with each year's increase of business, as the nation grows, finds becoming more embarrassing to the commercial world; that finally, to quote Bradstreet's words, "the precipitation of a swarm of labor troubles, which after all, was merely an additional evidence of prosperity, in that they were largely brought about by a desire for higher wages on the part of industrial workers, coincidently with a weakening in the price of iron, have led to the fostering of a feeling that the crest of the wave of prosperity has past, and that the inevitable settling down process is well under way."

These are all forcible reasons for caution. The continent of North America has had a succession of good harvests, creating an amount of wealth vast enough to plug up a great many holes, but first-class harvests are not certainties. The Times' idea is that legitimate business will not feel any particular change in conditions until the character of the coming harvest can be fairly gauged. A poor harvest would in all probability be followed by business stringency. At present, the crop prospects are not too reassuring.

THE LABOR AGITATOR

Ottawa Citizen: The public is getting fairly tired of the labor agitator and his doings in this country. The day was when unionism in Canada stood for "a fair day's work for a fair day's pay" and as such was a respected institution of the industrial world. It is gradually becoming synonymous with the precept to bleed employers for every cent they will stand. The labor agitator is directly responsible for this prostitution of unionism, but not altogether. The members of the unions are in a degree responsible for the class of men into whose hands they commit power which if foolishly misused, is not infrequently disastrous in its effects on business, not to speak of the public inconvenience involved. Take this typographical union trouble which has narrowly escaped being responsible for precipitating a strike and throwing two or three hundred men out of employment. It is alleged to have arisen, primarily from a rivalry over the election of union officers. The leaders of one ticket promised that if they were elected, and the more conservative regime turned down, they would force a raise of wages out of the government and employing printers, though the existing scale will no doubt strike the public as remarkably generous in comparison with the earnings in other employments. The reckless element was placed in power and proceeded to try to make good its promise—with the result which has been seen. The government might not have declared the bureau an "open" office, but might have closed it permanently and thrown a couple of hundred employes out of work as a result of this attempted raid on employers.

Public opinion is being turned against unionism by the manner in which it has been conducted recently and it is a pity, because unionism is all right in principle. But if the prevalence of prosperity is to be seized upon to exact bank manager's salaries for every sort of employe who is backed by a union while the employers and unorganized workers worry along with what remains of the receipts it is time a halt was called. As an instance of the manner in which this sort of thing reacts, it may be mentioned that the comparative slackness of building operations this summer in Ottawa is traced to the reluctance of citizens to invest money owing to the expense resulting from the high rates of wages prevailing in the various building trades. These things regulate themselves, and a high wage scale is no consolation or advantage if there is no work.

The first duty of the unions is to get rid of the agitator and to entrust their affairs to men who will conduct them in a manner to command the respect of employers and the approval of the public. Otherwise the unions will suffer in public estimation, in fact are suffering.

THE FOREST FIRES

Undoubtedly the extreme drought which has prevailed in Peterborough and the neighboring counties for three months is the chief cause of the recent forest fires. There is one important moral in this. Everybody in town and county should be extremely careful to do nothing carelessly which may increase the danger of fire. All inflammable material is extremely dry, and atmosphere is equally so; and an extreme caution is desirable in the use or neglect of matches, cigar stubs, pipe ashes or any other kind of ashes or possible source of fire.

Brussels, June 5—It is stated that King Leopold is going to London with several high Congo State functionaries to endeavor to personally settle the Congo State questions, which, particularly the charge of brutality brought against the Congo State officials, were recently discussed in the British Parliament.

Constipation

Causes Headache, Abdominal, Pains, Piles and in Severe Cases Insanity and Apoplexy

It is a common mistake to conclude that Constipation is not a dangerous condition. Although at first it is only accompanied by slight inconvenience and pain, yet if not corrected, it will inevitably lead to very dire results.

Great care should be used in selecting a remedy for constipation because if a violent purgative is employed, it is sure to set up pain, irritation and congestion, and result finally in piles.

The experience of those who have tested all the cures for constipation, seems to prove that Ferrozone is the most agreeable and satisfactory treatment. It makes the bowels so well ordered that natural and unassisted action is established. Nothing can equal the immediate sense of comfort it produces, and pains in the head, and stomach, and in the intestines, disappear almost at once.

Ferrozone is very mild and certain in its action, and never causes inconvenience or distress. Ferrozone can be taken early as long as required and in no way interferes with business or pleasure, and nothing may be feared from its use, however prolonged it may be.

For Constipation, Piles and Sick Headache, Ferrozone stands unrivalled. The driver of the City Express Company, who suffered from piles, says:—"Constant sitting on the wagon seat, produced a rectal irritation, which combined with constipated condition of the bowels, brought on a severe attack of piles. I used without benefit, different ointments, and other remedies; but got quick relief and most satisfactory results from Ferrozone. I can recommend Ferrozone to all who suffer from piles.

Ferrozone always cures, and can be purchased at any reliable drug store for 50 cts. a box or three boxes for $1.25. Sent to your address by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

BULLET MADE HOLE IN THE HANDKERCHIEF

Doctor's Evidence on Murder at Collingwood

Collingwood, June 3—The inquest in the Whalen murder case was continued to-day. After the evidence of Dr. McFaul's post-mortem was received, the case was adjourned until June 16th. Dr. McFaul found beyond question that no effort at outrage had been made. The bullet had been fired through the handkerchief while it was around the girl's head, and it had been scorched by the powder. The club had caused temporary unconsciousness. Little interest was manifested, the room being but half full.

The police are now following up a new clue. Evidence has been found that two men, a white man and a negro, both tramps, were in the immediate neighborhood when the crime was committed, and notices have been sent to the chiefs of police in the eastern part of the province to arrest the suspects if found. The men were last seen around Thousand Island Junction, and it is supposed that they were making their way to the United States.

Paralyzed on the Right Side and Helpless For Six Years

Paine's Celery Compound

Opened Up a New and Happy Life for a Lady Who Was Considered to be Incurable

As summer advances, we are too prone to neglect the little ills and the warning symptoms of disease, simply because we are not suffering acute pain. It is a well known fact that in summer we too often neglect the necessities of the system. Never forget that sleeplessness, nervousness, poor circulation, rheumatism, back and sideaches are very forcible reminders of fatal diseases. We should therefore at this time grapple with the trivial aches and pains by using Paine's Celery Compound, the great blood purifier, nerve bracer, digestive regulator and system builder. To-day, tens of thousands are using Paine's Celery Compound with marvellous success, fortifying the system, for the weakening effects of the hot weather. Mrs. L. Pelletier, 56 Bridge St., Quebec, says:

"I have derived great good from your Paine's Celery Compound. I was paralyzed on my right side for six years, and was unable to write or do any work. I also had pains in my stomach, back and head, and suffered with inflammatory rheumatism. My attention was directed to the almost miraculous benefits that resulted from the use of Paine's Celery Compound. I decided to try three bottles, and have from the use of the remedy experienced grand results. The pains all disappeared and I feel a great deal stronger. I fully believe that I have at last found the precious remedy. Paine's Celery Compound has no equal as a reliever of pain."

OVER $1,000,000 ALREADY INVESTED.

Over one million dollars have been invested within a short radius surrounding on all sides the property of this company by Boston, New Haven and New York capitalists. All this has been invested quietly within the last two years, without any appeal to the public. Only one of these companies interested has put its stock on the market recently, and that at 60 cents on the dollar.

NOT A PROSPECT BUT A WELL-DEVELOPED MINING PROPERTY. We have shown by actual mining that we have the

A rich fissure vein. This company having paid a large sum of money for these properties and also in the development of the same, now offer to the public 60,000 shares only of their stock, in order to make further reserves, so that when they start to deliver ore at the reduction works they can keep up the supply daily and by that means pay a dividend that does not fluctuate but that can be depended on by the stockholders.

TWO-TEN OIL CO.
of Boulder, Colorado.

Capital Stock, 1,500,000 shares. In Treasury, 500,000 shares

TRANSFER OFFICE; BRISTOL, CONN.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in, in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities. With two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

Buried Gold

By FRED WHISHAW.

Author of "A Boyar of the Terrible," etc.

"Very well; shoot me, then, and be d——d!" said Foster.

"Stop a bit, we ain't come to that yet. First of all, which of these three chaps as was with you when we captured the ship knew of the secret you were told by Evans?"

"Not one of them," said Foster. "I swear they didn't. What would I tell them for before the skipper knew? I left the note for him in case anything should happen to me before he came aboard again. I was a fool to leave the note where I did, so's anyone could find it."

"Well, you were, that's sure. Swear by the Book you didn't tell this chap Swinton what's still alive—the other two's dead and well rid of."

"I swear he don't know what I know. I never mentioned a word of it to him."

Foster had been in terror when the men pursued Evans into the storehold, lest they should find the cabin-boy hiding there; for had they found him it was probable that they would somehow have discovered that he had been entrusted with a secret message. Terror would have unnerved and dazed him. Tom Foster had been prepared to lie to any extent in order to save the lad's life. When the fellows re-appeared without Tommy he felt a wave of comfortable hope that all might even yet end well for the "Penelope" faction.

"I shall probably be shot in five minutes, though," he reflected dismally. "Unless they're afraid dad wouldn't approve; that's my chance."

"Well, as you seem to be the only one as knows the secret you're the only one we've got to deal with," said the "Hecuba" mate. "I'm sorry for you, bein' the son of our skipper and a likely lad, as I'm told by some as knows you at Seadown; but I don't see what I can do for you beyond giving you your choice of a round of bullets or the yardarm."

"Oh, bullets for me," said Foster, "if you're going to be such a set of infernal cowards as to shoot a defenceless man."

"We've our laws to keep; it ain't my fault. You did a bad day's work getting that secret out of Evans."

"Well, take me to the island and shoot me there. I suppose I ought to say good-by to dad. I sha'n't ask him to let me off, don't fear. There's him and my sister I should like to see before I'm shot."

"She's come over our side—came last evenin' and brought back young Drake."

"That's a lie, I'll be bound," said Tom, flushing.

"It's the solemn truth. See here now, I've an idea. Old Jake's furious with you and said we was to treat you same as if he hadn't nothin' to do with you if you resisted us when we came aboard; but I doubt he'd sooner see you our side than shot. Come our side, if you like, and I'll chance it. There's stuff enough in them boxes for all of us."

"What, take on with a set of murderin', gold-stealin' devils that've all gone as mad as hares over the lust for gold? Not me, mate. I'd rather be shot."

"Oh, we'll hear you sing another song when it comes to the time for shootin'," said the mate furiously. "You'll show the white feather, sonny, like your betters."

"Thank God, I'm not such an arrant coward as to want to shoot my fellow-creatures in cold blood rather than have other folks know where you've hidden a lot of stolen goods. Don't you fret, it'll all come out, and you'll hang high enough in the end, even though you shoot every one of us chaps."

"D—— me if I'm not wrong to give such a fool a chance," cried the mate, losing his temper. "Make him fast to the foremast, some of you chaps, and we'll see what he'll say with half a dozen rifle barrels pointin' at his carcase."

The "Hecuba" sailors, nothing loath, lugged Tom away and secured him to the mast. Half a dozen of them took line in front of him.

"When I've counted up to three you can fire," said the mate. "This chap knows too much, lads. Evans blabbed to him; and though he's the skipper's son, old Jake isn't one to let us suffer by his relations. We're to treat him same as the rest. When I count three you can shoot."

"Stop a minute, lads, by your leave, sir," said Bob Tucker, an old Seadown man. "Let the pore chap have one more chance. I've known the lad since he was a nipper of three."

The mate, already ashamed of his loss of temper and the outrage to which it was leading him, was glad enough to avail himself of this chance of escape from a position he really hated.

"Don't you go'n get shot for an idea, Tom," continued Tucker; "we're old shipmates. What does it matter which side you call yourself?"

"Well, you hear, Foster," said the mate, "you've got till I count three to say you'll come our side."

"I'll see you d——d, first," said Tom, who was furious and blood-hot; "shoot, lads, if you're cowards and villains enough!"

"One—," said the mate. There was a long pause. Then the mate uttered a curse and turned aside.

"Drop your guns, men," he said, "and take him and lock him up. I can't see it done, and that's the truth. The skipper shall wash his soiled linen for himself."

One or two of the men raised a cheer. Foster shook Tucker's hand.

"You're a good chap, Bob," he said, "though you're all wrong about this gold business. We don't wish any of you any harm, lads. We've right on our side, and you must know it."

"Your party should have cleared off, sir, soon as you found you wasn't wanted here," said Bob. "Our minds is all made up on that point. You'd better come over our side, and you'll get a share—there's enough for all. It'd please the old skipper, too."

"Leave the fool alone," said another man, surlily, "he ought to be shot, knowin' what he knows. Suppose he escaped and got to the island alive?"

"Put the fool in his berth and knock him on the head if he tries to get away."

There were more against Tom than for him, and he was lucky to have escaped.

At daylight the cutter was despatched to the island announcing the easy capture of the "Penelope" and asking the skipper's instructions as to Tom Foster.

The boat came off again presently, and brought Jess Foster and Drake, among other visitors. This was the party that Keith Adams saw approach the ship, when he fancied that he was witnessing a foolish attack upon the "Penelope" by daylight.

Old Jake Foster sent word that his son should be put in irons and carefully watched. "If he attempts to escape," said the skipper, "I don't ask you to treat him better than any other chap who might be in the same position."

The Noon Hour.

Many a hard working young woman spends her noon hour in an endeavor to get a little rest to carry her through the remaining hours of the day. She is weak and weary, but she cannot give up the occupation which supports her. She must go back to the office and the typewriter, to the store and its duties, with tiresome customers to wait on and exacting employers to please.

For people who are weak and run down there is no medicine so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Many diseases in organs remote from the stomach have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and its allied organs. When the stomach is "weak" there is a failure to properly digest and assimilate the food which is eaten. Hence the whole body, and each organ of it, suffers from lack of nutrition, so that as a consequence of "weak" stomach, there may be "weak" lungs, "weak" heart, "weak" or torpid liver, "weak" nerves, etc. By curing diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, "Golden Medical Discovery" enables the assimilation of the nutriment necessary for the requirements of a healthy body. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and so increases the supply of blood which is the vital fluid of the body.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Sick and ailing people especially those suffering from disease in its chronic form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

There is no similar offer of free medical advice which has behind it an institute of national note such as the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., presided over by Dr. Pierce, its chief consulting physician, with the assistance of nearly a score of skilled specialists.

"The Wonderful Medicine."

"I must again send a few lines to you to let you know how I am getting along since taking the wonderful medicine which cured me two years ago," writes Miss Bertha Ebeler, of 1416 Benton Street, St. Louis, Mo. "I still continue in very good health and think there is not a better medicine on earth than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. We would not be without it in the house, and also the little 'Pellets.'

"I have recommended Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to many friends, and they all think it will do just what is claimed for it. It is the best thing for nervousness and for a weak, run down condition that any body could want. I was very nervous and weak last summer. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it just made me feel like a new person. It gives a person new life and new blood. I can now work all day long without feeling the least bit tired. In fact I feel like a new person.

"My mother was also cured by it of a very bad state of stomach trouble about three years ago. I thank you a thousand times for what you have done for me and for your kind advice."

Wasted to a Skeleton.

"About six years ago my health failed," writes Miss Alethea E. Green, of Coopstown, Harford Co., Maryland. "I kept getting down lower and lower, until I could scarcely walk across the floor without struggling and gasping for breath. My home physician pronounced it general debility and catarrh of the throat, but although he did all he could, he failed to even relieve me. I tried various remedies, but all of no avail. I soon wasted away to a mere skeleton. Finally I was persuaded to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., which I did immediately. And on receiving his very kind advice I commenced the use of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription.' I took fourteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and nine of the 'Favorite Prescription' and to-day I am a well woman. I do heartily thank God and Dr. Pierce for my good health."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 50 one-cent stamps for the book in cloth binding, or 31 stamps for the paper covered volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Novel as a Real-Estate Boomer.

Louisville papers are authority for the statement that "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" not only brought to Cabbage Patch residents the gladdest, richest Christmas their pinched lives had ever known, but has started a tide of immigration toward this suburb of Louisville. Before Miss Alice Caldwell Hegan, now Mrs. Cale Young Rice, introduced Mrs. Wiggs to her thousands of friends, the Cabbage Patch was held as undesirable a living spot as Kentucky could show. Now, all Louisville takes its guests to see the Cabbage Patch and to discover, if possible, Mrs. Wiggs, Miss Hazy, Lovey Mary, and all the rest; while every traveler through Kentucky stops off at Louisville on the same errand, and kodak enthusiasts haunt the region at all hours. Nor is this all. The Cabbage Patch has become fashionable is hardly the word—popular among the lower circles of Louisville's people; and one land-owner has let contracts for twenty-two new cottages to meet the demands of would be Cabbage Patchites. These new cottages will be ready to accommodate the spring rush, which the appearance of "Lovey Mary" in book-form is expected to increase.

This new picture of life among the lowly promises to have as great a success as its predecessor, for those who smiled at the quaint sayings of the widowed Mrs. Wiggs and the amusing antics of her children will be glad to get another glimpse of them. The new story, by the way, is not a sequel, although several other familiar characters again appear in its pages. Here is a characteristic bit of advice taken at random, which shows that the sympathetic Cabbage Patch philosopher has lost none of her original charm:

"If you want to be cheerful, jus set yer mind on it an' do it. Can't none of us help what traits we start out in life with, but we kin help what we end up with. When things first got to goin' wrong with me, I says: 'O Lord, whatever comes, keep me from gittin' sour!' It wasn't fer my own sake I ast it—some people 'pears to enjoy bein' low-sperrited—it was fer the childern an' Mr. Wiggs. Since then I've made it a practice to put all my worries down in the bottom of my heart, then set on the lid an' smile. . . . The way to git cheerful is to smile when you feel bad, to think about somebody else's headache when yer own is 'most bustin', to keep on believin' the sun is a-shinin' when the clouds is thick enough to cut. Nothin' helps you to it like thinkin' more about other folks than about yerself."

OVER TWO MILLIONS LOST BY FIRE IN STATE PAWNSHOP

Twenty Thousand Poor Neapolitans Lose Their Property

Naples, June 3—A fire broke out at nine o'clock last night in the Monte di Pieta, a public loan office or pawn shop that is conducted by the State. The building, which wsa an old one, burned furiously throughout the night, and this morning only the walls remained. During the night a strong body of troops had difficulty in restraining the crowd, composed of the poorest Neapolitans, who assembled in the hope of being able to save their pawned belongings. It is estimated that fully 20,000 persons had property pledged at the Monte de Pieta. An adjacent building, containing State archives, was at one time threatened. Two navy pumps were asked for, and went to aid the city firemen. While they were being rushed through the street that was half blocked by repair works, Marquis di Sarmeinto, who was helping the marines, was caught between the engines and almost instantly crushed to death.

A ladder on which were six firemen broke, and all the men were injured. One of them has since died.

The nuns in a neighboring convent were imperiled, but they made no attempt to flee. Firemen broke in the barred door and found them praying. They were led to a safe place overlooking the fire, and there they prayed throughout the night. Almost the whole population of the city spent the night in the streets watching the fire. The Bank of Naples announces that the holders of pawn tickets will be gradually reimbursed. The newspapers palce the loss at $2 200,0000.

Quick Time.

An unflattering but amusing pen-picture of "Americans" as he has found them is given by a disgruntled Frenchman. When we talk of France they always say, "Oh, but you should see America!" They reckon up their buildings by the cubic acre, and the greatest artistic beauty of an edifice is the number of stories it has. They take out their guide-book and study the exact measurements and weight of stone. "Oh," they say, "it is not as big as Waldorf-Astoria or the White House." And they are happy. The "American" has only one superlative, exactly the same in art and literature as in industry. It is "biggest!" The biggest picture, the biggest book, the biggest machine. I dare say they would really like to have the biggest stomachs to eat the biggest dinners, for they have the biggest feet to cover the most ground. The highest ideal the "American" can imagine is the biggest automatic machine, and he is always talking of it and trying to invent it, just as he is always trying to imitate a machine in his way of living. He has an idea that man must push his brain to its maximum of work at the highest pressure, only to create machinery. To do this he fills his head with cog-wheels, which he sets going at such a rate he can never stop them, and they go on turning and turning, even when he has no more work to do. He goes off with such a rattle that he cannot stop the machine until it breaks him down. He has given up real eating long ago, and in ten minutes finishes off a meal it would take a Frenchman two hours to get through, and as his teeth are bad he stops them all with gold. He has trained himself to work until eating is a nuisance, so he invents tabloids and can carry a pound of beefsteak and a loaf of bread in his waistcoat pocket. The only idea the "American" has of civilization is a huge orchestra where all the world plays the tune while he waves the wand. The tune does not matter if the time is quick.

TO DROP CONGO FREE STATE

Belgium Has Given Up All Idea of Annexing Country

The Hague, June 3—According to advices received here, the Government of Belgium has decided to abandon the project of annexing the Congo Free State, allowing the option of annexation to expire. It is explained that Belgium is disinclined to assume the responsibility of governing the Congo as a colony because of popular opposition, and the attitude of Great Britain.

The Congo Free State was established by the Act of the International Conference in Berlin in 1885, under which it was declared to be a sovereign power under King Leopold of Belgium. Leopold bequeathed all his rights in the State to Belgium, and by a treaty made in 1890, Belgium recieved the privilege of annexing the State after a period of ten years. This convention expired today.

Eccentric Numbering.

Houses are not numbered according to their sequence in Japan, but according to the order of their erection. That is to say, No. 72 may adjoin No. 1, with No. 102 on the opposite side. No. 2 is probably a mile down the street. The city of Tokio is made up of thirteen hundred and thirty streets, in which are three hundred and eighteen thousand three hundred and twenty houses. These houses are divided up into fifteen wards. If a street passes through more than one ward the houses are numbered according to the wards in which they are—that is, a street passing through six wards will possess six number ones. It would be like hunting for a needle in a haystack for a stranger to try to find a number in Tokio, but a jinrikisha driver knows the position and number of almost every one of the houses in Tokio. He is able to do this by having made this business the one study of his life.

Shotless Gun for Troops

One of the latest evidences of skilled ingenuity is the shotless gun now on exhibition at the drill hall, in Ottawa, says the Ottawa Citizen. It is an highly sensitive, well made machine, devised with the idea of giving practice in sighting to recruits and marksmen without the expensive outlay upon costly ammunition. The machine is mounted upon a solid, heavy casting and consists of an ordinary rifle connected by electrical attachment to a pointer on an axis almost parallel to its bore. A target at which the marksman aims is set up 30 yards from the machine and upon pulling the trigger the pointer indicated by a dot upon a small target on the machine the exact spot where the bullet would have hit the larger target. The rifle can be adjusted for the standing, kneeling or lying down position and is valuable for indoor practice in which it affects a great saving in ammunition.

Tried to Poison Queen Draga

Vienna, June 3—Unconfirmed rumors are in circulation at Belgrade, Servia, that King Alexander's French cook has committed suicide at the palace, after having been detected in an attempt to poison Queen Draga.

Mr. Richards, the Popular Train Dispatcher in the Canadian Pacific Railway Windsor Station, Montreal, is Saved from Death by

Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets

After Ordinary Medical Treatment Had Failed to Cure a Long Standing Case of Kidney Diseasa, the Marvellous Tablets Accomplished a Happy and Wonderful Work.

It is a well known fact that kidney troubles are terribly prevalent in our midst, and cut down thousands every year.

The best efforts of physicians thus far have failed to stay the ravages of the deadly disease, and the medicines usually prescribed by practitioners only afford temporary relief. The strong and oft-repeated statement that "medical men utterly fail in the curing of Bright's disease and general kidney troubles" is true and incontrovertible.

Are you experiencing any of the symptoms that mark the various forms of kidney disease? Are you sensible of a growing weakness, backache, fugitive and obscure pains in the lumbar region, drowsiness, emaciation, shortness of breath, dizzy feeling, disturbed sleep? Do you note brick dust deposit or mucous or milky discharges and gravel in your urine? Has your skin a dry harsh feeling, burning at night? Have you unusual thirst and scanty flow of urine? Are you losing in weight and strength?

If you are experiencing any of the symptoms referred to, you cannot afford to hesitate another hour. Be assured of the fact that deadly kidney disease has laid its iron hand on you. To banish the awful disease you must begin with Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets, which immediately arrest the gradual weakening of the kidneys that goes on from day to day. It is the only medicine that heals and builds up the diseased tissues that now pass away, cell by cell in the urine. One bottle of these tablets will quickly banish every warning symptom of the dead disease, restore strength to all weak and distressed organs, and give you back your former health.

In this your time of peril and doubt, may Heaven direct you to follow the example of Mr. A. Richards, a Montreal official of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Richards, who is better known to the thousands who travel than even the lamented president of our great transcontinental road, says:

"For many years I have been a victim of kidney trouble which caused me great anxiety. Ordinary medical treatment failed to cure the distressing and dangerous malady, and day and night I continued to suffer, and was almost convinced that my cure was impossible. In the midst of despondency and physical sufferings I was advised by a friend to use Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets, and I bless the day they were brought to my attention. I have used two bottles of these marvellous tablets and can truly say that I am perfectly cured. I find my kidneys have been healed, strengthened and stimulated to healthy action, and working in perfect harmony with other organs. I now feel as well as ever before, and owe my present healthy condition entirely to Kidney-Wort Tablets. I strongly recommend them to all who suffer from any form of kidney trouble."

Stocks—The MARKETS OF THE WORLD—Grain

A GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, [illegible] other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

Send for particulars, prospectus and maps to

125 WILL NOT REACH THE NUMBER OF REASONS WHY THE STOCK IN The Oro Rico Mining Syndicate IS A GOOD INVESTMENT.

I have offered this Stock at a very low price and it is your misfortune if you fail to take advantage of it.

THE ORO RICO MINES are located in the Providence Range of Mountains, San Bernardino County, California, consisting of 30 full claims.

THEY ARE MINES NOT PROSPECTS.

Vast ledges of ore running from $5.00 to $800.00 per ton. Five shipments of ore to El Paso Smelter gave returns from $79.80 to $223.00 per ton. This is not a five per cent. a month scheme, but it is a legitimate proposition that will give you better returns than Savings Bank or Mortgage loans. A few months ago a Mr. Woodside bought 200,000 shares in a Tonopah Company for five cents a share and recently sold the same at $8.00 a share. No business in the world is safer as an investment or more profitable than mining, and none offer a more honest dollar.

Remember that little money is ever made by purchasing Stocks which are already paying dividends. When you do this you pay DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR for everything you get. You must make your money on your JUDGEMENT and your FORESIGHT. It is the foresight that makes money, and if you follow the dictation of your foresight you will secure a block of ORO RICO STOCK, and when dividends are paid your income will be five times greater than if you waited until the Stock sold at par. The new Milling Plant is now being put in place and gold bullion will soon be turned out. After the first run you can't get the Stock at present price. It will soon be 60 per cent. higher.

The Officers and Directors of the Company have recently visited the mines and returned full of enthusiasm. The mines are turning out much richer than expected.

I can offer the Stock for a short time only at 20 cents per share. It is worth double that.

Will accept payments of 25 per cent. cash and balance, 25 per cent. per month. Wanted active agents. Address all orders to

STOCK MARKETS

Appertaining to Canadian Pacific

New York, June [illegible].—Canadian Pacific has been under a merciless hammer recently. It was the storm center in the attacks against house finally pushed to the wall. Their liquidation in the security has been compelled and accomplished. The wonder is that the stock held as well as it did under the circumstance. True, it may sag again for a while, possibly reaching as low, or a trifle lower, figure than the lowest recorded Tuesday. Yet its market action indicates its market strength, so while it is down and exhibits such a strong market undertone, let us investigate the property a bit. The gross income of the property from July 1st, 1902, to May 21st, 1903, was $40,200,000 or at rate of $45 million per annum. This showing for the period represents an increase of more than $5,000,000. The net income for the last nine months in which earnings are available was $11,800,000, representing an increase of $900,000 compared with the previous similar period. The proceeds from land sales are not included in these figures. The company owes the Canadian Government $15 million, on which it pays 3 1-2 per cent. It owns by grant of the Government about 18,500,000 acres of land. This is being rapidly sold and the proceeds devoted to paying off the indebtedness to the government. This land is sold to farmers who give a mortgage on it, on which they pay 6 per cent. as against the 3 1-2 per cent. paid by the company to the government. Large blocks of land was sold in 1902 at only $3.65 per acre. It will be therefore seen that calculating the land at only $2.00 per acre, when sold, it will pay the indebtedness of the company to the government, and yield it in addition a new profit of about $20 million in hard cash, while at the same time it is selling the territory in question, thereby putting it in shape to yield additional freight tonnage and increase passenger traffic. The company now shows net earnings of almost 14 per cent. upon its capitalization, though only paying 6 per cent. When one thinks Canadian Pacific is a transcontinental route, operating its own exclusive mileage, extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, a comparison with N. Y. C. or Mo. P. illustrates it future possibilities. If it earns 14 per cent. in its present sparsely settled territory, what will it earn as its territory is further settled and developed. Is it not a good thing to buy and hold on to. It also runs steamship lines between Canada and England, also between the Pacific Coast and the Orient. There has been the past year enormous immigration from our northwestern States to Canada. Vast improvements are being pushed by the company, so as to reduce operating expenses which were slightly increased last year because of the enormous increase in the company's traffic. The day will arrive, and not so far distant, when Canadian Pacific will sell above 200 and will be worth the money.

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU CAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL

Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the

ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y

in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory

lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects.

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share. This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that. It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

If shares are exhausted when your application is received we will return your money. Make checks payable to the order of the Actonoma Oil and Development Company, P. H. Earight, Secretary and Treasurer, 218 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

The officers of our company are W. L. Rich President; O. R. School, Vice-President, and P. H. Earights, Secretary and Treasurer.

Capital $1,000,000. Treasury Stock, $500,000. Shares Par Value, $1.

Depository: FARMERS & MERCHANTS BANK, LOS ANGELES.

See report on this company in NATIONAL OIL REPORTER of October 17th, 1902, and January 29th, 1903.

IF YOU HAVE CATARRH

Remember the best Catarrh medicine that money can buy is Catarrhozone; it cures quickly and permanently when all else fails

The remedy don't exist that will cure Catarrh as quickly as Catarrhozone. It relieves the most stubborn cases in a short time, and drives the disease so thoroughly from the system that it never returns.

Druggists boldly recommend Catarrhozone in preferrence to other remedies, because they know it is the best, and every progressive doctor prescribed it for the same good reason.

Catarrhozone is a rational, common-sense treatment that finds favor with everybody. It cures by the inhalation of medicated air, which comes into contact with the mucous surface of all the breathing organs. It gets at the source of the trouble, kills the germs and drives every vestige of catarrh right out of the system.

It doesn't matter how deep-seated or chronic your case may be. Catarrhozone can cure it. Even though a thousand other remedies have failed, don't give up hope till you have used Catarrhozone. It has cured other cases probably worse than yours, and will cure yours if it gets a chance.

Mr. Dutcher Law, a prominent citizen of Holy Cross, N.S., says: "I experimented with hundreds of catarrh remedies and found the majority to be worthless, dismal failures. Catarrhozone was the first to give lasting relief; it cured me and I am with pleasure testifying to its merits as a cure for Catarrh of the nose or throat.

(Signed) DUTCHER LAW.

You are sure to derive the most pleasant results from Catarrhozone. It has been tested many times and never found wanting. Every druggist in Canada sells it. Complete two months' treatment, guaranteed to cure costs $1, or a trial size 25c. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

To the Editor of The Times:

Dear Sir—It has been said not so often now, as some years ago, that the powers that be are in supreme control.

Kindly do me the favor to object to the negligence of the representatives of the people in whose charge is the lighting of the band stand. It proved an utter failure last night, the place being in total darkness. The Band were totally disgusted.

A "Wild Rose."

Perhaps the greatest curiosity ever exhibited before a Canadian public is the strange being with the Walter L. Main shows, who is called "Wild Rose." Her capture occurred in Guatamala a few years ago, and, although amenable to kindness, it has been found impossible to tame her. She has the perfectly formed physique of the normal woman, with a rather handsome face, but her dark skin, stature and peculiarly shaped head and features stamp the creature as decidedly outre. Scientists have pronounced that this woman is of Aztec origin; perhaps the only specimen of her race alive today. She is a psychic mystery well worth studying.

IS IT RIGHT?

To the Editor of The Times.

Dear Sir,—I notice at the last meeting of the Council that a by-law was passed exempting the Martin Stanley Piano Company from taxes. I would like to know, Mr. Editor, if our council have not exceeded their authority in this matter and also if this is fair to our other manufacturers in town that are doing a much larger business than this company, and employing a great many more hands. If our council have the authority to grant this exemption, which I for one doubt, then they should treat all the manufacturers fairly and alike.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am

ONLOOKER.

THE TOWN ASSESSORS

They Should Receive a Substantial Increase in Their Salaries

The local Assessors are asking an increase in salary from the council, and the matter has been referred to the Committee on Appointments with power to act. The Times believes the request should be granted. There probably could not be found a more capable lot of men for the position than the present applicants, viz)—Messrs. John Kincaid, Thos. McKee for Wards Three and Four and Messrs T. B. McGrath and W. Aldridge, for Wards One and Two.

Always careful to do no injustice to any ratepayer, these men have in the past given general satisfaction. We hope the committee, therefore, will reward faithful duty by a substantial increase.

DEATH OF MRS. LE FEVRE

One of Lakefield's Most Esteemed Residents Passes Away

On Wednesday last there passed away Mrs. H. J. LeFevre, the wife of one of the best known and most highly esteemed residents of Lakefield. The deceased lady had been in a precarious state of health for a couple of years, suffering from an illness which baffled the physicians and which unremitting care could not overcome. Her end came sweetly on Wednesday last, surrounded by her loved ones, with the exception of Mr. A. LeFevre, who is present engaged in engineering work in Canada. The account of her death will be a shock to her many friends in Peterborough and throughout the district, who will exceedingly regret her demise. The deceased was the daughter of Kivas Tully, Esq., of Toronto, and a granddaughter of the late Col Strickland, and had lived near Lakefield ever since her marriage. The Times extends its sympathy to Mr. Lefevre and family.

—The school children appreciated very much the half holiday granted by the School Board.

ATHLETIC MATINEE

A Good Evening's Sport at the Driving Park

A large crowd gathered at the Driving Park last evening to witness the sports. Notwithstanding the band concert in Victoria Park and other attractions the grand stand was comfortably filled, besides a large crowd on the grounds, when the bell rang for the horse race, which was the first event, and four fine looking horses lined up before the wire.

A good deal of speculation was rife as to which beast would win, and each horse had its fair share of admirers, and those who knew nothing whatever of the merits of any horse, picked out the steed that he hoped to see win. Although there was no betting, yet the interest was keen and excitement ran high before the race was finally decided. After a fair start the horses came in as follows)

Little Diamond	2	1	1
Little Fred	1	2	2
Keepbell	3	3	3
Wilfred	4	4	4

Time of heats—1.12, 1.13, 1.15. The race was over a half mile track.

The next was the 220 yards men's race, and resulted as follows

1st—D. Belland,
2nd—J. Guerin.
3rd—Mr. Currans.

Then followed quickly the men's half mile race with D. Belland 1st, J. Guerin 2nd, and Goockie 3rd.

The last event was not the least by any means, and perhaps the more interest was manifested in the tug of war between the Quakers and the Bell Telephone teams, and although the Quakers were much heavier, yet it was thought by many that the 'line"men were hardened to the work and would give their opponents a heavy pull. So they did, but the men of the oat meal persuasion took the rope in two successive "tugs" and then showed their good will in cheering their throats hoarse for the plucky opposing team.

We believe we are not saying too much when we state that everyone present was delighted with the evening's sport, and we are glad to congratulate the Turf Club on the success attending their first matinee, which will be followed by another next Friday evening.

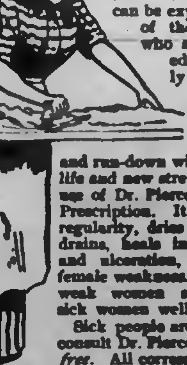
The 8 Hour Day

Which the working man has fought for and succeeded in obtaining is something the wife has no share in. Her day begins before his and ends long after it, as a rule, and many a night her rest is broken by the baby's fretfulness. The healthiest woman must wear out under such a strain. What can be expected then of those women who are weakened by womanly diseases?



Women who are weak, worn-out and run-down will find new life and new strength in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I suffered with female weakness about eight years—tried several doctors but derived no benefit until I began using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. John Green, of Danville, Boyle Co., Ky. "This medicine was recommended to me by other patients. I have taken six bottles and I feel like another person."

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription," is only seeking to make the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. His profit is your loss. Refuse all substitutes.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

Nervous Depression.

Summer months are peculiarly the months of nervous diseases, especially nervous prostration and other depressed states of the nervous system. People who are not at all inclined to be nervous or suffer from weak nerves find this time especially trying. Sultry heat and electrical disturbances of the atmosphere are probably the cause of this.

Invalids need to be particularly careful to fortify the nervous system by the use of Peruna.

Miss Helen Rolof, Kaukauna, Wis., writes:—"Several times during the past two years or more my system has been greatly in need of a tonic, and at those times Peruna has been of great help in building up the system, restoring my appetite and securing restful sleep. I know a great number of women who are using it for the troubles peculiar to the sex, and with the best results."—Helen Rolof.

MISS LUCY M. RILEY.

PERU
TON

Miss Louise Bertsel, 19½ Second street, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:—"My health was excellent until about six months ago, when I seemed to have a collapse from overdoing socially, and the doctor ordered an entire change of scene and climate. As this was an absolute impossibility at the time, I had to try and regain my health in another way and was induced by a friend, who gave Peruna such a good recommend, to try Peruna. I cannot tell you the condition of my nerves when I began to use it. The least noise irritated me, and I felt that life was not worth living, but Peruna soon changed me into a well woman, and now I do not know I have nerves."—Louise Bertsel.

A newspaper contributor was lately admitted into the extensive suite of offices which constitute the headquarters of Dr. Hartman, who treats catarrh patients by the thousand. Among the busy swarm of assistant doctors, clerks, stenographers and bookkeepers, Dr. Hartman stopped long enough to say a few words.

"A large number of female patients visit me every year, but the number who are entered on my books as regular patients and are treated by correspondence is very much larger. Hundreds of letters are received and answered free every day. A yet greater multitude take my catarrh remedy, Peruna, and are cured, of whom I never hear. Some of this latter class write me years after their cure.

"I never allow a name published except by the written consent of the patient. We make no charge at any time. The medicine only is obtained by each patient at her own drug store. Those desiring to become regular patients have only to send address, duration of disease and treatment previously received, and directions for the first month's treatment will be sent at once."

Over half the women have catarrh in some form or another. And yet, probably not a tenth of the women know that their disease is catarrh. To distinguish catarrh of various organs it has been named very differently.

One woman has dyspepsia, another bronchitis, another Bright's disease, another liver complaint, another consumption, another female complaint. These women would be very much surprised to hear that they are all suffering with chronic catarrh. But it is so, nevertheless.

Each one of these troubles and a great many more are simply catarrh—that is, chronic inflammation of the mucous lining, of which organ is affected. Any internal remedy that will cure catarrh in one location will cure it in any other location. This is why Peruna has become so justly famous in the cure of female diseases. It cures catarrh wherever located. Its cures remain. Peruna does not palliate—it cures.

"Health and Beauty," sent free by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Miss Jennie Finley, 79 Madison Street, Memphis, Tenn., a popular young society lady of that place, writes:—"Three years ago I had very poor health, and while I was only sick abed occasionally, I was unable to enjoy life, and lacked vitality and strength. I was an easy subject to cold and malaria. Four bottles of Peruna changed my entire physical condition. My head stopped aching, my strength returned, and the poison was driven out of my blood till I felt like a new and well woman once more. It is a truly great medicine and well worthy the good things its friends say about it, and it will always have my indorsement."—Jennie Finley.

Miss Lucy M. Riley, 33 Davenport street, Cleveland, Ohio, writes:—"I wish to add my indorsement to thousands of other women who have been cured through the use of Peruna. I suffered for five years with severe backache, and when weary or worried in the least I had prolonged headache. This fall I caught a bad cold and was advised to take Peruna for it. Imagine my astonishment and pleasure to find that after taking two bottles not only was my cough gone, but I had no more backache or headache. I am now in perfect health, enjoy life and have neither an ache or pain, thanks to Peruna."—Lucy M. Riley.

—The Times had the pleasure of a call yesterday from Mr. Tom. L. Wilson, the genial press agent of Walter L. Main's shows. Of an exceedingly corteous manner, Mr. Wilson is immensely and deservedly popular with the pressmen of the country.

SUGGESTS A COUNCIL OF THE WHOLE EMPIRE

A Conference of Leaders of All Parties to Discuss Colonial Preference

MR. CHAMBERLAIN HAS AWAKENED THE EMPIRE

Liberals are Anxious to Force Disolution, and Many Wild Stories are Afloat in Clubland

London, June 8.—Regarding Mr. Chamberlain's proposals, the most fruitful suggestion in to-day's papers comes from Mr. Copeland, the agent-general for New South Wales, who proposes a special conference of the representatives of hte 'whole' Empire, including the Ministeries and Opposition in each country, to thoroughly discuss the question of the preferences.

Another high official proposes the immediate creation of an Advisory Colonial Council to bring authorative Colonial opinion to bear upon the British Cabinet and British public opinion.

One great advantage of these suggestions for joint deliberation would be to remove the question from heated party discussion in this country.

FORCE DISSOLUTION.

It is evident from a statement by Lord Spencer, the Liberal leader in the House of Lords, that the Liberals intend to force the earliest possible dissolution upon Mr. Chamberlain's programme, and believe this the best chance for the Liberals to regain office. Lord Spencer declares almost beyond the pale of reason the argument that proposes to tax food in the British Isles. He says the thing is impossible and that the country cannot run the terrible risk of crippling manufactures and lessening the food supply.

Sir William Harcourt calls Mr. Chamberlain's and Mr. Balfour's attitude outrageous and says: "The pretence of Colonial preferences is only a shallow mask to cover the restoration of the whole doctrine of protection.

The Liberal papers declare that Michael Hicks-Beach intends, in the Commons, today, to absolutely disavow Mr. Chamberlain's policy. They claim that Mr. Ritchie is also a convinced opponent and is only retaining office so long as his Free Trade budget is unassailed.

All manner of rumours are afloat in the clubs as to Cabinet dissensions, some foreshadowing Premier Balfour's resignation, in which case it is anticipated the King would summon Mr. Chamberlain, as next to Premier Balfour in the confidence of the Parliamentary majority. Wild rumour, in fact, holds the field.

London, June 6.—Replying to a correspondent, who drew attention to a speech, delivered in 1881, in which Mr. Chamberlain said a tax on food would mean a decline in wages, the Colonial Secretary says circumstances have changed, and he thinks experience has shown that the view he expressed in 1881 was erroneous.

London, June 6.—Dr. Arendt, the leader of the Bimetallic group in the German Reichstag, has published an article in a London paper, commenting on Mr. Chamberlain's proposals. He says if the proposals are adopted they will give the colonies a lever for making the Mother Country tributary to themselves. He believes that the fiscal consolidation of the British Empire would hasten the formation of a central European Customs union, and does not think that it would greatly damage German trade.

CANADIANS MUST BE UP AND DOING

Americans Getting the Inside Track, Will in a Short Time Reap All the Benefits

Montreal, June6— "Canadians must be up and doing if they want to secure the flour trade of Japan, for Americans are now buying it in the North West, shipping it over the Great Northern railway to Seattle, thence to Japan, and will in a short time reap all the benefits of the trade opened up for Canada by Hon. Sydney Fisher the Minister of Agriculture."

Such was among the interesting statements made to a press representative today, by Consul-General Morse of Japan, on his return to the city from an extended tour.

"Since the recent excellent exhibit made by Canada at the Osaka Exhibition, the Americans have been greatly put out that their government did not take similar action; now, however, they are trying to benefit by all that Canada has gained. The Japanese are insisting on getting Canadian flour from the Canadian North West Territories, and what the Americans are now representing to them is that they can supply them within themselves, and that, as a matter of fact, the Territories are really a part of their own country. It is strange that a Canadian article for which there is such a strong demand in all the Eastern countries, none of which are wheat growing countries, should in finding its way to its market, contribute to the profits of American railways and American steamship lines. Hon. Sydney Fisher, by his recent excellent exhibit at Osaka, opened the door for a large Canadian trade, and it is now up to the Canadian merchants to keep it open for themselves.

"When one considers the enormous market there is for Canadian wheat and flour in Japan, China, India, and the other Eastern countries, it is but natural to think that one half of Canada, the one east of Winnipeg, should cater to the Eastern market while the other half, west of Winnipeg, should cater to the markets of the Eastern countries.

"Why, even all the traffic that the Canadian Pacific line, a purely Canadian line by the way, does with Japan is for the United States. Every European liner from Oklahama to Vancouver brings a cargo of silks, valued at millions of dollars, and it is shipped right down over the conment to different American cities. On the return trip the line carries large quantities of American manufactured goods consigned to merchants throughout Japan. Canada should not only be the roadway for such consignees, it is Canadian goods that should find their way along Canadian lines, and then in Canadian ships to Japan.

"With the present growth in the Territories there should always be a large surplus output of flour, and a ready market can always be secured for it in the far East.

"It is regrettable that the Province of British Columbia should have discriminated against alien labor. Owing to the large trade done between the State of Washington and Japan, the State has removed all laws against alien labor, and at the present time there are over 3,000 Japanese employed on the Great Northern railway and earning from $1.75 to $2 a day. A great deal of the labor trouble in the Pacific province has been caused by the exclusion of alien labor, and I am sure that the Japanese would prove excellent subjects and good workmen."

Montreal, June 6—The leading directors of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company in discussing the outlook for the company, with a reporter today expressed great satisfaction at the outlook, now that Mr. J. H. Plummer, the new vice-president had offered so nice a solution of the problem with which they were confronted.

"In view of the high grade of steel that we are turning out," stated the director to the correspondent, "it was decided during the recent visit that the company would be benefited most of all by turning it out in form of a more finished product. It is a shame to sell a steel of so high a quality in billets and allow the American manufacturer to reap the greater part of the profits. It was on this account that the directors decided that if some feasible proposition could be made that would give them the right to issue an additional amount of capital, sufficient to complete the works they would be willing to underwrite the entire amount themselves.

"When Mr. Plummer, after looking into the matter carefully, suggested that the equity of the lease and the earnings of the steel company should form the basis of the new issue of bonds, all the directors present immediately signified their intention of taking a good amount of the bonds. The entire amount could easily have been underwritten by the directors present, but owing to the absence of four of the directors, who might also like to take part of the bond issue, it was decided not to make the formal official announcement of the issue till another meeting was held.

"The mills, upon which work will be started at once, and all of which will be completed by the beginning of October, are the structural steel mill, steel plate mill, hand-rail mill, and steel rail mill. The manufacturers have notified us that there would not be any delay in the delivery of machinery.."

STRIKE IMPROBABLE

Coal Operators will Accept District Presidents if Elected by Convention

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 6. — The danger of a strike seems to be already passing away even before the decision of the convention of miners which is to meet in Pottsville within fifteen days. This is due to the statements of the coal companies' officials that if the mine workers' convention should re-elect their district presidents as their representatives on the conciliatory board by a majority vote there would be no further objection to their eligibility to serve on the board.

CANADA'S FUTURE

English Journalists on the Future of the Canadian Dominion

London, June, 8.—Canadian statistics showing how this year's immigration to Canada from the continent of Europe and the United States nearly doubles that of Britain, lead English journalists to speculate on the nature of Canada's population in a few decades if the present rate of immigration continues.

The Daily News says: "The Dominion promises to be peopled mainly by men and women of foreign descent. In time it will doubtless contain as cosmopolitan and peculiar a nation as the United States. It ought to be realized that the whole nature of the political being of Canada is being changed in a way no one can certainly foresee by the inpouring of heterogeneous host of immigrants."

SAME DUTY TO BRITONS, HIGHER TO FOREIGNERS

Victorian Minister Suggests Method for Preferential Tariff

Melbourne, Victoria, June 8.—Speaking before the Federal House of Representatives Thursday, C. C. Kingston, Minister for Trades and Customs, said he felt the Commonwealth might give preference to Great Britain without loss of revenue, by maintaining the existing duties levied on British products and raising them against foreigners. It was the Commonwealth's duty to support the Imperial Government in every way. The Minister did not doubt but Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's policy would appeal to the great heart of the British people.

PETERBOROUGH THE BEST

An Ex-Mayor of Smith's Falls Visit Us on Saturday

Mr. Oglo Cares arrived in town last Saturday morning and was taken around to see the different manufactories and places of interest by ex-Mayor Dame.

Mr. Cares says that he was astonished at the number of fine industries located here, and wished himself to be placed on record as prophesying a bright future for Peterborough. He believes that the population will in all probability, be doubled in ten years, as the water power at the disposal of the different companies must keep the price of power at a very low figure for many years, and for the accommodation of an immense increase in manufactories and other articles requiring power, thus making it a very desirable spot for capital and labor to unite in the production of every kind of manufactured articles.

Mr. Cares has visited nearly every town and city in Canada, and many in the United States, and has never, as yet, seen a place possessing greater possibilities for a large and prosperous city than this one, with its very cheap power, great canal and water ways, railway facilities, educational, and religious advantages, and healthful location.

He especially spoke of our fine public parks, neat appearance of the town and the splendid streets. He has seen no streets in as fine a condition as ours.

He visited St. John's Church, and says that with its quaint architecture "ivy mantled tower," neatly kept grounds and extended view combined to make it the most beautiful spot that he has ever seen on earth.

Our visitor has been mayor of Smith's Falls for eight successive years, is a man of splendid business ability, and expresses regret that previous arrangements forbid his investing in some of our real estate.

He left for his home on the midnight train followed by the good wishes of all who had the good fortune to make his acquaintance during his short stay with us.

ACCEPT BRITISH OFFER

Settlement Made with German Shareholders in Transvaal Railway

Berlin, June 8.—The German shareholders of the Transvaal Railway, at a meeting yesterday, decided, by a vote of 4,793, against 166, to accept the offer of the English Government, of 135 pounds for each share they hold, in addition to 4 per cent. interest on the face value of the stock for the period from September 1, 1900, to date.

AWFUL SLAUGHTER BY TURKISH TROOPS

Bashi-Bazouks Credited with Killing Two Hundred People

WHOLE FAMILIES ARE SLAIN

Villagers Fled to Mountains where they are Without Clothing

Monastir, European Turkey, June 8.—Terrible details are arriving here the village of Smerdesh, south of Lake Preba, May 21, by the Bashi-Bazouks.

It appears that on the arrival of the Bashi-Bazouks, Chakalaroff's band of insurgents withdrew to the mountains without sustaining any loss. As no rebels were left in the village, the inhabitants experienced no anxiety until, suddenly, at sunset, the Turks, who had completely surrounded the place, commenced a bombardment. Infantry also fired. Finally, the village was set on fire, and Turks began a general massacre About three hundred houses were burned, and upwards of two hundred persons, mostly women and children, were killed. The women and girls were murdered. Whole households were slain. One family of seven were slain, and their bodies were heaped on the hearth. Some of the villagers who sought escape in flight were captured and had their ears cut off before they were butchered.

The report adds that 1,500 villagers were in the mountains without clothing or food. One band of these, consisting of forty women and children were caught by soldiers in a ravine, and were killed after a horrible treatment.

A NOBLE SCHEME

The Training of English Paupers for Canadian Farms

London, June 4—The Poplar Board of Guardians is experimenting with farm training for the inmates of the British workhouses, hitherto regarded as hopeless failures by sending them in small parties to farms in Surrey, to take care of live stock, and to attend to other farm duties, with the idea of subsequently emigrating to Canada. If the scheme succeeds other workhouses are certain to follow the example. Not five per cent, have so far proven failures.

Washerwomen Form Union

St. Paul, June 8—The washerwomen have formed a union. Their first demand is an increase in wages from $1.25 a day to $1.50. The women include those who are employed throughout the St. Anthony Hill district. Many of the domestic servants of St. St. Anthony Hill are unionized, and refuse to do washing. Hence the washerwomen have it in their power to force the housekeepers of "Swelldom Town" to either put up the cash or wear soiled silk stockings. The washerwomen have served notice that they will adhere to the union scale, and that no washing will be done unless the scale is paid.

COWBOYS KILL WHOLE FAMILY

Father and Four Sons Shot—Control Beat from Land

St. Francis, Kan., June 6. — Eight men were killed in a battle today between settlers and cowboys. Friends are rallying to the aid of both sides and more trouble is feared.

James Berry and his four sons recently came to this county and each took up a homestead, the five men taking more than a square mile of lands formerly fenced by the cattle kings as ranges. The Berrys were time and again warned off, but refused to go. Wire fences were strung around their place by the cattlemen, and they were warned not to cut the strands, but whenever necessary they cut them.

To-day, while returning to their homes from a trip to this town, they found their property again fenced in, and, leaving their horses, they cut the wires. Just as they had finished the cutting a gang of fifteen cowboys rode over the hill and, without saying a word began firing at the Berrys, who jumped on their horses and escaped. John, the eldest boy, being badly wounded.

Soon after the Berrys reached their home the cowboys dashed up, and, before they could reach cover, the father and one son were killed. The remaining three reached the cabin, and, getting their rifles, returned the fire. They killed three of the cowboys and were themselves killed.

This section is part of the lands to which Col. Mosby was sent last summer with orders to remove the illegal fences, but he was recalled before completing the removal.

The settlers are much worked up over to-day's murders, and are banding together for protection. If called on by the sheriff they will attempt to arrest the cowboys, and further shooting is feared.

Boston, June 6.—Charles Alden, of Dorchester, has just completed a series of experiments by which he is enabled to control all the movements of a boat in midstream while sitting on the banks.

The device used is similar to the wireless telegraph. The scene of his operations is at Milton, on the Neponset River. Here a long pole wound with two large coils of wire is set in the ground near an eight-volt battery, generator, and a transmitter. The boat, which is seven feet long, is fitted with an elaborate receiving apparatus.

By means of the transmitter on the shore the inventor sends wireless impulses to the boat and is able to make it weigh anchor, cast off, go ahead, back water, and perform all other movements of a real vessel.

GROVER CLEVELAND AND THIRD TERM

The Ex President will be Elected if He Can Get Nomination

SO SAYS BOURKE COCKRAN

An Opinion from a Man that Knows What He is Talking About

Berlin, June 7.—Bourke Cockran, who has arrived in this city from Egypt said to a press correspondent today that Cleveland would be elected President of the United States if nominated.

"Two things are perfectly obvious with reference to the Cleveland third term movement," said Mr. Cockran. "In the first place he has already received an expression of popular confidence beyond that bestowed upon any public man throughout the whole history of the United States; second, his nomination for the fourth time, if accomplished, must result from an imperative demand springing directly from the people. It cannot be brought about by any manipulation of political machinery because the management of his party is overwhelmingly hostile to him.

"From these two perfectly obvious conclusions a third inevitably follows: "If there is a popular demand for Cleveland's return to the Presidency strong enough to force his nomination upon the Democratic convention that same popular demand will be strong enough to insure his election, because the Opposition to him is strongest in his own party. Any movement sufficiently powerful to overcome the greatest obstacle is not likely to be arrested by the less."

Detroit, June 6—A Washington special says: Senator Fairbanks has been asked to come to Washington as soon as possible to attend a conference of the Secretary of State and President Roosevelt, to discuss the effect of Great Britain's proposed tariff policy on Canadian-American commercial relations, particularly it is desired to talk over the prospects of a reciprocity treaty with Canada, and a meeting of the Joint High Commission.

The prospect that efforts toward a commercial treaty may be abandoned has disturbed manufacturers and merchants in Chicago and the Northwest who have looked forward to closer commercial relations with our neighbor on the north and an expanding market in that direction. The prospect of a protective tariff in Great Britain has caused the Canadians to hold off from commercial alliances, with the idea that special privileges will be given the British colonies in the markets of the Mother Country.

The Secretary of State is rather anxious to force the hand of the Canadians, believing that if anything is to be accomplished, it must be quickly. The American officials look for the fall of the Balfour cabinet as only [illegible] of the threatened closing of Canadian opportunity.

THE RUSSIAN BEAR HUGS MANCHURIA

Czar Closes His Hand, with Plum Inside, and Doesn't Care who Knows It

Pekin, June 6—The Manchurian question is still in abeyance, and, while the world is becoming reconciled to the Russian occupation as an accomplished fact, Russia has been establishing herself daily and more firmly. The wives and children of Russian officers are entering Manchuria in large numbers, and the building of barracks and houses for permanent occupation continues with restless activity. The Russian officers deride the possibility of war with Japan. Russia has not even made a pretence of evacuating Kirin Province. A large body of troops hold Kirin City, and there are also many military posts between Kwangchengtsze and Kirin.

Russia's movements in Mukden Province are incessant. Large bodies of men are pushing forward communications, and improving the road via [illegible]ngcheun to Yalu. On May 9 1[illegible] of ammunition left Liauyang for Fengangcheun; on the 14th 100 carts, with fodder, left for the same destination, all marching through the Province from which according to the recent proclamation, the majority of the Russian troops had been withdrawn on April 23. Thousands of Chinese coolies are entering Manchuria and proceeding to work on the far western section of the railway. There is a revival of the report that Russia intends to construct a parallel strategic railway from Hailar to Kalgan. The Russian Far Eastern Lumber Company is busy on the Yalu River.

The Russians recently placed two small river steamers on the Liau to police the river. Six more are about to arrive overland from Harbin. They are twin-screw vessels, seventy feet long, drawing two feet of water, and carring a dozen men, but no passengers or cargo, and it is expected that similar boats will be placed on the Yalu River. The advantage of this proceeding, apart from the interference with the Chinese boat traffic, is that they will require coal depots which will be placed at convenient places on the banks of the river, and these being Russian property, will require the protection of Russian soldiers. The outlook for British trade interests in Manchuria is daily becoming more discouraging.

A NEW CLEW IN THE WHALEN MURDER

Mrs. Geo. Findlay, of Collingwood Saw Two Men Chasing Girl on Track

Collingwood, Ont., June 7—Renewed interest in the Whalen case arose yesterday afternoon from two facts that have just become known. Mrs. George Findlay, who lives in the southern end of the town, on the west side of the railway track, states that on the morning of the tragedy between 8 an 9 o'clock, she saw two men chasing a girl about on the track, and that one of the men seized the girl and disappeared with her over the embankment. She called another woman, who lives with her, to see what was going on, but before the later came out, all had gone down below the level of the track and were out of sight. The chief of police and some other persons tested the case by getting a man and a boy with an apron to go to the place on the railway where Mrs. Finlay says she saw the struggle, while they remained at Mrs. Finlay's house. The chief states that the man and boy could be distinctly seen, and everything went to show the accuracy of her report. Questioned as to why she had not made this public sooner, she said she did not wish to get mixed with the affair, and, besides, she had told it to her minister, who also refrained from making it public. As the men were some distance from Mrs. Finlay it was impossible for her to distinguish their features or to definitely state whether they were white or colored.

The second report which has come to light is told by Mrs. Alex Johnson who lives on the east side of the tract at some distance north of the scene of the murder. She says that about 8 o'clock in the morning that the crime was committed she heard some one screaming, as if in mortal terror. She went immediately over to a field where some men were working. The screaming could no longer be heard, and the men persuaded her that it must be a neighbor farmer's children. She also says that some little time after she heard the screams she heard a shot fired, but nothing further attracted her attention. As the wind was blowing in the direction of the house, it is quite possible that she might hear the screams of the unfortunate girl, not to mention that fatal shot. These discoveries give additional foundation for the belief of their authorities that the pair of men whom they have been chasing along the eastern main line of the Grand Trunk may yet be discovered to be the perpetrators of the crime.

Fears of the Citizens.

As the case stands today there is every reason to fear that the murderer of the Whalen child will escape. Citizens generally are fearful the mystery will never be penetrated. Apparently, an accident only will reveal the source of the awful deed. Chief of Police Wilde has worked industriously on the case and has accomplished as much as could be done under the circumstances. The Provincial authorities did not get an agent on the scene until the girl had been dead 60 hours, and any clue left in the way of footprints or debris had been obliterated by weather and crowds. To what blundering policy this is due, cannot be surmised.

To Increase Local Reward.

Much bitter comment has been indulged in by Collingwood people. They indicated their anxiety by offering a reward of $600 for the apprehension of the murderer, and they are inclined to further increase the amount.

That the authorities differ very substantially in their theories of the crime is no secret. Chief of Police Wilde is known to have entertained some very broad suspicions wholly touching local characters, but, after communicating with the Provincial authorities, he, apparently, changed his policy. The opinion is still quite general that the sources first looked upon with suspicion by the local police are still being watched by the authorities, while appearing to have abandoned the search in this direction.

WHALEN SUSPECTS.

Woodstock, June 7—Two men, one colored, and the other white, named Porter and Ley, were arrested here on Tuesday on a charge of vagrancy, and the police propose to send their description to the Provincial authorities believing that possibly they might be the parties wanted at Collingwood, in connection with the Whalen murder case. The colored man, Porter, in conversation with the jailer, stated that he lived in Collingwood till a year ago, and knows the father of Glory Whalen well.

THE POPE IS GRADUALLY SINKING INTO THE GRAVE

HIS NEED OF AIR

The Pope May Now Pass Away at any Moment

Rome, June 8—The Pope had another fainting spell yesterday at Sunday morning vespers. He was attended by his physician and soon rallied. A pathetic picture of Pope Leo XIII. in his declining days is painted by the Rome correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette, who writes: "Those who have seen the Pope lately say the difference is not so much in his capacity to accomplish, as in his desire. He is as wakeful at night, but now never rises from his bed to compose Latin poems or to write and study, and those who watch over him have been surprised that this spring he never once said he would like to go into the garden.

"The first trip into the open has always been one of inevitable struggles between the Pontiff and Dr. Lapponi. Pope Leo comes of a race of [illegible] and [illegible] one cannot have too much of it. 'The older I am the more air I need,' he has maintained with a twinkle in his eye, which betokened that he was bound to have his own way at all costs. But this year his mood has changed. When it was timidly hinted the other day that his grape vines needed his attention, he replied: 'I can trust Giovanni; he knows more about them than I do,' which brought tears to the eyes of the faithful old servant who knows that only two months ago his Holiness contended that Giovanni did not know anything, and that he himself was the only authority.

"The real truth is that Pope Leo, when not giving private audiences—and they are now made as short as possible—is usually resting, which half sleeping, sometimes, almost degenerating into coma."

THE JUDGMENT

Why there should be such dissatisfaction amongst Conservatives over the Gamey judgment is not apparent. Two Judges of acknowledged shrewdness and probity find that Gamey is not the ideal prosecutor in a bribery case. His evidence had not the true ring about it required in a court of absolute justice. Some of the dissatisfaction is undoubtedly due to disappointment; but this part of it should be borne manfully, not childishly. Canadians are getting the reputation of being poor losers. It is time that groaning over disappointment were given up as unworthy of a "strenuous" age. However, all said and done, it is the heart of the people that is to blame. Everything nowadays is business. Religion is business, morality is business, spirituality is business, and, last of all. "business is business." A stern sense of justice and morality will in time cure the evils of both our political and religious life, let us hope.

THIS YEAR'S IMMIGRATION

Immigration to North America this year has been of an unprecedented volume, as regards both Canada and the United States. Forty thousand settlers came into the Dominion during the first four months of this year. Into the United States came [illegible] people. In each case, particularly in Canada's, these figures are far ahead of anything previously recorded.

The immigration into Canada seems small as compared positively with that into the United States; but proportionately to population, the Canadian figure is twice as great. The United States with fourteen times our population received seven times our immigration. Our immigration too is of the better class. Of the people coming into Canada to settle 16,457 came from Great Britain and Ireland, 13,770 from the United States and only about 10,000 from all other countries, whereas more than three-fourths of the United States immigration is from the continent of Europe.

And there is every reason to hope that this country is but seeing the beginning of a tidal wave of desirable immigration. A successful settler is an excellent immigration agent—and the vast majority of our immigrants will be successful settlers.

A SPLENDID INVESTMENT

Some Particulars Regarding the New Century Zinc and Lead Company

So many inquiries has been made of late regarding the zinc and lead mines and the value of this class of investment that the writer has been called upon to place before the readers of The Times some information relating to Zinc and Lead Mines of the Missouri-Kansas District.

The famous district was originally opened up for lead, as at that time and for many years after, zinc was not known to the miner of the South-West, and fortunes awaited the men who afterward discovered that from fifty to seventy per cent. of the mineral mined and thrown out with the waste rock was zinc.

A city that stands out prominently in the history of this section is Galena, Kansas; it has twelve thousand inhabitants and is within twenty minutes ride of Joplin, Missouri. Galena gets its name from the original lead mines, and to give the history of this section, the story of the mines now owned by the New Century & Lead Company, will give the reader some idea of the enormous deposits of zinc and lead in this section.

The mines are not deep as yet for the reason that the ore lays near the surface and in such large bodies that depth is not required. That the ore extends to a depth of eleven hundred feet has been proven beyond question by drill tests having been made by operators in this District. The deepest shaft on the New Century property is less than two hundred and fifty feet, and the largest face on mineral opened up is near sixty feet, the width of the mineral extending across the property as the one hundred acres developed shows. The reader, to understand this, must first realize that there are no veins or ledges, but simply deposits. These deposits were formed in this way, the character of the rock in one belt or zone is lime stone, and the adjoining section sand stone.

This particular section of the South-West has and is today full of subterranean streams and rivers from the iron mountain ranges to the Mississippi River. The lowest point of drainage to the Mississippi River in the Galena-Kansas District is 1125 feet of thereabout; the lime-stone being soluble, the underground currents gradually dissolve the lime-stone and throught centuries of time the mineral which the water carried from the Iron Range settled in these [illegible] passages until they were filled with "Jack," which is the term used by the miners for the mineral. The writer examined this property very carefully because it demonstrated beyond a question the above theory so long held by eminent geologists. The eleven hundred feet being the drainage level for the country shows that ore will not be found deeper than that level.

Going back to the mines. For some years miners worked by horse-hoist, (many do to-day) so the poor man can make money, though not so fast as the large companies, but gradually all of the mineral land is being absorbed, and, as a sample, we now have a zinc trust forming with $40,000,000.00 capital, which hopes to control the largest mines in the district. When the writer visited the property there were seven mills upon it, each mill operating several shafts and capable of handling from one hundred to one hundred and fifty tons of rock each ten hour shaft. The mills are equipped with rock breaker, self feeder, rolls, screens and jiggs. The mill of a zinc plant differs from a gold mill from the fact that there is nothing but concentration done in the mill. There has of late been added the sludge mill. Each mill has its own electric plant for lighting and has its own steam power plant, offices, etc.

The developed property of the New Century Company is subdivided into ten acre lots and leased out on a royalty basis. The parties making lease paying to the New Century Company from ten to twenty per cent. of the gross value of the product, the better ground being leased out at a higher royalty. One of the safe features about the New Century is that the company is not obliged to mine, but can show large returns from its leases alone, as it owns the property in fee and has one thousand ares, being differently than most any other company, as most mining companies do not own the property but lease what they want, paying so much on every ton of ore taken out to the owners of the property. The per cent of mineral in the rock of the New Century property is considerably about the average of the district. There are many places where the mineral runs from sixty to seventy-five per cent., and some as high as ninety per cent. to the ton, but to say the average was twenty per cent. would be nearer the actual conditions.

The development of the New Century property is quite extensive, as by examining the Engineer's drawings of the working, I find there are fully five miles of development done should it extend in one line, but what it does is to show an ore body of four thousand feet in length by three hundred or more feet in width actually blocked out, with the faces of ore running from twelve to sixty feet in height. On the surface of this large property we find tailing dumps from the mills, one would say hundreds of thousands of tons, much of which is the original zinc ore mined and thrown out as waste, which in time will be milled. The tailings from the mill, we found by running over the sludge mill averaged three to four per cent. mineral. To mill these mountains of tailings will take years. We find that the cost of working these tailings out was nominal, as it required very little handling, steam shovel, self feeders and two mills run, with one man to look after the handling, upwards of one hundred and fifty tons a day each.

The capital of this company is only $300,000.00. Surprise is manifested at so small a capital for such a large enterprise. This was made possible by capitalizing on the actual buying price of the property, and as the property has always paid no development fund was required.

The property was originally owned by J. M. Cooper & Company, the partners having made millions out of it and retired, Mr. Cooper being many times a millionaire. The New Century Company was formed by A. R. Specht & Company, of 41 Wall street, who after thoroughly examining this property and getting the best expert opinion, bought the stock of the company some two years ago, but before doing so secured the co-operation of such men as are now represented in the board of directors to insure the future success of the property. The President and Manager, Mr. John Page, is looked upon as a very able engineer; Mr. Schermerborn, Secretary and Treasurer, is State Senator, and has made two to three millions in mining zinc and lead. The directors are business men of high standing in their district. A. R. Specht & Co., are Bankers and Brokers of No. 41 Wall street, long established members of the Exchange, doing a general banking and brokerage business, and while the writer considers this company far above the average for the reason that every share of the companys' stock is today worth many times par and is earning more than twelve per cent. It shows that this industry is looked upon as the safest kind of mining when handled conservatively.

Many do not realize that to-day zinc is used in the trades to a greater extent than it was a few years ago. The United States Steel Corporation use 75 per cent. of all the "spelter" made in this country. It is used in galvanized pipe, brass is one third zinc, storage batteries are using tons of it yearly, and zinc plate is where tin plate was a few years ago. When zinc is once used, it is different from any other metal from the fact that it can never be used again, and therefore every ton of zinc mined when once in the course of manufacture is completely used up. The writer feels that it is safe to recommend to investors The New Century's Zinc & Lead Company's Stock.

RUGGLES.

The Social Veneer.

"Montesquieu tells us that if we scratch a Russian we find a Tartar, but the sudden transformation that is brought about by small irritations is by no means confined to the Slavonic race, but rather belongs to all sorts and conditions of men and women," said a matron. "Conventionality makes people more or less alike. Out in society Mrs. X., who has a very hot temper, appears to be as amiable as Mrs. Z., who has no temper at all, and no one would suspect Mrs. A. of being greedy and grasping, or Mrs. B. of being particularly generous and fair-minded. Yet all these things exist, and sometimes it only needs the chance to scratch to show people in their true light. Games seem to be one of the social touchstones that betray character. To be a good loser or a bad loser commands or forfeits respect, while generosity or meanness, breeding or rudeness, and many other minor qualifications, are brought to the fore by such an apparently simple thing as playing a game. Some of the stories told of women who have lost their heads at card parties during the last season seem almost incredible when one realizes that they refer to women of education and position, who certainly should not under any circumstances resemble Biddy when she is in a rage. All this goes to prove, however, that we are all human, and that if we scratch gentility we are very apt to find the bourgeoise."

DEAF

FOR THIRTEEN YEARS

Mr Geo. Warner, publisher of the Masonic Register Toronto was almost totally deaf in both ears for a number of years. He experimented with a thousand different remedies and only got relief by using Catarrhozone and it cured

Mr. Warner says: "For the past thirteen years my hearing has been badly affected. The streets were as as quiet to me as if I lived in the city of the dead. I could neither hear the noise of the street cars or sound of horses feet on the pavement. Before I had used Catarrhozone Inhaler three days I was able to notice a great change in my condition, which gradually improved until now I can hear a whisper across the room. I cannot tell you how much I appreciate Catarrhozone, or of the wonderful results I have derived from using it. Catarrhozone has my strongest endorsement and I am quite willing that you should use it."

Mr. Warner's unsolicited testimonial furnishes abundant proof that deafness can be cured, even in old age, if Catarrhozone is used. This remedy is scientific in its application and meets with the endorsement of prominent ministers and doctors all over Canada. Our best equipped health institutions always keep it on hand, and cases are recorded where it has been used with great success in the Government deaf and dumb institutions where other means proved futile.

If you hearing is poor, if you have head noises or ringing in the ears, be sure and use Catarrhozone. It is a regular miracle worker and is sure to help you. Complete outfit costs $1; trial size 25 cents. Sold by all druggists and N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Capital Stock, 1,500,000 shares. — In Treasury, 500,000 shares
TRANSFER OFFICE; BRISTOL, CONN.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in, in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

Buried Gold

BY FRED WHISHAW.

Author of "A Boyar of the Terrible," etc.

Jess visited her brother. She was ashamed and afraid of him and he spoke to her scornfully. "I couldn't help it, Tom," she sobbed. "You don't understand. I hadn't seen Denys for so long, and I do love him so, and he wouldn't speak to me unless I came his side."

Tom was quite unsympathetic.

"And did father think I was going to be got at by a fool like you?" he said. "He must be madder than I thought. You can go back and tell him so. You and Drake's a nice pair, I will say, and admirably suited to one another! Go away, Jess, I'm ashamed of you."

Jessie went away weeping. "I'm just as ashamed of myself," she thought, "as Tom is of me; but I'd do it all again for Denys. If it's wrong for me to change sides it would be wrong for him to do it, too; and as Denys and me must be on the same side I'd rather be the one to do wrong than let him do it. Besides, he wouldn't."

"You'd better tell him to see he don't play the giddy fool and try to escape, instead of bullying a poor girl and makin' her cry," said Denys Drake, when Jessie told him of her interview. "He's all right so long as there's no danger of any other 'Penelope' chap gettin' at what he's got at, but the moment there's a chance of that, I wouldn't give two snaps for his life. There isn't one of our 'Hecuba' men but would rather shoot him down in a minute than have our secret given away."

"Oh, Denys, what a horrible, wicked thing it all is!" said Jessie. "I wish to heaven you and father and all had never found the stuff. It's made you all mad and wicked and murderers, both sides alike. I do wish there wasn't a farthing's worth of treasure on the island."

"Do you?" said Denys, laughing grimly. "Well, I don't, then."

CHAPTER XXIV.

Keith Outdoes Himself.

During that day the "Penelope" bombarded the camp ashore, and made it so hot for Keith Adams and his men that they were obliged to take refuge beyond Lookout Hill, where the shells from their own brass gun could not find them. In the evening they returned to camp.

Two of the party reconnoitred the village during daylight, bringing back news that the place was inadequately defended. Most of the "Hecuba" people had gone aboard the "Penelope" for change of air.

"Good!" said Adams, who was in the best of humors. "To-night we may hope for sport, lads. Is there a good swimmer among you?"

"I've won a cup or two in my day, sir!" said a young fellow, after a pause.

"Could you swim a mile at a pinch?"

"There and back, sir, and out again. Am I to swim out and capture the 'Penelope' on my own?" he asked, with a grin.

"Come into my tent, and I'll tell you!" said Keith.

"Half an hour later Keith and his companion, stripped to their shirts, had crept down through the darkness to the creek. Two or three men accompanied them to see the start.

"I hope we shall be back in an hour!" said Keith. "If we're not, why, we sha'n't be, but don't anyone shout or make any sound if they hear a boat coming. That'll be me and Jack Stevens."

The two men waded in waist deep, then they swam. The water was warm. Neither man mentioned the word "shark." Perhaps in the fierce joy of enterprise they never thought of such things. Let us hope they did not. On board the "Penelope" there were lights. A man was playing the fiddle, and others danced. They knew they were safe from attack, for there was not a boat at the island, excepting the two battered and sunken things that bore the name of "Penelope" at their prows.

The swimmers drew nearer and nearer.

"Thank the Lord for those lights!" whispered Keith. "You're a better swimmer than me, Jack. I couldn't have gone much more, and if we hadn't swum straight for her but had had to cruise about lookin' for her, I should've gone down."

"Hold up!" said Jack. "We're nearly there! I see the boats now—both of 'em."

"I'm all right, now I know. Take the knife, lad, and cut the line. Let 'em both drift. We mustn't be heard getting in or rowing."

Jack swam up silently; he cut the line that secured both boats to the rope that hung from the ship's side. Keith caught hold of the cutter's gunwale; his arms were dead stiff from swimming. Both men drifted with the boat for five minutes. Then they climbed in and rowed for their lives, the big boat towing the little one.

"We've won, lad!" whispered Keith, in the exuberance of his delight. "The island's as good as ours, and so's the ship."

"What about the swag, sir?" said Jack. "The rest ain't much good without that!"

"Now we've won, some chap'll come and tell us all about it, in hopes of sharin'. Little fear of that!" replied Keith.

On shore, the little company of anxious waiters could barely resist cheering when they heard the near splash of oars and the two men appeared, like ghosts out of the gloom, with their two boats. Willing hands seized and secured the little craft amid whispered congratulations. Keith had no time to listen. "Got the chaps together that I chose?" he said. "By the time I've put on some dry things we ought to make a start."

Ten minutes later Keith reappeared, dry and exuberant. His crew were ready in the larger boat. Other men stood by waiting.

"Do you all understand the orders?" said Keith. "When you see a red light hauled up on board the 'Penelope' you can go for the village, the ten chaps named; but not till you see the red light, that's important. If a white light's shown and danced about, you other men—the crew of the dinghy—who'll be afloat and ready, row for the ship as though the devil was after you. It means we want your help."

"No need to tell us twice, sir," said the bosun, laughing. "We're on to a job we like to-night."

The fiddling and the dancing continued on board the "Penelope." Double rations of grog had been served out; it was a great occasion. The possession of the "Penelope" meant much for the islanders. It meant that the officious strangers who had come to rob them of their peace and other valuable possessions could be bombarded and starved into submission. Old Foster's plan for the disposal of his enemy was simple and complete. They should be allowed to depart, those that were left, under conditions.

Once they agreed to these and had

PLANTS AND FLOWERS

Winter Work and Care of Plants in this Season of the Year.

As the present is usually the coldest season of the year, and also that in which there is the least sunshine, particular attention must be paid to airing watering, syringing, etc. But little ventilation need be done; but when it does become necessary to do it, caution must be used. Be careful to raise the ventilating sash only so high that the heated air from the greenhouse will be able to drive back the outer air to such an extent as not to chill the plants. Occasionally, after a very cold night, when severe firing has been necessary to keep up the required temperature, say to sixty degrees, it happens that the sun comes out bright during the following day, so that by noon, or before the temperature may be at 100 degrees inside the greenhouse, though outside it may be nearly at zero. In such case the raising of the sashes an inch or two will rapidly lower the temperature of the greenhouse, so that an hour or so of such ventilating would be all that is required. As little fresh air can be given, insects are to be watched closely. By the use of fire heat a dry atmosphere will be created, in which the red spider luxuriates. Nothing answers so well for its destruction as copiously syringing the plants at night and splashing the paths with water, as it cannot exist to an injurious extent in a moist atmosphere. The aphis, or green fly, must also be destroyed, or it will soon cause great injury to the plants.

The leaves of window plants should be sponged often to keep the dust from filling up the pores of the leaves. Tepid water should be used, with a little soap or fir tree oil dissolved in it, and any plant, small enough to handle, that shows signs of red spider or other insect enemy, if dipped in water, heated to 140 degrees, will be instantly cleansed without having received the least injury from the bath. Plants should be occasionally turned round to prevent their growing one-sided. Hyacinths and other bulbs which were placed in boxes or pots last autumn may now be brought to the light; the best rooted and most forward will give the earliest flowers. They should be well supplied with water, and these, as well as all soft wooded, free growing plants, will be benefited by an occasional watering with liquid manure. The plants that will bloom soon are primulas, cinerarias, cyclamens, bouvardias, hyacinths, tulips, callas, azaleas, camellias, carnations and many others. Such plants as agraves, echeverias and other succulents should be kept dry and allowed all the sun possible.—Henderson's Horticulture.

Profit in Poultry.

The farmer who despises the hens is making a big mistake, no matter if he is a big farmer or dairyman. Appearances are deceitful, and the last few years—yes, for many years—the breeder of fowls has made infinitely more money for the amount of money, care and thought he has put into his business than some of his more pretentious brothers. I do not see that the prices for fresh eggs and market poultry have fallen much for the average of the year, notwithstanding the low price of corn and oats. Western farmers had better convert more of this grain into poultry products. Manufacture the raw grain into the finished poultry commodities. Manufactured articles naturally bring larger prices than the cruder products. The great point in producing poultry products for critical city markets is to raise the best. A poor article always disappoints both buyer and seller. Breed the variety of poultry that best fits the purpose you have in view. Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes are superb breeds to cultivate for market poultry. Leghorns are fine layers, but of small value for cooking in a pot, save as broilers. The American Wyandottes of a healthy strain doubtless comes as near a good layer and a fine market bird as any other single breed. If a man is to make a specialty of giving the market fresh eggs, let him be sure the eggs are fresh, and reach the market fresh, too. If he sells dressed fowl, let him be sure they are fat, plump and well dressed. In this way trade will grow on one's hands.—Maine Farmer.

To Salt Pork.

Cover the bottom of the barrel with pure salt to the depth of three inches. Pack the pork to be kept in pickle, the skin side next to the wood, as solidly as possible, and sprinkle each layer liberally with salt. Make a brine with salt and soft water to cover the meat. Boil and skim, adding salt until it lies undissolved at the bottom of the kettle. Stir frequently to prevent the salt from scorching on. When the water has dissolved all the salt it will, remove the kettle from the fire, and when perfectly cold pour the brine over the meat. Cut a board to fit inside the barrel, with a handle, so it will be convenient to lift; this with a weight will keep the meat under the brine. When a fresh supply is to be pickled take out the old pork, and pour off the brine, pack the new pork as at first, then the old. Boil and skim the brine, adding salt, if it will take it up, and pour it hot over the meat. Never put cold brine on old pork unless you are willing to take the risk of losing it.

Never leave pork floating, as it will rust in a very short time. Keep it well under the brine and stir the brine every few days in summer.—S. E. W., in Farm and Home.

Mainly About People.

Lord Rosebery has a great deal of social tact. Once he sat next to a tenant-farmer at his estate dinner, and the confiding man whispered to the host, when the ice pudding was brought: "The pudding has been frozen." The ex-Premier, thanking the farmer, and looking surprised, called to a waiter, said something, and then, turning to the farmer again, said: "They tell me the pudding has been frozen on purpose!"

A Georgia justice recently married a runaway couple who drove up to his house and went through the ceremony without descending from the carriage. When the ceremony was over, the groom fumbled in his pockets and fished up thirty-six cents. "Jedge," he said, "this here's all the money I got in the world. Ef you've a mind to take it, you kin; but I'll say now that I done set it aside fer the honeymoon expenses."

A dandy officer, who had an unfortunately effeminate taste in trifles, came to Kitchener one day, bringing a dainty silk handkerchief upon which, in accordance with a prevailing fashionable fad, he desired him to inscribe his autograph. Lord Kitchener took the handkerchief and remarked: "This is doubtless your sister's handkerchief?" "No," replied the dandy, smiling amiably, "it is mine." Lord Kitchener handed it back without writing on it, only enquiring as he did so, with an air of serious interest: "And what sized hairpins do you wear?"

A man was traveling in the smoking compartment of a railway carriage a little while back, and at a certain station a German entered the carriage and took his seat opposite him. When the train had started the foreigner, noticing the other's cigar, enquired if he could give him one. The Englishman, astonished at the request, reluctantly pulled out his case, and saw with disgust the other select the best he could find, and take a match from his pocket and light it. After taking a few puffs with evident enjoyment, the German, beaming at his companion through his spectacles, affably continued: "I vould not haf droubled you, but I had a match in mein boggit, und I did not know vat to do mit it."

A youthful attorney secured a verdict in favor of the Irishman charged with murder, on the ground of temporary insanity. He did not meet his client again for several months, when the following remarks were exchanged between them: "Well, Pat, isn't it about time you gave me that extra $200?" "Faith, an' what two hoondred is thot?" "The $200 you promised if I saved that worthless neck of yours." "Sure, an' did Oi promise that? Oi don't ramimber." "Why, Pat, you promised it to me." Pat scratched his head for a minute, and then with a smile outlawed the claim with the remark: "Oh, well, but ye know Oi was crazy thin."

The man who is seeking for a pertinent illustration is wise if he turns to the Bible; for there is matter for our light as well as for our serious arguments. When Mr. J. J. Hill, the president of the Great Northern, started out from New York lately with a party of friends, there was great curiosity as to the destination and object of the cruise. The public thought it had a right to know, but when it asked Mr. Hill, he only smiled, and replied, vaguely: "Labrador." "But, Mr. Hill," said one of his interviewers, "do you mean that your cruise has no definite end? Can't you even say when it will terminate?" "No," said Mr. Hill, with a smile. "This cruise is just like the widow's cruse of oil. It will last just as long as it needs to; and it won't be wasted, either."

In Montserrat the population, although colored, speak with a brogue. This has been an Hibernian island ever since Cromwell used it as a place of exile for rebels. The exiles followed the fashion of the time in forcing the populace into slavery, and the descendants of these slaves, who are, of course, free, are now engaged in making lime-juice and talking Irish. A sailor from Cork landed one day at the principal port, and fell into conversation with a particularly black longshoreman. The newcomer was filled with astonishment at the familiar speech. "An' how long have yez been in this place?" he asked the negro. "Sure an' it's two months since I came over," said the other, meaning that he had crossed from the other side of the island. "Well," replied the Irishman, "if it makes a dacint man look like yous in two months, here's what's goin' back to Ireland be the next ship!"

Sir Henry Irving's dresser at the Lyceum Theater is a young man who was recommended for the position by Clarkson, the wig-maker for the theatrical world of London. Soon after his engagement Clarkson noticed that he did not get as many orders for wigs from Sir Henry as he formerly did, and suspected that the young man sent from his establishment had something to do with it. One day, seeing him going by his shop with a bandbox, he called him in. "So you are making Sir Henry's wigs, are you?" he asked sharply. "Yes, sir, sometimes." "I suppose you have one in there now," pointing to the box. "Let me see it." The wig was produced. "So you call that a wig, do you?" sneered the irritated wig-maker. "Do you mean to tell me that you believe that thing looks like a wig?" "No, sir, I don't!" retorted the nettled servant. "I mean to say as it looks like the 'air of the 'uman 'ead."

GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, [illegible] among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

125 WILL NOT REACH THE NUMBER OF REASONS WHY THE STOCK IN

The Oro Rico Mining Syndicate

IS A GOOD INVESTMENT.

I have offered this Stock at a very low price and it is your misfortune if you fail to take advantage of it.

THE ORO RICO MINES are located in the Providence Range of Mountains, San Bernardino County, California, consisting of 30 full claims.

THEY ARE MINES NOT PROSPECTS.

Vast ledges of ore running from $5.00 to $800.00 per ton. Five shipments of ore to El Paso Smelter gave returns from $79.80 to $380.00 per ton. This is not a five per cent. a month scheme, but it is a legitimate proposition that will give you better returns than Savings Bank or Mortgage loans. A few months ago a Mr. Woodside bought 200,000 shares in a Tonopah Company for five cents a share and recently sold the same at $8.00 a share. No business in the world is safer as an investment or more profitable than mining, and none offer a more honest dollar.

Remember that little money is ever made by purchasing Stocks which are already paying dividends. When you do this you pay DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR for everything you get. You must make your money on your JUDGEMENT and your FORESIGHT. It is the foresight that makes money, and if you follow the dictation of your foresight you will secure a block of ORO RICO STOCK, and when dividends are paid your income will be five times greater than if you waited until the Stock sold at par. The new Milling Plant is now being put in place and gold bullion will soon be turned out. After the first run you can't get the Stock at present price. It will soon be 60 per cent. higher.

The Officers and Directors of the Company have recently visited the mines and returned full of enthusiasm. The mines are turning out much richer than expected.

I can offer the Stock for a short time only at 20 cents per share.
It is worth double that.

Will accept payments of 25 per cent. cash and balance, 25 per cent. per month. Wanted active agents. Address all orders to

STOCK MARKETS

Combination of Adverse Circumstances.

New York, June 6.—There certainly seems to be a combination of adverse factors to stock prices all appearing at once; the western floods delaying corn planting, lower indications to certain states as to wheat condition due to bad weather, a very low estimate for the growing cotton crop. Drought in the eastern section of the country with apparent antagonism between the Pennsylvania and Gould interests. Following all this there are vague reports in circulation as to the financial necessities of certain market interests pushed extraordinarily to the front on account of the recent Canadian financial embarrassment. Yet with all this together, with the unusual activity of a powerful bear clique, the market though it is heavy and declining in certain spots does not become panicy or demoralized, but practically on its decline meets a good demand for stocks on the scale down as they precive the growing pessimism. It is somewhat late in the day to become bearish after the large declines recorded. Earnings are so far in excess of the amounts now paid in dividends and the surplus of the various roads and industrial organizations are so large that it is futile to anticipate any reduction in present dividend rates. This being the case, stock values should be figured upon present rates. This being the case, stock values should be figured upon present rates. Results of such computation makes present price ultra attractive. Again stocks have declined so greatly that present prices more than discount present unfavorable happenings. We are well aware that we are more or less out of the fashion in not taking a discouraging view of the situation like most of our contemporaries, but our experience in the past strengthens firmly in the belief that it is unwise to do so after so immense a shrinkage in values. Factors such as are now unduly prominent are always pushed into the foreground, when stocks are down as at present the good points are always relegated to the rear. The time stocks should really be bought, the adverse factors are always freely harped upon as at present.

As to the present cheapness of securities we would call your attention to the fact that many issues are now lower than they sold in the memorabel Northern Pacific panic of May 1901. Here are some notable examples: Copper then 90, now 51; Sugar 135, now 116 1-2; B. R. T. 68 1-2, now below 57; Metropolitan 150, now 127; N. Y. C. 140, now 124; Pennsylvania 137, now 124, etc. The bank statement showed that many stocks had been taken up and paid for during the week. Stocks were stronger to-day, selling off a bit after an early advance. A fair volume of business was recorded. There was not so much gossip as to embarrassment of various interests as there was yesterday, and bears were less active. No money quoted. 309,700 total.

Montreal Chamber of Commerce Will Support the New Bill

Montreal, June 6—Messrs. Damase Masson, president, and J. X. Perrault, were yesterday appointed by the Chambre de Commerce, to go to Ottawa as a delegation to support the amendment proposed by Senator Lougheed. The object of the amendment to the Criminal Code is to make foreign agitators indictable for causing men in Canada to leave their work or go out on strike.

The members of the Chamber expressed their regret that the authorities of Ecole Polytechnique had not deemed it advisable to issue invitations to the laying of the corner stone of that institution, on Monday last.

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU CAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

OIL WORTH $5.00 PER BARREL

Now being brought from the shale in the well now being drilled by the

ACTONOMA OIL AND DEVELOPMENT CO'Y

in the famous NEWHALL WHITE OIL FIELD, of California, the oldest producing field in the State.

The Company Owns 10,000 Acres of Oil Territory

lying between the Kern River District on the north and the valuable Newhall holdings of the Standard Oil Company on the south and joins both these fields. It is considered the most VALUABLE PIECE OF OIL TERRITORY IN CALIFORNIA. The value of our holdings may be estimated by the fact that an offer of $27,500 has been made for the ground on which our well is located, showing the confidence oil men have in our prospects.

To push their well and complete the development of this vast property, the company offers 40,000 shares of treasury stock at 55 cents per share. This low offer is but a short time and may be withdrawn without notice, as a strike would advance the stock to par at once and probably far beyond that. It is expected that five or six additional wells will be put down during the coming summer.

This company has no high salaried officers, no preferred stock, and economy and integrity are exercised by its managers, and the interest of the smallest stockholder is protected.

Should you desire stock you must act promptly, as such opportunities never go begging nor remain long in sight. Orders filled as received.

If shares are exhausted when your application is received we will return your money. Make checks payable to the order of the Actonoma Oil and Development Company, P. H. Knight, Secretary and Treasurer, 218 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

The officers of our company are W. L. Rich President; O. R. School, Vice-President, and P. H. Knights, Secretary and Treasurer.

Capital $1,000,000. Treasury Stock, $500,000. Shares Par Value, $1.

Depository: FARMERS & MERCHANTS BANK, LOS ANGELES.

Billious Dyspepsia

A DREADFUL COMPLAINT ACCOMPANIED BY HEADACHE, SICKNESS OF THE STOMACH, VOMITING THAT CAN BE PERMANENTLY AND QUICKLY CURED BY FERROZONE

Some persons have attacks of Billious Dyspepsia very frequently, and feel as if they were about to die.

The whole system seems to collapse. The tongue becomes coated, the face a sallow pallor, and a bitter taste is always noticeable in the mouth. At times the bowels are very constipated, but occasional acute diarrhœa is caused by the accumulation of bile in the system.

It is highly dangerous to allow such a condition to imperil your life. It must be cured and the simplest and surest remedy is Ferrozone. It digests every particle of food eaten, and prevents the waste products from clogging up the system.

Ferrozone restores all deranged organs to a healthy, vigorous condition. It keeps the bowels well regulated, makes the kidneys eliminate all poisons from the blood, and supplies the necessary elements to build up and strengthen the entire body.

Mr. Louis Meslam, one of Peterborough's most enterprising and well known business men, during the past three years was an unceasing sufferer from Billious Dyspepsia. He was cured permanently by Ferrozone and is so anxious that all others may profit by his experience that he gives the following testimonial.

"About three years ago," says Mr. Meslam, "I had the Gripps which left me in a very run down condition that finally developed into Dyspepsia. I was unable to eat but a few things and had a craving for acid. I gave up treating with the doctors because they did not help me, and on the advice of a friend used Ferrozone. It not only cured by of Dyspepsia and Billiousness, but has built up my strength to what it was before I had the Gripps. I can recommend Ferrozone as an ideal restorative."

Ferrozone is capable of digesting all classes of food, and contains in a highly concentrated form the elements necessary for strengthening and reconstructing, and nourishing the stomach and other digestive organs. It is a builder of blood, muscle and fat, and makes sickly, weak, disheartened people strong and well. Ferrozone gives you force, energy, vim and spirit and cures every time. Sold by all druggists. Price 50c. per box or three boxes for $1.25. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

TO SEARCH FOR THE BODY

Party Left on Saturday Evening for Stony Lake

Quite a number went up to Stony Lake on Saturday night to assist in the search for the body of the late W. A. Sanderson, amongst whom were Messrs. W. G. Ferguson, Alex. Gibson, Fred. Dixon and Adam Hall.

During all these days the search has been unremitting. There is now hope that the body will rise, but this is by no means certain, as the lake is known to be very deep in the vicinity where the accident is supposed to have occurred.

HORSE THIEVES AT WORK

Mr. Fred Lang, Springville, Loses a Valuable Horse

Mr. Fred. Lang, who lives at Springville, came into town on Saturday in search of a horse which was stolen out of his stable on Friday night. It was Mr. Lang's intention to bring the horse to town on Saturday, when he expected to sell it to Hon. J. R. Stratton.

On account of the soft condition of the road, which is just now being repaired, Mr. Lang was able to trace the horse a distance of a couple of miles Peterborough-ward. The animal is valued at $200.

CATTLE GUARD

The Invention of Mr. P. G. Walker, of Otonabee

One of the great causes of disputes between the railway companies and the people of the country is caused by cattle straying on the railway, there being heretofore no successful way to prevent them doing so.

To Mr. Walker is due the credit of inventing a cattle guard so simple, and at the same time so effectual, that, it is said, no animal can possibly cross it.

The guard is composed of three gates, which lie flat on the road bed, one on each side of the rails and one between them, and is so constructed that when an animal steps upon it the one slide drops and the other rises before the intruder, and forms an impassable barrier.

Mr. Walker's invention has been tested thoroughly at Indian River station on the C.P.R., and has proved a practical success.

It has been recommended by a special commission appointed by the government to report on the best form of cattle guard.

FARMERS INSTITUTE

Mr. E. M. Elliott Re-Elected President on Saturday

A fair gathering of the members of the Farmers' Institute met in the Council Chamber on Saturday for the purpose of electing officers and hearing the Secretary's report which show receipts to the amount of $128.27 and expenditures amounting to $128.92 showing an actual deficit of $10.95.

The auditors had examined the books and vouchers and found everything kept in a careful and correct manner.

It was decided that no meetings would be held at Young's Point this year unless the membership allowed some increase before the secretary made his report.

All other places where meetings have heretofore been held, will enjoy the same privilege as usual.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors, the following officers were elected:

President—Mr. E. M. Elliott.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. R. Q. Dench
Secretary—Mr. Wm. Collins.

LEARNING THINGS

We Are All in the Apprentice Class

When a simple change of diet brings health and happiness the story is briefly told. A lady of Springfield, Ill., says: "After being afflicted for years with nervousness and heart trouble, I received a shock four years ago that left me in such a condition that my life was despaired of. I could get no relief from the doctors nor from the numberless heart and nerve medicines I tried because I didn't know that the coffee was daily putting me back more than Drs. could put me ahead.

"Finally at the request of a friend I left off coffee and began the use of Postum and against my convictions I gradually improved in health until for the past 6 or 8 months I have been entirely free from nervousness and those terrible sinking, weakening spells of heart trouble.

"My troubles all came from the use of coffee which I had drunk from childhood and yet they disappeared when I quit coffee and took up the use of Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek.

Many people marvel at the effects of leaving off coffee and drinking Postum, but there is nothing marvelous about it—only common sense.

Coffee is a destroyer—Postum is a rebuilder. That's the reason.

DEATH OF MR. GEO. ESSON

A Prominent Farmer of Otonabee Dies Suddenly

The death of Mr. George Esson, of Otonabee, which occurred on Saturday afternoon, came with a great shock to his many friends in town and country. Mr. Esson was sitting upon his verandah when he was seized with heart trouble, and only lived a few minutes.

He was only 68 years of age, and leaves one daughter, living at home, and four sons, three in the Northwest, and one, David Esson, in town. The late Mr. Esson was a prominent member of the Methodist church, Keene.

THANKS FROM THE MAYOR

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I wish to thank the citizens of Peterborough for the support given to The Council in their efforts to tender a fitting reception to the Governor-General and his party yesterday.

The Town did itself credit and showed to good advantage. The taste displayed in the decoration of private homes, the general appearance of solidity and comfort of the homes, the tree lined streets, &c., were the subject of frequent remarks by Their Excellencies, while both exclaimed with pleasure at the sight of the gay appearance and handsome stores of George street. Their Excellencies were also much impressed with the lift-lock, and examined the same in considerable detail under the guidance of the Engineers, Mr. R. B. Rogers and Mr. Francis. I think the general impression upon Their Excellencies was good and that the size of our Town, and the importance of our industries were somewhat of a surprise to them.

The community is also, I feel, indebted to the military for the life and color which they lent to the scene by their creditable display, and to the various committe-men who contributed to make the occasion a success. Yours truly,

G. M. ROGER, Mayor.

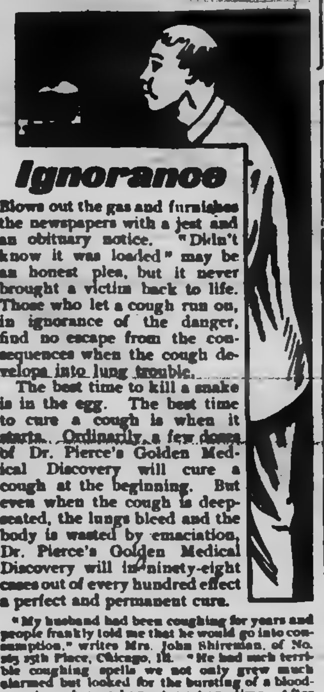
A Fine Maskinonge

The editor of this g. l. j. is in receipt of a very fine maskinonge from Mr. Geo. J. Chalmers, and son Alex., who have been spending a couple of days at Jubilee Point with Mr. Dan Foley. They speak in highest praise of that popular resort, and the fine catch of fish they brought home with them is proof that the fishing is good. Parties wishing a good time should give Dan a visit, and they will be made welcome.

The Excelsiors defeated the Auburns in a very closely contested game on Saturday by a score of 2—0.



Ignorance

Blows out the gas and furnishes the newspapers with a jest and an obituary notice. "Didn't know it was loaded" may be an honest plea, but it never brought a victim back to life. Those who let a cough run on, in ignorance of the danger, find no escape from the consequences when the cough develops into lung trouble.

The best time to kill a snake is in the egg. The best time to cure a cough is when it starts. Ordinarily, a few doses of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure a cough at the beginning. But even when the cough is deep-seated, the lungs bleed and the body is wasted by emaciation, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred effect a perfect and permanent cure.

"My husband had been coughing for years and people frankly told me that he would go into consumption," writes Mrs. John Shireman, of No. 265 29th Place, Chicago, Ill. "He had such terrible coughing spells we not only grew much alarmed but looked for the bursting of a blood-vessel or a hemorrhage at most any time. After three days' coughing he was too weak to cross the room. The doctor did him no good. I stated the case to a druggist, who handed me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. My husband's recovery was remarkable. In three days after he began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery he was up and around, and in two more days he went to work. Two bottles cured him."

NEW ZEALAND APPROVES OF CHAMBERLAIN'S POLICY

The Country in Favor of The Unity of the Greater British Empire

Montreal, June 9—At the Windsor yesterday a reporter had an interview with Mr. John A. Dobbie, one of the pioneer settlers of Cook county, New Zealand. Mr. Dobbie is on his way to England and will sail on Saturday.

The question was asked if the proposal of Premier Seddon to establish retail stores throughout Great Britain for the sale of New Zealand Mutton would succeed.

Mr. Dobbie replied that Mr. Seddon's proposal had met with the enthusiastic support of the sheep raisers of that colony. At the present time they were completely in the hands of the freezing companies, which were enabled, by reason of the monopoly they had, to lower the price as they saw fit.

Premier Seddon's scheme would make the farmers independent of the freezing companies, as Government cold storage plants would be established and a fair price maintained for mutton.

Mr. Dobbie gave an instance of the manner in which freezing companies which are mainly controlled in London, had been holding the sheep raisers at their mercy. The price for fat sheep fell from sixteen shillings to thirteen shillings the week that Mr. Dobbie left, and this was merely the result of a clever manipulation of the market.

Mr. Chamberlain's preferential trade speech was then brought up, and Mr. Dobbin grew enthusiastic. "There is no doubt," he said, "that Mr Chamberlain will have the entire support of the people of my country. While Mr. Chamberlain is regarded as a keen politician and nothing more, the people of New Zealand will follow him in any proposal that he will carry through for the benefit of the colonies in general and New Zealand in particular. Our Premier, Mr Seddon, has been in power for ten years and is a born Imperialist. He has a majority of seventy-five per cent. of the representation.

Speaking of New Zealand generally Mr. Dobbie said that it was in a very prosperous condition. Sheep and cattle raising were the principal industries, July and August were the wet seasons, the hottest months being December, January and February.

This is Mr. Dobbie's first visit to Canada, and he is much impressed with the country. When asked to say what had struck him most forcibly about the Dominion, he replied that the tremendous distances one had to travel to get half way across this country had produced the most profound impression.

What Mr. Chamberlain Wants And Proceeds to Get It.

Mr. Chamberlain is a man who knows what he wants and proceeds to get it. He knew how to make money in Manchester. He knew how to conduct the city affairs when he was Mayor. He was Liberal in politics and democratic in expression at one time, and Conservative in politics and aristocratic at another, but he really never changed. What he always wanted was power — personal power for himself, business-like efficiency for the city or nation, a firm and practical policy for his whole party. He has also increased what is called machine politics in England. He has done each thing with a clear intention, with none of Lord Rosebery's uncertainty about where to stand, with none of Mr. Balfour's detached speculation. Mr. Chamberlain, among the English leaders of to-day, is the only one who is primarily a man of action. The others are thinkers, observers, put into office by habits of mind which the people formed before the man of affairs began to threaten the leadership of the scholar and the gentleman. Politics to Lord Salisbury or Mr. Balfour is one interest out of the many. To Mr. Chamberlain it is the business in which he has embarked, and he gives it his undivided thought. He does not play at golf, bridge and philosophy like Mr Balfour, race and read, like Lord Rosebery, or wander about and look into shop windows, and think what fools these mortals be, like Lord Salisbury. He says to himself: "There is just one point here and the rest is academic fooling. I want England to be strong. She is in danger of being wiped out some day, by a Continental power, unless her colonies protect her. A tariff can be used to bind the colonies to us. Any cobweb Cobden speculation about economic truths doesn't interest me so much. Nobody really knows much about the economic results of free trade or protection, but I know for sure that this Empire ought to be able to stand alone in an emergency, self-feeding and self-protecting." Mr. Chamberlain, in such speeches as he has just made in favor of protection, is giving a manifesto, outlining a policy, for which he hopes the nation will be ready when he becomes Prime Minister. The people see him working steadily for one end, using every weapon to increase power and political unity in the Empire, and they will have a plain choice to make whenever Mr. Chamberlain's time comes to ask for formal leadership.

BIG WEAPONS FOR THE CANADIAN MILITIA.

Dominion Government Proposes to Ask Parliament for 1,250,000

Ottawa, June 8.—The supplementary estimates for the next fiscal year which are to be laid before parliament shortly, will contain an item of $1,250,000 capital expenditure for the militia, which is more than double the average outlay. A large portion of this will go towards the acquirement of new armament. The Minister's intention is to invest in a number of new guns, big and small, suited to the various needs to the service. This supply will include some guns that have been on order for about three years, but whose delivery was delayed owing to the British factories being engaged on big orders for the Home Government.

The General's recommendation included the acquirement of some pom-poms with the other weapons, so as to test the suitability of these arms for Canadian service.

NEW ZEALAND MAKES THREATS AGAINST BRITAIN

If She Will Not Grant Reciprocity, Foreign Nations May Do So

London, June 8—Today's feature of the imperial reciprocity discussion is the publication of a threat by Rt. Hon R. J. Seddon, Premier of New Zealand, that if Mr. Chamberlain's proposal is scouted by the Motherland reciprocity between the colonies and foreign countries will follow.

Mr. Chamberlain's letter to a trade unionist, published in all the papers today, intensifies the interest in the discussion. The Colonial Secretary says: "It will be impossible to secure preferential treatment with the colonies without a duty on corn, as well as other articles of food, because these are the chief articles of colonial produce."

The letter maintains that the shilling duty on grain, which is about to be repealed, is paid by the American exporter, and that if food becomes dearer, wages would show a more than equivalent increase. He notes with pleasure the increased food production capacity of the colonies, and concludes: "If protection is wrong, how can we explain the increase in exports and wages and the general prosperity of the United States and Germany, far greater than Great Britain, which is the only civilized country in the world to enjoy the blessings of unrestricted free imports?"

Hicks-Beach's Attitude.

The Spectator foreshadows a separate organization for Imperial Free trade within the Unionist party, under the leadership of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach.

The St. James' Gazette appeals to Unionists not to abet the schism, and says that if Sir Michael Hicks-Beach be the main source of the new or-[illegible] the Ministry may contemplate its formation with little dismay.

The Standard, the chief Government organ, still hesitates, but admits that the entire loss of public interest in other questions must continue "until we see our way better in the one commanding subject of the day."

Looking to the Future.

The Morning Post, in a discussion of the whole Canadian emigration problem, says that if Mr. Chamberlain gains the day for his scheme of a preferential tariff, it will give a stimulus to Canadian wheat growing operations and a bounty on agricultural settlers in Canada that may mean an increase in American immigration to Canada. "Will these new comers from the States be willing to accept citizenship of Greater Britain or become the advance guard of a political movement for the conversion of Canada to republican ideals?"

London, June 8—In order to meet the want of domestic servants in Canada and find homes for surplus English women, certain members of the Primrose League are considering a proposal to establish training and distribution homes on both sides of the Atlantic. It is suggested that the Canadian homes be under the charge of the Daughters of the Empire, and proposed that the Canadian Government shall advance the passage moneys, to be secured by the prospective wages of the recipients.

London, June 8—The Canadian Government's action in the fast Atlantic service matter is the subject of the severest criticism among business men on account of their slackness and failure to grip the problem. They say, that Canada is as far from a service today as it was seven years ago, when the Allans' fast mail compact with the Tupper Government fell through. The only [illegible] dilatory proceeding seem to Englishmen to establish is that the Canadian Pacific are the only possible effective managers of such a service.

A GIANT CRACKER

The Times was Shown Something New in the Line of Fireworks

Yesterday this great family journal was shown something that was entirely new and unique, by way of reminder that Dominion Day is coming, in the hands of a knight of the grip. At first glance it was nothing new, it was but an ordinary giant firecracker, constructed of pasteboard, with the regulation red paper covering and a stout fuse to set it off by. So far, all this was old and stereotyped; it was the same old sleep-destroying, nerve-racking, finger-shattering demon of jubilation that annually makes its appearance in the latter days of June and causes the nation's natal day to be looked forward to with apprehension by well-disposed people—parents and doctors in particular. When this g.f. j. had examined the thing with a considerable degree of entirely wasted caution, the owner of it seized the fuse and pulled on it. To our surprise, the end where the alleged fuse fitted came off and revealed a hollow box in which was deftly fitted a bottle containing half a pint of whiskey. It was labelled "Col. Highball's Patent Select Stock," or words to that effect, and was put up in neat form, to catch the eye as well as responsive spot in a man's anatomy. It was certainly a revelation in enterprise as well as in deception, but we afterwards [illegible] of the bogus firecracker that turned out to be whisky, or the real thing that makes more noise and is all over with at once, is the more dangerous.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Meeting Held in the Town Clerk's Office Yesterday

At a meeting of the local Board of Health held yesterday, the following members were present: Mr. R. Neill, Chairman; Messrs. W. Eyres, G. Schneider, A. Parker; Dr. McNulty Mayor Roger, Chief Rossel and Medical Health Officer Dr. Bingham.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Alderman Batten complained of the Board closing his well at the shop. He uses this water for setting tires and other things in connection with the blacksmith trade, and thinks the Board has been rather arbitrary in the matter, and Medical Health Officer, Dr. Bingham was inclined to concur in the Alderman's views, as he does not think that the water from this well was found bad when tested.

The Chairman could not see eye to eye with Dr. Bingham on this subject.

However Alderman Batten is one of the most peaceable individuals in the community and agreed to leave the whole matter in the hands of the Board.

The matter was, on the motion of Mayor Roger, allowed to stand until Mr. Batten was able to put in the city water service on condition that he did not keep it for public use as drinking water.

Messrs. [illegible] account of $2.50 was ordered to be paid and the Board adjourned until Wednesday at 10 a.m.

THIS GENIUS PLANTS HAIR ON BALD HEADS

A Wonderful Cure for Baldness if this Story is True

JOHN SMITH HAS THE SECRET

Plants Hair as You Would Plant Potatoes—Will be Done by Machine

Butte, Mont., June 9.—Here at last is the real thing in hope for bald-headed men.

A Butte genius, who is known in the city directory as Prof. John F. Smith, is the new promoter for the hairless. He has discovered the sure and the only system for growing hair on the mirrored surface of the human cocoanut, and he has a sample on exhibition to prove that his system is a good thing.

He has discovered that it is possible to graft hair on any head that hasn't [illegible] thousand years.

"As you well know," said the professor, in explaining the system, "the loss of the hair is caused by the contraction of the hair follicle of the scalp, which prevents the hair growing after it falls out. The hair, or the seed of the hair, as you might call it, is always there. I have found it possible to grow hair by grafting, or by inserting into the follicle a live hair. By a simple method I can open the follicle, and the single hair inserted will take root and grow. My first experiment was made with an ordinary needle, and for the purpose of grafting I took a number of hairs of different colors—black, red in the openings thus made. In a few days they had taken root, and in a week they had all turned to one color, brown, which was the original color of the subject's hair.

'TIS A TEDIOUS JOB.

"I tried another subject and planted a dozen gray hairs in the center of a hairless dome, and in ten days they were growing and had turned to a jet black. I am now working on an instrument to take the place of the ordinary needle, and to be so operated that it will plant the hair at the same time that it is inserted to open the follicle. In a few months it will no longer be a trick to grow hair on any head, and hair planting will become a recognized arts.

"Is it painful? It would be with the method used in the experiments, but when the system is perfected the scalp of the subject will be treated so that he will not even feel the operation. It will be rather tedious to plant a full and heavy crop of hair on a [illegible] ably take a month to cover a head, one hair at a time, but there are thousands of men who would sit patiently in the operating chair for six months and pay a fortune for a youthful crop of hair. Any hair from a healthy head will grow when transplanted to another scalp."

CHAMBERLAIN HAS COLONIAL SUPPORT

Is Satisfied With Assurances from Canada Australia and Elsewhere

A VOTE OF THE PEOPLE

Liberals Say That the Trade Matter Should be Submitted to Popular Vote

London, June 9—The fiscal fight has further settled down into party grooves. The first effect has been to give to the Liberal party the semblance of united action. Lord Spencer and Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman, as the Liberal leaders in the House of Lords and the House of Commons publicly and emphatically have condemned Mr. Chamberlain's suggestions. Lord Rosebery's opposition also [illegible], though less vehement.

In the House of Commons [illegible] day Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, speaking for the first time in many years as the spokesman practically of the Liberal party, will insist that a delay is impossible in deciding a matter which keeps the whole world of trade in suspense, both here and in the colonies. The issue must be placed before the country at a general election. In this demand Liberal Imperialists, Radicals, Roseberyites, Harcourtites and Bannermanites stand together, their only difference being in the degree of emphasis laid upon the desirability of a closer alliance with the colonies, which shall not be destructive of free trade.

How the Ministry and Ministerial party stand no man can yet say. Report assigns to Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, so long the Chancellor of the Exchequer in Lord Salisbury's administrations, the intention to revolt in the House of Commons. Lord Hugh Cecil, Lord Salisbury's son, and Winston Churchill, two leading members of the party of young Tory malcontents, have already pledged themselves against Mr. Chamberlain. It is evident that Mr. Chamberlain's bombshell worked havoc in this young Tory group, which was to turn Tory politics inside out.

As for the Cabinet I believe the exact position is that as a whole they remain unpledged to any scheme, Mr Chamberlain's or any other. None, in fact, has been submitted. They declare that all that has happened is that Mr. Chamberlain has proclaimed with greater insistence than ever his long favored principle of the Empire as a trade unit, which all Britons will welcome if, and, when, it is proved practicable.

They know however, as every one knows, that Mr. Chamberlain has sufficient force in the party to force a dissolution depends primarily upon the response the country makes to his appeal on general grounds.

CANADA'S ATTITUDE.

From this week's cablegrams Mr. Chamberlain is satisfied that Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa will overwhelmingly support him, wen it should be necessary to make further sacrifices to appease the British taxpayer in the way of partnership responsibilities in the Empire beyond those which the Colonial conference disclosed. As for British opinion, the Spectator is quite sure that John Bull has resolutely turned aside. It says that if the signs for speedy acquiescence are unfavorable Mr. Chamberlain probably will gain time by referring the question for detailed enquiry to experts representing the whole Empire, giving home politicians something to talk about meanwhile.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC AID, TERMS OF FEDERAL SUBSIDY AGREED UPON

Guarantee of Bonds will be Principal Feature

TERMS NOT AS GENEROUS AS EXPECTED

No Land Grant will, It is Certain be Made But Cash Will be Forthcoming

Ottawa, June 8—It is understood that the terms for the western extension of the Grand Trunk Railway have been practically arranged between the company and the Ministers.

The terms, so far as Ottawa is concerned, will not be as generous as has been generally expected. It is settled that the company shall receive a guarantee of bonds, very much on the principle of the guarantee given to the Canadian Northern a few days ago. A cash grant may be added for parts of the route; but if so, the amount will not be large. No land grant, as has been well understood for some time, will be given, although there is considerable feeling among members from the older Provinces that it would be entirely reasonable if a portion of Western lands were set apart for the construction of the road.

The Western members, however, are unanimously against land grants, and in this they are in line with the historical policy of the Dominion Liberal party.

A land grant, however, will be obtained from Ontario, and, possibly from Quebec and British Columbia.

Benefits of Assouan Dam

Cairo, June 9.—An important result has already followed the construction of the great Assouan Dam and Reservoir, which are in full operation. The summer water supply of the Nile, on which the cotton and sugar cane crops depended, has been doubled, supply now being forty cubic metres per second, instead of 20.

The Gamey Report

The Gamey report is expected to come up in the Legislature to-day, and will be vigorously attacked by the Opposition. The member for Manitoulin it is stated has no intention of meekly submitting to the findings of the Commission. He intends to personally lay before the House evidence of a more or less sensational character, which he alleges the Commissioners refused to hear, and which, it is claimed by him, tends to discredit the reply set up against his testimony

The Manchuria Question

Pekin, June 9.—The Manchurian question is in abeyance, and while the world is becoming reconciled to the Russian occupation as an accomplished fact, Russia has been establishing herself daily more and more firmly. The wives and children of Russian officers are entering Manchuria in large numbers and the building of barracks and houses for permanent occupation continues with restless activity. The Russian officers deride the possibility of war with Japan.

WOMAN WITH NERVE

A Toronto Shop-Lifter Carries off the Palm for Gall

Toronto, June 9.—For pure, cold "nerve," the palm must surely be given to a Toronto woman.

One of the officials of the Simpson store tells of a woman who came to the exchange department of the store the other day and asked to have some goods exchanged. She said she had lost the bill of the goods given by the saleswoman. No goods are exchanged, however, without an accompanying bill, and the request for exchange was, therefore, refused.

The woman was recognized as an amateur shop-lifter, and enquiries afterward elicited the fact that the goods had been "lifted" by the lady. Apparently she had not liked her selection and had come back to have the spoils exchanged in a regular way. The exchange department is lost in admiration at the consummate audacity and coolness of the woman.

AWFUL FAMINE IN CHINA

More Than 1,090,000 Natives Reported Starving

Ten Thousand Children Sold to Get Food in Kwang Si — An Appeal to American Charity

Washington, June 9. — Secretary Hay has received a cable dispatch from Consul-General McWade at Canton, China, which says:

"Governor Wong telegraphs that over a million natives in Kwang Si are starving and earnestly appeals for help from American charity. All relief distribution through the hands of American and British missionaries."

Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, the Chinese Minister here, called at the state department today and was placed in possession of such advices as the officials had respecting the distress in Kwang-Si. The minister appeared to be bewildered, and was unable to suggest any measure of relief for his suffering countrymen. The state department, although not anxious to embark in wholesale charitable enterprise, will undertake to do what it can in forwarding relief measures, and without further reference to the minister here will itself transmit directly to Mr. McWade, the consul-general at Canton, any funds which may be contributed.

SOME STARTLING FACTS

Regarding a Wonderful Discovery by the Famous Dr. Clarke.

To the Editor of The Times—

Sir,—With a view to afford relief to the afflicted, I ask you to publish the following: I am 31 years old and for 9 years have done absolutely nothing, owing to rheumatism; my hands, feet and heart being affected. I was induced by my cousin to take Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills, and before I had taken 4 boxes I could go upstairs without help, and can now go up the stairs as well as I ever could. Two doctors told me that I never would be well again; but I have neither ache nor pain and am in perfect health.

JAPAN'S GREAT HATE

Of Russia, Growing Stronger Every Day

St. Petersburg, June 9—Japan is obviously growing anti-Russian. The feeling is a source of much anxiety to the Czars' advisers. The idea of the inevitability of war between the two nations is gaining ground, not only in political circles, but in educated quarters generally. The War Office is taking precautionary measures at Port Arthur, Dalny and on the Korean frontier. Gen. Kuropatkin, Minister of War, has ordered a special watch to be maintained for Japanese spies in Russian forts and strongholds. Meanwhile, both the Siberian Railway and the Black Sea volunteer fleet are busy transporting Colonists and troops to the Far East.

THE FREE HOSPITAL FOR CONSUMPTIVES

The appeal sent out for help for the Free Hospital for Consumptives at Gravenhurst should receive the response which so noble an institution deserves. It is stated that the sum of $150,000 has already been invested in the two Gravenhurst institutions and property just outside of Toronto on which to erect a home for advanced or incurable cases of consumption. The maintenance of the existing institutions necessitates an expenditure of over $50,000 per annum, and to-day there is a debt of $73,000, in the form of an overdraft, for which the bank demands settlement.

There is no other hospital for consumptives in Canada. The demands are, therefore, urgent. The board of trustees, who have already given freely of their time and money, having faith that the people of Canada would come to their relief, and pressed by the urgency of the needs of the hospital, incurred this debt which must now be provided for. They have no endowment, nor money with which to care for the large number of patients who are now in the hospital and not able to pay a single cent towards their maintenance and treatment.

Already some eight hundred cases have been treated and many radical cures effected. Men who a few years ago would have been regarded as "under sentence of death" have been restored at these sanitariums to health and usefulness.

In the light of modern knowledge it is found that pulmonary tuberculosis is the most curable of all chronic diseases. The sooner the patient submits himself to the doctor's care, the greater are his chances for a lasting recovery. Consumption or pulmonary tuberculosis, is to-day cured not by quacks, patent medicines, nostrums, or other secret remedies, but solely and exclusively by the scientific and judicious use of fresh air, sunshine, water, abundant and good food (milk, eggs, meat, vegetables, fruit), and by the help of certain medicinal substances when the hygienic and dietetic means just mention do not suffice in themselves to combat the disease. Patients can be cured in nearly all climes where pure air is obtainable and where the extremes of cold and heat are not too pronounced.

There is no specific climate for consumption, and we have as yet no specific medicinal remedy. The thorough and constant medicinal supervision of the pulmonary invalid, immediate intervention when new symptoms manifest themselves or old ones become aggravated or do not disappear rapidly enough, the prescription of proper food and drink, can only be done by the thoroughly trained physician, either in a well-equipped sanitarium, or, if circumstances permit, in a suitably arranged private home.

These conditions are fully met at the Gravenhurst institutions provided by private philanthropy. The task of maintenance is found an ever-growing one, and the appeal for help which has been sent out by the Board in the names of Mr. W. J. Gage, and Chief Justice Meredith, Kt., should meet with a cheerful response from those having means to assist in a most worthy system of benevolence.

THE NEGRO PROBLEM

The suppression of the negro vote in some of the Southern states brings up the question. Did the civil war settle anything? It is a breach of the constitution of the United States as amended in sections thirteen, fourteen and fifteen. The fourteenth amendment settled the citizenship of the black man, and the fifteenth entitled his electoral enfranchisement. Yet in several of the states this right has been abrogated, and the problem which forced on the war is again very much in evidence. It is a problem which must find a solution in Congress. The nullification of a constitutional right by a state legislature will have to be met by nullification by the national representative bodies. It can be done by refusing to admit representatives to Congress elected by those districts which set aside the three amendments covering the negro question. The Southern claim that it was a mistake to put the ballot in the hands of the negro, and that it has only resulted in harm, will not suffice, if true. The enfranchisement of the negro was the result of the war, and deemed necessary to preserve what it achieved. If it is abrogated arbitrarily by the states immediately concerned, thus setting the Constitution at defiance, the war achieved nothing.

Curious Bits of News.

Professor D. J. Cunningham, F.R.S., in a discourse on giants at the Royal Dublin Society, said that though a distinguished French Academician reckoned that Adam was 123 feet in height, and Eve 118 feet, and though in mediaeval times there was a general opinion that a giant was a person about nine feet high he did not consider there was any conclusive evidence to show that the human stature had ever exceeded eight feet.

Statistics in the "Lancet" show that twins are as one in eighty births. Of triplets there is only one instance in 6,400 which justified a claim on the "King's bounty;" and quadruplets are as one to 512,000; while the chances of a quintette are even more remote, the ratio being one in 40,960,000 births. The figures are grateful and comforting, although the "Lancet" goes on to mention a case in which a woman presented her husband with seven successive triplets.

Miss Maude Gonne, who was married the other day to Major McBride, late of the Boer army, is the daughter of an Irish Protestant landlord, serving in the English army, and was born in Kerry in 1866. She is good-looking, and having been presented at the viceregal court, she reigned as a beauty in Dublin society for some time. When her father died some years ago she identified herself with the extreme section of the Irish party, and has been a keen agitator ever since. Her younger sister, who is equally handsome, is married to Colonel Pilcher, who distinguished himself in the war. Major McBride, though a member of the Clan-na-Gael, is an Ulsterman.

Before the Cambridge Philosophical Society in England, recently, Professor Ridgeway produced evidence, historical and scientific, to prove that the Barbary horse, from which all the fine horses of the world have sprung, was derived either from the zebra of North-East Africa, or, more likely, from some very closely allied species now extinct. North Africa, therefore, and not Arabia, is the original home of the thoroughbred. More than 900 years before Christ King Solomon imported horses from Egypt, and Egypt got them from Lybia. "It is now clear," says Professor Ridgeway, "that the Arabs never owned a good horse until they had become masters of North Africa and the Barbary horses, from whom are sprung our own racing stock."

The first woman in the world to own a private touring railroad car will be Mrs. Isaac E. Emerson of Baltimore. Mrs. Emerson, unlike her husband, abhors yachting. And yet she likes to travel. As a Christmas gift Captain Emerson proposed the touring car. The car will be one of the largest ever turned out by the Pullman Company. Mahogany will be the basis of the interior woodwork, but the richest silk draperies and the softest and thickest of carpets will almost conceal it. Bathrooms, with every appliance, will be built. There will be at least four staterooms, a parlor library, a dining-room and a kitchen. The car will be furnished as a permanent migratory house, with its own silver, cut glass, linen and upholstery. It will be in commission at all times, so that it can be started at any hour of the day or night that Mrs. Emerson elects. Mrs. Emerson said that she contemplates a number of "traveling house parties," as soon as the luxurious vehicle shall be completed, and that she and her friends "would see every foot of this country as well as Canada and Mexico."

AN IMMENSE COPPER DEPOSIT

Developments at Cheticamp—Mr. W. H. Williams of Swampscott, Joins the Eastern Nation Company

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax, Canada, has engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M.E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden had more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Grampanar, Nelson, B. C., the Kenyon and Lee, in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and at other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that had been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

Grandin Brook, Cheticamp, C. B.,
May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company,
Limited:

"Gentlemen,—I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the time I have been here, and also the development work and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposits and the ore, I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure that it contains high values in gold and copper, especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized. I consider you have much underestimated the thickness of this body of ore in your prospectus."

(Sgd.) H. L. BORDEN.

In the last monthly report of the Eastern National Copper Company to its shareholders the fact is stated that improved ore has been encountered in the bottom of the main slope, as anticipated it would be when the workings reached a depth below the level of surface action. An underlying bed of ore has also been cut in sinking the sump shaft deeper. The Company reports a small party of leading shareholders will visit the property early next month with a view to largely increasing their holdings. Among others who have become interested in this very promising proposition is Mr. W. H. Williams, of Swampscott, Mass., M. W. P. of the order of S. of T., America, who is very much impressed with the future of the Eastern National. The Company further reports that the driving of the thousand foot tunnel, from which the mine will be worked has been commenced and the blocking out of a large body of ore will be carried on from both ends. Referring to the prospect of the present season the manager, Mr. Grandin, makes the following allusion:

"I feel no doubt that we shall make such splendid progress this season that by this time next year a successful and brilliant career will be assured for the Eastern National Copper Company."

The stock of the Company should then go to par. The price started at $1, and is at present $3 per share, $10, par value, but only a few shares remain at that figure. Messrs. Alfred Bennett & Co., of 16 Prince street, Halifax, are fiscal agents.

The last lesson we learn is to pardon ourselves.

Paine's Celery Compound

Tones and Strengthens Every Weak Organ and Invigorates the Whole System

Paine's Celery Compound has been specially prepared for the relief and cure of the many ailments that afflict women, and it never fails to give a new life and healthy tone to the female organs; it removes relaxed debility and unhealthy secretions; it purifies the blood and establishes a perfect and vigorous health. Mrs. Percy S. Browning, of Provencher, Man., writes as follows:

"After deriving such wonderful good from the use of Paine's Celery Compound, I consider it my duty to let suffering women know something about the only medicine in the world that can banish female troubles and give to woman that health and strength that makes it a pleasure to live. I suffered for a long time from falling of the womb, irregularities, nervousness and headache. My doctor could not do much for me, and my relatives thought I would become a confirmed invalid. My sister induced me at last to try Paine's Celery Compound, and I thank God it was brought to my notice. After the use of seven bottles I am a well woman and as healthy as any of my friends. Paine's Celery Compound is surely the medicine for every sick and suffering woman, and I recommend it with all my heart."

TRANSFER OFFICE; BRISTOL, CONN.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in, in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

Buried Gold

By FRED WHISHAW.

Author of "A Boyar of the Terrible," etc.

been duly disarmed, the "Penelope's" big gun should be thrown overboard, her crew re-shipped, and they should go where they would, so long as they left the island and solemnly vowed never to return themselves nor to send others. All who refused to swear to this upon the Book should be shot.

This was what the possession of the "Penelope" meant for the "Hecuba" people—triumph all down the line.

So the dancing and singing and fiddling proceeded merrily in the foc'sle, and no one had leisure to observe what passed, or was aware, indeed, that anything was passing in the after-portion of the vessel, where there was neither light nor music.

In view of the impossibility of interference from the island no lookout had been considered necessary. The ship was as safe as a fortress. She could not be got at from the shore; it would be cruel to deprive a poor soul of his share of innocent jollity by posting a lookout man and setting him to guard against dangers which could not possibly exist. The thing was absurd.

All these considerations rendered it the more appallingly mysterious when a dozen men suddenly emerged from out of the darkness that shrouded the after-deck, rifles and revolvers in hand, and bade both fiddlers and dancers "hands up." There was nothing for it, however. It was a cruel, blighting, incomprehensible misfortune, but the hands had to go up, and did.

One man, however, seated unobserved at the extreme edge of the circle of light, suddenly vanished in the gloom and made off. This man rushed straight into the captain's saloon and opened the door of the cabin occupied by Tom Foster. Tom was fast asleep, and the fellow drew his revolver and shot him in the head.

"They've got the ship," he muttered, disappearing as quickly as he had come, "but they ain't going to know what you know, my lad."

Meanwhile Keith collected every rifle and revolver. The men delivered up their arms with curses and threats.

"It's the old bears without teeth that growl the most," laughed Keith. "Our night out, lads, this time."

Then the red light was run up and the men who eagerly awaited this signal on shore were let loose upon their enterprise. A white light was waved simultaneously, and the small boat came dashing up to the "Penelope's" side. Keith hailed her.

"It's all right, lads, we have her," he sang out. "You go and stand off the village a bit in case the land party should want help. Mind where you fire, and don't hit our chaps."

The men in the dinghy cheered and disappeared into the darkness.

Then Keith went aft with two or three of his cutter crew and found a dejected party seated in the saloon: the mate, Denys Drake, Jessie Foster, and one or two others. Jessie was crying softly, Drake and the other men cursing in whispers; one or two had weapons lying on the table beside them.

"You'll excuse me, mates, but we must have these playthings of yours," said Keith. "Collect 'em, Jack. Too late to cry now, Jessie, my lass, though I'm glad to see you're ashamed."

"She isn't," said Drake savagely. "What's she to be ashamed about? She's only disgusted with this 'ere mate's blamed foolishness—leavin' the ship without a lookout, and a score of blamed sneaks about, waitin' to catch him nappin'."

"Stow that, you fool, unless you want your head stove in!" growled the mate.

"If I didn't know before that you was as big a fool as they're made I'd have said you'd been got at and we were given away!" continued Drake, "goin' and leavin' the ship without——" The mate started to his feet and hit savagely at the speaker; Jessie screamed.

"Hands up, mate," said Keith, "or I'll shoot. You can wash your dirty linen another time; there's a few things I want to know at present. Where's Tom Foster and the three men and a boy that was with him?" The mate replied surlily:

"Foster's in irons; we ought to have shot him and didn't, like blamed fools. One chap's alive, besides; there never was a boy that I know of. You can look for the other two men in hell when you get there, which I pray'll be soon."

"You're polite," said Keith, laughing, "but I'm not off yet a bit. Which cabin's Foster in?"

The mate jerked his head towards one of the doors. Keith opened it and looked in. Tom Foster lay in a pool of blood, dead—it seemed—or nearly so.

Keith's face darkened ominously.

"There's been foul play here, mate," he said. "Who's done this? Get up and come here."

The mate obeyed; he looked in at the cabin door, and started.

"I swear I don't know," he said. "It wasn't done by my orders. I wouldn't murder a man in irons, so help me I wouldn't, Adams." Keith gazed intently at the man.

"Well, I'll take your word," he said. "If I thought otherwise I'd shoot you down like a dog. This'll have to be enquired into later. Meanwhile he's alive—see, look after your brother, Jessie."

Jessie, catching sight of her brother, rushed with a cry to his side, and there Keith left her for the present in order to find and free the sole remaining survivor of the three men he had left on board but a few days since. This man, Dickenson, was uninjured, and from him Keith soon learned all that had passed.

"But where's the lad, Tommy, then?" he asked; for Dickenson had made no mention of him.

Dickenson reflected. "I'm pretty sure he wasn't killed that night. He wouldn't have been on deck," he said. "He must have hidden himself somewhere, soon as trouble began."

"Then we must find him at once, poor little chap," said Keith. "He must be starvin' by now."

The ship was searched in every corner excepting the right one, until at last Dickenson suggested that there was the store-room out of the steward's pantry; he might be there. It was a place he'd know well from being accustomed to serve in the saloon at meals, and fetching up stores. So a search was instituted among the bales and boxes and the sacks and cases in the store-hold, and soon a strange, wild-looking little person arose from a well-hidden corner and confronted them. It screened its eyes and stared, and shrieked and bade them stand back or it would shoot.

"What's he saying, poor little chap?" said Keith. "He's gone mazed, from hunger or loneliness, or I don't know what."

Then they spoke soothingly to the lad and bade him calm himself.

"You remember me, lad, don't you?"

(To be Continued.)

A Busy Official.

Our host was showing us through his club. In one room we found a haggard man, surrounded by a score of stenographers, typewriters and messenger-boys.

"I am going to sit into a little game of poker," said a club member who rushed into the room.

"Send word to Mr. Jones's house that he is detained down town to pass judgment on an exhibit of pictures," said the haggard man to one of the stenographers.

"I am going to the Flipp Theater to see the new burlesque," announced another new-comer.

"Boy," ordered the haggard man, "run out to Mr. Smith's and tell his wife that he will not be home to-night, because he has to attend to a perplexing column of figures."

"I am going to attend a quiet little wine-supper," whispered a third newcomer.

"Send a note out to Mr. Jobson's, saying that he will be compelled to endeavor to find that perplexing balance to-night," ordered the haggard man.

"Who is he?" we whispered as our guide drew us on.

"He's the official excuse-inventor," explained our guide. "It's a new idea of ours, to have our excuses for absence from home of such a nature that they may be said to be absolutely true."

As we left a club attendant hurried in and said:

"Mr. Buffer got into a little fight down street and won't go home until his blacked eye is fixed up."

"Send word to Mrs. Buffer," ordered the excuse-inventor without a moment's hesitation, "that Mr. Buffer has accepted an invitation to witness a demonstration of applied art."

"How on earth did you ever get hold of such an ingenious man?" we asked.

"Oh, it was easy," said our guide. "He has been married six times."

Roosevelt and the Reporter.

President Roosevelt is regarded as a ready assistant to newspaper men, and it is no uncommon thing for him to discuss freely state and political matters with correspondents. But there are occasions when his friendliness is put to severe tests. One of these came soon after the Roosevelt family settled at Sagamore Hill last summer, when many greatly exaggerated stories of the exploits of the Roosevelt children found their way into the columns of the daily press. The President decided to put an end to these stories, and one day summoned a correspondent who had been active in supplying his paper with this class of news.

The President lost no time in stating the object of the summons.

"I have noticed, Mr. ——, that a great many stories have appeared in the —— regarding the exploits of my children. They have been very good stories, indeed, and I assume you are responsible for them. I have only one fault to find with them, and that is that they are not strictly accurate. Now, you know I am always ready to give you the facts, and hereafter whenever you wish exact information about the doings of members of my family, I wish you would come to me. I shall only be too pleased to oblige you. I will give you a bully good story right now, if you wish it."

The reporter sat up eagerly, even if somewhat crestfallen over the rebuke, as the President continued:

"Mrs. Roosevelt and I are going riding just as soon as you depart. We shall ride 'cross country, jumping exactly twenty-seven fences and six ditches, and when we return we shall go bathing in our riding habits. My son Theodore is hunting this morning, and I have just received a bulletin from the jungle informing me that he has already killed two elephants and a tiger."

The reporter saw through the President's little play, but there was no way to escape.

"Isn't Theodore a wonder!" cried the President, and then continued:

"Archibald, my second son, went out a little while ago to fish for [illegible] to be used as bait for whale. Ethel is tearing down the windmill at this very minute—step around the house and you can see her. Kermit, aged about seven, has just thrown a 200 pound secret service man two bouts out of three in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match, and Quentin, my baby, is even now setting fire to the back part of the house.

"There, Mr. ——, you have what I should call a fine story!" said Mr. Roosevelt, in all seriousness. "The facts are exactly right, and I trust you will not exaggerate if you use them. After this, please come direct to me, and I will give you these stories about my family whenever you desire them. Delighted to have seen you. Good morning."

Real Aristocracy.

The real aristocracies of Europe, such as the consular families of Rome and the magnates of Austria-Hungary, hold English pretensions to long descent in supreme contempt. It is not only true they despise the peerages of the Victorian age and such growths of the Reformation as the Cecils and the Cavendishes and the Russells, but they even think scorn of our mediaeval glories, and hold Seymours and Howards and Percys to be merely ennobled squires. There are, however, some three or four English families which are ranked as great even by the exacting requirements of Rome and Vienna, and eminent among these are the Talbots, the Stanleys and the Nevills. This reflection gives piquancy to Lord William Nevill's just-published book on convict life. To number "Warwick the King-maker" among his ancestors, to have one's home in the oldest enclosed deer park in England, to have been oneself the best-looking, best-dressed and most popular young man in London, and then to pass with perfect equanimity and contentment to drawing a cart on a convict farm and washing medicine bottles in a convict infirmary is, indeed, to have established a social record of unusual interest.

The English Walnut.

Possibly few trees in the Old World are more profitable than the English walnut, which thrives in England and all over the northern part of the continent of Europe. The wood is especially useful for gun-stocks and for many articles of furniture, and is found profitable from trees of ten years of age and upward. There is always good demand for the nuts, so that there are two distinct lines of profit—by the timber and by the fruit. In our country they thrive in any portion of the Eastern States, although as they progress northwardly the tips of last year's shoots are destroyed by winter. The living portions push out again, however, and generally bear as abundantly as before.

In the vicinity of Philadelphia there are numerous trees, planted by the early German settlers, which bear every year. Single or isolated trees sometimes fail to bear fruit, on account of the pollen-bearing flower maturing and scattering pollen before the nut-bearing flower is in condition to receive it; and for this reason crops are more assured when a number of trees are planted together. In this way some of the pollen-bearing catkins are conditioned so as to be in bloom before the time that the nut-bearing flowers make their appearance.

Every State in the union, with the exception of ten, now has a state botanist, New York and Connecticut having one each.

WEAK AND DISEASED KIDNEYS MEAN SUFFERING AND DEATH

KIDNEY-WORT-TABLETS

RAPIDLY ARREST KIDNEY DECAY AND RESTORE HEALTH

It is estimated and correctly too, that one person out of three has some form of kidney trouble.

Sound kidneys mean life and health. Weak kidneys mean suffering and death.

The majority of kidney disorders though they begin mildly, soon give persistent and painful warnings of dangers and perils.

When backache, drowsiness, emaciation, loss of appetite, swelling of limbs, cloudy urine, brick dust deposit and unnatural thirst are noted, use without delay Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets. They immediately arrest the ravages of kidney disease, and restore the affected organs to health.

Kidney-Wort Tablets have a sound reputation for stopping the formation of gravel, which produces stone or "calculi."

Be wise! act to-day, if you would be rid of the daily perils of kidney and urinary troubles! Give Kidney-Wort Tablets an immediate trial; they positively cure. Druggists everywhere.

READ THIS! This Company offers one of the safest and best investments, as its property is located in the famous Sumpter District, Baker Co., Oregon, and has for its neighbors such mines as the Bonanza, Red Boy, Eureka, North Pole, Columbia, Golconda and Cracker Oregon, which are producing from $50,000 to $100,000 each per month. The Company has three full claims, with two large veins, one sixteen feet and the other twenty-two feet at the surface, showing good gold values and strictly free milling.

The Company owns the property outright, being free from all debt and incumbrance and in order to equip the mine with modern machinery and to continue development work, a limited number of shares will be sold for a short time only at [illegible] cents per share, as announced above.

A

GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

125 WILL NOT REACH THE NUMBER OF REASONS WHY THE STOCK IN The Oro Rico Mining Syndicate IS A GOOD INVESTMENT.

I have offered this Stock at a very low price and it is your misfortune if you fail to take advantage of it.

THE ORO RICO MINES are located in the Providence Range of Mountains, San Bernardino County, California, consisting of 30 full claims.

THEY ARE MINES NOT PROSPECTS.

Vast ledges of ore running from $5.00 to $800.00 per ton. Five shipments of ore to El Paso Smelter gave returns from $79.80 to $233.00 per ton. This is not a five per cent. a month scheme, but it is a legitimate proposition that will give you better returns than Savings Bank or Mortgage loans. A few months ago a Mr. Woodside bought 200,000 shares in a Tonopah Company for five cents a share and recently sold the same at $8.00 a share. No business in the world is safer as an investment or more profitable than mining, and none offer a more honest dollar.

Remember that little money is ever made by purchasing Stocks which are already paying dividends. When you do this you pay DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR for everything you get. You must make your money on your JUDGEMENT and your FORESIGHT. It is the foresight that makes money, and if you follow the dictation of your foresight you will secure a block of ORO RICO STOCK, and when dividends are paid your income will be five times greater than if you waited until the Stock sold at par. The new Milling Plant is now being put in place and gold bullion will soon be turned out. After the first run you can't get the Stock at present price. It will soon be 60 per cent. higher.

The Officers and Directors of the Company have recently visited the mines and returned full of enthusiasm. The mines are turning out much richer than expected.

I can offer the Stock for a short time only at 20 cents per share. It is worth double that.

Will accept payments of 25 per cent. cash and balance, 25 per cent. per month. Wanted active agents. Address all orders to Another Manipulative Attempt — Disgusting Character of Selling

New York, June 8.—No part of modern life is more prone to wear a mask than speculative Wall street. More money is spent there to disguise and conceal large transactions than anywhere else. Large buying and selling orders are ofttimes given at the same time, upon which goodly commissions are paid in order to fog the trading element as to what is actually going on to mislead them as to the character of purchase and sales. This has been peculiarly so the latter part of this week. Telephone orders were distributed among very prominent houses to "Sell and clear" large blocks of various stocks, while at the same time innumerable smaller buying orders were scattered broadcast to buy into various issues in which the large selling orders had been placed. The inference that must naturally arises from so large a distribution of large selling orders among prominent houses representing great interests, is that it is an attempt of the professional bears to make the large sales to appear to be genuine liquidation. The object would be to create a greater effect upon speculative sentiment, thereby aiding them in their campaign, not only to dislodge stocks so they can cover more readily, but also to scare off buyers who would purchase because stocks are cheap. By leading them to believe they could buy cheaper still by waiting to scare off buying orders, simply aids them in their campaign of depression. These manipulative attempts are so palpable at moment and it is so plain what their object is that we felt it to be our duty to thus notify our clients of these conditions, explaining the reason for their existence. There is some genuine liquidation of course but far less than would appear from the news and gossip of Wall street. Such tactics indicate a lack of confidence by the bears in their market position, and plainly proclaims their belief that their days of market control are nearing an end. Those who sell now would appear to fall into a net so carefully set for them by the bear forces who want to secure their stocks.

HAIGHT & FREESE.

A Smuggling Yarn.

Recently the detective department of the United States customs at Boston received information from the other side that a man of certain description had sailed on one of the Cunarders for Boston; that he had a steamer trunk and a grip of unusual construction for luggage. The trunk was reported to be innocent and ordinary, but "keep your eye on the grip and on the man," were the special instructions.

In due season the Cunarder arrived with the man and the luggage as described. Asked to declare his belongings, he refused, falling back on the favorite excuse that he didn't know what he had that was dutiable, or the value of the things he had, and hence would not make a sworn declaration of value; the officers were at liberty to search his boxes and make their own conclusions.

The steamer trunk contained nothing dutiable; neither did the curiously constructed valise. It had a false bottom and a hollow handle, and, in addition, the brass buttons that are placed at the corners of the bottom of traveling bags to stand them on were screwed in and covered shallow holes in which jewels might easily be placed and concealed. But in these handy hiding places nothing could be found, and the officers were becoming desperate and chagrined. Finally, came the last resort in customs examination; the victim of suspicion was asked to disrobe, and on doing so under protest and profanity and evident confusion, a big porous plaster was discovered between his shoulders, and was ordered removed, when the jewels were found lodged behind the plaster. They corresponded exactly in number and description to the list sent over by the European detectives, and were confiscated. Refusal to make any declaration, however, absolved the smuggler from criminal prosecution, and he was let go.

"Got a talking-machine at home?" "Yes." "What did you pay for it?" "Nothing. Married it."—"Tit-Bits."

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

CATARRHOZONE

The Only Cure for Catarrh endorsed by the Medical Profession

Physicians boldly state that every requirement of a perfect cure for Catarrhal diseases is fulfilled in Catarrhozone, and on this account it is prescribed by almost every intelligent doctor.

It is the most powerful antiseptic known. When the lungs are filled with its germ-killing vapor the microbes which cause and maintain the unhealthy condition of the mucous membrane die immediately. Disease germs cannot exist where Catarrhozone is used.

Although very penetrating, Catarrhozone is a soothing and healing treatment. It quickly heals the raw spots and allays irritation and congestion of the mucous membrane.

When using Catarrhozone you don't have to wait all day for relief; it comes with every breath taken through the Inhaler. Head and throat are cleared and cleansed almost at once. Droppings in the throat, headache, coughing, and spitting, and all other disagreeable symptoms of catarrh are banished [illegible] few days' use of this superior remedy.

Catarrhal diseases of every description yield without much difficulty to Catarrhozone. When used for Bronchitis, Lung Trouble and Colds, it affords not only instant relief, but cures in a very short time.

Croup, Whooping Cough and Winter Ills simply won't live any time if Catarrhozone is inhaled four times daily, and as a safeguard for Pneumonia and Consumption it has no equal.

Presented with a Bible

At the union meeting of the Boys' Bible Training Classes on Sunday morning at the Y.M.C.A. the members and leaders gave a farewell to Mr. Sanford R. Hall, who left yesterday for Montreal to accept a similar, but more lucrative position with the bank of Toronto in that city. He was presented with an address, expressing the good wishes of the classes for the future, accompanied by a Bible. Mr. Hall feelingly replied.

PETERBOROUGH FALL FAIR

Splendid List of Cash Prizes to be Offered by the Society

At a meeting of the Peterborough Industrial Fair Association, President Hughes-Charles reported that he had placed cash prizes as follows: Horses, $650, cattle $512, and sheep, $270 and swine $200, amounting in all to $2500. The balance will, it is understood, be divided between the other classes. Mr. E. M. Elliott was appointed superintendent.

A FALSE RUMOR

There is no Truth in the Rumor of Change in Postmastership

A rumor was persistently circulated last week to the effect that Col. Rogers, postmaster, was to be superannuated, and would be succeeded by Mr. J. H. McClellan. The Times, on the authority of Mr. Arthur McClellan, contradicted the rumor. Yesterday Mr. J. H. McClellan happened to be home, and when asked by The Times concerning the report, said that it was wholly untrue. He did not think the postmaster had any intention of retiring, and he knew the government had no notion of asking him to do so.

THE LATE MRS. JOSEPH HILL

Demise of an Orillia Lady, Sister of Mr. J. E. Haggart, Town

The many friends in Peterborough will regret to learn of the death in Orillia, of Mrs. Joseph Hill, sister of Mr. J. E. Haggart, of town. The Orillia Times, of June 4th, contains the following obituary:—

Mrs. Joseph Hill, Nottawasaga st., died suddenly on Wednesday morning from paralysis of the heart. Mrs. Hill was quite well the day before, but was taken ill about midnight. Two doctors were summoned, but they were unable to save her life. Her death was a severe shock to her many friends, and to Mr. Hill, who was in Toronto. Mrs. Hill leaves a family of young children, two boys and four girls. Her maiden name was Eliza Mary Haggart, of Peterborough. She also leaves two brothers, James Haggart, of Peterborough, and J. S. Haggart, druggist, of Owasso, Mich. The many friends of Mr. Hill will sympathize with him in his deep loss. Mrs. Hill was devoted to her family and beloved by all who knew her. The funeral takes place on Friday at 2.30 o'clock.

STOLEN HORSE

Thieves Followed and the Animal Found in Douro

High County Constable Cochrane is to be congratulated for the energetic way in which he pursued the horse thieves, who are operating in this and adjacent counties.

As reported in The Times, the animal was taken from Mr. Lang's stable at Springville on Friday night and was kept well under cover all day Saturday and on Sunday it was found that the animal, which had never before been driven single, had been hitched to a phaeton which was also stolen from Mr. Young near Bridgenorth.

The thieves made their way across the country through Lakefield, where the mare made her escape from her captors, and made her way to the premises of Mr. Edward Abbott, who lives about two miles east of the village, where she was well taken care of and word sent to Mr. Cochrane, who immediately communicated with both Mr. Lang and Mr. Young, each being well pleased at receiving their property in almost as good condition as [illegible]

PROVINCIAL FORESTERS TODAY

High Court will Convene in Peterborough This Morning

The Provincial High Court of Catholic Order of Foresters will meet here this morning. For some time St. Peter's local court has been making elaborate preparations for their reception. It is expected 125 delegates will be in attendance.

The sermon on this occasion will be preached by Rev Father Collins, of Bracebridge, who was at one time chaplain of the local court.

In the evening a grand banquet will be tendered the delegates in the T.A.S. rooms and this promises to be of an elaborate nature. It is understood that Hon. F. R. Latchford, Minister of Public Works, and Senator McHugh, of Lindsay, as well as other prominent men will be present on this occasion.

During the two days' session the delegates will be taken in hand by Court St. Peter and entertained in a manner that will make their visit to Peterborough a thoroughly enjoyable one in every respect.

DOMINION DAY AT HOME

Arrangements Being Perfected for a Big Celebration in Town—The Queen's Own Band Coming.

The adjourned meeting of citizens to consider the ways and means of holding a demonstration in town on the first of July, was held in the Council Chamber last night. There were present Mayor G. M. Roger, and Messrs. R. E. Wood, F. A. Lount, Peter Campbell, R. Fair, A. Rountree, J. M. Brooks, MacFarlane Wilson, R. E. Layfield, A. Moore, J. O'Shea, R. M. Hamilton, J. Conroy and R. Munro.

Mr. R. E. Layfield, secretary of the Committee, appointed at the first meeting to negotiate for a band, and other attractions, reported that the Queen's Own Band, of Toronto, are willing to come down, 26 strong, arriving on the C.P.R. at midnight before the first, and leaving for home via the early morning train on July the second. They will give a Cook's parade in the morning of Dominion Day, play at the Driving Park in the afternoon, and give one of their celebrated concerts at the Hockey Rink in the evening. The Turf Club will arrange a good programme of sports on the grounds in the afternoon, consisting of horse and foot racing, jumping, tug of war, etc., and possibly a lacrosse or baseball match. Admission to the grounds will be only 25c., and an effort will be made to secure conveyance to the park and back for 5c. each way.

Mr. R. Fair said that as far as he could learn the proposed demonstration had the hearty approval of the merchants generally, who agreed that either the 24th of May or Dominion Day should be fittingly celebrated in Peterborough as in past years. A good program of attractions on such occasions not only kept people at home but attracted visitors from outside localities.

The following Committees were named:

General—Mr. R. E. Wood, chairman; and Messrs. A. H. Stratton, Alex Gibson, F. A. Lount, Alex. Elliott, T. E. Bradburn, A. Moore, J. E. Haggart, H. R. H. Kenner, F. Matthews, J. M. Brooks, A. Rountree, R. M. Hamilton, R. Fair and A. Hollingshead. R. E. Layfield, Secretary; Peter Campbell, Treasurer.

Afternoon Sports—Mr J. M. Brooks Chairman; and Messrs. R. Munro, Alex Elliott and A. Rountree.

Cook's Parade — Mr. A. Moore, chairman; and Messrs. T. Rutherford, A. H. Stratton, Alex. Gibson, and J. E. Haggart.

Concert—Mr. R. E. Wood. Chairman; and Messrs. F. A. Lount, Alex. Elliott, F. Matthews, R. M. Hamilton, H. R. H. Kenner and A. Hollingshead.

Printing—Mr. R. Fair. Chairman; and Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, J. M. Brooks and Alex. Elliott.

Every detail in connection with this coming event will be at once entered into without delay, and, judging from the enthusiasm manifested at last night's meeting, and the splendid committees of energetic citizens named, the coming Dominion Day celebration in town will be well worth staying at home to participate in.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

TEARFUL OR CHEERFUL?

Whether a woman is tearful or cheerful depends not on what she has materially, but what she is physically. Many an indulgent husband is driven almost to despair by the tearful outburst of a wife who has "everything she wants." He wants to know what's the matter. But the wife can't tell. She only knows that she is depressed and despondent. Such a condition is usually related to some form of womanly disease. The mental depression has its corresponding womanly weakness.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription changes tearful women to cheerful women by curing the diseases which cause physical weakness and depression of spirits. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

Mrs. Alice Adams, of Laboratory, Washington Co., Pa., says: "With many thanks I write to let you know how I am. I can say by God's help and your help I am well. I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and two of his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I can do all my work. I can't praise your medicine too highly. I will recommend your medicines as long as I live. If any one doubts this give them my address."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Keep the bowels healthy by the timely use of Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

PANIC PREVAILS IN RUSSIAN POLAND TOWNS, JEWS ARE PANIC STICKEN

More Anti-Jewish Disturbances, at Berestechko, a Town in Russian Poland

Peasants Threaten to Deal with the Jewish Population

After the Manner of the Rioters at Kishineff

Vienna, June 8.—A Lemberg paper, The Slovo Polskie, received from the Russian frontier, contains news of fresh anti-Jewish disturbances at Berestechko, a town in Russian Poland, where during the annual fair several thousand peasants came in from the surrounding country. They have threatened to deal with the Jewish population after the manner of the rioters at Kishineff. The Jews are panic-stricken. All the shops were shut on Sunday and Monday, and the Jews barred themselves in their homes. Several hundred Jews have fled to the Galician frontier town of Usyn. Telegraphic appeals for protection have been sent to the Russian Government. Further details are lacking.

Sir Horace Rumbold's Idea.

London, June 9.—The Times to-day publishes a letter from Sir Horace Rumbold in regard to the Kishineff outrages, suggesting that the best method of preventing a recurrence of the scenes of horror would be to move the kindly and high-minded ruler of Russia and the venerable and benignant Pontiff to interfere personally in the question of the ritual murder fables by making publicly and officially known their reprobation of this detestable fiction, whereby the ignorant masses are incited to acts of senseless and devilish atrocity.

CATHOLIC ORDER FORESTERS

THE PROVINCIAL COURT NOW IN SESSION

The Brethren Attended Divine Service Yesterday Morning—The Banquet at Night

There are nearly 100 representatives at the sixth session of the Ontario Provincial Court of Catholic Order of Foresters, which opened in Peterborough yesterday. This order, though young in years, has grown to be strong and powerful. The membership, in May, 1895, was 2,556 and at the present time that figure has increased to 7,865, with good prospects for future growth. Not only is the membership increasing at a satisfactory rate but the financial condition of the Order is such as to merit congratulation upon the wise management to which is due the present standing of the society in this important respect.

The Provincial Officers in attendance are:

P. C. Ranger, Mr. C. S. Boudreault, Ottawa.

P. Treasurer—Mr. V. Webb, Ottawa

P. Treasurer, Mr. W. G. Sequion, Ottawa.

Prov. Trustees, Messrs. O. G. Rocque, Orleans; J. Mallory, Toronto; J. McCormack, Cornwall; D. Staley, Kingston, and Rev. Father Tenney, Acton.

Yesterday morning the entire body comprising the Provincial court attended service at St. Peter's Cathedral.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

The delegates to the convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters, attended Pontificial High Mass at nine o'clock yesterday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral. The celebrant on this memorable occasion was His Grace, the Archbishop of Ottawa, who, in turn was assisted by Father Teeney and sub-deacon Rev. Father John O'Brien of Peterborough. The master of ceremonies was Rev. Father Dr. O'Brien of Peterborough. Bishop O'Connor, who was present in the sanctuary, was assisted by Rev. Fathers McColl, McCloskey and Collins. The latter preached an eloquent and impressive sermon on Fraternal Charity.

At the end of the celebration of the mass Bishop O'Connor spoke a few words of welcome and congratulation to the visiting delegates.

After returning from St. Peter's the delegates were called to order in the Foresters' Hall and received an address of welcome from His Worship Mayor Roger, who characterized Peterborough as the prettiest town in Canada and hoped the session of the Court would be pleasant and of profit to the order. An address was also read by a member of St. Peter's Court.

Yesterday afternoon the delegates were shown the many beauty spots in and around Peterborough, and convened again at 4 o'clock when the regular committees were appointed and general business proceeded with.

About 150 men, it is reported, are imprisoned in a section of the levee that is slowly crumbling, and all means of escape have been cut off.

Word has been sent to the St. Louis side to rush a yacht to the rescue but it may not get through.

THE MIGHTY DOLLAR

NOT one person in a hundred has any idea of the weight a hundred dollar bill will support without breaking. Of the thousands of bank presidents, cashiers and others, few could tell you how many pounds paper money will hold before it tears apart. A hundred dollar bill, when new, measures 3¼ inches wide by 7¼ inches long and will sustain 47 pounds lengthwise and 91 pounds crosswise. Notes are printed four to a sheet, a sheet will suspend 108 pounds lengthwise and 177 pounds crosswise.—Popular Mechanics.

VIGOROUS REPLY BY MR. CHAMBERLAIN

The Colonial Secretary Deals with Trades Union Leaders

WORKMEN DO NOT FOLLOW

How Preference Will Aid Employes—Higher Wages and More Open Markets

London, June 10.—A workman belonging to a trades union recently wrote to Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, quoting criticisms of his preferential tariff and old age pension proposals by trades unions and leaders and others.

Mr. Chamberlain replied: "I do not attach excessive importance to the opinion of trades union leaders, because they are almost without exception strong and radical partizans. Their opinions are not necessarily shared by working people generally, nor even by trades unionists who appoint their officers independently of political considerations. For instance, I may mention that in Birmingham, the members of the Trades Council [illegible] politically, notwithstanding which my majority at the last election in a purely working class district, was 4,500. I feel confident that in the matter of preferential tariffs and commercial fair play, the workingmen will think for themselves and will not be dictated to by even the most trusted trades unionist leaders.

DUTY ON CORN.

It will be impossible to secure preferential treatment to the colonies without some duty on corn as well as on the other articles of food, because these are the chief articles of colonial produce. Whether this will raise the cost of living is a matter of opinion. There is no doubt that in many cases a duty of this kind is paid by the exporter and it really depends on the extent of the competition among exporting countries. For instance, I think it is established that the shilling duty recently imposed was met by a reduction in price and freights in the United States and the tax did not, therefore, fall in any way on the customer here. But even if the price of food is raised, the rate of wages will be certainly raised in greater proportion. This has been the case both in the United States and Germany. In the former country the available balance left to the workingman after he has paid for the necessaries is much larger than it is here. These facts we have to bring to the notice of the workingmen generally.

THE TARIFF A WEAPON.

Another side of the question requires discussion. At present we go into negotiations with foreign countries empty-handed. We have nothing to give and have to take what they are good enough to leave for us. If we were able to bargain on equal terms I believe the duties now imposed on our products would be generally reduced. There would be competition among foreign nations for our markets, which would bring us nearer to real free trade than we have ever been.

MONEY FOR PENSIONS.

As regards old-age pensions, I would not look at that matter unless I felt able to promise that a large scheme for the provision of such pensions to all who have been thrifty and well conducted would be assured by a revision of our system of import duties. The corn and other food already supplied from the British possessions are very important and are capable of a rapid increase. The returns show that this has taken place in the past even without a preference, while our exports of finished goods to foreign countries have gradually given place to exports of raw materials, which are returned to us with the advantage to the foreigner of increased employment of labor and of trade profits on the business thus secured.

Mr. Chamberlain concludes by asking his correspondent to especially note the following: You are told by the opponents of all change that such a reform as I contemplate would involve the country in ruin, being starvation into the homes of the working people, and destroy our export trade. If these predictions have any foundation how are we to account for the fact that the increase in exports and wages and general prosperity during the last twenty years in the United States and Germany have been greater than in the United Kingdom, which is the only civilized country in the world to enjoy the blessings of unrestricted free imports.

A CRITICISM.

The Conservative Standard complains that the Colonial Secretary's letter in reply to a workingman fails to enlighten or assist the country in deciding a difficult point.

CONFLICT IS NEAR RUSSIA AND JAPAN

Russian Troops Being Pushed with Feverish Haste

JAPAN IS READY FOR WAR

Her Army Mobolized and Her Navy being Greatly Strengthened

London, June 10.—Latest advices from Pekin says that the situation in Manchuria is rapidly becoming acute. Thousands of Russian troops are being hurried forward into China. Japan has her entire army on a war footing, transports are being prepared to move the army, and everything portends war.

On the general situation in Manchuria, the North China Daily News says:

Reliable news has been received by local mandarins of the great increase of Russian soldiers in Manchuria.

Port Arthur is one succession of large corps, bristling with field artillery and armed men.

Russians state, in answer to Chinese questions, that they expect war Japan, whose troops would most likely try to enter Manchuria through the western coast of Liaotung.

Russian officers, friendly with Chinese, have earnestly advised them to return with their families to China, and not come back until after the war, on the ground that the whole of Liaotung and southern Manchuria will soon be a great battlefield.

L. Clementi, the agent investigating the Kwang Si famine, has reported that 150,000 persons are utterly destitute.

He says he witnessed a public sale at Kwai Shun, where people were sold for food, even sons, daughters and wives.

It is estimated that 10,000 children have been sold.

CATHEDRAL WEDDING

The Ceremony Performed by the Rev. Father Crowly, of North Bay

Yesterday morning at 8 o'clock a wedding of great interest was celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral, when Mr. Wm. Lynch was united in marriage to Miss Margaret Crowley, of 199 Perry Street.

The ceremony was performed by The Rev. Father Crowley, of North Bay, who is a brother of the bride, and was assisted by her cousin, Rev. Father John O'Brien.

The bride, who is well known for her charming and graceful manner, was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents.

A sumptuous wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony, at which the Rev. Fathers J. O'Brien, Dr. O'Brien and Crowley were present.

The Times joins the friends in wishing the young couple every success their hearts could desire in their new home on Downey street.

A PRETTY WEDDING

Mr. J. Lorne McFarlane of Deseronto Weds Miss Clemie Mackie

Yesterday morning at 11.30, the home of Mr. Jas. Mackie, 314 London street, was the scene of a very interesting event when his daughter, Miss Clemie Mackie was united in marriage to Mr. Jas. Lorne MacFarlane of Deseronto, by Rev. J. G. Potter, B.A., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The bride was suitably attired in white and carried a lovely bouquet of daisies, the gift of her uncle in Brockville. After the ceremony the guests partook of a dainty wedding dejeuner.

Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane left for their future home in Deseronto at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They were accompanied by Miss Jessie Mackie, sister of the bride. The many friends of the happy young couple in Deseronto were to give them a reception, which was to take place last evening.

Mormons Must Leave Russia

Berlin, June 10.—Hugh J. Cannon, superintendent of the Mormon missions in Germany, his wife, his secretary and his assistant secretary, were ordered by the police to leave Prussian territory within three weeks. Similar orders are about to be served by the local authorities on 86 other missionaries in Prussia, under the decision of the government, as recently cabled, to expel them all.

TO-DAY'S GREAT DEBATE, CHAMBERLAIN'S PROPOSALS THE SUBJECT

LONDON, June 8—The interest in the proceedings of Parliament tonight was entirely secondary to that shown in the lobby discussion regarding the prospects of the financial debate, which takes place to-morrow. The application for the postal service was passed with only a small attendance in the House, attention centering on Mr. Chaplain's amendment to the finance bill, opposing the remission of the tax on wheat, which will be discussed tomorrow. The debate is expected to last two days. Much uncertainty still prevails as to whether the Government will permit any extended discussion on the Government's general financial programme, but it is thought likely the debate will be closely limited to the wheat tax. It is understood that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach intends to speak tomorrow, probably following Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman. Rumor was busy in the lobbies, as usual, on the eve of an important crisis, though there was little tangible as to the attitude of the numerous silent members of the Cabinet towards the Colonial Secretary's proposals. Mr. Chamberlain has certainly succeeded in rousing a strong opposition among the ranks of the workingmen. W. J Davis a prominent trades unionist leader, speaking at Birmingham to-night, offered to contest the district on the labor platform.

It is significant, at the moment of a probable crisis, that Capt. Wells, of the Metropolitan Fire Brigade, has been appointed head agent of the Conservative party in succession to R. W. E. Middleton.

Capt. Wells has shown great talent for organization in the navy and fire brigade. A Cabinet Council was called this afternoon to consider the situation. There is no doubt that the situation is extremely tense and all kinds of rumors are afloat, one which many are inclined to credit, that Mr. Chamberlain contemplates immediate resignation. It is said that he has no love for the Irish land bill and would willingly precipitate a crisis before the Liberals have time to organize their election platform and free trade propaganda. Further, his health is not the best; he needs rest and is said to be averse to allowing the Liberals to form a Government

HOMES THREATENED

Thawing of Mountain Snows in British Columbia Excites Alarm

Vancouver, June 8—In all parts of Southern British Columbia sudden warm weather has brought with it rapid thawing of the mountain snows and such rising of the waters that in many sections the inhabitants are practically under marching orders day and night, their homes either already inundated or being worked up to foot by foot by a silent, sluggish, dirty aquatic invader.

Along the Fraser the contribution is chiefly from the tributary Thompson as yet, and at Quesnel a rise of five feet within 48 hours is recorded. On other points on the big river an exceptionally rapid rise is reported, and the dykes are being examined with care. All through the Kootenay bridges have gone out, and settlements upon flat lands are washed out. On the Spokane Falls and Northern line into British Columbia from the south traffic is suspended by washouts, and telegraphic and telephone communication in that locality is also ended temporarily. Throughout the Slocan floods are general.

FRENCH BOMBARD FIGUIG

Captured Two Strategic Hills and Prepared to Enter the Town

Beni-Ounif, Algeria, June 8.—The French artillery opened a preliminary fire at 5.30 this morning on the rebellious Figuig tribesmen.

The actual bombardment began at 7.30 and lasted until 9.30 a.m., when the French troops occupied two surprise. It is believed the natives loss was heavy, but no definite details of the casualties will be obtainable until the French enter Figuig. There was no loss on the French side.

General O'Connor, the French commander, was instructed to give the women and children of Figuig an opportunity to leave the town before the bombardment. A friendly Arab courier bearing a notification to this effect to the women and children, was killed while carrying the message.

HIS VIEW OF THE SITUATION

Dr. Chamberlain Says Respect for Civil Law Can Alone Save Nation from Civil War

Chicago, June 10.—"Respect for civil law and obligation alone can save this country from a civil war in the next generation," Dr. D. T. Chamberlain, former president of the University of Wisconsin, and now a professor in the University of Chicago, thus summed up the labor situation as seen in Chicago and throughout the country.

"Things are transpiring to-day in Chicago," he said, "which are causing citizens great concern. I refer to the labor question and to the right of a man to labor where and when he pleases, and the right of a man to manage his business as he pleases."

TRYING TO FOUL THEIR OWN NEST, UNIONISTS TRY TO STOP SETTLERS

Mr. Preston Replies, Has Had Requests from Canada for 20,000 Men

Our Route to the East—Imperial Subsidy will be Dropped

London, June 9.—The Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council's letter, advising people to stay away from Canada, is again appearing in the country press. Mr. W. T. R. Preston, the Canadian Commissioner of Emigration, is consequently issuing a letter to every paper in the three Kingdoms. He says that the Canadian Government is more immediately interested in the emigration of agricultural workers; but he, himself, has received applications for assistants from Canadian employers of labor to the number of 20,000. Moreover, Canadian newspapers declare that but for the lack of building operations on an unprecedently large scale would be undertaken everywhere in Canada. A large Toronto employer writes that Toronto alone could absorb 25,000 men. Mr. Preston suggests that the Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council has some sinister motive in view, rather than an honest warning.

London, June 9.—Last night's debate in the House of Commons on the mail subsidy to the Canadian Pacific Empress steamers showed that the British Government has been continually pressing the Canadian Government to complete the through fast service to the far East by an effective Atlantic line.

China Fears France

Victoria, B. C., June 10.—The crisis in China is becoming more acute, according to news received by the Empress of China for not only is the situation grave in the north, but also in the south, for with the incursion of 2,000 French troops across the Kwang Si borders, Pekin has become greatly alarmed.

On the arrival of the French force at Chinan, Governor Wang Chich Chung of Kwang Si asked the French Consul to demand their withdrawal, but he replied that he had no authority over the forces.

It is believed at Pekin that the action of the French in the south is taken for the purpose of creating a division in favor of Russia.

To Aid Chamberlain

London, June 10. — A society calling itself the Imperial Tariff League, has been formed to further Mr. Chamberlain's tariff proposals. A number of commercial manufacturers and members of Parliament are identified with it. Its manifesto says: "What is now called free trade is a delusion and a sham. Our free trade policy is the main obstacle to a commercial union within the Empire, which is so much desired by the colonies as well as by ourselves. It is obvious that the imposition of customs duties by this country against foreigners is necessarily the initial step towards the attainment of this end. We have placed ourselves in a position of dependence upon foreign nations to such an extent that we are no longer master in our own house."

UNITED SOUTH AMERICA AGAINST ALL EUROPE

Southern Republics Have Inaugurated a Doctrine Entirely of Their Own

OBJECT TO BEING FORCED TO PAY THEIR DEBTS

And at the Same Time Do Not Take to the Monroe Doctrine—Germany and Brazil

Washington, June 10.—The story of an alliance of the stronger and more civilized South American Republics south of the equator for their common protection against European intervention is confirmed. It is the natural result of the position in which the better organized and more solvent states are placed by the policy adopted by Europe against all South America. The specific purposes of the alliance are not declared; but they are entirely clear from preceding events in South American politics.

These states are taking ground on the so-called Calvo doctrine, that the ordinary debts of American Governments to European subjects may not be collected by blockading ports and making war upon nations, unless they have been approved by national courts. They do not resent just enforcement of the claims of European Governments themselves, in which national dignity and honor are involved. They object only to the use of warships to enforce trumped up claims of financial adventurers that have no standing in their own courts.

The fact that Germany is colonizing Brazil, with undoubtedly the ultimate object of seizing the country, is given as one reason why the countries of the southern hemisphere should ally themselves together.

Minneapolis, June 9.—The Tribune says, regarding the new condition of affairs which has arisen out of the Calvo doctrine:

We have often deplored that the administration of President Roosevelt did not feel itself strong enough to support this just contention of independent nations, when the foreign minister of Argentine brought it to Secretary Hay's notice after the Venezuelan intervention. We think that the United States should have taken the lead in assertion of this principle instead of leaving the South American republics to assert it alone.

We have always observed this principle in our own relations with South America, and always asserted it in our diplomacy before Venezuela. In that case, the crafty policy of the German Emperor mingled the private debts of his speculating subjects with the just claims of Great Britain for national outrage so ingeniously that we could hardly discriminate. But the opportunity was given us when Argentine made her appeal and deplorably neglected. Let us hope that, if the nations about to make an alliance should give us a new opportunity, it will be improved.

President Roosevelt has often hinted in his public speeches that we could assert the Monroe doctrine with more vigor if we had a more powerful navy. This is undoubtedly true; but we do not remember that President Cleveland counted the ships and guns in our navy before the memorable defiance to Great Britain in the other Venezuela case. He counted on the moral force of a country with which no European power could go to war without bread riots and revolution. The event proved that he did not count in vain. His example may be commended to President Roosevelt, who has talked more about the Monroe doctrine and permitted more insidious invasion of it than any American president.

A Clerical Strike

Every spring and sometimes at other times in the year strikes are common. A rather peculiar strike is that of the preachers in these counties, says the Port Hope Guide. In Cobourg the Rev. J. T. Marshall, of the Baptist Church; Rev. H. A. Morton, of the Congregational Church and Rev. Dr. Saunders, of the Methodist Church have resigned. Rev. T. Watson, of the Baptist Church, Colborne, has also given notice. Rev. R. F. Hunter, of Baltimore and Cold Springs Presbyterian Churches, is getting ready to go; Rev. Mr. McCormack of the Cold Springs Congregational church is about to give notice to quit. Rev. Mr. Dayfoot, of the Baptist, and Rev. Mr. Sinclair, of the Presbyterian, of Port Hope, have also resigned. The church surely cannot be as solid as the everlasting hills, if the corner stones are continually shifting out of position as shown here.

—The water in the river is very low for this season of the year.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 9, 1903.

MODERN

It is Chicago's proud claim that she is the most up-to-date city, and she is certainly modern. How modern she is is indicated by the story that comes from there that one of her citizens who happened to be shot at also happened to have a roll of bills in his pocket which happened to stop the bullet and save his life.

This is truly in accordance with the new times. Formerly bullets were arrested by bibles carried where they ought to be. Now money does the business in progressive Chicago. Perhaps bibles are still carried in conservative cities like New Haven and Boston, which have not yet been given entirely over to the worship of the new money god, but it is not surprising to read that money instead of a bible saved a man's life in Chicago.

Some who know the speculative tendencies of Chicago's men might doubtfully ask how it happened that in these days a Chicago man had a roll of bills. Perhaps he had not been quite cleaned out. He might have been on his way to his broker's office to respond to the call for more margin. Possibly he had been a "bear" and was on his way home with the proceeds. In some of the conservative cities it would be hard to find a man with a roll of bills large enough to stop a bullet, but there are probably some "bears" in widewake Chicago, and this man may have been one. Anyhow, he is alive and has money to burn with a hot bullet.

ENGLAND'S ARMY

England's drum beat is still heard around the world, and her soldiers are many. Her regular army on January 1, 1903, was 324,653, consisting of 1,400 "Household Cavalry," 20,297 Cavalry of the Line, 1,610 Imperial Yeomanry, 34,050 Royal Horse and Field Artillery, 18,767 Royal Engineers, 9,036 Foot Guards, 176,580 Infantry of the Line, 15,508 Colonial Corps and Indian Infantry, 3,443 Army Service Corps, 6,050 Army Medical Corps, 2,636 Army Ordnance Corps, 854 Army Pay Corps and 282 Army Postoffice Corps. At the date mentioned 153,438 were in England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and the Channel Islands, 95,475 in Egypt, China, Crete and the Colonies, including South Africa, and 75,740 in India. It is interesting to notice that most of these professional killers are also professors of religion. Of the non-commissioned officers and men 195,000 were of the Church of England, 22,000 were Presbyterians, 14,284 were Wesleyans, 2,953 were "other Protestants," 46,808 were Roman Catholics, 159 were Jews, 2,469 were Mohammedans, Hindus, etc., and 20,000 were unreported as to religion. As respects race, there were 212,873 English non-commissioned officers, and men, 26,308 Scotch, 26,717 Irish, 3,190 born in India or the Colonies, 636 foreigners and 26,887 not specified.

HOPES DASHED TO EARTH

Indications of Rain Followed by Clearing Weather and Hot Sun

Montreal, June 9—Indications last night and this morning were for heavy rains, so badly needed by crops and to put out the bush fires. Hopes have been dashed again, however, for after a few trifling showers the sun is again blazing away and clouds have been dispelled.

In some country places the rain was heavier than in the city, but not in sufficient quantities to do much good. Since April 7 there has been not more than one-quarter of an inch of rain, a record unequalled in 30 years.

Cold in the Head

What's the sense in sneezing and Sniffling, dosing with purgatives or bothering with atomizers?

Catarrhozone

A convenient inhaler treatment is the proper remedy to cure quickly and pleasantly

Sensible people long ago abandoned the idea of "working off" a cold by means of laxatives and purgatives for the simple reason that the cure is as bad as the disease itself.

To cure a cold in about ten minutes' time use Catarrhozone. It is aromatic delightful to inhale, clean and very simple to use.

Catarrhozone is a vegetable antiseptic, and perfectly safe and harmless. Even children and infants can use it. The vapor is inhaled at the mouth, and after passing through the respiratory organs is exhaled slowly through the nostrils.

Catarrhozone never disappoints. It stops sneezing, coughing and running at the eyes, by a few inhalations. Inflammation, congestion and all irritation disappear under the influence of Catarrhozone more quickly than can be told.

C. B. College, of Clarence Street, London, says: "I had a continuous cold in the head for years, and never used anything with such quick results as I derived from five minutes' use of Catarrhozone. I am delighted to find a remedy that cures colds in a few minutes. Catarrhozone cures every time."

To carry a Catarrhozone Inhaler in the pocket means you won't have colds, catarrh or any lung trouble. It keeps these diseases away and is warranted to protect you against all the ills of winter. Complete outfit, with Hard Rubber Pocket Inhaler costs $1.00. Small size, 25 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

AN INVESTMENT

Opportunity Extraordinary — A Great Chance for Great Profits

The present seems full of promise to every industrial enterprise. The country is prosperous, everybody is employed, factories are working night and day, and even then are behind in their orders. Everybody, from the ditch-digger to the capitalist, feels the breeze that is swelling the sails of prosperity. The United States is at peace with the world, and all things seem to conspire toward the most successful period in the history of the cycle of centuries. This applies particularly to the industrial interests of the land, and all those who have been hoarding their money against the time when conditions were again promising are now seeking opportunities for the investment of accumulated capital.

This leads us to the assertion that even the most cautious of men may find much more productive avenues for their capital than the time honored and well-beaten paths. A percentage of 50, 75 or 100 per cent. profit on a few hundred, a thousand or several thousand dollars, with possibilities of even larger profits is, of course, very exceptional, but in certain enterprises it can certainly be earned by the money invested. And we are not alluding to any purely speculative propositions, but to strictly legitimate enterprises, whose future prosperous development does not depend upon conditions. Such is the West Virginia Carbon, Oil and Gas Company. Home office: Lima, Ohio, has a capital of one hundred thousand. It owns and has leased three hundred and fifty acres of valuable gas property in Wirt County, West Virginia; which is located too far from a market for domestic use, and are now preparing to build a factory to turn this gas into lamp black; these large factories are comparatively cheap, containing several thousand feet of pipe, there is no machinery to get out of order, and two men will operate one factory of 10,000 pounds or more capacity a month. Lamp black has a great demand and a steady market from 6 to 15 cents per pound according to quality; this is no speculation, but a safe investment. It is not often that an opportunity to secure an interest in a valuable industrial enterprise is offered, especially on terms which practically insures dividends on investment. Although these shares can now be secured on exceedingly liberal terms, they should be extremely valuable in a few years, and yield a steady, permanent income for life. Stock in similar enterprises, which could be had at par a few years ago, is now worth over $100 per share, and many cannot be purchased at any price. An investigation will convince any one that money invested in this enterprise is certainly safe, and will prove to be a steady dividend-payer.

The stock now offered to be sold entirely for the benefit of the company's property and judiciously used by them solely for the purpose of equipping and installing its plant. The company will therefore gladly furnish every facility for investigation by any responsible investor, fully believing that the company will become a dividend-payer within a short time. Such being the case, a prospective fortune is in store for all the stockholders who may be fortunate enough to hold a block of shares in this company. A small investment in the West Virginia Carbon, Oil and Gas Company is certainly your opportunity, because it possesses all the features constituting a claim upon public patronage and confidence; especially is this true as regards the prospective value of the stock when the improvements now in progress reach the working stage, which will be during the present year. In this respect all the facilities are afforded and shares in this company stand equal, if not superior, to any industrial enterprise now operating in this country, so stockholders will enjoy privileges and opportunities which cannot fail to redound to their own personal advantage, while aiding in the up-building of a laudable undertaking.

Mr. R. J. Kidd, Peterborough, has been appointed Canadian fiscal agent, and will be pleased to furnish information to those who are looking for a safe, sure and profitable investment.

THEY PROCLAIM THE MERITS

To the World of Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills.

To the Editor of The Times—

Sir,—That the world may know of the merits of Dr. Clarke's wonderful Little Red Pills, I ask the newspapers to publish the following: I was, for years, a martyr to stomach trouble, and had no hope whatever of being cured; but on seeing a testimonial from a friend in Ontario, in one of the Toronto papers, I resolved to write to her and found that she had actually been cured of the same trouble by Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I at once bought three boxes and took them according to directions, and they almost cured me. I purchased three more boxes, and am thankful to say that I am entirely cured. I have no splitting headaches now, no burning pain in my stomach; in fact, have a new lease of life.

MRS. JAMES HUNTER,
Miami, Man.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even when the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough. Price 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Catarrh and Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Eczema, same price. $500 will be paid for any case that it will not permanently cure.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

said Keith. "I'm Keith Adams, and I've come to tell you you needn't be frightened, for nobody isn't going to hurt you."

"It was me that shot Evans dead," said Tommy. "I shot him and he fell just here, and they fetched him away. This is his blood on the potato sack. I'm a murderer and I doubt I shall go to hell like all murderers; but he'd have done for me if I hadn't shot. It was Mr. Foster told me to shoot if anyone tried to hurt me."

"Yes, that's all right," Keith assured him. "You did right in shooting Evans. You shall tell me all about it another time. Come up and have your breakfast now. A cup of hot coffee'll do you a lot of good. Don't you be afraid of me. I'm Mr. Adams, I am, look at me, and a great friend of the mate's, Mr. Foster's."

"Ah, Mr. Foster!" said the lad, trying to think, "what was it I was to tell you from him, case he was killed? We've all been killed down here, six times over. Stop! There was a message. It was so important I had to say it over six times, fear of forgettin' it, and now I have forgotten it."

"Never mind it, sonny, you have a cup of hot stuff and go to bed, and ——"

"Ah! bed, that was it. Under somebody's bed, under Jake Foster's bed, that was it, wasn't it? It was a secret, and no one wasn't to know it but you. Under Jake Foster's bed, that was it."

"What's the poor chap talkin' about?" said Keith. "He's got some message, I doubt, and he's forgotten it."

"No, I ain't," said Tommy. "That's it, right enough. Under Jake Foster's bed, that's the message, and I'm going to h—l for killing a fellow-man. Six times I've got to say it. Under Jake Foster's bed—under Jake——"

"Take the poor little bloke away," said Keith, "and put him to bed. He'll be better after a sleep."

Dickenson led the lad away and shoved him through the trap-door. Tommy was still repeating, over and over again, "Under Jake Foster's bed"

CHAPTER XXV.

The End of the War.

When the red light was run up aboard the "Penelope" the land-party knew that all had gone rightly with the maritime forces and that their time had come to distinguish themselves.

There were ten men left on shore to attack the village. These were under the command of the carpenter, a huge hulky being, by name Dave Anson. The orders were to avoid killing. "Surprise 'em, and make 'em hands up," Keith had said; "that's our game. There's been too much blood-lettin' already."

Dave Anson was a keen general and led his men as though he had been used to such matters all his life. During the day he had been his own intelligence department and scout. He had spent the greater part of it in creeping around the huts of the so-called village, taking advantage of every available inch of cover, in order to obtain a thorough knowledge of the place before forming his plans for the attack. Half of the surviving members of the "Hecuba's" crew were on board the "Penelope," for the boats had been busy the greater part of the day passing backwards and forwards with picnic parties from the village; and a large number had remained on board for the night, desiring to take part in the fiddling and dancing festivities in honor of the capture of the [illegible] festivities which had been so rudely interrupted by Keith and his men.

So well and thoroughly had Dave done his scouting that he could almost say with certainty which huts were empty this night, which contained two men, which three, and so forth. There were some twelve men ashore, in all.

"They'll have posted a sentry or two on the land side—they've had 'em out all day," said Dave. "One fired at me when I came away. We've got to slink along the sea-shore and pop into the village from the beach side. There's no one posted there, and there's an empty hut we can take possession of right away without anyone bein' the wiser. Once we've got that we'll get the rest by degrees."

"Ain't there goin' to be no fightin'?" asked a "Penelope" lad, disappointed. "We don't want a bloomin' walk-over."

"That's where you spoil yourself, sonny. A walk-over's just what we do want, if we can get it. The mate's orders is, 'No more killin'.'"

"It'd do 'em good to kill the whole blamed lot!" muttered the youth. "It was they began it!"

"Now, there ain't to be any shootin' without orders, young man!" said Dave. "Any chap what disobeys that rule is goin' to get the biggest hiding from me ever he had in his life."

As the carpenter was a man of some seventy-five inches and of great strength, this threat had its value as a deterrent.

"Now, boys, if we understand one another, we'll start!" Dave resumed. "Orders for the day: no talkin', no coughin', no swearin', nor sneezin'—above all, no shootin'. I'm going to walk in front and you're going to follow in single file, ten yards separating. When I whistle we assemble together for consultation."

The carpenter then started forward. The night was a dark one, and the way being along the edge of the coast line, some caution was needed to avoid slipping and tumbling about with its attendant noise. For the first half-mile the pace was rapid, but when that distance had been covered Dave set a slower lead, and by the time the village was within a hundred yards the twelve men went as noiselessly as snakes, creeping from rock to rock prone upon sand or seaweed as the case might be. Within fifty yards of the village Dave whistled up his men for a consultation, which was held behind a huge boulder.

"There ain't much cover between this and the hut I told you of!" he whispered. "You'll have to crawl. Keep one another in view, and unless you're in love with kingdom-come no one mustn't sneeze nor cough nor make any sound. One fool can ruin the lot of us, don't forget that."

The empty hut towards which this cautious move was to be made lay between the attackers and the two sentries on the far side of the village, and to some extent hid the one from the other; so that Dave and his men reached the house and occupied it in safety.

"Now, what?" asked someone in a whisper.

"We'll take the huts one by one," said Dave, "presently; but I don't like them sentries. They might see us and give the alarm. You stop here a minute, lads, and I'll see what can be done."

The storming party waited with moderate patience for five minutes and with total impatience for five more. They

FARM NOTES

Go slow about using a heavy trolley on damp ground in the spring, when rains are frequent.

No matter how cheap horseflesh may be in the market, a good team of horses is just as essential on the farm as it ever was, and, therefore, worth just as much money to the farmer.

It is stated that as a rule good sugar beets can be grown on any soil which will produce a satisfactory crop of wheat, corn or potatoes. Fairly level soil, well drained, is essential to best results.

The first crop that comes in the spring is asparagus, and it frequently is cut as early as April. Have the beds ready, using well rotted manure and salt or fertilizer. A single row, 100 feet long, should give an ordinary family a full supply.

One of the conditions for making the most of manure is to have it made soluble so that plant roots can easily, and early make use of it. Market gardeners understand this, and it is we think one of the reasons why manure is worth more to them than it is to the average farmer.

Early potatoes should be planted deep and hilled up. Later on the hills may be leveled down with a harrow. If the rows are well manured and the potatoes planted deep the seed will be protected from severe cold, and as soon as spring fairly opens they will make a good start and grow rapidly.

A very little finely rotted manure, or if this cannot be had, some nitrate of soda, applied with the seed at planting time, will make the roots extend much farther in search of plant food than they would otherwise do. Besides, this will make the crop ripen much earlier than it can where no manure is thus applied.

Many gardeners have planted the extra early peas. Should they be subject to a freezing spell they may turn yellow, and though not necessarily killed, will make but little headway. The difficulty is that the seed may rot in the ground if a cold spell comes, but in order to have early peas some risk must be incurred.

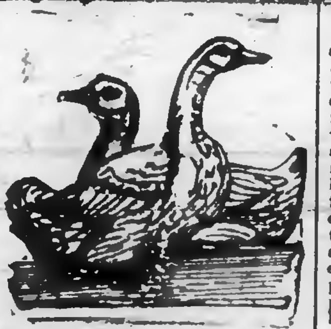
Onions should now be in the ground. Plant the sets in rows, placing them four inches apart in the rows. The rows may be sufficiently wide to permit the use of a wheel hoe. It is important to keep the grass from between the onions, as well as to have the space between the rows clean. Onions can endure frost and will start to grow almost as soon as planted.

Do not be deceived by the advance warm weather of spring and put in the garden crops too soon. It will be time enough to complete the planting when the apple trees begin to bloom. A late frost will destroy all tender plants. Cool nights are also detrimental to the growth of such plants as squash, beans, melons, tomatoes and corn. The ground must be warm before plants will make headway in growth.

Scales should be used in every house and barn. There is more money in knowing than in guessing. The following proverb ought to be heeded: "Deliver all things by measure and weight." Weigh the pigs, stock and grain and hay as well as fertilizers, so as to deal justly and be fairly dealt with. In selling live stock the weight is usually estimated by the drover or butcher who comes to buy, and long practice on their part gives them a decided advantage over the seller.

Improved Pekin Ducks.

A word concerning this strain of Pekins may not be out of place for the information of those who would think that they are a "new thing." Such is not the case; they are an "old thing," the foundation being laid years ago from the purest of pure Pekins obtainable, and improved from year to year along the most important lines, namely, [illegible]ty, superior size, rapid growth, early and prolific layers. If you have Pekins which will dress twelve to fourteen pounds per pair at ten weeks old, and lay one hundred and fifty to one hundred and sixty eggs a season, beginning early in December, then you don't need any improvement; but if you have not, then the Improved Pekins are what you want, and what you must have to bring the most satisfactory results.



Fertility and Productive Power.

If there is one thing more than another that enters this problem it is work. Work, study, think! Success depends on these. On this royal road thorough tillage is a prime factor, but my success has been made at dairying. Good cows and liberal feed are almost always followed by pleasant results. When I started in the business, I began studying the feeding and also fertility and value of the different kinds of grain. I soon learned that for every ton of corn fed out I got $4 worth of fertility to put to work in my soil; shorts double and cotton-seed meal more than three times as much. My butter paid all grain bills and also grocery bills. I knew I must be on the road to success, as the fertilizing power, although out of sight, was in the soil, to show itself in crops in due season. I can now manure 3 acres of corn where a few years ago could barely dress one. I use some phosphate 300 lbs or so per acre. The corn mostly goes into the silo, as my experience has taught me it is worth more that way. In connection with the dairy I keep swine to take the milk and always feed some grain with it, as it pays. I can get a small profit on pork and pigs at the lowest price they have sold for. Use bedding freely to take up the liquid and for the comfort of the animals. I prefer straw for the fertility in it.—J. W. Sanders, in Farm and Home.

Height of Mountains.

Explorers have to depend on two or three methods of estimating the height of mountains. The favorite resource is the barometer, which shows the pressure of the air, and whose readings, therefore, diminish in a fairly ings, threfore, diminish in a fairly regular fashion with elevation. Unfortunately, though, this instrument is not infallible. In the first place, even at sea level, in middle latitudes there are constant fluctuations in pressure, owing to the movement of "highs" and "lows." Variations also occur at times up to a height of a mile or two. These grow gradually imperceptible as one ascends, but it is doubtful whether absolute uniformity exists day after day and month after month throughout the year at such altitudes as four and five miles. Consequently, it provokes a smile to see the gazetteers attempting such precision as is indicated in the statement that Mount Everest, in the Himalayas, is 29,002 feet high!

Another plan makes use of the thermometer. Water boils at a lower temperature on mountain tops than on plains. To secure the same degree of "hardness," an egg must be boiled longer on Pike's Peak than in Denver. Here again, though, only a rough approximation can be effected; nothing like accuracy is obtainable. Besides, the changes in atmospheric pressure which invalidate the indications of a barometer would likewise cause a trifling variation in the boiling point of a given level, say 14,000 feet.

A third method would seem to be a little more trustworthy, though this requires data that are not always available, and it, too, has its drawbacks. If a surveyor knows the exact horizontal distance between himself and a mountain, and his own elevation above sea level, he can determine the mountain's height by measuring the angle between the line of vision and a true horizontal. The great difficulty with such an undertaking is to get the one important factor of distance with precision, without an amount of traveling and triangulation which is almost impracticable in a range like the Himalayas. Moreover, possibilities of error are opened up by atmospheric refraction. A peak may not be exactly where it seems to be in the surveyor's telescope. It may be above or below that point.

Still another cause of miscalculation was discussed a few days ago by "Engineering," a London publication. When a surveyor attempts to determine an angle in a vertical plane he must be sure that the spirit level on his instrument is absolutely truthful. If any unrecognised influence operates to affect it, even to the most minute degree, the value of any computation based on the measurement of angles is impaired. Something like thirty years ago two German professors, Fischer of Stuttgart and Hann of Vienna, expressed the opinion that the nearness of great continental masses, and especially of mountain ranges, would exert enough lateral attraction on a plummet to throw the line which suspended it out of a vertical position. In like manner it would tilt up the fluid in a spirit level, which, like the plummet, is governed primarily by gravitation. British surveyors in India denied this, and held that a level was trustworthy after all.

Since that time, however, fresh data have accumulated tending to show that, though the German experts may have greatly exaggerated the amount of the error, the latter really exists. Major S. G. Burrard of the British Royal Engineers, has been studying the matter carefully, and has just made the following statements. At a distance of a hundred miles or more from the base of the Himalayas he says, the plane of a level is exactly horizontal; at fifty miles it has begun to tilt; at ten miles the difference may amount to twenty-five seconds, while in the foothills it may be forty-five seconds; and what it is in the heart of the mountains "we do not know." On the whole, Major Burrard thinks that the trouble would not call for a correction exceeding sixty feet—a correction that involves addition to the original estimate—but he adds that "the question bristles with uncertainties and assumptions."

Fischer and Hann suggested that altitudes might be ascertained by counting the number of pendulum beats in a day, as in measuring the flattening of the earth toward the poles. General Walker, a British expert, declared that there were deficiencies of matter, if not cavities, underlying the Himalayas which would make that plan inapplicable; and "Engineering" adds: "Subsequent research has upheld General Walker."

Joseph Jefferson, the veteran actor, once struck a progressive Western town, where he was to give a two nights' performance of "Rip Van Winkle." After the performance on the first night, Jefferson went back to his hotel, and there he found waiting the most prominent merchant of the town, a wholesale manufacturer of bedsprings. After a few preliminary expressions of his approval of the performance, the merchant declared that he was prepared to furnish bedsprings to Jefferson's entire family free of charge, provided the actor would make one little change in the lines of his role. His proposition for the change was extremely simple. All he asked was that after the line where Rip exclaims "Oh, how my bones do ache," Jefferson should add, "But, ah, not thus would they have ached had I slept on B's bedsprings." It was only a little change, and the merchant was surprised and indignant when his proposition was rejected.

Works and Property in West Virginia.

This Company has 337 acres of Gas territory in Wirt county, West Virginia. This is also very valuable oil territory and the purpose of this company is to MANUFACTURE CARBON AND LAMP BLACK FROM OIL AND GAS. To refine Carbon and Lamp Black and manufacture it in its various products.

Carbon and Lamp Black has a steady market. No trust can control the flow of gas. A permanent income is assured to all investors.

This Company is represented in Canada by MR. R. J. KIDD, Fiscal Agent, Peterborough, who will be pleased to supply information to intending investors. This is a stock he can confidently recommend.

A GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its

Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Uuguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

125 WILL NOT REACH THE NUMBER OF REASONS WHY THE STOCK IN The Oro Rico Mining Syndicate IS A GOOD INVESTMENT.

I have offered this Stock at a very low price and it is your misfortune if you fail to take advantage of it.

THE ORO RICO MINES are located in the Providence Range of Mountains, San Bernardino County, California, consisting of 30 full claims.

THEY ARE MINES NOT PROSPECTS.

Vast ledges of ore running from $5.00 to $600.00 per ton. Five shipments of ore to El Paso Smelter gave returns from $79.30 to $222.00 per ton. This is not a five per cent. a month scheme, but it is a legitimate proposition that will give you better returns than Savings Bank or Mortgage loans. A few months ago a Mr. Woodside bought 200,000 shares in a Tonopah Company for five cents a share and recently sold the same at $5.00 a share. No business in the world is safer as an investment or more profitable than mining, and none offer a more honest dollar.

Remember that little money is ever made by purchasing Stocks which are already paying dividends. When you do this you pay DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR for everything you get. You must make your money on your JUDGEMENT and your FORESIGHT. It is the foresight that makes money, and if you follow the dictation of your foresight you will secure a block of ORO RICO STOCK, and when dividends are paid your income will be five times greater than if you waited until the Stock sold at par. The new Milling Plant is now being put in place and gold bullion will soon be turned out. After the first run you can't get the Stock at present price. It will soon be 50 per cent. higher.

The Officers and Directors of the Company have recently visited the mines and returned full of enthusiasm. The mines are turning out much richer than expected.

I can offer the Stock for a short time only at 20 cents per share.
It is worth double that.

Will accept payments of 25 per cent. cash and balance, 25 per cent. per month. Wanted active agents. Address all orders to

STOCK MARKETS

THE SITUATION

New York, June 9.—We today quote Mr. Kellogg, the writer of the Monday article published weekly in the New York Sun. His remarks pertinently sums up the situation. He goes on to say: "Considerable less than a year ago there were six commission houses in Wall street, borrowing between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000, a piece on speculative collateral and conducting such vast operations for a rise in stock, that the banking community became alarmed and notified them that they must curtail their business." This they were compelled to do. Today these same commission houses are with the same passionate fury with which they urge their customers to buy stocks at an average price of $30 per share higher than which now prevails are spurring the advice broadcast to sell stocks short, and as before there was no such as the invented faculty too great in the process of inducing gullible people to buy stocks, so now there is no fixing too monsterous or rumor too absurd to be used in persuading investors to sell their holding at a sacrifice. We are really witnessing exactly the same kind of operation as those of last summer. The points of their application only differing just as last summer Wall street was flooded each day with tips before the opening of the market, that this or that stock was to be put up during the day, so now the same news is daily disseminated in advance that certain stocks are to be put down, and from the fact that an attempt is invariably immediately made to move the stocks named in the direction indicated. The source of the information and objects of imparting it are apparent. This action has been carried on to as great an excess as has ever been done.

HAIGHT & FREESE.

Crows and Corn.

There are a number of ways of protecting corn from the depredations of crows. One of the simplest is to coat the seeds with tar. Place a half bushel of seed in a basket and pour on hot water enough to moisten and heat all the seeds; then immediately apply a pint of pine or coal tar and stir the whole rapidly for some time. Every seed will thus become coated, and if a quantity of air-slaked lime is then applied, it will render it dry and easily handled. The crows will pull up the plants to eat the seed, but coming in contact with the tarred seed, they are thoroughly disgusted with its flavor, and the remainder wil be untouched.

Another way is to stretch white twine zigzag across the field. The crows will not touch the plants fenced in on two sides or within an angle. Other ways follow:

Employ a man with a dollar's worth of shot to stay in the field all the time for a few days, and the crows (which are left) will decamp to pastures new.

As soon as corn is planted, take a bushel of corn, put it into some vessel (not iron), pour on water enough to cover the corn, and pour it off into a tin-pail, thus measuring it; then take 50 cents' worth of strychnine and stir it into the water until well mixed. Pour the water back on the corn and let it stand 24 hours, stirring occasionally. Sow this evenly over four or five acres (more needed for larger territory). This way is of course not to be tried if hens or sheep have access to the field.

The use of steel traps; put a hen's egg near each trap and cover traps with grass or leaves.

A way that will not hurt the crows is to set up a pole 6 or 8 feet high; attach a strong cord to the upper end two or three feet long; to this fasten a good-sized piece of sheet tin. Wind and air will keep the tin in motion (more so if the pole is set slightly leaning). The flashes and bangs of the tin striking on the pole are better than any scare-crow.—Country Gentleman.

Water in Butter.

Properly made butter contains not more than 16 per cent. of moisture, and 13½ per cent. is nearer the proper quantity. Anything more than that should be considered as not having been worked sufficiently, and is unfit for shipping or long keeping. If we have a standard for our milk, which declares that it shall have a certain amount of total solids or of butter fat, we may also demand that there shall be a certain amount of butter fat in our butter, not less than 85 per cent. If large drops of moisture appear when the butter is cut it indicates insufficient working, and though it may be all right in flavor while new it will quickly lose that flavor and almost as quickly acquire another, which is not so pleasant to the taste. If the drops have a milky color it is even worse than when the moisture looks like pure, clean water. Butter may have the buttermilk washed out of it, when this is done the water should be afterwards worked out of it.

Ventilating Poultry Houses.

In proportion to their size fowls require more fresh air than any other animal, but in cold weather this pure air must be supplied in such a way that the fowls will not take cold. The house should be warm and all cracks through which the wind might come should be tightly closed, the ventilation being supplied through some opening near the ranged that it may be shut off when necessary. In the majority of cases the best point from which to ventilate is the roof, when possible, but in the coldest weather the ventilation is best supplied through some opening near the floor. The fowls can readily protect their feet from cold by roosting, but the head, the part most open to attacks of diseases in cold weather, cannot be so easily protected from draughts.

INVEST AT HOME, IN CAPE BRETON, IF YOU CAN

A VALUABLE MINE

Extract from report of Mr. H. L. Borden on the Gold-Copper Deposit of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited at Cheticamp, Cape Breton.

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, of Halifax Canada, recently engaged an experienced mining man as superintendent of its mines at Cheticamp, C. B., to assist the resident manager, Mr. M. V. Grandin, M. E. Mr. H. L. Borden, a native of Pugwash, N. S., was the man selected for the position out of twenty applicants. Mr. Borden has more than thirty years experience in mining operations, part in this country, but principally on the Pacific Coast. He only returned from British Columbia last December. He was foreman of the Royston Granpmar, Nelson, B. C., the Eclipse and Lee in Colorado, the Lake Winnipeg, in Manitoba, the Keewatin in Manitoba, and of other mines, and is thoroughly familiar with underground operations. His longest connection has been with copper mines in Colorado and British Columbia, and his opinion of a copper desposit is therefore entitled to considerable weight. The Eastern National Company has the gratifying experience to receive from Mr. Borden a very high opinion of the value of the Company's copper deposit at Cheticamp, confirming all that has been said of this important proposition in the past.

Mr. Borden arrived at the Company's mines on May 8th, and under date of the 14th reported upon the conditions of the property and the development work. His report is in part as follows:

GRANDIN BROOK, CHETICAMP, C. B., May 14th, 1903.

Eastern National Copper Company, Limited,

GENTLEMEN,—"I have made as careful an examination of the deposit as I could for the short time I have been "here, and also the development work, and have compared them with maps, plans, and sections of the property and the "Company's prospectus, and find no discrepancies between them. The development work has been carried on systematically and I am surprised to find so much work done for the amount of money paid for labor. The development "work has been carried on in about the same manner as I would have had it done had I conducted it myself, and I can "easily continue the work without altering anything already done.

"As to the ore deposit and the ore. I have made some field tests which were very satisfactory. Of course I "cannot say as to the exact value of the ore, or the amounts of the different minerals it contains, but I am sure "that it contains high values in gold and and copper; especially in copper. The deposit is the largest body of "copper ore I have ever seen, and I have never seen a body of ore so thoroughly and uniformly mineralized I "consider you have much underestimated the thickness of the body of ore in your prospectus."

Yours respectfully, H. L. BORDEN.

OPINION OF EXPERTS ON THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT

Prof. J. Edmund Woodman, of Dalhousie University School of Mines, formerly of the Geology Division of Harvard was engaged by the Government of Nova Scotia to report upon the mineral possibilities of the Cheticamp mining district. He found evidences of the existence of extensive mineral deposits and declared that by judicious development mining operations could become a lasting investment there.

Dr. Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of works and mines for Nova Scotia says with regard to Professor Woodman's work:

"I have on several occasions drawn attention to the probability of the northern part of Cape Breton yielding valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead and copper. However, as an outside opinion was worth more than one from an official of the Provincial Government, and would carry more weight with the world at large, Mr. Woodman's services "were secured."

"He approached the subject with no predetermined views, and you will be pleased to learn that he considers the "districts promising, and that their mineral possibilities have been very much undervalued, and that they should, if properly prospected and developed, prove valuable additions to our mineral wealth."

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, is developing a valuable Gold-Copper proposition in the heart of the Cheticamp district. Thousand of tons of ore have already been blocked out, and the price of the Company's shares has advanced from $1 to $3 per share, par value $10. A further advance to $5 per share is expected very soon now. This is a rare chance of profitable investment. Write for information and prospectus to

Splitting Headaches

CAN BE STOPPED AND THE CONDITIONS WHICH CAUSE THEM CURED BY FERROZONE

Poisons accumulate in the blood and spread with it every movement to all parts of the body. The brain becomes congested, the nerves irritated, and the result is that awful headache so well known to the female sex.

Ferrozone cleanses the entire intestinal tract, and the liver and kidneys as well. It cures constipation and its many attendant evils. It makes the body strong and the blood pure, induces natural sleep and enables one to eat and drink anything at any time without risk of headache, nervousness or skin eruptions.

Ferrozone is nature's own remedy for headaches. It is a lasting potent tonic and the greatest health maker the world has ever seen. It masters all female derangements, and restores weak, sickly women to a healthy vigorous condition of mind and body.

No other remedy so effectually meets the requirements of a health giving tonic and regulator as Ferrozone. Every woman and growing girl can derive marvellous benefit from its regular use, and if you suffer from Chlorosis, Anaemia, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Poor Appetite, Nervousness or female disorders of any kind, you can make no mistake in selecting Ferrozone for a cure.

Every reliable druggist recommends and sells Ferrozone for 50 cents a box. Be sure you get the genuine article, and refuse a substitute. Remember the name and insist on only Ferrozone. Sent to your address if price is forwarded to N.C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

POLICE COURT NEWS

A Number of Cases Before the Magistrate Yesterday

At the Police Court yesterday morning a citizen was mulcted $2.30 costs.

Three young men were charged with being disorderly on the streets on June 6th. They pleaded not guilty and were enlarged until this morning.

Mrs. J. Murray, Parnell street, was up on a charge of using grossly insulting and abusive language on the morning of June 2nd. The defendant was not present. After hearing several witnesses judgment was reserved till this morning.

A citizen charged with keeping a slaughter house in town, contrary to the law, was obliged to pay the costs amounting to $3.55.

A fine of $1 was imposed upon four people charged with a breach of the Health Act, in not cleaning up their yards when notified by the Sanitary Inspector.

INDIANS ARE LOYAL

Young Paudash is Kindly Received by Lord Minto

Mr. Johnston Paudash, son of the great and good chief Paudash, was presented to His Excellency, the Governor-General. The young man in fluent language expressed the feelings of loyalty on behalf of the Indians of Mud, Rice and Scugog Lakes.

He said that they had the greatest respect for the laws of the country and the Great White Father — the King of the Empire—and was the representative of this tribe to do honor to the Governor-General, (who is the King's representative

Lord Minto in a very kindly manner thanked Mr. Paudash for the expression of loyalty, conveyed through him of the Missasaugua Indians, and wished him to convey to them his love and deep gratitude.

PICKEREL IN THE LAKE

The Native Fish in Danger of Becoming Extinct

The placing in the waters of the Kawartha Lakes a quantity of pickerel, is probably a grave mistake. These fish are said to be voracious and are death to young bass and maskinonge.

Regarding the introduction of pickerel into these waters The Times spoke to Mr. Thwaite, the Provincial Fishery Inspector, who happened to be in town a few days ago. Mr. Thwaite was very indignant that any one should meddle with the fish in such a way.

Some 25 years ago the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Society, without fully considering the matter, caused the introduction of white fish and salmon into Stoney Lake. There is little doubt that this explains why the native fish of these waters are becoming so scarce.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT

A School Teacher Loses His Life While Bathing

Word was received here yesterday of a very sad drowning accident which occurred in Gull Lake on Wednesday evening, the circumstances surrounding which are particularly distressing. Mr. Oscar Hogle, teacher at Moore's Falls, son of Mr. Hogle, of Markham, and brother of Miss Alva Hogle, teacher at Ingoldsby, met death while bathing. Mr. Hogle went out for a bicycle ride Wednesday evening and did not return, and his absence was not discovered until Thursday morning. Mrs. Martin, with whom the deceased had been boarding, on going to call him found he had not been home. A search being instituted, his clothes were found under a tree, and shortly afterwards the body was found in six feet of water. It is supposed he took cramps, and being alone could get no assistance. Mr. Hogle had only entered upon his duties at Moore's Falls two months ago and had gained the esteem of the parents and was universally liked by the scholars. Mr. S. Phillips took charge of the body and accompanied it to Markham. Deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Curious Bits of News.

On account of the thieving propensities of the "paleface" the Western Indians have abandoned their old burial custom of depositing valuables belonging to the deceased with the corpse. The "Breeze" of Bliss, Indian Territory, is authority for the statement that the Indians now place money in the bank and put the certificate of deposit in the coffin for the dead Indian to take along to the Happy Hunting Grounds, as they have found this to be a much safer method.

Perhaps the most extensively traveled lady in the world is Mrs. Crossley of Indianapolis. She is now preparing to make her twenty-first voyage round the world. She has crossed the Atlantic no fewer than seventy times, has made twelve journeys to the top of the Pyramids, and has visited every town of note in Europe, Asia, Africa and America. All this amount of traveling, too, she has crowded into eighteen years, and she possesses a wonderful collection of curiosities from every quarter of the globe.

The fact that the birth of Marconi has been found registered in Bologna has cut short the claim of other Italian towns to this distinction. Florence, however, has discovered that the inventor went to school there between his sixth and tenth years. There has also been discovered an aged lady, Signora Luisa Cavallero, who taught young Marconi how to read, and she says that she was obliged to punish him many times because he was very naughty, and since he has become a great man her conscience has severely reproached her. "Fancy punishing a genius!" she exclaimed. "At the same time," she added in extenuation, "he was never able to learn anything by heart. That was impossible with him."

Perhaps the most interesting gift to the Pope on his Pontifical jubilee was an ancient clock, in the form of a planisphere, dating from 1725. It was constructed at Plaisance by the mathematician Barnardo Facini, who presented it to the wife of Philip II. of Spain. The planisphere gives the hours and the minutes, according to the Italian and Spanish style, the length of days and nights, according to the seasons, the daily position of the sun according to the signs of the zodiac, solar and lunar eclipses, the real seasons and the seasons according to astronomy. Notwithstanding the enormous progress made in mechanics since its construction, the movement of the wheels is absolutely unknown. When once it broke down no one was found able to repair it.

On the Sands of Life—A Fable.

There were once two Children—a Boy and a Girl—playing together on the Sands of Life. For many days they were happy and content, but finally the Boy grew weary of their simple games and looked longingly farther up the beach to a spot where both had been forbidden to go—to a Quicksand called Passion.

At first the Girl drew back, refusing to leave their old playground; but when the Boy pouted and declared he would find a new playmate, she reluctantly took his hand and went with him.

Across this Quicksand stretched a very slender Plank that led safely to the other side, and on this they ventured. Just as they reached the middle, the Girl became frightened, lost her balance and fell. With one horror-stricken look, the Boy turned and fled safely to the Other Side. The Girl's piercing screams brought all the other Children who were playing along the beach. But instead of trying to help her, they stood just far enough away to be safe, and laughed. Some of them even threw sand at her with their little shovels, while the Boy shut his eyes that he might not see the appeal in the dear eyes he had loved, and resolutely walked away.

Suddenly one Boy, bigger and braver than the rest, pushed his way through the crowd and hastened to the middle of the frail Plank. Stooping over the half-unconscious Girl, he bade her clasp her arms about his neck. Then slowly and gently he drew her up beside him and led her carefully to firm ground, while all the other Children stopped gibing and stared.

When the poor stunned Child realized that she was once more safe, she raised her eyes to his face with a passionate devotion that was never to fade, and a great white light enveloped them both, purifying her soiled white gown till she was once more as fair as a lily.—The Modern Aesop.

TEARFUL OR CHEERFUL?

Whether a woman is tearful or cheerful depends not on what she has materially, but what she is physically. Many an indulgent husband is driven almost to despair by the tearful outburst of a wife who has "everything she wants." He wants to know what's the matter. But the wife can't tell. She only knows that she is depressed and despondent.

Such a condition is usually related to some form of womanly disease. The mental depression has its corresponding womanly weakness.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription changes tearful women to cheerful women by curing the diseases which cause physical weakness and depression of spirits. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

Mrs. Alice Adams, of Laboratory, Washington Co., Pa., says: "With many thanks I write to let you know how I am. I can say by God's help and your help I am well. I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and two of his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I can do all my work. I can't praise your medicine too highly. I will recommend your medicines as long as I live. If any one doubts this give them my address."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Keep the bowels healthy by the timely use of Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

GRAND ORANGE LODGE OF BRITISH AMERICA MET IN WINNIPEG YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

King Edward's Visit to the Pope Condemned--Parliament's Action in Passing the Irish Home Rule Resolution Criticised

Weather Notes

Thursday— Fresh, northerly winds; cloudy and cool.

Local showers have occurred in Ontario and Western Quebec but the weather has been for the most part fair and warm. In Eastern Quebec and the Maritime Provinces showers have been heavier and more general.

—The City of Peterborough will bring an excursion to town today under the auspices of the English Church Sunday School of Hastings.

GRAND MASTER REVIEWS THE ORDER'S PROGRESS

Thirty-Eight New Lodges were Formed During the Past Year

THREE SISTER LODGES HAVE BEEN DUELY ORGANIZED

Winnipeg, June 10— The Orange Grand Lodge of British North America opened here in Scott Memorial Hall yesterday afternoon. According to the annual report of W. M. Lockhart, Grand Secretary, no less than 38 primary lodge warrants have been issued during the past year. Of these 18 were in Ontario, nearly all of the number being in the new districts. Two County Lodges have been organized—Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario West, and Edmonton, N.W.T., Western Division. Three District Lodges were organized—Sault Ste. Marie and Rainy River, in Ontario West, and Cape Breton, South Nova Scotia.

There have been two female lodges organized—one at Tyndal County, Selkirk, Manitoba, and the other at Goldsmith, District Marmora, County Essex, Ontario West.

There have been issued eight Orange Young Briton warrants.

The Duty of the Order.

Mr. Lockhart remarks in the report: "Year by year we learn of Protestant Defence Associations being organized in various portions of the Empire to stem the influence of the priests in politics and to prevent the unfair distribution of public moneys to institutions under priestly control. Those associations, we are informed, have and are exerting a mighty influence in England and Australia in arousing the people to a proper conception of their duty. Are we not forced under the circumstances to ask the question, Is Orangeism fulfilling its proper mission in these countries? Because, it appears to me that our Order, brought into being as a defence Association, ought to answer the very purposes for which such Defence Associations are brought into being; and, if not, we are lacking in our duty. To my mind, if the principles taught in our order were lived up to, there would be no necessity for the formation of associations of this kind.

Kings' Visit to the Pope.

[illegible] dress, the Grand Master, Dr. Sproule, M.P., said:

While we as Orangemen—loyal supporters of the Crown—should be very chary about criticising the actions or conduct of our ruler, it seems to me, as head of this great Order in Canada, instituted for the supporting and maintaining of the Protestant religion that I would be remiss in my duty did I not, at this time and place, express my regret at the recent visit of King Edward to the Pope. We were all delighted at his cordial reception by the rulers of the various countries which he visited thus showing the friendly feeling which at present happily exists between Britain and other nations; still, I cannot see why his Majesty should desire to visit his Holiness the Pope, who is head of the Church which believes in his infallibility, and which has, since time immemorial, been the enemy of much that we Protestants hold dear. The protest against this visit wired to the King by the Protestant Association of England, has my commendation, because the history of the past has left behind it the lingering suspicion that such visits and secret conferences may be the forerunner of something not in the interest of the sacred rights we hold.

BRITAIN STRONGER THAN EVER BEFORE

Her New Policy Would Add th Her Power

WOULD HURT THE U. S.

The Opinion of a Leading American Paper

Boston, June 11—The Boston Transcript, in an editorial article, significantly headed "Where are we, with England protectionist?" says:

"However the now promised contest may go, it ought to be to Americans the most interesting one in progress in Europe. If Mr. Chamberlain should win, if the masses stand by him in virtually subsidizing colonial foodstuffs against those of the United States, we shall have to put up with a handicapped admission to a market to which we have heretofore enjoyed perfectly free entry. The United Kingdom has long been by far, the best customer of the United States, taking vastly more of our products than any other one nation. That in the event of Mr. Chamberlain's project being adopted, this enormous trade would altogether cease is not to be expected, but it could not be carried on with as little expense to us as it is at present, and that its volume would suffer marked diminution is a natural anticipation. If Great Britain decides to return to the protective system that is her business. We have no right to criticise or remonstrate; but, on the other hand, those Americans who profess to rejoice in the prospect of a British protective tariff as a confession to conversion to our fiscal belief, had better do all their rejoicing before such a system is put in operation."

The Boston Herald, after recognizing the difficulties which beset Mr. Chamberlain's path, says it seems almost incredible that a man possessing his political ability and sagacity could have come out in this bold and decisive manner without having counted the cost and weighed the chances of success and failure. Our contemporary gives the Colonial Secretary credit for being the shrewdest and most popular public man in England and thinks the most obvious explanation of his conduct is that Mr. Chamberlain feels that he, and he alone has the popularity and leadership to accomplish the unification of the British Empire, which would give to him a name among the most eminent of British statesmen.

Montreal, June 11—The Star says: The success of Mr. Chamberlain's policy would unquestionably bring about a great public demand in the United States for a reconsideration of the traditional American commercial policy towards England, and it is worth while for the colonists to remember that when the unification of the Empire is complete better treatment of the colonies will be part of the price the United States will have to pay for admission to the markets of the United Kingdom. This being the case it would be criminal folly for Canadians to permit the High Joint Commission to hurry Canada into a premature and unsatisfactory tariff arrangement with the United States. The Empire can drive a better bargain than the Dominion with "Uncle Sam."

FLOODS SWEEP EAST ST. LOUIS NUMBER OF LIVES WERE LOST

ST LOUIS, MO., JUNE 10.—The river this morning rose to 37.9 feet, the highest point reached during the present flood. East St. Louis, opposite here, with a population of 32,000, having large manufacturing interests and the terminal point for railroads from the north, east, and south is partly under water, and will probably be totally submerged.

The southern half of East St. Louis this morning was deep in the flood, and the 2,500 levee builders retreated to Missouri avenue in the attempt to save the remainder of the city, menaced by swelling waters from three sides. Broadway the central thoroughfare, has been abandoned to the flood

One thousand men were working on the present levee, which broke. For 12 hours before the final break they had the active assistance of hundreds of women and children. The break came at the St. Louis Valley crossing of the Illinois Central embankment, two miles south of the relay depot. While as many men, women and children as could stand on the embankment were heaping sand-bags between the rails to prevent the menacing waters from mounting over the top, the current broke through the lower part of the wall of earth and spurted in rivulets on those who were carrying sand-bags up the bank. Bags thrown into the openings by dozens of men were tossed aside by the waters like feathers.

St. Louis, June 11—3.30 a.m—Seven miles of water pressing from the south and south east overcame the city's line of defence shortly before one o'clock yesterday, and 5,000 persons were driven from their homes.

The alarm was given by the ringing of bells and blowing of whistles in every part of the city. A few of the workers on the embankment remained at their posts until the rushing waters made it necessary for them to swim for their lives.

Awakened families saw the water in the streets. When they were ready to leave with their hurriedly collected store of necessities the flood was at the door sills. All fled to the north, The Washington school was the nearest point of safety.

Undismayed by the defeat which has come in their seven days battle with the flood, the greater part of the levee builders began work at Missouri avenue, and the street was rapidly transformed into a dike of sand-bags and clay.

An appeal from Mayor Cook to the Governor of Illinois for State troops to aid in guarding property, was answered by the promise that militia would be sent to East St. Louis at once.

A telephone message says thirty lives have already been lost in the East St. Louis flood. A break in the Baltimore and Ohio levee on the north is reported menacing the city from that point.

St. Louis, June 11—4 a.m., Numerous reports of loss of life by drowning have been received, but the East St. Louis Police have thus far learned no names of victims

A few hours before the break Ned Roberts, a negro employed as a levee builder, was killed by members of the levee patrol for attempting to tear down a portion of the dike. The negro was angry because he was not allowed to draw his pay at once.

Relief boats started from St. Louis for East St. Louis early today. At nine o'clock this morning the water was threatening the north and east sides, and was approaching the City Hall.

HIGH COURT OF FORESTERS

WERE LOYALLY BANQUETTED ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Business Transacted at Yesterday's Meeting —Annual Reports Presented

On account of an accident to one of our typesetting machines a full report of the banquet held on Tuesday night could not be put in type, and therefore did not appear in yesterday's issue. There was a splendid gathering, good speaking and hearty responses. Mr. W. J. McCallum, who provided the feast, did so in his usual good style.

The chair was occupied by Mr. J. P. Bryson, who filled the position with credit to himself and pleasure to the audience.

YESTERDAY'S MEETING.

Wednesday's session of the C. O. F. Convention opened at ten o'clock with a large attendance of delegates. His Grace Archbishop Duhamel, of Ottawa, and His Lordship, Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, were present, and delivered addresses of congratulation and encouragement.

It was enacted that delegates from Ontario Courts will be allowed to go to the International Convention which opens in Dubuque, Iowa, in August.

The annual report of the Chief Ranger says:

The movement of the membership from 1895 down to the present period may be glanced at and indicates the strides made:—

May 1st, 1895	2,556
May 1st, 1896	3,246
May 1st, 1897	3,902
May 1st, 1898	4,631
June 1st, 1901	[illegible]
June 1st, 1903	7,055

The above statement points to an increase of membership since the Pembroke Convention, of nearly 1,200 scoring off suspensions and those who have left the order owing to non-compliance with our laws.

The Foresters were delighted with their drive yesterday afternoon and are indeed unanimous that Peterborough is a progressive town and a beautiful one at that.

Many congratulations were received by the Convention today from State Convention now being held across the line and also from the Quebec C.O.F. in annual meeting at Lachine.

At this morning's meeting representatives from Court Chemong, I.O. F. extended greetings and an appreciative reply was returned.

AN INTERESTING WEDDING

Mr. J. H. Dayell and Miss L. E. Cooney were Married Yesterday Afternoon

Yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. Johnston Cooney, corner of Dublin and Harvey streets, when his youngest daughter Miss Lillie E. Cooney, was united in marriage to Mr. J. H. Dayell, of Otonabee.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. P. Wilson, of George street Methodist church in the presence of about sixty guests.

The bride was attired in Swiss organdie trimmed with applique and carried a beautiful boquet of roses. She was attended by her cousin Miss Ella Cooney, of Clarke, who wore a dress of white organdie, and carried a boquet of pink roses. Mr. J. H. Hanbridge, of Otonabee, assisted the groom.

The happy couple left on the 5.10 C.P.R. train for Toronto and other western points and on their return will reside in Otonabee.

The Times unites with their many friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Dayell many years of happiness and prosperity.

RUSSIA WILL REMAIN IN CHINA IN DEFIANCE OF BRITAIN AND JAPAN

Mr. Henry Bush of Newchwang, Says That Russia Acts while the Other Powers Talk

—The committee on printing of the Dominion Day special met in Mr. Bunton's office last night and let the contract for printing.

Read the Morning Times.

Japan and Russia Must Fight it to a Finish

Montreal, June 11.—Mr. Henry Bush, senior partner of the firm of Bush Bros., of Newchwang, China, and Mrs. Bush, are staying at the Windsor Hotel. Mr. Bush leaves on the Imperial Limited for Vancouver, taking the steamship Empress of China there for home.

To a reporter to-day Mr. Bush gave some interesting facts about Manchuria, the Trans-Siberian Railway, and the aggressiveness of the Russians in Manchuria. Mr. Bush is the agent in China for the Canadian Pacific Railway, Lloyds, and many other important concerns.

Speaking of Newchwang, Mr. Bush explained that it was the most northerly port in China open to foreign trade. Before this port was opened little was known of this part of the Central Kingdom. Manchuria had since been colonized by the Chinese, who now outnumber the natives. In recent years, owing to the important railway developments, an unprecedented expansion of trade had taken place.

Of course, Mr. Bush had a lot to say in regard to the Russian occupation of Manchuria. On May 8, he said, the Russians occupied Newchwang with a large force and were reported to be making very extensive warlike preparations. This action of Russia was in direct defiance of the Treaty of Tientsin and of later agreements still more specific. To make this question clearer Mr. Bush pointed out that, besides its general importance to British trade, as a treaty port, Newchwang was the terminus of an extension of the North China Railway and had always been British.

The events that led up to the serious state of affairs, Mr. Bush explained, had been growing in seriousness for some time. On the 18th of April this year Mr. Bush received a cable from Newchwang stating that the official of the port had been replaced by Russians. Russia, although she had no trade whatever, was continually trying to gain the upper hand.

The business of the port, and, in fact of Manchuria, was done by the English, Americans and Germans. The chief articles of trade were beans and bean cake. The import of opium had of late years been on the decline, the poppy being largely and successfully cultivated in Manchuria.

Mr. Bush paid a high tribute to the pluck of the Chinese. As fighters, he said, they were not equal to Western troops but for sheer, dogged pluck they were unsurpassed. When [illegible] tish or German officers they made excellent soldiers.

TROUBLE NOT FAR DISTANT.

Speaking of Russia, Mr. Bush feared that trouble was not very far distant. England, America and Japan realised the fact that Russia was playing a game that was detrimental to the free trade of the port. Russia has presented seven demands as conditions for the carrying out of the Manchurian Convention, and the evacuation of Newchwang and the two southern provinces of Manchuria. These conditions are as follows;

No new treaty port to be opened in Manchuria, and no new foreign consulates to be permitted.

"This condition," said Mr. Bush, "is a direct slap in the face to the United States, who proposed the opening of two new treaty ports recently."

2. All the customs revenues of Newchwang to be paid into the Russo-Chinese Bank. "This means," said Mr. Bush, "that Russia can at any time shut down on the bank."

3. No portion of Manchuria to be alienated to any other power.

4. None but Russians to be employed in any administrative capacity civil or military, in Manchuria.

5. Russia to control the sanitary regulations of the treaty port in Newchwang.

To Settle Strikes

The bill to aid in the settlement of railway labor disputes has been sanctioned by Parliament, and will in due time become law. The great principle of the bill is conciliation, or mediation in the first instance, and, failing a settlement by that means, a compulsory inquiry by arbitrators, whose judgment will be enforced by public opinion. This is as far as the Government will apply the principle of compulsion at present in this class of disputes. Experience may justify a more drastic remedy, and a wider application of it, if, indeed, it has not done so already.

Will They be Loyal?

London, June 11. — The Morning Post, discussing the whole Canadian immigration problem, says: "If Mr. Chamberlain gains the day his scheme of preferential tariffs, the stimulus to Canadian wheat growing will operate as a bounty on agricultural settlers in Canada that may mean an increase in American immigrants to Canada. Will these newcomers from the United States be willing to accept citizenship in Greater Britain or will they become the advance guard of a political movement for the conversion of Canadians to the republican ideal?"

"You will see," said Mr. Bush, "that Russia is trying to get a firm grip upon Manchuria. The reason she is so successful is that she act while the other powers talk. Unless the other powers cultivate more silence and more activity they will wake up some day to find that Russia is complete master of the Chinese situation.

VISIT OF LORD BERESFORD.

When Lord Charles Beresford was paying his recent visit to the Chinese and Japanese ports, he stayed with Mr. Bush for some weeks. It was there that Lord Charles Beresford wrote his book "The Break-up of China."

"No doubt," said Mr. Bush, "future developments will show that these statements therein made by the distinguished author are perfectly correct. Dr. Morrison, the famous Times correspondent, who probably knows the Chinese situation better than any other man, is a personal friend of Mr. Bush.

TRANS-SIBERIAN RAILWAY.

Mr. Bush then described the trans-Siberian Railway. He regarded it as a most important undertaking, and one that overshadowed any feat of engineering that had ever been accomplished. The trans-Siberian Railway from Port Arthur to Moscow covered a length of fifty-four hundred English miles. The strategic advantages that this railway gave to Russia were undoubtedly colossal, and could not be over estimated.

It was possible to go from Port Arthur to Moscow, and merely change cars once. The cost of travel was expensive, but when the tremendous saving of time was considered it was not to be wondered at.

ABSORB MANCHURIA.

Returning to his discussion of the Russian aggressiveness Mr. Bush expressed the opinion that Russia had come to Manchuria to stay. "The first real tangible evidence of a desire on the part of Russia to absorb Manchuria," he said, "is found in Russia's action at the close of the Chino-Japanese war. At that time Russia warned Japan away for the simple reason that Russia wanted Manchuria for herself.

Mr. Bush gave the reporter some interesting details concerning the Boxer troubles. He said "They were wholly due to the fact that Russia, while passing one of the Chinese forts about August 1900, shelled it for no reason whatever. The beginning of the trouble dated from that time."

C.P.R. AND EASTERN TRADE.

Mr. Bush, speaking of Canada and the Canadian Pacific Railway said that in his capacity as agent in China for the great Canadian road, he had frequently pointed out to the company the necessity for taking advantage of the trade opportunity that China was now presenting.

Mr. Bush said in conclusion that until the Russian matter was settled once and for all the Manchurian situation would always be of a restless character. Something must be done speedily, he said, to protect British interests in that country.

MEN TARRED AND LASHED

Arkansas Mob Gave Terrible Lesson to a Couple Suspected of Trying to Lure Away a Wife

Memphis, Tenn., June 11.—Seized by an infuriated mob, dragged from a train on which they were passengers, hauled through the streets by scores of rough hands, tied to a stake, burned and beaten unmercifully with leather straps and their lives threatened, such was the experience of W. D. Thomas, traveling salesman for the Van Vleet Mansfield Drug Company, and John Ward, a telegraph lineman, at Wynne, Ark., Thursday night, at the hands of whitecappers.

It is alleged that Ward intended to elope with the wife of a prominent Wynne business man, and Thomas was whipped for alleged assistance given to the former. Both men jumped off the moving train at the coal chute and were later arrested by the city marshal. They were then carried to the outskirts of the town where the punishment was inflicted.

When Thomas reached Memphis yesterday he was a pitiful sight.

HEIRESS WEDS SERVANT

Miss Edith Kaye, a Rich English Girl Elopes with Coachman

London, June 10.—The fact has just leaked out at Leicester that Miss Kaye, a niece of the late T. H. Downing, and heiress under his will to $200,000, eloped last week with the family's coachman, Albert Smith, and was married to him by special license at the Belton registry office.

The couple went to Derby and took rooms at a hotel there, and the marriage was announced by Smith himself, who returned to Leicester to take away his box.

Smith, it seems, taught Miss Kaye to ride, and while attending her in the hunting field last season, a great affection sprang up between them. He is described as an intelligent and agreeable companion, and he served with the Imperial Yeomanry in South Africa.

The relatives of the lady have intervened, and Mrs. Smith and her husband are now separated, which causes the whole affair to resemble the New York episode in fashionable society, when banker Morosini's daughter eloped with her coachman and later returned to her family.

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 9, 1903.

THAT FLAG QUESTION

When the Kind Edward Hotel was opened in Toronto, they hung out the Stars and Stripes as well as the Union Jack.

Nobody bothered, except a few people who wrote to the newspapers.

A Philadelphia mob tore down and destroyed a British flag which a citizen ventured to hang out from a window on Decoration Day; and the citizen ventured to hang out from a mobbed had not the police put an American flag in his hands and advised him to wave it.

We think it is time that Canadians ceased to trouble themselves to do honor to a flag which represents to a considerable extent such jaundice and boorishness as are constantly exhibited in The United States against our own flag.

THE TREND TO THE CITIES

The trend of population from country to city is a common theme of regretful comment. Of late a good deal is said about what the telephone rural mail delivery and interurban electric lines may do to check this movement by relieving the isolation and monotony of farm life. It is pleasing to believe that they may do much, for the daily routine on the farm has included more of hard work and less of recreation than falls to the lot of any other class of workers. If relieved of some of the drudgery and brightened by a little little of the variety which daily contact with the world would give, it is conceivable that farm life would be the most normal, healthful and satisfying of all pursuits.

The farm is the nursery of sturdy and wholesome men and women and it is readily assumed that any changes that will make it more attractive and induce a large proportion of our population to adopt agriculture as a means of livelihood will be beneficial to the race. The contrast between the country, with its privacy for families, its space for children, the pure air and good food and the crowded conditions under which masses exist and rear their children in the cities, is so impressive that we instinctively hope and argue for a redistribution of the people to get them back to the soil.

And yet it is altogether probable that the proportion of the population engaged in agriculture will continue to decrease rather than increase. People choose their occupations with a view to profit, the boys leave the farm because they can get better pay elsewhere, and modern machinery enables fewer people to produce the required supply of food. According to Mulhall the average farm hand in Canada produces four times as much food as the average farm hand in Europe, and in Canada only one-sixth of the average income is spent for food as against one-third in Europe. As society rises in the scale of civilization it spends a smaller share of its time and energy in procuring food. Other tastes develop and wants multiply and a growing percentage of the population is employed in catering to these new wants. This is the secret of the more rapid increase of population in cities, and the cause is evidently a permanent one.

It is idle talk about distributing the population back to the soil. What does seem possible is a distribution of the industries to the smaller towns instead of massing them in great cities. That would place the wage-earners nearer to the country, reduce the cost of living, and minimize the social and political evils that are developed by large cities. Such a consummation is much to be wished, but at present the advantages of assembling raw material and distributing finished products are favorable to the growth of manufacturing at the centers.

BUGS AS A WEAPON

The Macedonian revolutionary leaders are, according to a despatch from Sofia, about to introduce an absolutely new departure in the art of modern warfare. In place of powder and shot, sword, pistol and cannon, the Macedonians threaten to use plague as a weapon. According to the despatch, they have obtained possession of a large quantity of Indian plague bacilli, which they threaten to let loose and cause an outbreak of the plague if their demands are not conceded. The leaders are quoted as saying that if within eight days after their warning the great powers do not guarantee the abrogation of the Berlin treaty, then "we may die, but we will not die alone, for there shall follow us into the grave myriads of the people of Europe, the continent which has robbed us of our liberty." In place of sending forth an army of men with gun and bayonet, the Macedonians threaten to invade all Europe with a host of bugs armed with bubonic plague. When Moses could not soften the hearts of Pharaoh and the Egyptians he sent plagues upon the land until the proud Rameses was only too willing to give the Israelites their liberty, and now the Macedonians would appear to be about to take a leaf out of the Bible and make history repeat itself. The scheme of the Macedonians is probably feasible, though horrible, and should other revolutionists adopt it the day may come when the implements of up-to-date warfare will be a tube of bacilli and a can of disinfectant.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A monster locomotive which has just been built in Glasgow, Scotland, for the Canadian Pacific Railway has six driving wheels each, standing 6 ft. 9 in. in height, with a propelling power of 30,000 lbs. The cylinders are 20 inches in diameter, with a 28-inch stroke. The engine's weight is 66,000 pounds, and the working pressure is 210 pounds. The water-tank holds 5,400 gallons, or 30 per cent. more than the ordinary engine. Twenty-four out of the total of 52 engines contracted for by the company have now been completed.

Some exclusive gentleman who lives on the money furnished by the people of Ontario stuck up a notice at Osgoode hall, Toronto, telling the public that they must keep out of those "private grounds," bought and maintained with the money of the people of Ontario. Which has incited the Toronto Star to demand the removal of the fence in front of the premises, and the opening of the grounds to their owners, the great public. The Star is right.

Thawing of Mountain Snows in British Columbia Excites Alarm

Vancouver, June 8.—In all parts of Southern British Columbia sudden warm weather has brought with it rapid thawing of the mountain snows and such rising of the waters that in many sections the inhabitants are practically under marching orders day and night, their homes either already inundated or being worked up to foot by foot by a silent, sluggish, dirty aquatic invader.

Along the Fraser the contribution is chiefly from the tributary Thompson as yet, and at Quesnel a rise of five feet within 48 hours is recorded. On other points on the big river an exceptionally rapid rise is reported, and the dykes are being examined with care. All through the Kootenay bridges have gone out, and settlements upon flat lands are washed out. On the Spokane Falls and Northern line into British Columbia from the south traffic is suspended by washouts, and telegraphic and telephone communication in that locality is also ended temporarily. Throughout the Slocan floods are general.

OVER $1,000,000 ALREADY INVESTED.

Over one million dollars have been invested within a short radius surrounding on all sides the property of this company by Boston, New Haven and New York capitalists. All this has been invested quietly within the last two years, without any appeal to the public. Only one of these companies interested has put its stock on the market recently, and that at 60 cents on the dollar.

NOT A PROSPECT, BUT A WELL-DEVELOPED MINING PROPERTY. We have shown by actual mining that we have the

This company having paid a large sum of money for these properties, and also in the development of the same, now offer to the public 60,000 shares only of their stock, in order to make further reserves, so that when they start to deliver ore at the reduction works they can keep up the supply daily and by that means pay a dividend that does not fluctuate but that can be depended on by the stockholders.

TRANSFER OFFICE; BRISTOL, CONN.

This Company has a perpetual lease on 20 acres of proven oil land in SECTION NINE (9) of the Boulder district, and this section and the immediate vicinity have the best and largest number of producing wells in the entire district.

Our Well No. 1 came in, in January and is now pumping and shipping Oil regularly to the Refinery.

The Directors have decided to put down well No. 2 at once, and they now offer a block of the Treasury stock for the next 30 days at

10 Cents per Share, after that price will be advanced.

It is a well known fact that a 15 barrel well will pay over 100 per cent. profit upon its cost.

This is no longer a speculation for we have proved that oil is on our ground, and we now have oil in paying quantities, with two wells pumping we can soon pay dividends, and every well we put down increases our earning capacity.

This is a business proposition, managed by business men.

Buried Gold

By FRED WHISHAW.

Author of "A Boyar of the Terrible," etc.

heard no sound.

"What's he about?" the men asked one another in whispers, and some were anxious to set out into the darkness in order to answer the question for themselves. Suddenly there appeared a huge figure moving through the gloom, and with it two smaller ones.

"I've brought them along with me," said Dave, who carried three rifles under his arm. "They were most obedient and kind and obeyed orders like as if I were their own skipper, didn't you, mates?"

The prisoners replied in muttered phrases which had no direct connection with the question asked them. They went aside and consulted in whispers.

"They're put out, poor chaps," said Dave, "because I startled them into giving up their guns quietly. Better that than bein' hurted, lads, if you'd only believe me! One of you chaps go down and chuck these things into the sea; we'll wait for you."

Someone took the two rifles and slunk away towards the shore with them, returning empty-handed in a few minutes.

Dave now left three men in charge of his prisoners and sallied forth with the rest of his party. First they visited one hut, then another, and in each they awoke the slumbering occupants, who sleepily realized that they had been somehow outwitted and caught.

There was no resistance. Once or twice a man, before resigning himself to the inevitable, would make a dart for his rifle; but in each case he was stopped with an invitation to "hands up," an invitation which—like the King's—is practically a command.

Within an hour or less the whole of the "Hecuba" crew, with the exception of those on board the "Penelope" and the occupants of old Jake Foster's hut, which had been reserved for the last, were in the hands of Carpenter Dave and his merry men, disarmed and helpless, though furious withal and very murderously inclined towards their captors.

On the way to Jake's hut someone unfortunately kicked and tripped over an iron pail left outside and invisible in the dark. Dave halted his men on the instant. A figure immediately appeared at the hut door.

"Who's that?" said a voice. "Speak or I shoot! I see someone standing there ——"

"Hands up! You needn't fire," said Dave, quietly. "You're covered."

For answer the man pulled trigger, twice, but missed. In an instant Dave had sprung upon him and borne him down.

"Take his gun, one of you!" he cried. "Surround the hut, the rest of you, quickly! We don't want anyone to escape and take pot-shots at us from all over the island afterwards."

Suddenly there came a fusillade from the window, two shots and then two more; but the darkness favored the attacking party, and again no one was touched. Two or three men made a rush for the window, but someone within laid about him so vigorously with his rifle that they retired cursing and holding wounded hands and arms.

"If that's you inside there, Mr. Foster," Dave now shouted, "you'd better stow fighting and come out. You're the last of the 'Hecuba' lot that isn't taken, and the ship's in our hands."

"That's a lie, and you know it!" bawled Foster. "How've you taken the ship without a boat?"

"By swimmin'," said Dave. "That's how we did it. I'm telling the truth."

"You may have got the ship and the whole blamed village, too," cried Foster, "but you haven't got me, and you won't, not till I've killed [illegible] of you, anyway!"

Old Jake certainly did his best to carry out this threat. He fought like a demon whenever one of the enemy showed himself at the window. He had securely fastened the door from inside, but Dave, the carpenter, was employing his professional skill to get it opened from without.

"Keep the old 'un employed," he told his men, "and don't give him time to load his two guns. We'll have him in a minute. No one need do any shootin'. You're to catch him alive."

The end was inevitable, and came quickly. Dave soon had the door at his mercy. He passed the word round to those at the window to "keep him busy," then, in the midst of a vigorous feint from that quarter, he quietly removed the door, threw his big body upon old Jake from behind and bore him to the ground.

This was the end of the war, for every one of the "Hecuba" people was now in the hands of the enemy.

As for old Jake, he lay and groaned and begged to be put to bed; a request which somewhat astonished Dave, who did not know he had injured the skipper. "Lift him up, gently, lads," he said, "and put him on his bed if he wants to lie there; but don't leave no weapons about."

CHAPTER XXVI.

Dividing the Spoils.

For the hundredth time that night Keith Adams puzzled his head over the message which the cabin boy declared he had received from Tom Foster. Was it simply the raving of a delirious brain or could it be a genuine message? He tossed in his berth and racked his brain. What could Foster have wished him to know?

"Of course, if Tom could have found out somehow, he might've told the lad in case he should get killed!" thought Keith. "But, then, how could he possibly have learned——"

Half an hour later he suddenly sat up in his berth.

"Why, of course," he said aloud. "Evans or Inglis might have told him—either of them could 've done it!"

Sleep did not visit the eyeballs of Keith Adams for many an hour. After a little while he spoke aloud again:

"I don't know but what it would have been as good a place as any other," he said. "Perhaps better than most, too!" And later again:

"If those chaps have got the village all right, I'll try to-morrow morning," he said. Having arrived at which conclusion, Keith at last fell asleep.

Tom Foster lay very ill all that night, devotedly watched and tended by Jessie. Towards morning he grew more quiet. In this he was more fortunate than the lad Tommy, who raved and shrieked all night. The death of Evans was upon the poor lad's mind. The horror of having shot a man seemed to have cost him his reason.

When Keith, with an armed boat's crew, rowed across the village landing-place in the morning, he was soon set at his ease as to the result of last night's attack upon the land contingent of the "Hecuba" party, for the dinghy lay at [illegible] (To be Continued.)

The Snakes of Arizona.

The Smithsonian Institution authorities say that more varieties of poisonous snakes are found in Arizona than in any other part of the United States. The best authority on Arizona snakes is believed to be Graham Peck, who has been studying them for years.

"No other region in the United States is so much of a natural breeding-ground for the rattlesnake as is Southern Arizona," says Mr. Peck. "The rocks of the mountains and foothills are of a heavy yellow and gray color and the soil is so like the hues of a rattler that a snake can move slowly along and hardly be perceived by a person fifty feet away. The hot, dry air and the warm, sandy earth and the immense quantity of small birds and ground squirrels in the mountain canyons and brush all combine to make life for rattlesnakes in this region one of rare ease and comfort. There are literally tens of thousands of reptiles in the sage brush and chaparral along the edge of Southern Arizona wastes. They grow to enormous size, and it is common to read of the capture of rattlesnakes five and six feet long, with fourteen and fifteen rattles.

"Hog-nose snakes are quite plentiful in the mountainous parts of Arizona. After all the talk about serpents hissing, this is the only specimen of the ophidian family which I have ever heard utter a sound.

"Many writers on reptiles in America say that thunder snakes are common in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. They are really uncommon in the territories. They are a prairie reptile and are often encountered by prairie travelers, especially before and after thunderstorms. Flashes of lightning and claps of thunder, which are terrifying to bipeds and quadrupeds, seem to have a charm for these members of the ophidian family. Whenever a thunderstorm comes up these snakes come crawling out of holes, from behind rocks and rotten stumps and enjoy the fun while it lasts.

"The coach-whip is remarkable for its tremendous length and surprising speed. It is cream or clay colored, very much like the hard-baked prairie over which it glides, is very long and its scales are arranged in such a manner that they closely resemble the plaited leather of a whip. Not endowed with poison, it has tremendous power of constriction. It forms its body into coils which are capable of crushing sheep, dogs and coyotes. When I was in Lower California in 1890 I was told by a Mexican peon that he had a ten-year-old boy squeezed to death by a coach-whip a few years before. The man said that on another occasion his wife was attacked by a coach-whip which threw its coils about her quicker than she could see. She was too frightened to do more than scream and fall to the ground, when her daughter came running up and quickly released her by merely unwrapping the snake's tail. Strange as this may seem, it is a very easy way to release a victim in the coach-whip snake's grasp, for while the reptile's constricting powers are abnormal, a child may unwrap the coils by beginning at the tail."

"Do you believe that snakes have the power to charm animals?"

"Yes, there is a certain power to fascinate in a snake's eyes and movements. I saw only the other day a typical illustration of the power of a snake to fascinate. Over in the pine woods I saw a ground squirrel fascinated by a black gopher snake. The forked tongue darted out of the snake's mouth almost as regularly and rapidly as the needle of a sewing machine rises and falls. The squirrel seemed to watch it spellbound. The snake crept slowly nearer. When the gopher snake was within two or three inches from the squirrel it gave a leap and threw three coils about the squirrel. Instantly the spell was gone. The fascination or charm there had been over the little animal was no doubt broken the very moment the serpent's coils were about the squirrel, for the animal gave three convulsive, terrified chirps and realized that its death moment had come.

"I believe implicitly that all snakes have a certain degree of power to fascinate their victims to death. Black snakes, gopher snakes and racers have the power to a large degree. Rattlesnakes have the most fascinating power among all the poisonous serpents in the south-west. The indications of charming among poisonous snakes are deceiving sometimes. Poisonous snakes fang their prey once only. The poison does not kill at once. The victim flutters to a branch, it may be, or runs a short distance and stops. The snake watches it. The poison does its deadly work, and the bird falls. Anyone who comes up, not having seen the attack, might be readily deceived into imagining that it was the glance of the snake and not the poison that caused the victim to fall."

It Was All Right.

"I have a great idea."

As he spoke it was more than evident that the young playwright, whose name even now was a household word in two continents, was, more than ever before in his career, carried away by the tide of a true inspiration.

"Can it be possible," said the manager, "that your play has already matured? Why, when we parted company last evening you could think of nothing, and now——"

"Now," burst forth the enthusiastic artist, "it is finished—it is complete! Listen while I tell you."

The face of the manager showed a trace of disappointment. He moved uneasily in his seat.

"Don't be too sure," he muttered. "Your enthusiasm may have misled you. But go on."

"Listen, then. The plot? Bah! It is nothing. I stole it from the French. And then I fixed it up to suit myself. First, then, we have an opening chorus. The girls will come out in some brand-new color scheme which your designer can put his mind on immediately. Then some vaudeville specialties will be introduced. The scene will be laid—well, say on Broadway at midnight, or on some uninhabited island—that doesn't matter. And here's a new topical song, entitled

'But I cannot swallow that!'

"In the last act Chippie Bandoline, the star, is just saved from—oh, well, some one, and every girl in the chorus appears in pea-green tights."

The manager grasped the great man by the hand.

"Grand!" he cried. "Simply grand! Do you know, when you first spoke I was afraid you were going to propose something entirely too good for the public."
—"Life."

SOME STARTLING FACTS

regarding a Wonderful Discovery by the Famous Dr. Clarke.

To the Editor of The Times—

Sir,—With a view to afford relief to the afflicted, I ask you to publish the following: I am 41 years old and for 8 years have done absolutely nothing, owing to rheumatism; my hands, feet and heart being affected. I was induced by my cousin to take Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills, and before I had taken 4 boxes I could go upstairs without help, and can now go up the stairs as well as I ever could. Two doctors told me that I never would be well again; but I have neither ache nor pain and am in perfect health.

GEORGE M. DUNCAN,
120 Albert St., London.

A Remarkable Offer.

Sir,—We make the following proposal to readers of The Times. To any one who is a subject of rheumatism, (no matter how long standing), or any blood disease, enumerated below, and will give Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills a fair trial, and are not fully and completely cured, we will refund the money paid for the pills. If no good results follow we will forfeit $10 cash.

We have yet to know of a single case where this wonderful medicine has not been almost entirely successful in the work of relieving suffering humanity.

—I was troubled with rheumatism for 12 years, and could get absolutely no relief from the doctors. Six boxes Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills entirely cured me. God bless Dr. Clarke. (REV.) S. HUMMITT, Winnipeg, Man.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even when the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough. Price 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.00.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Catarrh and Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Eczema, same price. $500 will be paid for any case that it will not permanently cure.

A

GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Is what all careful investors are looking for. One from which the risk is eliminated and in lieu thereof absolute safety is substituted, and yet one containing the elements for very large profits.

This is what we are prepared to furnish by offering some Treasury stock underwritten by a well known Trust Company.

You will naturally ask: What assurance have we that the amount of our investment is absolutely guaranteed and that it will be returned to us?

An arrangement has been made with the Trust Company to guarantee to the purchaser the return of amount invested within a given number of years. To substantiate this guarantee they issue to the purchaser of the stock a gold bond, which is secured by first real estate mortgages deposited with another Trust Company for the specific purpose of securing the bonds the underwriting Company issue.

Thus the guarantee is absolute and satisfactory. Now that we have demonstrated the safety of the investment, we will explain what we have to offer:

The Upper Ten Mining and Oil Company of Colorado Springs, among other things, to secure funds for the extensive development of its numerous mining properties and also of its oil lands, offers a limited amount of its treasury stock for sale.

The Company owns thirty-five mining properties at Eldorado and Cripple Creek, Colo., upon which, during the past five years, a great amount of tunnel and shaft work has been done. It is proposed to place as many of these mining properties upon a shipping and self supporting basis as soon as it is possible to do so. And to bore wells for oil and gas on its vast holdings of thirty-six hundred acres of oil lands in Huerfano County, Colo. In order to accomplish this the Company will sell some of its Guaranteed Treasury Stock at 20 cents per share, or its Unguaranteed Treasury Stock at 15 cents per share.

The value of which is $1.00 per share, all stock issued full paid and non-assessable, with no individual liability. This is one of the best low priced guaranteed stocks on the market today and will be taken up quickly.

The officers and directors of this Company are well-known Colorado Springs and Denver business men who have shown their good faith in the enterprise by investing heavily themselves.

Fortunes have been made by investments of this kind, and many more will be continually made by investing at the right time. The profits on this kind of an investment are usually very great, especially when the stock can be secured at such a low price as this is now offered for. Now is the time to get in before an advance in the price is made.

The new railroad from Denver to Salt Lake, which is now building will be of incalculable benefit to the Company, furnishing transportation for ores and supplies, besides immediately increasing values.

125 WILL NOT REACH THE NUMBER OF REASONS WHY THE STOCK IN

The Oro Rico Mining Syndicate

IS A GOOD INVESTMENT.

I have offered this Stock at a very low price and it is your misfortune if you fail to take advantage of it.

THE ORO RICO MINES are located in the Providence Range of Mountains, San Bernardino County, California, consisting of 30 full claims.

THEY ARE MINES NOT PROSPECTS.

Vast ledges of ore running from $5.60 to $300.00 per ton. Five shipments of ore to El Paso smelter gave returns from $79.80 to $322.00 per ton. This is not a five per cent. a month scheme, but it is a legitimate proposition that will give you better returns than Savings Bank or Mortgage loans. A few months ago a Mr. Woodside bought 200,000 shares in a Tonopah Company for five cents a share and recently sold the same at $3.00 a share. No business in the world is safer as an investment or more profitable than mining, and none offer a more honest dollar.

Remember that little money is ever made by purchasing Stocks which are already paying dividends. When you do this you pay DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR for everything you get. You must make your money on your JUDGEMENT and your FORESIGHT. It is the foresight that makes money, and if you follow the dictation of your foresight you will secure a block of ORO RICO STOCK, and when dividends are paid your income will be five times greater than if you waited until the Stock sold at par. The new Milling Plant is now being put in place and gold bullion will soon be turned out. After the first run you can't get the Stock at present price. It will soon be 50 per cent. higher.

The Officers and Directors of the Company have recently visited the mines and returned full of enthusiasm. The mines are turning out much richer than expected.

I can offer the Stock for a short time only at 20 cents per share.
It is worth double that.

Will accept payments of 25 per cent. cash and balance, 25 per cent. per month. Wanted active agents. Address all orders to

STOCK MARKETS

Resistance Offering Stock Raiders

New York, June 10.—The market has reached a point where many stocks are offering most decided and vigorous resistance to the efforts to further depress them. This is noticeably so in St. Paul, Manhattan, O., Pacific, N. Y. C., B. R. T., the steep shares, etc. The preferred issues that are paying 4 per cent. to 6 per cent. dividends, such as Atchison, S. R. U. K., seem also to have struck bottom, while such stocks as M. Pacific, U. P., S. P., B. O. etc. give strong indications of being good to buy from now on, whenever under the hammer. The big men appear to to be buying liberally, though they show no sign of endeavoring to advance the market, merely a willingness to take outgoing prices all the stocks other people care to sell. Did they call in their stock loans at present, at the same time bidding freely for stocks, there would undoubtedly be a bear panic and a most sharp and sudden rise. This however does not appear to be their policy at the moment. It appears from market indications that they prefer to continue their process of accumulation. Though this policy may postpone an immediate advance, it will cause it to be a more healthy and extended movement when it really does occur. Stocks will as a result go higher when the times does come, as the large interests will have more stocks on hand than did they temporarily demoralise and stampede the bears. The Wall street Journal makes an interesting notation as to Pennsylvania, says, "We understand that the Pennsylvania syndicate has been approached by certain powerful interests who desire that in the somewhat unlikely event of the syndicate being alloted in its underwriting any very large quantity of the stock it shall be offered to them in block. It is needless to say that Pennsylvania stock at 120 is a bargain under almost any conditions, but a block at that price would carry with it practical control of the property would be a very much greater bargain.

It certainly was a gloomy day in Wall street. A fierce drive was made at the opening against the cotton carrying roads, and those located in the western flooded district. L. N. opened down 3 1-2 points, B. R. T. 1 1-4; Illinois Central 1 1-2; Atchison 1 1-2 points, while balance of list was off from a half to 1 1-4 points. The bright spots of the market were Sugar and Steel shares. St. Paul, Atchison preferred Pennsylvania, N. Y. C. and Kt. shares. They all offered vigorous resistance to the declining market. Bargain hunters were large buyers during the day. Rallies were brisk and frequent. At the close the market was more or less mixed, certain shares weak under attack, while others were strong. It looked like attempt to cover stocks under cover of attack on a few issues.

SHARES TO ADVANCE From Three to Five Dollars

Remarkable Discovery of Gold, Silver and Copper Ore Made on Property of the EASTERN NATIONAL COPPER COMPANY, Limited, of Cheticamp, Cape Breton

ORE BEARING SCHISTS FROM 75 TO 100 FEET WIDE

The out crop of the extension of the deposit has just been cut on the opposide side of the mountain from which the work was commenced, proving that the ore body extends through the hill.

MR. M. V. GRANDIN, engineer in charge of the development work, reports the discovery of an immense body of gold, silver, and copper bearing ore from seventy-five to one hundred feet wide on the property of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, at Cheticamp, Cape Breton. This is probably the first known instance in Eastern Canada of the unearthing of a large deposit of metalliferous ore such as made the mining industry of British Columbia, the Western States and Mexico of great magnitude. The discovery in Cape Breton tends to confirm the opinion of mining experts that Cheticamp is one of the most important mining districts in Nova Scotia. The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, owns some of the finest sections of this district and has about completed the proving of a body of ore estimated to contain 100,000 tons, worth from $10 to $15 per ton. The main slope is down 130 feet all in ore and the tunnel from which the mine will be worked has been commenced from the opposite side of the hill. The Company expect to commence the installation of plant for treatment in three months' time. Surface buildings, etc., have all been erected.

Thousands of tons of Ore already in sight. Every day adds to the proved value of the mine

THERE is no safer form of mining investment than good gold-copper deposits, as they occur in immense veins and carry regular values. Many of the private fortunes of the United States owe thir origin to a lucky investment in a gold-copper proposition. The property of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, is undoubtedly one of the most valuable in the country. Besides its extensive mining claims the mining company controls timber for mining and building purposes and will also have natural water-power.

The extension of the MacKenzie & Mann Railway from Broad Cove to Cheticamp this year will give this great mining enterprise rail as well as water communication with all points.

The undertaking of this Company is a sound home enterprise, organized by a prominent Nova Scotia business men, without the heavy overcapitalization, watered stock, promoters' rake-off, directors' perquisities, &c, which characterize many foreign companies. The company is capitalized at the moderate figure of $500,000, and one-half the entire capital stock has been placed in the treasury in reserve. 10,000 shares of the other half are being sold for development.

A Limited Amount of Stock is Offered at $3.00 per Share ('Thirty Cents on the Dollar). - Par $10.00

The Stock was started at $1 per share, and has advanced steadily to $3. Next advance will likely be to $5, and we expect it will be quoted at par—$10—within a year, based on ore actually blocked out. Less than 1000 shares will be sold at the present figure of three dollars. Applications for Stock should be addressed to

Graveyard Coughs and Colds

Cured Quickly by Catarrhozone

A cough or cold this season of the year paves the way for pneumonia or consumption. The best remedy is "Catarrhozone." It eases a cough in five minutes, and colds cannot exist but a few hours where it is used. Mrs. H. L. Chenowith, residing at Glendive, Montana, was worried by a "graveyard" cough. In the following letter she tells how Catarrhozone cured her in one week;

"I had a bad cough for several months last fall that settled on my lungs. I was worried very much to think that nothing I used could shake it off, but reading in the Halifax "Presbyterian Witness" of the wonderful cures Catarrhozone was effecting, I decided to try it. The irritability and soreness was taken out of my throat in a few days, and in less than one week it entirely cured my cough.

"It is with great gratitude and pleasure that I recommend Catarrhozone. I am sure it will benefit and cure all who use it."

(Signed) Mrs. H. L. Chenowith.

The reason Catarrhozone always cures is that it goes right to the sore spot, which it heals and makes well quickly. It is antiseptic and destroys disease germs in every part of the system. For Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis, nothing compares with Catarrhozone. It is very simple to use, contains no injurious drugs, and is warranted perfectly safe to use. Catarrhozone Inhaler is suitable to use in a street car, theatre, church any place at any time. Complete outfit costs but $1.00 and is guaranteed to cure or your money back. Trial size, 25c., sold by druggists, or by mail, from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

THAT'S THE TIME

When Proper Food is Necessary

Proper food is never more necessary than when recovering from a wasting sickness, when over-eating would be fatal and yet the body needs nourishment and plenty of it.

At this time the condensed food Grape-Nuts is shown to be one's most powerful friend. Four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts and cream will sustain a healthy man for half a day and a less quantity in warm milk will build up the convalescent wonderfully. No stomach is too weak to digest and relish Grape Nuts. "I was taken sick with Typhoid fever and everyone who has had this disease knows how weak and lifeless a person feels when beginning to recuperate.

"I had to be very careful about my diet and could eat only very light foods. These did not seem to nourish me and instead of getting better every day I was just at a standstill and everyone began to fear a relapse. One day while lying in bed very much discouraged my sister who was reading to me from the paper read an article about Grape-Nuts and we decided to send for a package.

"From the very first meal of Grape-Nuts I began to improve, strength came in bounds and leaps with the result that I was soon out of bed; my change for the better seemed simply marvelous. My mind is clear and strong and my body sturdy. I am now entirely recovered." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There is a reason.

A dessert that helps the body, that's the thing! Any number of them in the little recipe book in each package of Grape-Nuts.

The Times is glad to congratulate the management of the mill upon their enterprise, and hopes that their prosperity may continue far into the future.

A Peterborough Man's Success

Hon. Robert Green, the new Minister of Mines in the British Columbian Government, is an old Peterborough boy, and once owned a bakery in town. He is a nephew of Mr. Edward Green, Water st. A despatch from Vancouver says:—"It is remarked with a good deal of interest that two members of the Cabinet, R. Green and Charles Wilson, started life in this province in the humble and honorable capacity of cooks. The Minister of Mines, Mr. Green, once baked and broiled in order that the people of Revelstoke might grow fat, while he is now President of the Council. Mr. Wilson once prepared succulent beans for the delectation of Cariboo miners in the early days."

Interesting Animals

One of the most interesting pair of animals with the Walter L. Main shows are the two black, Bengal baby tigers—babies because not full grown. They are interesting for several reasons. One because of their rarity and beauty. Both are black as coal, sleek and lithe, yet, with all their beauty, like some women one meets, these animals have the temper and treachery of Beelzebubian imps. They are continuously snarling and growling imprecations at Fate, as if mad at themselves for an entree into this world. It behooves the visitor not to venture too near their cage. The tigers are ever on the alert to reach out between the bars and draw one's arm inside to be lacerated at leisure. It is only during such bloody operation that these pets will smile and look pleasant. See them here Tuesday, June 16.

—Visitors to the Walter L. Main shows are requested not to feed Bunch, the baby elephant, peanuts without first removing the shells. Her teeth are delicate [illegible] too vigorous crunching might require the services of a dentist. Bunch is probably the only elephant in the world that practices "Bucking" precisely like the wild cowboy's broncho. It is believed the shrewd little animal acquired such penchant through watching a broncho perform such manoeuvres at headquarters farm in Geneva, Ohio, last winter.

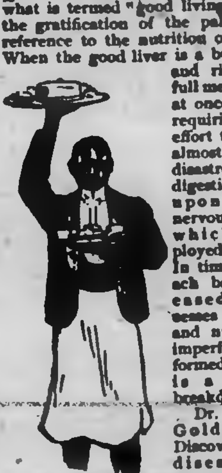
GOOD LIVING



Quite often results in bad health, because what is termed "good living" is usually the gratification of the palate without reference to the nutrition of the body. When the good liver is a business man and rises from a full meal to plunge at once into work requiring mental effort the result is almost sure to be disastrous, because digestion draws upon the same nervous forces which are employed in thought. In time the stomach becomes diseased, the processes of digestion and nutrition are imperfectly performed and there is a physical breakdown.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It eliminates the effete poisonous matter which originates in the system as a consequence of imperfect digestion. It gives sound health to the whole body.

"I wish to say to the world that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved a great blessing to me," writes Mrs. Ellen E. Bacon, of Shutesbury, Franklin Co., Mass. "Prior to September, 1897, I had doctored for my stomach trouble for several years, going through a course of treatment without any real benefit. In September, 1896, I had very sick spells and grew worse; could eat but little. I commenced in September, 1897, to take Dr. Pierce's medicine, and in a short time I could eat and work. I have gained twenty pounds in two months."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
